It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

A GREETING FROM THE NEW PRESIDENT GENERAL

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

With a change of administration, it seems fitting that your President should extend you a greeting, in which is enclosed a wish, that the year 1908 may come full-freighted with blessings to each of my "Daughters," and a trust, that no rude blast will blight your brightest hopes, or dispel your most comforting realizations. We are a large family, co-workers in a great and glorious cause, so sacred, that no inharmonious, or discordant note, should enter into our deliberations. So let us strive together, in unison, for the accomplishment of the great objects to which we have pledged ourselves. Your President needs your co-operation and loyal support, and with this, the year will yield a rich harvest of patriotic fruition. Remember, that on the unit depends the success of the whole body, a fact felt and emphasized by General Lee, when he declared that victory came through "the men behind the guns." Therefore, let every Daughter of the Confederacy take fresh courage, and forgetting self, give her best service to the progress of the work in hand.

We have undertaken the erection of a monument on Shiloh's historic field, where Southern valor never rose to greater height, and where sleep some of our bravest and best. A strong Committee with an efficient Chairman, has this work in charge, and if we "keep the faith," we will soon see the consummation of this great purpose.

Through the efforts of Dr. Samuel E. Lewis, of Washington City, a surgeon in the Confederate Army, a bill was introduced in the Congress of the United States, by Senator Joseph B. Foraker, providing for an appropriation to care for the graves of Confederate soldiers who had died in Northern prisons. President Roosevelt gave hearty endorsement to this plan, and our Confederate dead, in, and around, Washington, once in neglected graves, are now placed in the Arlington National Cemetery, on a commanding site, in a beautiful circular plat, tastefully laid off, with center space for a monument, and each grave marked and carefully kept; they sleep in the soil of the home of their great leader—the beloved Lee.

The placing there, of these heroic dead, is the strongest testimonial of that fraternal love that now cements us, as one people, and gives to this country a common heritage of valor, courage and patriotism, whether displayed by northern or southern soldiers. The Confederate Veterans of Washington had formed an association for the purpose of erecting a monument over these comrades of theirs, but feeling that this work should be speedily done, they sent a representative to the General Convention, in Norfolk, to ask the Daughters of the Confederacy to take charge, and raise the necessary amount, to place this crowning tribute to our dead. This sacred trust was accepted, and we will show them that their confidence was not misplaced. To this end, every State where there is an organization of the Daughters of the Confederacy will select a director, whose duty it shall be to collect funds for this purpose—and a committee in each of these States will assist the director, to increase the fund, until the Arlington Confederate Monument shall be an assured fact.

By resolution, adopted at Norfolk, your attention is called to the fact that this year, 1908, bears a significance of unusual interest to all Confederate organizations, and to the entire people of the South, as it marks the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of President Jefferson Davis, and it is recommended that a special study of the public and religious life of President Davis—soldier, statesman, scholar and christian gentleman—shall be introduced into all institutions of learning, during the year 1908, and that chapters be urged to place pictures of President Davis and General Lee in the schools, that the youth of our land may have ever before them these two great exemplars of the highest type of American manhood, these two, so closely linked in purpose and thought in life, and whose centennial years are in close touch.

Division presidents are requested to make the organization of children's auxiliaries a leading feature of their work for the year. as, on this training of the children, will depend the perpetuity of our organization. Interest the boys in this work, that the Sons of Veterans may receive the recruits so much needed in their association.

For the high honor you so freely conferred upon me, my warmest appreciation is given, and to the administration of your affairs my best service will always be accorded, with an "eye single" to your interests, and with a keen sense of the responsibility that goes with the position. Your forbearance is asked for all mistakes the administration, remembering that "too err is human." and rest assured that a loyalty and devotion will be given to their duties by each one of your servants, whom you have placed in charge of our General Association.

From so many members of the Daughters of the Confederacy have come gracious words of commendation and congratulation, and for these "flowers placed upon" my life, I am deeply grateful, and can only trust that my service may be worthy of such confidence.

CORNELIA BRANCH STONE,
President-General, U. D. C.

MINUTES
OF THE
FOURTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION
OF THE
United Daughters of the Confederacy
HELD IN
Norfolk, Virginia, November 13-16, 1907

FIRST MEETING.

Wednesday, November 13, 1907.

The Fourteenth Annual Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was formally opened at the Auditorium of the Jamestown Exposition, on Wednesday, November 13, 1907. Under a cloudless sky, with the soft breezes from famous Hampton Roads filling the hearts with historic memories, the Daughters of the Confederacy, from almost every State in the Union, had come to the birthplace of the nation, filled with patriotic zeal and a firm purpose to revive and record the true history of the valor, courage and chivalry of the Confederate Soldier.

Promptly at 10 o'clock Mrs. Jas. Y. Leigh, President of the Pickett Buchanan, the hostess chapter of the convention, called the body to order, and introduced Rev. C. G. Woodson, who offered the opening prayer in beautiful and well chosen words.

Hon. H. St. George Tucker, President of the Jamestown Exposition, was introduced, and on behalf of Lieutenant Governor J. Taylor Ellyson, who could not be present, eloquently welcomed the "Daughters" to the Exposition and to Virginia.

When Mr. Tucker concluded, the Confederate choirs of Norfolk and Portsmouth, composed of lovely young women, with gray coats and army hats, sang "Maryland, My Maryland," followed by great applause.

Admiral P. F. Harrington, U. S. N., was the second speaker, and when Mrs. Leigh introduced the Admiral every delegate rose to greet this representative of the American Navy, which was typical of the loyalty of Southern women for the stars and stripes, while filled with the spirit and patriotic devotion for the Cause, and the men who wore the gray and followed the stars and bars.

Admiral Harrington addressed the Convention as follows:

Some years ago I described to a citizen of a foreign land the constitutional and political system of our country, the duties of the several branches of the National Government, the functions of the states and their relation to each other and the nation, the government of cities, towns and counties, the principle of home rule, the organization of political parties and their action in conventions and mass meetings of the people. The gentleman remarked: "Such assemblies are impossible in my country; the police would interfere. Our people do not love liberty."

Those who do not love liberty are not apt in asserting and defending their political rights. It is only by an intelligent study of political conditions and an honest discharge of the duties attached to the right of suffrage that a man can be a good citizen, useful and helpful in his State. The best of those who love liberty are those who work for it and are ready, if need be, to die for it.

Supplementing the home influence, the teachings of the mother, the guiding of the church, and the common school instruction, public discussion is the most effective agent of political progress and advancement of just government. Public discussion leads to the formation of associations, through which efforts are combined towards any desired attainment.

In our country the right of discussion, public or private, the right of association and assembly, cannot be limited or abridged. But all combined action becomes known to the people at large and subject at last to their praise or condemnation. In the evolution of social and political judgment, the press is the most powerful element of public discussion. Hence it is the high duty of the press to publish facts and facts only, and to lead public thought towards just sentiments and honorable action. Any reporter or editor who has a meaner conception of his office is unworthy of his important relation to the people. There is in every business and particularly in those employments which affect closely the interests of the people, something better than financial success.

Character and good work are, in enduring results, far above the acquisition of money.

Associations in our free land range in every direction of human endeavor, affecting all interests and touching all sentiments and aspirations. The great majority are true and good, progressive and formative in the work of the nation and of the world. A few are ignoble and destructive in their aims or practices. But the people of this country are honest in their life and in their aspirations, and their judgment will at last dominate all action. No corporation or association of any nature can endure whose action or practice seeks its interests or that of its members through a denial or limitation of equal opportunity and justice to all people, or through a restriction of the right of others in following their chosen employment. All such organizations, so far as they counsel or practice inequitable methods, are hostile to our political system and as alien to our free soil as those men who seek the disruption of all government. Our country offers the best hope of obtaining just government by the people, and it is a part of our faith that organized fraud or oppression shall cease and that every man shall be secure in his lawful independence of action and equal opportunity of happiness. In the propaganda of personal and political freedom, of liberty under regulation of just laws, the women have in our land a duty and an influence of value and of power.

Of the great number of associations in our country many are purely unselfish, organized upon the nobler thoughts and aspirations. Such are educational, charitable, benevolent, fraternal and patriotic. The women of the land act a great part in these societies of amelioration and improvement. Here at the Jamestown Exposition, in their building near the Army and Navy club, are the representatives of many. Such associations are the very elements of human progress, of advancement of mankind towards the final stage of universal peace and good will.

In all ages love of country has been held to be a noble sentiment, and, when men have offered their lives in defense of their homes and country, their names and deeds have been cherished by their people and given the praise of all mankind. Centuries ago the profession of arms was restricted to freemen, to barons, knights, gentlemen and yeomen. The serf and the bondman had no part in the battle-field or in the imminent breach. In the progress of civilization, wars have become less frequent, and today only a just war can command the approval of mankind. Wars of conquest and seizure are subject to an increasing condemnation. In the old war times, men were almost continuously engaged in campaigns, and they saw little of their homes and families. The women kept the homes, and they had little part in public affairs. In our time and country the life in peaceful homes and among kindred and friends is dearer to men and women than ever in the history of the world. The part of the warrior of old, his business in life, was to fight and, at last, to die. In our time, to resign the cherished life of peace and family, to buckle on the sword, requires a nobler courage, a higher devotion to patriotic duty. To send forth to battle the husband, father, son, demands from woman a consecration which has no parallel in any other act of renunciation. Such were the fate and feeds of thousands of our men and women during the Civil War. The heroic action of those men and women, whether of the North or of the South, shall be the theme of tribute through ages. Patriotic associations which cherish their fame will always be a part of the life-blood of the nation; and, among them today, the United Daughters of the Confederacy holds the respect, the sympathy and the praise of every true American heart.

The burdens and sorrows of war fell hardly upon the women. For the men there was action, the march and conflict; for the women, weary waiting, hope and fear, loss and mourning.

"The hand of the Reaper
Takes the ears that are hoary,
But the voice of the Weeper
Walls manhood in glory.
The autumn winds rushing
Waft the leaves that are searest,
But our flower was in flushing
When blighting was nearest."

In song and story the women of that time shall be enshrined. The grievous incidents and losses of the war were more general and widespread in the Southern States of the battle-ground; the sufferings, the endurance and yet the constancy of the women of the South will forever be remembered in sympathy and in praise.

Here the President and great men from all parts of our country have raised their voices in eloquent tribute to the men who gave their lives and to those who are yet spared to us from that dread conflict. The honesty of purpose and the conscientious devotion of each of the combatants are mutually recognized. No thought of section mars the praise of the brave soldier; his fame is the priceless heritage of all Americans.

Veterans of the North and of the South and their children have together placed laurels upon the graves of the blue and the gray; there has grown a mutual respect and esteem which is the essential foundation of friendship, and we are united in one faith and one hope for the future of our country. In this progress of fraternal appreciation, in assembling the States, in bringing together the men of all parts, in securing the presence of hundreds of associations, the Jamestown Exposition has done a great national service.

The work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy is good and noble. There are among you some who have tender memories to cherish while life lasts. It is worth living to remember with pride and praise those loved and lost awhile. In a wider field, you are to honor the Confederate soldier and engrave his fame upon enduring monuments, to be the inspiration of his descendants, patriots of a day and generation yet to come. It shall be your beneficent task to cherish the veteran and his widow and his children. It is a work of patriotism and of affection which brings its own happy reward. The soldier may be inspired by pride or vanity, the pomp and circumstance of war. His truth and courage must be proved; but your work needs no trial, no banner, no testimonial; its mere existence is a proclamation of inspiration; its spirit is of mercy and good will towards men.

"While Valor's haughty champions wait
Till all their scars are shown,
Love walks unchallenged through the gate
To sit beside the throne."

A member of the Confederate Choir, Mrs. Edwards, sang in solo "Dixie," using the beautiful words of Dr. M. B. Wharton, and the choir joined in the chorus. The greatest enthusiasm of the occasion burst forth with the first notes of this grand song, so beautifully rendered, and the whole audience stood waving flags and applauded again and again.

Mrs. Jas. Y. Leigh, President of the Pickett Buchanan Chapter, beautifully welcomed the delegates and visitors to Norfolk in behalf of her Chapter, as follows:

Madame President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

This day marks an era in the history of our Pickett-Buchanan Chapter, never to be forgotten while it exists. Three years ago while casting about in my mind what I could do to help our Jamestown Exposition, there suddenly came to me, as if by inspiration, these words, "The greatest thing to be done will be first to assemble the Virginia Division, and later the U. D. C. organization of the whole South, within the Exposition grounds, to hold their 1907 Conventions."

At once, and with the consent and ready approval of my Chapter, I set to work, meeting with encouragement and assistance on every side, but more especially from the Governors of the Exposition. You doubtless recall the cordial invitation from them delivered by me in the beautiful assembly hall of the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco, and the unbounded enthusiasm which it called forth. My soul was stirred to its depths, and then and there I knew that we would accomplish the desired end.

It is simply impossible to convey to you the feeling of gratification which is ours, when we see before us dear familiar faces from Georgia, Florida, Texas, far away California, aye, from every State in our Southland, the guests of our Chapter, in dear old Virginia.

We ask you to look about you and see the incomparable beauty of our splendid Jamestown, which in our estimation is the most unique the world has ever seen, and when you go forth we trust that you will sing its praises, in every part of our land. Most heartily and cordially do we greet and welcome you. May this great opportunity knit together even more closely the ties which bind us. May it strengthen us to do the great work allotted to us, in memory of those loved ones who died for their country.

The ex-President of the Virginia Division, Mrs. Wm. R. McKinney, in eloquent words and beautiful style, welcomed the "Daughters" to Virginia. Mrs. McKinney's term of office expired one week before, in the convention of the Virginia Division, and at the conclusion of her address she introduced to the United Daughters her successor, Mrs. C. B. Tate, President Virginia Division.

Mrs. McKenney's address follows:

Madame President, United Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Virginia Division through me, its President, bids you welcome and hearty welcome, to the State which was more than any other, the battle-ground of the Confederacy, and in whose sacred soil sleep more Confederate soldiers than in any other State in the Union. 'Tis a land of Confederate graves, a land of battle-fields, on which Southern valor won imperishable fame. 'Tis a land of monuments, to tell of our love for constitutional freedom, and our tender reverence for those who died in its defence.

We welcome you to this historic spot made famous by the events of 300 years ago, and in sight of which, Southern skill and Southern valor, revolutionized the naval architecture of the world.

You can rest assured that Confederate love and reverence for the Southern cause does not grow weaker as the years roll by. The Virginia Division is more prosperous and more vigorous today than it ever was before in all its history. The work is to us, as it is to you, a precious labor of love, and we are happy today to see within our borders, so many representative women of the South, whose fathers and whose grandfathers have shown to an admiring world, how sweet and how honorable a thing it is to suffer and die, for a cause which they knew to be right, and which history is vindicating, and will continue to vindicate, as the struggle of a gallant people for homes and firesides in the cause of constitutional liberty.

Again I welcome you to our hearts and our homes, and trust that your deliberations may be marked by harmony, and that whatever may be done may redound to the glory of the cause which we all love, and which 'tis our precious privilege to strive to keep ever fresh and green, not only in our own hearts, but in the hearts and minds of generations yet unborn.

Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson, the President General, responded in choice words to the addresses of welcome on behalf of the U. D. C., as follows:

This welcome to Virginia by Virginians does not surprise us, for is not this week somewhat in the light of a home-coming week to most of us? Cannot most of us point to a time when our ancestors were among the patriot-"rebels" in Virginia, fighting for their God-given right of freedom of thought and of speech, and of action? Are not those same ancestors held lovingly in Virginia's bosom waiting for the end of time! So, Governor Swanson, when you speak to us a welcome from the great old "Mother of States," you make us feel that Virginia's love for the children and grandchildren of her sons and daughters is still warm. And what could be done to make us feel the "eternal fitness of things" like the fact that we, the Daughters of the Confederacy, are being welcomed in such cordial terms by the Virginia Division of our order expressed by their President, Mrs. McKenney, to the State on whose bloody fields so many of our fathers fought for their constitutional rights cheered by the sympathy of Virginia's great heart, that heart which first sounded in the "land of the free and the brave" the call to liberty. Virginia, in whose treasure-house so many of the grey-coated soldiers of the Confederacy rest with a feeling of security because Virginia will see to the vindication of their fame.

And then upon all this comes from our hostess, the Pickett-Buchanan Chapter, through their President and the friend of all of us, Mrs. Leigh, a proffering of the keys to their homes and hearts, in such cordial terms that we would be impossible to please if we did not respond in the same spirit by exclaiming with the psalmist, "Bless the Lord, Oh! my soul, and all that is within me. Bless His holy name!" For is there a blessing on earth equal to that of the hearts and hands which know how to make you feel at home when you are with them in their home! I am happy to express to you for the United Daughters of the Confederacy our appreciation of the cordial welcome as expressed by you all. We do thank you, and pray that our meeting may bring forth fruits worthy of Virginia's history and Virginia's welcome to her children's children.

The Ritual Services, conducted by the President General, followed these addresses.

After the distribution of badges the convention adjourned to accept invitations for the afternoon to a beautiful reception at "Beauvoir," the building of the Virginia Division, U. D. C., and to visit the battle between the "Merimac and the Monitor," a spectacular show on the Exposition grounds.

EVENING MEETING.

Wednesday, Nov. 13th, 1907.

The convention was called to order at 8 o'clock p. m., and was opened with prayer, the President-General in the Chair.

The Secretary called the roll of officers, and those present were invited to the platform.

The Chair presented Mrs. W. J. Behan, President of the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, and Mrs. L. H. Raines, of Georgia, as the new Custodian of the Cross of Honor, each expressed pleasure at being present.

The Secretary called the roll of presidents of the divisions, who were requested to state the number of delegates present from their respective states, and announcements were made as follows:

Alabama 4; Arkansas 2; California 4; District of Columbia 18; Florida 8; Illinois 1; Indiana —; Kentucky 14; Louisiana 5; Maryland 20; Mississippi 9; Missouri 7; Montana —; Nebraska —; New York City 15; North Carolina 30; Ohio 2; Oklahoma —; Oregon —; Philadelphia 3; South Carolina 13; Tennessee 26; Texas 15; Virginia 50; Washington —; West Virginia 18; City of Mexico 1.

The Chair presented Mrs. James B. Gantt, Chairman of the Credentials Committee, who submitted the report of that Committee.† After some corrections, the report was accepted.

Total number of votes to which convention is entitled, 1,257.

Mrs. Dibrell, of Texas, and Mrs. Faison, of North Carolina, stated that certain chapters in their states had not received credential blanks, and hence had not been able to submit credentials upon the forms prescribed.

The Secretary announced that blanks had been mailed to the officers of each chapter, and could only account for their non-delivery by the failure of the mails.

Mrs. Dibrell suggested that the By-Laws be suspended and the States be recognized by the per capita dues paid.

The Chair announced that the By-Laws could only be repealed in the manner provided therefor, in which event such change would not take effect until the adjournment of the convention.

On motion of Mrs. W. R. McKenney, of Virginia, the report of the Committee on Credentials was accepted, with the thanks of the convention.

The President General then submitted her report for the year.*

On motion of Mrs. Tench, of Florida, the Convention, by a rising vote, expressed its thanks for the very excellent report of the President-General.

Referring to that part of the President-General's report with reference to the placing of the picture of Gen. Robert E. Lee in the public schools of the South, Miss Claiborne, of Tennessee, suggested that the attention of the graduates of the College of Washington and Lee University be called to the propriety of purchasing the excellent painting of Gen. Lee, now on exhibition at the Jamestown Exposition, and placing it in the halls of that institution of learning.

The Chair announced that the subject might be taken up at a later time under the head of new business.

The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Dowdell, then submitted her report.*

The Convention by a rising vote expressed its thanks for the labors of the Recording Secretary General, as evidenced by her report submitted.

Mrs. Frank Anthony Walke, President of the Hope-Maury Chapter of Norfolk, said that we were all guests of the Pickett-Buchanan Chapter, but on behalf of the Hope-Maury Chapter she wished to welcome the Daughters to the City of Norfolk.

Mrs. A. B. White, of Tennessee, asked in view of the fact that some of the members of the Shiloh Monument Committee expected to leave the city, that the report of that Committee be heard as the first order of business at tomorrow morning's session.

On motion, the request was granted.

Mrs. Smythe, of Charleston, moved that the President-General appoint a committee from the St. Louis delegation to call upon Mrs. P. G. Robert, of St. Louis, and to convey to her, in her afflicted condition, a message of sympathy from the U. D. C.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

The Chair read a communication announcing the recent death of Mrs. John C. Breckenridge, and stated that a committee would be appointed to read, at the memorial services tomorrow afternoon, resolution in respect to Mrs. Breckenridge's death.

Mrs. James Y. Leigh announced that Mrs. J. E. B. Stuart, on account of sickness in her family, would perhaps be unable to attend the sessions of the convention, but that Mrs. Stuart desired to extend to the convention her most affectionate regards and good wishes.

On motion of Mrs. N. V. Randolph, of Richmond, Va., the Secretary was directed to send a letter of greeting and sympathy to Mrs. Sallie Sawyer Ayres, of Washington, D. C.

On motion of Mrs. M. B. Pilcher, of Tennessee, a similar letter was directed to be sent to Mrs. M. C. Goodlet, of Nashville, Tenn.

After the reading of a number of communications,* the Convention, at 10:30 p. m., adjourned until tomorrow (Thursday) morning at 9:30 o'clock.

*See Greetings to Convention.

SECOND DAY—Morning Meeting.

Thursday, November 14th, 1907.

The convention met at 9:30 o'clock a. m., and was opened with prayer by Rev. Jas. M. Owens, of St. Paul's Church, Norfolk.

The minutes of last night's session were read by the Secretary and approved.

Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, moved that a letter of sympathy be sent to Mrs. Anson C. Maltby upon the death of her mother, Mrs. John C. Breckenridge.

Mrs. Reynolds, of Kentucky, moved as an amendment that similar letters be also sent to Mrs. John Andrew Steele and Hon. Clifton R. Breckenridge.

The amendment was accepted by Mrs. Schuyler, and the motion, as amended, was unanimously adopted.

Mrs. L. E. Williams, Treasurer of the U. D. C., submitted her report.* The reading of the amounts received from the respective chapters, was dispensed with and the totals received from the respective divisions only read.

On motion of Mrs. McKinney it was ordered that the doors be closed during the reading of all reports.

Mrs. Gantt moved that a rising vote of thanks be extended to Mrs. Williams, the Treasurer, and Mrs. Dowdell, the Recording Secretary, for their splendid work during the year.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

Mrs. Gantt, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, stated that since the report of the Committee on Credentials last night several presidents of divisions had come in, and if their names were added to the list already submitted, it would make a difference of sixteen votes for the convention, and the votes of the divisions affected by the increase would be as follows:

Arkansas 32; Dist. of Columbia 18; Florida 35; Georgia 88; Indian Territory 17; Kentucky 96; Louisiana 43; Maryland 38; Mississippi 81; North Carolina 75; South Carolina 91; Tennessee 156; Texas 91; Virginia 150; West Virginia 24, making a total vote of 1,257.

*See Officers' Reports.

On motion of Mrs. McKinney, of Kentucky, the action of the convention at last night's meeting, in adopting the report of the Committee on Credentials, was reconsidered; and upon motion, the additional names, as set out in the supplemental report of the Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, were added to the original list.

Upon motion, the Chair appointed Mrs. Snead, of Virginia, a committee of one to preserve order in the hall.

Mrs. Gantt announced the presence of Mrs. John B. Stanford, of the Father Ryan Chapter, of the City of Mexico, who had travelled for two weeks in order to be in attendance upon the convention. Mrs. Gantt moved that Mrs. Stanford be escorted to the platform, which was accordingly done, and the convention arose to receive her.

Mrs. Walsh, of the District of Columbia, asked that the Arlington Monument Association be given an audience as soon as possible, as some of the members expected to return to their homes before the adjournment of the convention.

Mrs. Webb, of Tennessee, asked that the Committee on the Mrs. Jefferson Davis Memorial Window be heard immediately after the memorial services this afternoon.

On motion, the convention determined to hear from the Mrs. Jefferson Davis Memorial Window Committee in the afternoon, and then to hear the report on the Arlington Monument.

Mrs. McKinney, of Kentucky, moved that the election of officers be made the special order of business for tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, instead of Saturday evening.

Mrs. Parker, of New York, moved as an amendment, that the rules be suspended, the election of officers be taken up at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, and that immediately afterwards the report of the Committee on the Revision of the Constitution and By-Laws be heard.

The amendment was accepted by Mrs. McKinney.

After considerable discussion a call for the pending question was sustained by a vote of 250 for, to 14 against.

Mrs. Tench asked that the roll of states be called upon the vote upon the pending question.

The Chair announced that it would require one-fifth of the members present and voting to order a roll call.

A vote was ordered upon the motion to call the roll of states, and, before the result was announced a motion was made to lay the whole matter on the table, and the motion prevailed.

The Chair announced as the next order of business the report of the Corresponding Secretary.

Mrs. Rapley, of Missouri, the Corresponding Secretary, read her report, and, upon motion, a rising vote of thanks was extended her.*

Mrs. Henry A. London, of North Carolina, moved that a message of sympathy be sent, by letter, to Mrs. W. S. Parker, of Henderson, N. C., (ex-President of the North Carolina Division) upon the recent death of her daughter.

The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Raines, the Custodian of the Cross of Honor, submitted her report. On motion of Mrs. White, of South Carolina, the report was received and approved; and the convention by a rising vote, extended its thanks to Mrs. Raines.*

Mrs. Holmes, of Virginia, moved that each division be asked to inspect the book kept by Mrs. Raines.

The motion prevailed, and the Chair requested that each division send its recorder to make the inspection.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph, of Virginia, moved that the Custodian be authorized to employ some one at such compensation as she deems best under her supervision, at such time as she sees proper, to carry out the work recommended in the report of the Custodian of the Cross of Honor.

Mrs. Parker, of New York, offered an amendment that the Custodian be empowered to have the work performed, after consultation with the Cross of Honor Committee, with power to act.

The amendment was accepted by Mrs. Randolph, and, as amended, the motion was adopted.

Mrs. Walke, of Norfolk, announced the presence of Mrs

J. E. B. Stuart, and suggested that a committee be appointed to escort her to the platform.

The Chair appointed Mrs. Walke as this committee; and Mrs. Stuart, when presented to the convention, said: "Only a word of welcome, ladies, and thanks for your very cordial recognition of my presence. My heart is too full to speak. You are doing honor to my husband, not to me. God bless you."

The hour for the special order having arrived, Mrs. White, Chairman of the Shiloh Monument Committee, presented her report.*

Upon motion of Mrs. Odenheimer, of Maryland, the Shiloh Monument Committee was allowed five minutes in which to solicit subscriptions upon the floor of the convention; and the following contributions were made:

Mrs. Cooley, of Florida, moved that the report of the Shiloh Monument Committee, with the recommendations contained therein, be adopted.

Mrs. White moved as an amendment that the State of Georgia be substituted on the Central Committee in the place of Arkansas, as the Division of the latter State is erecting a monument there.

Mrs. Wyckoff, of Virginia, moved as a further amendment, that the $500 appropriated by the U. D. C. to the Shiloh Monument be increased to $1,000 annually.

After considerable discussion, a call for the pending question was sustained. The pending question being the amendment of Mrs. Wyckoff, the vote was taken thereon, and the amendment was lost.

The convention then adopted the amendment of Mrs. White to the motion of Mrs. Cooley, and the motion of Mrs. Cooley, as thus amended, was adopted.

Mrs. Holmes, of Virginia, moved that the Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital Association be accorded a hearing, as the special order of business at this afternoon's session, immediately following consideration of the Arlington Monument report and the report of the Committee upon the Mrs. Jefferson Davis Memorial Window.

The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Philips, Chairman of the Alabama delegation, and Mrs. Halliburton, President of the Arkansas Division, read the reports of their respective Divisions.*

After sundry announcements, the convention took a recess until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON MEETING.

The convention resumed its meeting at 2:30 p. m.

The Chair announced that the hour for the memorial services had arrived, and called for resolutions upon the death of Mrs. J. Jefferson Thomas, of Atlanta, Ga., formerly the beloved Treasurer of the U. D. C.

The resolutions were read by Miss Baxter, of Georgia, the convention, upon motion of Mrs. Cooley, standing during the reading.†

The resolutions were then unanimously adopted.

Louisiana, were read by Miss Mattie McGrath, President of the Louisiana Division, and the same were unanimously adopted.†

The Committee to draft resolutions upon the death of Mrs. Ruth H. Tesson, President of the Oklahoma Division, was called, but no member responded, and, upon motion of Mrs. McKinney, of Kentucky, it was ordered that the resolutions, when submitted, be incorporated in the proceedings of the Memorial Service.†

Resolutions upon the death of Mrs. Kirby Smith were read by Mrs. M. B. Pilcher, President of the Tennessee Division, and, upon motion of Mrs. Cooley, were adopted.†

Resolutions upon the death of Mrs. John C. Breckenridge were read by Mrs. Reynolds, of Kentucky, and, upon motion of Mrs. Neal, were adopted.†

The Chair announced the following Committees to serve for this convention.

Committee on Minutes: Mrs. H. C. Hoggard, Mrs. Stark Sutton, Miss Anne Henry.

Jurisprudence: Mrs. Helen D. McClurg, Mrs. Jos. B. Dibrell, Miss Poppenheim.

Mrs. Neal moved that a committee be appointed to pass upon the recommendations embodied in the President-General's report. The motion prevailed, and the Chair appointed the following committee: Mrs. Tate, of Virginia; Mrs. Faison, of North Carolina, and Mrs. Philips, of Alabama.

The hour for the special order having arrived, Miss West, of Texas, Chairman of the Varina Jefferson Davis Memorial Window Committee, read the report of that Committee.*

On motion of Miss James, of Wilmington, N. C., the report was adopted, and the thanks of the Convention were extended to the Committee by a rising vote, for the beautiful tribute to the life and character of Mrs. Davis.

The Chair announced as the next order of business, consideration of the subject of the Arlington Monument.

Mrs. Ralph Walsh, of Washington, D. C., President of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association, stated that Hon. Hiliary A. Herbert was authorized by that Association to present the matter to the convention.

The Chair presented Col. Herbert, who addressed the convention and asked that the United Daughters of the Confederacy take charge of the erection of the monument at Arlington.

At the conclusion of his address, Col. Herbert offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the U. D. C. undertake the work of erecting a monument to the Confederate dead in the cemetery at Arlington, said work to be done through a committee composed of eight delegates from each of the five present Chapters of the U. D. C. in the District of Columbia, of which committee the District President of the U. D. C. shall be the chairman ex officio.

The members of said committee shall vote per capita and at any regular or regularly called meeting 15 members shall be a quorum for business. Said committee shall have the advice and assistance of an advisory board consisting of four members from Camp 1711, four from the Rouss Camp, U. C. V., and four from each regularly chartered and now acting Camp of S. of C. V. in the District of Columbia. Members of said committee and of said advisory board shall be elected annually by the several organizations, but vacancies may be filled at any time.

On motion of Mrs. London, the convention, by a rising vote, extended its thanks to Col. Herbert for his excellent presentation of the subject.

After a good deal of discussion on the subject under consideration, the convention agreed to the motion of Mrs. Cory, that the United Daughters of the Confederacy accept the Arlington Monument work from the Arlington Confederate Monument Association without conditions.

The next order of business was the hearing of the report upon the Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital, which report was submitted by Miss Pendleton, of Virginia.

Mrs. Lyons, of Virginia, moved that the United Daughters of the Confederacy give each year $100 to the Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital until its endowment fund should have been completed.

Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, of Virginia, offered the following substitute for the motion of Mrs. Lyons: "That the United Daughters of the Confederacy donate $100.00 to the Endowment Fund of the Stonewall Jackson Hospital, Lexington, Va."

The amendment was accepted by Mrs. Lyons, and the motion as amended prevailed.

Miss West moved that all further motions and resolutions requiring appropriations be referred to the Finance Committee for future action.

Miss Baxter, of Georgia, moved to amend by striking out the word "further," which amendment was accepted by Miss West.

After some discussion, the previous question was called, and the motion of Miss West, as amended by Miss Baxter, prevailed.

Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, was granted five minutes in which to solicit donations for the purchase of the portrait of Mrs. Jefferson Davis; but the hour for adjournment having so nearly arrived, the privilege was extended until tomorrow morning's meeting immediately after the reading of the minutes.

At 5:30 p. m., the Convention adjourned until tomorrow (Friday) morning, Nov. 15th, 1907, at 9:30 o'clock.

THIRD DAY—Morning Meeting.

Friday, Nov. 15th, 1907.

The convention was called to order at 10:15 a. m., and was opened with prayer.

On motion of Mrs. Parker, of New York, the doors were ordered to be closed during the reading of the minutes.

The minutes of yesterday morning and afternoon meetings were read, and, after some slight corrections, were approved, as corrected.

Mrs. James Y. Leigh reported the receipt of a telegram from Mrs. A. J. Montague, of Richmond, asking that arrangements be made for the convention to hear a committee today from the Home for Needy Confederate Women.

Mrs. Tate, of Virginia, announced the presence of Mrs. Thomas Bocock, widow of the Speaker of the Confederate Congress. Mrs. Bocock was escorted to the platform and expressed her pleasure at being in attendance upon the session of the convention.

The Chair appointed Miss West, of Texas, Mrs. Stevens, of Mississippi, and Mrs. Odenheimer, a Committee on Resolutions, of thanks for the entertainment of the convention.

Mrs. Walke, of Virginia, was appointed a committee of one to preserve order in the hall.

Mrs. Johnson, of the District of Columbia, thanked the ladies of the U. D. C. who had sent contributions to the bazaar recently held by the Stonewall Jackson Chapter, by which $1,000.00 was realized for the Arlington Monument.

Mrs. Odenheimer moved that the report of the Varina Jefferson Davis Memorial Window Committee be published in the advanced copy of the minutes, and that a copy of these minutes be sent to Mrs. Hayes, the daughter of Mrs. Davis.

The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, having been granted five minutes, in which to receive donations for the purchasing of the portrait of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, occupied the floor for that purpose. The time accorded having expired, by unanimous consent the time was extended five minutes.

The following suscriptions were given:

Mrs. Faison, of North Carolina, offered the following:

"I move that a petition be sent from the U. D. C. of each State to their respective legislatures, begging that they make such appropriations for the Soldiers' Homes as would enable the managers to take care of the wives of the old veterans, who seek food and shelter in their declining years.

"Often when they take advantage of this home, they are forced to leave their poor old wives, who have no visible means of support, and must continue to suffer, and, in many cases, never see each other again. I am sure you will agree with me when I say this seems hard and cruel. 'What God has joined together, let no man put asunder;' yet our laws do this constantly. In Mississippi, at their Soldiers' Home at 'Beauvoir,' the poor old soldiers are permitted to have their wives with them. Let us all work for this."

On motion of Mrs. Reynolds, of Kentucky, the motion was adopted.

Mrs. Tench, of Florida, moved that the regular order of business be taken up. The motion prevailed. Reports from the different States were called for, and the following State reports were read:*

- District of Columbia, by Mrs. Ralph Walsh.
- Florida Division, by Mrs. Stringer.
- Georgia, by Miss Baxter.
- Stonewall Chapter, of Chicago, by Mrs. Heatfield.
- Kentucky, by Mrs. McKinney.

*See Division Reports.

Mrs. Walke, of Virginia, asked that the regular order of business be suspended, in order to present to Mrs. Gabbett the medal which Mrs. Walke, as a committee of one, was, at the convention at Gulfport, authorized to procure.

On motion of Mrs. Tench, the request was granted.

The medal was presented to Mrs. Gabbett, who responded most happily, expressing her grateful appreciation and assuring the convention of her ever readiness to serve the U. D. C.

Upon motion of Mrs. Stringer, the President-General pinned the medal upon Mrs. Gabbett's breast.

Resuming the regular order of business, the call of States was again proceeded with, and reports were received from the following:*

Indian Territory, by Mrs. Woods.

Louisiana, by Miss McGrath.

Mrs. Leigh announced that Mrs. G. Smith Norris, of Bel Air, Md., and Miss Carrie Walters, of Norfolk, had each met with unfortunate accidents last night which rendered them unable to be in attendance upon the meetings of the convention today.

On motion, the Corresponding Secretary was instructed to convey messages of sympathy to these two ladies.

The convention again took up the call of divisions for reports, and the report from the Maryland Division was submitted by Mrs. F. G. Odenheimer.

Mrs. Leigh announced the presence of Mrs. A. J. Montague, who had earlier in the day telegraphed, asking the privilege of appearing before the convention on behalf of the Home for Needy Confederate Women.

On motion of Mrs. Leigh, Mrs. Montague was accorded the floor; and upon motion of Mrs. Tench, the time accorded was limited to ten minutes.

Mrs. Montague addressed the convention, and at the conclusion of her remarks was, upon motion of the Tennessee delegation, tendered a rising vote of thanks.

Madame President and Ladies:

At a meeting of the Board of the Home for Needy Confederate Women on yesterday, I was requested to appear before you to day and beg your consideration of a brief report of our work. This Home possibly is known to many present, but there may be a few not acquainted with its admirable mission, and to these especially I address my remarks. On October 15, 1907, this Home opened its doors for donations, celebrating its seventh anniversary. From a very small beginning, and with no funds at the outset, it has acquired one of the handsomest homes in the South, situated at No. 3, East Grace Street, in Richmond, at a cost of $16,500.00, exclusive of $5,000 for repair and improvement, and standing today unencumbered by debt.

We now have in its walls twenty-four inmates, a matron and three servants. For the past seven years we have been successful in caring for these ladies in a fitting manner, and moreover in laying by $5,000 towards an endowment fund. This sum is safely deposited at 6 per cent. interest, and we now have to our checking account $754.00. The sum of $100.00 monthly is allowed for marketing; $54.00 for servants' hire; $50.00 for fuel; and however economical we may be, the expenses run close to $350.00 monthly. We have made every effort to interest in our work the various Confederate organizations; for to the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Sons of Confederate Veterans we must look for the ultimate success of this Home.

We have tenderly cared for in this Home many very charming women. Among them I could mention Capt. Sally Tompkins, who from her bounty opened a private hospital and personally succored over thirteen hundred wounded soldiers. Mrs. Smith, the niece of President Tyler; Miss Sarah Jane Peyton, a great-niece of Thomas Jefferson, and many others worthy of your regard and consideration, but my time is brief and I can tell you only a part of the great message I bear you.

The distant State of California has furnished, and endowed one of the most beautiful rooms in our institution, and the inmate of this room receives the generous help of these goodly women so far from us. Many of our rooms have been furnished by the Chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy in our State, but thus far only five Chapters have pledged themselves to any definite sum toward the running expenses of this Home. The Southern Cross Chapter, of Salem, William Watts Chapter, of Roanoke, the Old Dominion Dragoon Chapter of Hampton, the Hampton Chapter and the John W. Daniel Chapter of Newport News have all endowed rooms. One room is endowed by the United Daughters in the State of Virginia in honor of Capt. Sally Tompkins, and one room is a private memorial to the memory of Dr. Frank Anthony Walke.

Last year we were most successful in asking for boxes of house-keeping supplies to be each week sent from some county in the State; and in many instances the Board of Lady Managers and the inmates were made very happy by generous responses. But our reliance on the public, already greatly burdened, makes our income precarious and uncertain. We are debarred from State help by the new Constitution; therefore, you see the necessity of my begging that you will each take to your respective chapters the message from these helpless women. I pray you earnestly to co-operate with us in raising an amount not only necessary to pay daily expenses, but to enable us to lay by a sum which will make this Home a permanent memorial to the widows, the sisters and daughters and descendants of Confederate heroes.

I come to beg that every chapter here represented will take back to the ladies of their home chapters this great work and the greater opportunity which this extraordinary charity affords in a living and helpful memorial to our Southern women. It is not fully written in history, but sacrifice, suffering, endurance and courage are indelibly traced on the minds and hearts of the Southern people, and these objects of need and these heroic virtues can better be memorialized by bread than by stone. How these women in other days spun and sewed all night that the soldiers might be clothed and fed; how they bared their floors that slippers might be made by their own hands for brother, son or husband; how bravely did they bear all, suffer all, lose all! And do you not feel with us that this Home is a tardy but practical recognition of these great sacrifices, and that we cannot make our work too great or too attractive?

In conclusion may I state that Miss Mary Custis Lee, the daughter of the great General, is the President of our Home, and while she is unable to give much of her personal time to its administration, she is nevertheless most deeply interested in it, for the work appeals very deeply to her sympathy and affection.

Reports from divisions were again called for, and the report from Mexico was read by Mrs. Stanford, who, upon motion of the North Carolina Division, was tendered a rising vote of thanks.*

Mrs. Leigh arose to a question of inquiry, and asked if Mrs. Montague, who had just addressed the convention, had any plan formulated or request to make in regard to the "Home for Needy Confederate Women." Mrs. Montague replied that she had no plan at all, but simply desired to bring a report of the work before the convention in the hope that the cause might appeal to the delegates present.

Mrs. Leigh moved that the delegates present would bring the matter to the attention of their chapters upon their return home.

The motion prevailed.

On motion of Mrs. Holmes, the report of the "Jefferson Davis Monument Association" was fixed as the special order of business for tomorrow morning immediately after the reading of the minutes.

Miss Poppenheim moved that the Committee on Revision of the Minutes be empowered to use the term "War between the States" wherever by any inadvertence the report should use the words "Civil War."

The motion was seconded.

Mrs. Beale, of New York, moved to amend this motion by adding that also when the words "Decoration Day" were used, that the words "Memorial Day" be substituted therefor.

Mrs. Robinson, of Richmond, Va., moved, as a substitute for the amendment, that the words "Confederate War" be used instead of "War between the States."

Without voting upon any of the motions offered, the convention, upon a motion to adjourn, took a recess until 2:30 p. m.

THIRD DAY—Afternoon Meeting.

Friday, Nov. 15, 1907.

The convention resumed business at 2:30 p. m.

The Chair announced that Mrs. D. A. S. Vaught had sent the following corrections to the minutes of the convention held at Gulfport; the corrections proposed were read by the Secretary, as follows:

Amend report Finance Committee, page 60, line 8, by striking out "Beauregard Monument."

Explanation of correction of Minutes.

Upon reading of the report of Finance Committee at Gulfport, Saturday, Nov. 17th, (page 59), Mrs. Vaught, President of the Louisiana Division, rose to correct page 60, line 8, calling attention to the fact that convention had not voted any donation to Beauregard Monument, none having been solicited, (see page 56).

Louisiana assumed that this correction was made, this session being the last, its minutes were not read to the convention, therefore, the members were ignorant of their not having been corrected.

When the pamphlet "Business Proceedings" appeared, noting that the correction had not been made, and that Chapter 72, contrary to her views and plans was made to appear the recipient of $50.00, when if she had asked for any amount it would have been $500.00, Mrs. Vaught wrote to the Secretary, Mrs. Dowdell, calling attention. Mrs. Dowdell very justly replied that she had not recorded the proceedings, only prepared them for publication, and could not do anything. Nothing more being heard of the matter, it was concluded that the Committee on Minutes had accepted Mrs. Vaught's statement, and the matter would go no further. However, on November 7th, 1907, a check for $50.00 was received by the Treasurer of the Beaufegard Monument Committee. The Committee would not desire to appear ungracious, but it will be easily understood that accepting a very small donation when none had been solicited, nor voted by the convention, in lieu of a larger one, which would have been asked, places the Committee in a trying position, and one it sought to avoid.

General Beauregard was one of the seven full Generals of the Confederate States Army, and Louisiana considers herself only the medium of subscriptions, which should be general. Mrs. Vaught therefore asks to have her Committee placed upon a proper footing and the correction made.

The Committee, Chapter 72 and Louisiana gratefully accepts the $50.00 on account $500.00 asked now from this body.

MRS. D. A. S. VAUGHT, Chm.,
1442 Louisiana Avenue, New Orleans, La.

The President-General, Recording Secretary-General, serving during that convention, and Chairman of Finance Committee, remembered that the business proceedings were as printed in the Gulfport Minutes.

Miss Childress, of Louisiana, asked to be allowed five minutes, immediately after reading the division reports, in order to address the convention upon the subject of the Beaufegard Monument.

The request was granted.

Mrs. Parker, of New York, moved that the privileges of the floor be granted to the Philadelphia delegates, whose per capita tax had not been received in due time by reason of the illness of the Treasurer of that Chapter.

A motion to this effect was unanimously carried.

Miss Poppenheim moved that the Committee to Revise and Correct the Minutes be instructed that, wherever the term, "Civil War," appears in the reports or printed matter submitted to them for the U. D. C. minutes, to substitute for those words, the words, "War between the States."

Mrs. Cooley moved, as an amendment, that wherever the words, "Decoration Day" in similar manner appeared, the words "Memorial Day" be substituted therefor.

Mrs. Parker, of New York, stated that the amendment offered by Mrs. Cooley was the same as offered by Mrs. Beale, of New York, at the morning meeting.

The Chair stated that Mrs. Beale had offered such an amendment before the recess hour, but that there had been no action taken upon the matter at the hour of adjournment, and she ruled that as business stood just where it was when interrupted, for lunch, the amendment offered by Mrs. Beale was the one before the convention. Miss Poppenheim accepted the amendment, and embodied same in her motion.

Thereupon Miss Poppenheim amplified her motion to cover the amendment offered, so that the motion would read, "That the Committee to Revise and Correct the Minutes be instructed that, wherever the term 'Civil War' appears in the reports or printed matter submitted to them for the U. D. C. minutes, to substitute for this term the 'War between the States,' and where the term 'Decoration Day' appears, to substitute the words, 'Memorial Day.'"

The motion as thus reported was unanimously carried.

Mrs. Kline asked for five minutes' time after the consideration of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association report tomorrow morning, and the request was granted.

Reports from divisions were again called for, and the following States were heard from:

Mississippi, by Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens.*

Missouri, by Mrs. James B. Gantt.

New Mexico, by Mrs. Austin, of Texas

*See Division Reports.

New York, by Mrs. Parker.*
North Carolina, by Mrs. Faison.
Oregon, by the Recording Secretary.
South Carolina, by Miss Poppenheim.
Philadelphia Chapter, by Mrs. Marburg.
Tennessee, by Mrs. Pilcher.
Texas, by Mrs. Dibrell.
Virginia, by Mrs. McKenney.

Mrs. Leigh, of Virginia, presented to the convention the Honorary President of the General Dabney Maury Chapter, Mrs. Sue Maury Halsey; and the President of the General Dabney H. Maury Chapter, Mrs. S. N. Duer.

On motion of Mrs. Meade, of Virginia, Mrs. Tate, the newly elected President of the Virginia Division, was presented to the convention.

The call for reports of divisions was again proceeded with, and the report from Mildred Lee Chapter, of Spokane, Washington, was read by the Recording Secretary.

Mrs. Lyons, of Virginia, asked to be allowed five minutes tomorrow morning for the "Southern Historical and Souvenir Committee."

Mrs. Cory moved that the "Historical and Souvenir Committee" be given the third allotment of five minutes' time, after the two already provided for, immediately after the reading of the minutes tomorrow morning. Carried.

Mrs. Leigh moved that, instead of having the Historical and Musical Program this evening, the convention hold a meeting for the transaction of business.

The motion of Mrs. Leigh prevailed.

Mrs. Parker, of New York, moved that the Confederate Memorial Literary Society report be given the time this evening the first thing after the reading of the minutes.

The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Woods asked for five minutes' time this evening after the conclusion of the consideration of the C. M. L. S. report.

Mrs. Cory raised the point that the request was out of order, as the reports from divisions had not all been submitted, that being the regular order of business.

*See Division Reports.

The Chair ruled that the point was well taken; and the report from West Virginia was then read by Mrs. McSherry.*

The Chair stated that there were several representatives from California present, and, suggested that, as there was no report submitted from California, the ten minutes to which the California Division was entitled would be accorded to a member of that delegation.

The suggestion of the Chair was adopted, and Mrs. Van Wycke, of California, addressed the convention, giving an account of the work of the U. D. C. in that State.

Mrs. Cory gave notice that immediately upon the conclusion of the special order of business she would present a resolution.

Upon motion of Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, the Secretary was instructed to write a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Stephens, President of the California Division, expressing the regret of the convention upon her illness and inability to be present.

Mrs. Johnson, of the District of Columbia, inquired when the Historical Committee would have opportunity to present its report.

The Chair announced that reports of Standing Committees would be heard after the special orders were disposed of at this evening's meeting.

Mrs. Leigh announced that Miss Jonas, daughter of the gentleman who wrote the beautiful lines on the back of the Confederate Note, had arrived in the city and would be present at this evening's meeting.

A motion made by Mrs. Leigh that Miss Jonas be requested to read before the convention tonight the poem referred to was unanimously carried.

Mrs. Parker, of New York, arising to a point of inquiry, asked what disposition was to be made of the trees which had been brought by the various delegates.

Mrs. Leigh moved to be allowed until tonight to ascertain if the consent of the Jamestown Exposition authorities could be obtained to have the trees planted on the Exposition grounds; and, if not, to try and secure permission from the city authorities of Norfolk to have them planted in the City Park.

The motion prevailed.

Miss Childress, who had been granted five minutes for the purpose, addressed the convention on behalf of the Beauregard Monument, and asked in the name of Mrs. D. A. S. Vaught, Chairman of the Beauregard Monument Committee, that the convention would donate $500.00 to this monument, being erected in New Orleans.

Mrs. Cory moved that the election of officers be taken up at tonight's session immediately upon the conclusion of the special business.

The motion was seconded, but was lost for lack of a two-thirds majority, the vote being, ayes 60; noes 51.

Mrs. Kline moved that the request from the representative of the Beauregard Monument fund be referred to the Finance Committee.

Miss West moved as a substitute that $100.00 be given to the fund, subject to the recommendations made on the subject by the Finance Committee.

The substitute was accepted, and then adopted.

On motion of Mrs. Tench, Mrs. Alexander was allowed five minutes tomorrow morning after the time already given for special business, to make her final report on the Bull Run monument.

Mrs. White stated that $500.00 annually had been given to the Shiloh Monument Fund, and inquired if it was necessary to ask the convention for it.

The Chair ruled that it was not necessary.

At 5:30 p. m. the convention adjourned until 8:00 o'clock this evening.

THIRD DAY—Evening Meeting.

Friday, Nov. 15th, 1907.

The convention met at 8:20 o'clock p. m.

The minutes of the morning, and afternoon meetings were read, corrected and approved.

The hour having arrived for hearing the report of the "Confederate Memorial Literary Society," Mrs. Robinson, of Richmond, the Secretary of the Society, yielded to Miss Benning, who moved that ten minutes of the time tonight, immediately after the report of the Committee on History, be given to Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, Chairman of the Committee on "Selecting Judges for Awarding Prizes at the Teachers' College," Columbia University, to make her report.

The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Robinson yielded to Mrs. Johnson, who asked that the "Committee on History" be given the time immediately following the consideration of the special orders set for the evening.

The request was granted.

Mrs. Robinson Secretary of the "Confederate Memorial Literary Society," presented the report of that society.*

Several presidents of divisions stated that their divisions had made contributions to the Museum, for which credit did not appear upon the report just read.

This was explained later by Mrs. Lyons, of Virginia, who stated that there were fifteen separate treasurers in addition to the treasurer proper, and that all moneys disbursed by these fifteen treasurers were not reported to the general treasurer; hence, the report would not show all moneys that may have been received and expended.

Mrs. Lyons suggested that information upon the subject might be obtained from the various Vice Regents of the States.

Mrs. Van Wycke read as an additional report the report on the "Solid South Room."

*See Committee Reports.

Mrs. Raines moved that the report of the Society be accepted; and the motion was seconded.

Mrs. Cory suggested that the report and the resolutions set out therein be acted upon separately.

Mrs. Robinson explained that the resolutions were not a part of the report; and, with that explanation, Mrs. Raines refused to accept the amendment suggested by Mrs. Cory.

After considerable discussion, the Chair announced that the time limit for the discussion of the subject had expired. The vote was then taken upon the motion of Mrs. Raines, that the report be accepted; and the motion prevailed.

The special order was called for, and the Chair announced that Mrs. Woods, of the Indian Territory Division, was entitled to the floor.

Mrs. Woods addressed the convention, and asked that even though the State of Oklahoma be proclaimed in the meantime, the two Divisions, Oklahoma and Indian Territory, be allowed to continue as two separate Divisions until next August, in order that time might be had for perfecting a plan of amalgamation.

Mrs. Tench moved, and the motion was seconded, that Mrs. Woods be given all that she had asked for.

The Chair announced that it would be illegal to have two divisions in the same State or Territory, and that, if the request of Mrs. Woods was granted, any act on the part of the divisions would be illegal.

The previous question was called for, the call sustained, and the motion of Mrs. Tench prevailed.

Mrs. Johnson, of the History Committee, who was next entitled to the floor, yielded to Mrs. Leigh, who moved that the convention hear Miss Jonas, who had been invited to read the poem by her father.

The motion prevailed. Mrs. Leigh read the following letter from Major Jonas, the author, giving a history of the poem:

Aberdeen, Miss., Sept. 23, 1907.

Mrs. James Y. Leigh, President U. D. C.

Dear Madam—At the suggestion of Miss Hawkins, which reaches me through my daughter, Miss Annie Lowe Jonas, now in Memphis, I take the liberty of inclosing you a copy of the "Lines on the Back of a Confederate Note," that, much to the surprise of the author, have won celebrity.

She asks that I give you a historical sketch of the poem. Should I attempt to follow it through its meanderings, or even call the roll of those who have claimed its authorship and those to whom its authorship has been attributed without sinister motive on their part, simply because they copied it and inclosed it to friends, I would consume a quire of paper.

Its real history is simple. After Johnston's surrender at High Point, N. C., where I was serving on the staff of Lt. Gen. Stephen D. Lee, a number of us—paroled officers—went on to Richmond the better to secure transportation to our homes. We were received as guests by the patriotic landlord of the old Powhatan Hotel, who readily "took chances" on reimbursement, where we stayed for some days.

There happened at the hotel at that time a vaueville company, including a Miss Annie Rush, who had obtained a number of Confederate bills, blanked on the back, representing a car load of unfinished notes seized by the enemy and generally distributed. She was very kind to our party, which included Colonel Clare, A. A. Genl., Capt. D. L. Subiett, of the ordnance department, Captain A. B. Schell, commanding Cheatham's Sharp Shooters, a younger Sublett, and others, whose names are not recalled, providing us with "passes to the show," etc. One evening she brought in a lot of those blanks and distributed them, asking that each of us should write her "an autograph or a sentiment." I was the only one of the party who "worried the muses," and so I was delegated to do all the composing. I prepared a "poem" for each to copy over his own signature, and the lines in question constituted my offering. Of those present Capt. A. B. Schell, of Louisville, the first to read the lines, is the only one I know to be living, except perhaps "young" Mr. Sublett, of Virginia, who I have heard is in Missouri.

Miss Annie Rush gave a copy to a New York party, and its first appearance in print was in "The Metropolitan Record," of that city, under the head of "Something Too Good to Be Lost," with my signature attached.

Yours truly, for the "Lost Cause,"

S. A. JONAS,
Ex-Major, C. S. Army.

Miss Jonas was then introduced to the convention, and very pleasingly read the poem upon the Confederate Note.

LINES ON THE BACK OF A CONFEDERATE NOTE.

Representing nothing on God's earth now,
 And naught in the waters below it;
 As the pledge of a nation that's dead and gone,
 Keep it, dear friend, and show it.
 Show it to those who will lend an ear,
 To the tale that this paper can tell—
 Of liberty born of the Patriot's dream,
 Of a storm-cradled nation that fell.

Too poor to possess the precious ores,
 And too much of a stranger to borrow,
 We issued today our promise to pay,
 And hoped to redeem on the morrow.
 The days rolled by, and weeks became years,
 But our coffers were empty still;
 Coin was so rare that the treasury'd quake,
 If a dollar should drop in the till.

But the faith that was in us was strong, indeed,
 And our poverty well we discerned,
 And this little check represented the pay
 That our suffering veterans earned.
 We knew it had hardly a value in gold,
 Yet as gold each soldier received it;
 It gazed in our eyes with a promise to pay,
 And each Southern patriot believed it.

But our boys thought little of price or of pay,
 Or of bills that were overdue;
 We knew if it bought us our bread today,
 'Twas the best our poor country could do.
 Keep it, it tells our history o'er
 From the birth of the dream to its last;
 Modest, and born of the Angel Hope,
 Like our hope of success—it passed."

Richmond, Virginia, May, 1865.

—(Major) S. A. JONAS.

The convention extended to Miss Jonas a rising vote of thanks.

Mrs. Johnson read the report of the History Committee, and Miss Rutherford, of Georgia, a member of the History Committee, in a most pleasing manner, addressed the convention upon the subject of Southern History.*

*See Committee Reports.

Mrs. Cooley moved that the report of the History Committee be accepted, and that the convention thank Miss Rutherford for her remarks.

The motion was seconded and carried.

Mrs. Leigh moved that further discussion of the History Committee's report be continued until tomorrow morning's meeting.

The motion was seconded, and carried.

Mrs. Schuyler, who was entitled to the floor, asked that the time accorded her be given her at tomorrow morning's meeting.

On motion of Mrs. Dibrell the request was granted.

At 11:30 p. m. the Convention adjourned until tomorrow (Saturday) morning, Nov. 16th, 1907, at 9:30 o'clock.

MORNING MEETING.

Saturday, Nov. 16th, 1907.

The convention was called to order at 10:20 o'clock a. m., and was opened with prayer.

Minutes of last night's meeting was read, and, upon motion of Mrs. Beale, of New York, approved.

Mrs. Parker inquired what disposition was to be made of the trees which had been brought by the different delegations.

Mrs. Leigh stated that she had thus far been unable to confer with the Jamestown Exposition officials or the City of Norfolk authorities; and, failing in that, she had an appointment for a conference with Governor Swanson with a view to procuring permission to plant the trees in the grounds of the Virginia Building at the Exposition.

Mrs. McKinney, of Kentucky, inquired what would be done in the future with reference to bringing trees to the convention, and whether it was intended that this be done annually.

The Chair stated that it was her understanding that the tree planting was only incident to the meeting in California. Mrs. Smythe, Mrs. Hickman and Mrs. Van Wycke agreed with the President-General in her recollection.

Mrs. Hawkins moved that the practice of planting Confederate groves be discontinued.

The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Holmes, who was entitled to the floor under the special order, yielded to Mrs. Walke, who requested that she be given the first five minutes after the hour for new business should have arrived.

The request was granted.

Mrs. Holmes yielded to Mrs. Stone, who asked that Mrs. Behan have five minutes to make an announcement just after Mrs. Walke should have been heard.

The Chair announced that the time asked for had already been accorded Mrs. Kline.

Mrs. Kline yielded to the request of Mrs. Stone with the understanding that she (Mrs. Kline) should be accorded the five minutes following. The last mentioned allotment of time having been accorded to Mrs. Lyons, of Virginia, Mrs. Lyons stated that she would yield to Mrs. Kline.

The time asked for Mrs. Behan was thereupon granted.

Mrs. Holmes read the report of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association.*

Mrs. Taylor submitted her final report as Treasurer of the Central Committee of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association.*

Mrs. Gray, of Virginia, moved that the report of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association be accepted with hearty thanks.

Mrs. Halliburton moved, as an amendment, that a rising vote of thanks be given.

The amendment was accepted, and the motion, as amended, prevailed.

Mrs. Behan, under the special order, took the floor and addressed the convention in reference to the monument to Jefferson Davis proposed to be erected at New Orleans, by the Jefferson Davis Memorial Association, as follows:

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

We have just heard the very admirable report of the Jefferson

*See Committee Reports.

Davis Monument Association, and we have just cause to rejoice in the completion of this magnificent monument, which stands in the Capitol of the Confederacy as the loving tribute of the veterans, the Confederate Memorial Association and the Daughters of the Confederacy. As a director on the Executive Board, I am proud that after so many years, this tardy tribute has been paid to the memory of Jefferson Davis, and as president of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association, I am happy that the Memorial women were co-operators in this grand work.

Now that we have erected this monument in the city where the honored remains of Jefferson Davis are laid to final rest, it gives me pleasure to announce to this body that another monument will be erected to his memory in the city of New Orleans, where death closed his eventful career, and where he was laid to rest, pending the final decision of Mrs. Davis, to have the remains removed to Richmond. The Jefferson Davis Memorial Association of New Orleans, has been organized for this purpose. It is called the Jefferson Davis Memorial Association to distinguish it from the Jefferson Davis Monument Association of Richmond. We have about fifteen hundred dollars in hand, and will lay the corner stone of this monument on June 3, 1908, the 100th anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis, the first and only President of the Confederacy. I do not ask that any stated sum be appropriated today, but ask for the Jefferson Davis Memorial Association of New Orleans your generous co-operation and assistance.

Mrs. Randolph, as Chairman of the Central Committee, moved that the remainder of the funds in the hands of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association of the U. D. C. be given to the Davis Monument at New Orleans.

Mrs. Beale, of New York, moved to amend by adding "with the commendation, love and sympathy of the U. D. C."

The amendment was accepted.

The motion was seconded by the North Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee and other delegations, and prevailed.

Mrs. Parker, of New York, moved that the vote be made unanimous, which was accordingly done; and Mrs. Behan thanked the Convention for their action.

Under the special order Mrs. Kline addressed the convention, commending the portrait of "General Lee on Travel ler," now on exhibition at the Jamestown Exposition, as follows:

While the United Daughters of the Confederacy have contributed to the purchase of a fine portrait of our beloved Mrs. Jefferson Davis painted by a Southern woman, and of which we are truly proud, we also recognize with gratitude and delight another painting by a Southern woman now conspicuous in the history room of the Virginia building at the Jamestown Exposition. This great painting is a life-size portrait of Gen. R. E. Lee on his famous horse, Traveler. The canvas is — by — feet and the scene is startling as it appears to be the real man and horse in life. Even photographs of this great painting are so pleasing that they have been purchased in nearly every State of the Union and upon these photographs alone high tributes have been paid to the work of the modest but highly efficient artist.

Every U. D. C. who has not seen this great painting should not fail to do so if it be practicable. It should be owned by the Washington and Lee University or have a suitable place in one of the South's relic halls in Richmond. The artist, Mrs. Loulie Kirby-Parish is an enthusiastic Daughter of the Confederacy in Nashville, and of her special work there is a Camp of Junior Sons of Confederate Veterans whose special work is to aid the Daughters of the Confederacy on all occasions where they may be useful. This Camp is about fifty strong, is uniformed and well trained in military. They are devoted to her and her work. I ask for some recognition of this young artist as a Confederate woman.

MRS. W. L. KLINE.

Mrs. Reynolds moved that the artist be given the cordial endorsement of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Lyons, who was next entitled to the floor, yielded to Mrs. Dibrell, who offered for Miss West, the following:

RESOLUTION AND MOTION TO PETITION THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT TO MAKE ARLINGTON HOUSE A MEMORIAL TO GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE.

Whereas, The time has come when no man (no matter from what state or country or what his political affiliation) is afraid to proclaim to the world that General Robert E. Lee was one of the greatest military commanders the world has ever known.

There was never a time when the people of America had aught but the highest regard for his lofty personal character; and the time has arrived when the fighters on both sides of the great condict of 'The Sixties' (War between the States from 1861-1865) delight to meet together and verify each others' statements in regard to facts and to correct fictions; and the time has certainly arrived to wipe the last blemish or suggestion of sectional feeling from our fair country; and we are assembled on the sacred soil of Old Virginia, the land that gave him birth—the "Battle Ground"—therefore be it

Resolved, That the United Daughters of the Confederacy petition the United States Government (through Congress) to make Arlington House a memorial to General Robert E. Lee, and a committee for the accomplishment of this purpose be appointed by the incoming President, not later than December 31st, 1907.

(Signed)

DECCA LAMAR WEST,

Mary West Chapter No. 26, Texas Division, U. D. C.

Miss Poppenheim moved that the resolutions be adopted.

After considerable discussion the pending question was ordered; and the motion of Miss Poppenheim was lost.

Mrs. Lyons, of Virginia, submitted the report of the Historical Souvenir Committee, and moved that the Committee be continued, and that, when vacancies should occur from any division, the Committee fill such vacancies after consulting with the division or chapter, where there is no division.*

The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Alexander made her report on the Bull Run Monument.*

Mrs. Schuyler moved that a rising vote of thanks be tendered Mrs. Alexander.

The motion was seconded by the Kentucky delegation and carried.

Mrs. Beale, of New York, moved that Mrs. Alexander's report be printed and placed in the hands of the History Committee.

Mrs. Dowdell moved to amend, by adding, "and that the report be published in the minutes."

Mrs. Beale accepted this amendment and the motion as amended prevailed.

Mrs. Schuyler submitted her report upon the prize essay at Teachers' College, Columbia University.*

Miss Rutherford moved that the request contained in Mrs. Schuyler's report be granted.

*See Committee Reports.

The motion was seconded.

Mrs. Lyons moved as a substitute that the Finance Committee be requested to respond generously to the request contained in Mrs. Schuyler's report.

The amendment was accepted and the motion, as amended, adopted, after being seconded by Texas, Kentucky, North Carolina, Missouri, Florida, New York and other delegations.

Mrs. Schuyler stated that the President-General had appointed her a committee of one to see if she could secure a scholarship for the descendants of Confederates in Teachers' College, Columbia University. The Dean had told her that it was not possible for the college to give the scholarship, but that every year sums of money were given him to be used as he deemed best, and as these gifts were dependent upon the pleasure of the donor, he could not promise a permanent tuition; but that he would give from these funds the $100.00 necessary for the tuition and make the offer of the scholarship for a descendant of a Confederate soldier for the term 1908-1909, provided that the U. D. C. would furnish the $350.00 necessary for the living expenses of the student.

Mrs. Stevens asked that the rules be suspended, and three minutes be given to Mississippi to present some resolutions.

The motion was adopted.

Mrs. Stevens yielded to Mrs. Dibrell for three minutes, and Mrs. Dibrell moved that the divisions raise the fund of $350.00 for the living expenses of the successful applicant for the scholarship to be given at the Teachers' College at Columbia University next year.

The motion prevailed, and donations were received.

The time allotted for receiving donations having expired, upon motion of Mrs. Parker, the time was extended until all the subscriptions should have been announced.

The amendment was accepted, and the motion, as amended, prevailed.

The Chair appointed the following Committee: Mrs. Schuyler (Chairman), Mrs. Dibrell, of Texas, and Miss Rutherford, of Georgia.

Under the special order the floor was accorded Mrs. Stevens, of Mississippi, who presented the following resolutions:

RESOLUTIONS PRESENTED BY WINNIE DAVIS CHAPTER, MISSISSIPPI DIVISION OF U. D. C.

The following resolutions were adopted by the state convention of United Daughters of the Confederacy that met in Jackson:

"Whereas, 1908 will be the centennial of the birth of the President of the Southern Confederacy, therefore, be it

Resolved, First: That the chancellor of the state university, the superintendent of public education, the president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, the president of the Industrial Institute and College, principals of all the public schools in the state, with the presidents of all the denominational and other colleges and schools in Mississippi, are earnestly requested to introduce the supplementary study of the life of Jefferson Davis into the several schools under their charge during the year 1908. We ask the use of the following named works, in whole or in part, as necessary to a correct understanding of his character and career, viz: "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government," by Jefferson Davis, "Mrs .Davis' Memoirs," "Alfriends' Life of Jefferson Davis," "Prison Life of Jefferson Davis," by Dr. J. J. Craven, and the "Memorial Volume of Jefferson Davis," by Dr. J. William Jones.

Second, That all ministers of religion are in like manner requested to study the religious life of Mr. Davis that his pious example may appear for the edification of those under their charge and influence.

Third: That the President of the Division is asked to appoint efficient committees who will carry out the provisions of this act by bringing it to the attention of the school and church authorities as hereinbefore mentioned, and that she introduce the following resolutions at the general convention, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to meet in Norfolk, Va., November next, and that all delegates from this Division assist her in having them passed, viz:

Whereas, 1908 will be the centennial year of the birth of Jefferson Davis, who commanded the First Mississippi regiment when the regiment was brilliantly successful at Monterey, and carried the day for the United States army at Buena Vista, who served the United States with unexampled efficiency as secretary of war under President Pierce, who represented the sovereign state of Mississippi most ably and patriotically in the United States Senate and who was the one and only President of the Southern Confederacy, therefore, be it Resolved, First, That the general convention, United Daughters of the Confederacy, in session at Norfolk, Va., November, 1907, hereby most earnestly requests all presidents of universities and colleges, superintendents of public education and principals of schools to introduce the supplementary study of the life of Jefferson Davis into the respective schools under their charge during the year 1908. We ask that the use of the following named works in whole or in part, as necessary to a correct understanding of his character and career, viz: "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government," by Jefferson Davis, "Mrs. Davis' Memoirs," "Alfriend's Life of Jefferson Davis," "Prison Life of Jefferson Davis," by Dr. J. J. Craven, and the "Memorial Volume of Jefferson Davis," by Dr. J. William Jones.

Second: That all ministers of religion are especially invited to the study of the religious life of Jefferson Davis, that his pious example may appear for the edification of those under their charge and influence.

Third: That this body does agree to present a gavel made of Beauvoir wood with silver name plate, to each literary club or society which shall be organized during the year of 1908, provided that each club or society shall be named for Jefferson Davis, any member of his family, or either of his homes, Briarfield or Beauvoir.

Fourth: That the President is herein requested to appoint efficient committees to carry these provisions into effect, by bringing them to the attention of those to whom they are addressed.

(Signed)

MRS. B. F. CAMERON,

Chairman, Winnie Davis Chapter, Mississippi Div., U. D. C.

Mrs. Stanford moved that the resolutions be adopted without debate, and the motion was carried.

Mrs. Stone moved that the report of the Cross of Honor Committee be heard at the afternoon meeting immediately after the reading of the minutes of the morning meeting.

The motion carried.

Mrs. Dibrell yielded to Mrs. Tench, who moved that no further special requests for time be granted, but that the regular order of business be adhered to until the adjournment at 12:00 o'clock, midnight.

The motion was carried.

Mrs. Dibrell yielded to Mrs. White, who announced that the total subscriptions to the Shiloh Monument Fund amounted to approximately $1,000.00.

Upon motion of Mrs. White, it was ordered that a copy of the proceedings of this convention be sent to each member of the Shiloh Monument Committee.

The Secretary announced the total donations to the living expenses fund of the Teachers' College Scholarship to be $311.00.

Mrs. Dibrell moved that the further taking of donations be now dispensed with, and a committee of one be appointed, to whom further donations might be announced.

The motion prevailed; and the Chair appointed Mrs. Schuyler as the committee.

The report from the Ohio Division was called for, and was read by Mrs. Thos. M. Worcester, of Cincinnati.*

Mrs. Worcester, on behalf of Hope-Maury Chapter, of Norfolk, presented to Mrs. Tate, of Virginia, a handsome floral tribute.

*See State Reports.

The Convention at 1:30 p. m. took a recess until 2:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON MEETING.

Saturday, Nov. 16th, 1907.

The convention was called to order at 2:45 p. m.

The Chair announced the appointment of Mrs. Williams, of North Carolina, to take the place of Mrs. Overman, on the Finance Committee, and, at the request of the Chairman of the Committee, also appointed Miss Benning and Miss Poppenheim on the same committee, in order to complete the full membership of five.

Minutes of the morning meeting were read, corrected and approved.

On motion of Mrs. Hickman, the Secretary was instructed to send letters of regret to each of the absent Vice-Presidents-General.

On motion of Mrs. Walsh, of the District of Columbia the Secretary was instructed to send a letter of affectionate greeting to Mrs. Gen. Harry Heath, of Washington, D. C.

Under the regular order of business, Mrs. Stone read the report of the Committee on Rules for the bestowal of the Cross of Honor.*

Miss Claiborne moved that the changes recommended in the report be taken up seriatim. The motion prevailed, and the convention proceeded with the consideration of the first change recommended, and the same was adopted.

Mrs. Reynolds moved to amend the second change of Section 2, Rule 1, so as to give the Cross, first, to the widow, instead of to the oldest living lineal descendant.

Mrs. Henry London, of North Carolina, seconded the motion, stating that surely the Confederate widow, who had suffered privation and hardship and anguish of mind, deserved the Cross before the descendant.

The amendment of Mrs. Reynolds, after some debate was lost.

*See Committee Reports.

Mrs. Cooley then moved the adoption of the recommendation as contained in the Committee's report; which motion was seconded.

Mrs. O'Brien moved as an amendment that the recommendations be adopted, with the further change in the rule that that part of the section, providing for a second publication, be eliminated.

The amendment was accepted by Mrs. Cooley, and the motion as amended was carried.

The convention then considered the next recommendation in the Committee's report, namely: That a third section be added to Rule I, as follows:

"Chapters shall send to the Custodian names of all veterans to whom crosses have been issued and unclaimed after one month. If these have not been engraved, they can be used at the next bestowal, provided other certificates have been sent in in due form.

On motion of Mrs. Warner, of Georgia, the recommendation was adopted.

Mrs. Randolph suggested an amendment to the section just adopted that the list of names be first sent to the State Recorder and then to the Custodian.

This Mrs. Stone accepted, and it was agreed to add to the Section as suggested by Mrs. Randolph.

At this point Mrs. Smythe moved that Mr. Cunningham, editor of "The Veteran," be invited to the platform, as he expected to leave the city at 7:00 p. m.

The motion prevailed, and Mr. Cunningham expressed his gratification and thanks.

The next recommendation of the Cross of Honor Committee was read, namely: "To amend Rule V by adding Sec. 4: "On and after November 1st, 1910, no more crosses shall be issued."

Mrs. Leigh offered as an amendment to the Committee's recommendation that "1915" be substituted for "1910."

The amendment was adopted, and this Section of Rule V as amended was carried.

Mrs. Stone then read the following report of this Committee on the matter referred to it by the convention:

"The Committee recommends that the work of recording and arranging the data of the bestowal of the Cross of Honor, from the beginning of the issue of Crosses to veterans, shall be given to Mrs. Raines, Custodian of Cross of Honor, with discretionary power as to the time and means of accomplishing this result, as our confidence in her ability is without doubt."

The Chair stated that the rules as amended should be acted on as a whole.

Mrs. Cory moved that the rules as amended be adopted, which motion was seconded by Miss Claiborne, and carried.

The report of the Chairman of the Committee on Cross of Honor, as read and amended, was then, upon motion of Mrs. Cooley, adopted as a whole. On motion the Committee's report on the matter referred to them was adopted.

Mrs. Cory moved that it be suggested to the chapters that have been receiving the "Veteran" free for the past year, that they show their appreciation by subscribing for that paper the coming year.

The motion prevailed.

Mr. Cunningham appealed to the presidents of divisions that they send the strongest points in their annual reports to the "Veteran" for publication.

The Chair announced that the next order of business was the report of the Executive Committee; and the Secretary read the following recommendation from that Committee: "That this Convention take steps to have the United Daughters of the Confederacy become a chartered organization."

On motion of Mrs. Leigh, the recommendation was adopted.

Mrs. Smythe moved the following: "Resolved, That this suggestion of the Executive Committee be referred to the Executive Committee of the coming year, in order that they may thoroughly investigate the question of the Charter, with all arguments for and against—the whole matter to be re-

Mrs. London refused to accept the substitute.

Mrs. Dowdell in the Chair, the President-General suggested that a committee of three be appointed to formulate plans, the committee to report tonight, and the plans to be carried out by the incoming officers.

Mrs. Cory moved to amend the substitute by adopting the suggestion of the President-General.

The amendment to the substitute was accepted.

After discussion, a call for the pending question was sustained; and the amendment suggested by Mrs. Cory and accepted by Mrs. London, that a committee of three be appointed to formulate plans for carrying out the work of the Arlington Monument and to report to the convention this evening, was adopted.

*See Committee Reports.

Mrs. Schuyler moved that the President-General be empowered to continue the Committee on Prize Essay at the Teachers' College of Columbia University for the next year.

The motion was seconded.

Mrs. Cooley stated that she gave notice at the Gulfport Convention that she would offer an amendment to the Constitution at this session of the convention to make that Committee a permanent Committee; but as notice had not been given in proper time, she would make a motion to amend the By-Laws when the convention considered unfinished business.

Mrs. Schuyler withdrew her motion.

At 5:40 p. m. the meeting adjourned until 8 p. m.

Reports from special committees were next taken up, and Mrs. Alexander, of the Committee on Revision of the Constitution and By-Laws, offered to present the report from that committee.

On motion of Mrs. Tench, of Florida, this report was accepted as information, and action upon same was continued until the next convention.

*See Committee Reports.

On motion of Mrs. Tench, of Florida, this report was returned to the Committee with instructions that the Committee would be continued and make report to the next annual convention, owing to lack of time for due consideration at this session.

On motion of Miss Benning, of Georgia, seconded by Mrs. Tench, a vote of thanks was extended to this Committee for the arduous work they had performed.

The Chair stated that although the copies of her annual report had been expressed in time to reach Norfolk for the meeting of the convention, they had not yet been received.

Mrs. Leigh kindly offered to mail copies of the report, to the delegates as soon as received, and upon motion of Mrs. Dowdell, the President of each division was directed to supply Mrs. Leigh with the addresses of the delegates from their respective divisions.

The report of the Committee on Jurisprudence was submitted by Mrs. McClurg, as follows:

That it further reports on the following:

Decision 3. Conflicts with Rule VII, Sec. 1, of the Cross of Honor Rules and therefore the Committee does not agree with it.

Decision 10. Should have inserted, "But these honorary and associate members cannot be counted in representation in U. D. C. Conventions," to make this ruling clear and free from misunderstanding by the chapters.

Decision 11. To make this meaning clear there should be inserted the information that LINEAL descent means that grand-nieces to whatever generation are not eligible to the U. D. C.

Decision 17. Is approved by the Committee with the interpretation that the word does not mean grand-niece to any degree.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN D. McCLURG,

Mrs. Tench moved that the report be accepted as a whole. The motion was seconded by Mrs. McKinney, of Kentucky.

The motion was seconded by Mrs. Stringer.

Mrs. White spoke to the motion and stated that she desired to read a paper upon the subject which had been prepared by the lady who had originated the plan for the memorial window.

On motion, the paper referred to, was received by title and ordered to be incorporated into the minutes, as follows:

All hail to the women of the Southland, and twice all hail to the Daughters of the Confederacy:

More than forty years ago the women of the Southland took up the work of rebuilding the desolated and devastated homes of their country; and picking up the ravelled threads of destiny, began the arduous task of piecing the broken hopes, crushed pride and defeated aspirations of their countrymen. It was their task to soothe the rancor of defeat, to bind the bruised and broken hearts, and instill hope and energy in the disconsolate and helpless. How well they did their work all the world knows. Nothing daunted, they began a labor of love in perpetuating the memory of the living and dead—of those who fought and lost. Slowly but surely the work grows, until all over the Southland stand the emblems of their efforts, to her gallant soldiery.

But there is yet a hope that lies near the hearts of these women, unfulfilled; and that is, to erect somewhere a fitting and lasting expression of their love and appreciation to the tried and true slaves of the South. The hearts of the women of those dark days still thrill with the memory of their fidelity—tilling the soil at home for those left in their care and protection. And woven in is their sacred and hallowed remembrance of the services on the bloody battle-grounds; binding the bleeding wounds; sometimes the reverently laying away of the old and young masters, at others, bearing the body back home to those watching and waiting, and there comforting and sharing in the bitter bereavement.

To these compatriots who have lived in song and story of Southern writers, we hope to erect a Memorial Window in the Battle Abbey of the South. We would prove to them our appreciation of their loyalty and sympathy; and along with other deeds of prowess we wish to honor them who oftentimes doubled our pleasures and sorrowed with us in our sorrows.

The colored people, unassisted by whites, have placed a window in a church at Roanoke, Virginia, in memoriam of a Christian gentleman who taught a colored Sunday School. After more than forty years comes this token of appreciation to our immortal Jackson. Shall we not do as much?

I know that every Daughter who passed under the rod of the War between the States, and those who have heard the story at the sainted mother's knee will willingly give of time, effort and means to honor this people who stood in touch with them during those dark hours of strife and trial and woe.

BELLE KELSO ALLISON,

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:—

Your Committee wishes to submit the following report:

We have decided that the fairest method of selecting the candidate for scholarship is by allowing each State to draw a number—a duplicate of the fortunate number bearing the word "Scholarship," has been placed in the hands of the President-General.

It is suggested that the Secretary call the roll of States, and some member appointed by the President draw from a box, numbers prepared by this Committee, and that the Corresponding Secretary put opposite the State the number as called. After all the numbers are drawn, the President-General will announce the successful number.

Your Committee has not yet decided how the State may select her candidate, but will confer with the successful State.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORTS OF OFFICERS

PRESIDENT-GENERAL'S REPORT.

Again is your President come to make her report after a year spent in your service. She takes great pleasure in telling you that never before has the U. D. C., as a whole, been on such excellent lines as it is today. This comes principally because we are older and more experienced and better known than we have ever been before. This is as it should be, for if we would be worthy of the purpose for which God has allowed us to be, we must show development and growth every year. For do not fail to realize that we are no accidental thing. God has brought us into existence for specific purposes. Purposes which no other people on the face of the earth can or will do. So that if we fall in them, they will go undone. God will hold us accountable for this work which He means for us to do. The world knows of us now and expects the women descended from such people as our fathers and mothers, to do things worthy of such an ancestry. Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, once said in speaking of the Southern people—and Senator Hoar was no lover of the South—so that if even he could see this, what must others who feel more kindly to us feel that we must do to be worthy of this estimate of us given by one who did not love us. He said: "They have some qualities which I cannot even presume to claim in an equal degree for the people among whom I, myself, dwell. They have an aptness for command which makes the Southern gentleman wherever he goes, not a peer only, but a prince. They have a love of home; they have, the best of them, and the most of them, inherited from the great race from which they come, the sense of duty and the instinct of honor, as no other people on the face of the earth. They are lovers of home. They have not the mean traits that grow up somewhere in places where money-making is the chief end of life. They have, above all, and giving value to all, that supreme and superb constancy which, without regard to personal ambition, without yielding to the temptation of wealth, without getting tired, and without getting diverted can pursue a great public object in and out, year after year, and generation after generation."

Ah! friends, does not your heart beat in quick response to this just estimate of us as a people, by a man who judged from what he knew of our fathers? Does it not make us lift our heads high with the right kind of pride, that which makes us determine never to give the world the slightest excuse for changing that estimate of us? What a grand inheritance is that! For myself, I had rather have that, than all the millions of the greatest money king in the world. Take this in your hearts, teach it to your chil dren, and let us be of the kind of descendants who live up to their ancestors, and not on them.

Patents on the Cross of Honor and the U. D. C. Badge.

With the advent of the new Custodian, your President thought it best to put the contract for the crosses on a sound business footing, by first getting bids for them from different jewelers, and she also thought that, since there had come to her several complaints, and she knew that the jeweler had stopped marking them free of charge,—though no one ever heard of a jeweler who refused to mark free of charge any piece of jewelry purchased from him—she thought it would be a good idea to get prices from two or three different firms on the badges. Imagine her surprise when she discovered that they were both patented in the names of the firm who sell them to us. The property of the U. D. C. patented by those making them for us instead of by ourselves! Your President immediately wrote to all the Executive Committee asking their advice as to purchasing these patents for the U. D. C. Without exception they agreed that it should be done as soon as possible. Your President then wrote and asked Mrs. Raines, who lived in Savannah, the address of Theus Bros., the badge makers, and asked her to act as a committee for us, and see that firm about selling the patent on our badge to us. She wrote that he would not consider it for an instant, and that he would write to your President and tell her about it. No letter ever came to her from him, though later in the year when she had known of more neglect, and wrote to him that he had us in his power now, but that she would use all the influence she had to have that rectified before another year was out, he wrote an answer to an offer from her to buy for the U. D. C. the patent on their badges, that he was away for his summer trip, but would send her an answer after his return on the first of October. October has so far brought no reply. So your President asks that you help your officers to put your business on a proper basis, by amending the amendment offered by the Committee on Revision with regard to the badge, so that the design can be changed enough not to infringe on the patent on the old one, and then we patent it ourselves. This should be done, for we ought not to be at the mercy of any firm. Your President has written two letters to the firm which makes the Crosses asking that they sell us the patent on that. So far she has heard nothing at all from them. Is it necessary for me to tell you how necessary it is for us to have this patent, so that we can make arrangements for better service with regard to them, or cease to give them altogether? They are the cause of more discord, and unkind feeling among us than any other thing or rather than all other things besides. The contract signed by Mr. Crank shaw, the jeweler, who makes them, and your President, this year is on these lines: Cross to have same appearance as formerly, to be made of same material, but with screw button back, and oblong ring with opening on side, soldered together. The makers to keep 2,500 on hand that we may get them on short notice. The Custodian to order them in lots of 2,500 at 12 1-2 cents each. Money to be sent with the order. First order, after contract was made, to go in thirty days before the Crosses were wanted and subsequent orders ten days before. Crankshaw not filling his part of the contract, your President decided not to send money again until she was notified that they were ready for shipment. I am sure it is not necessary to enlarge on this, for you all know how they have been delayed time and time again, but you may not know that the Custodian and the President have done all they could do, with Crankshaw owning the patent, to get them on time. The first order was sent in three months before the date for presentation, and the next two one month and three months before they were wanted. You know the result without my telling you. Shall we keep on giving the crosses if we can't get the patent? We certainly cannot change that design.

The National Peace Congress.

Early in the year your President received a letter asking that she allow her name to be used on the Committee of Patriotic Societies for the forthcoming meeting of the National Peace Congress to meet in New York on April 14th-17th. As she was busy and did not reply immediately, a telegram came urging her to accept. She immediately did so, for she knew that we of all people in the world knew of the necessity of doing all we can to promote universal peace. For do we not know well that right does not always triumph when it is left to the arbitrament of the sword? Later on she was asked to appoint delegates-at-large from the U. D. C. and was given the special privilege of appointing a special delegation from her own town. She appointed the president of every division and every chapter in States where there were no divisions, as delegates-at-large, and the secretary of the Congress asked each of these to appoint delegates from her division and chapter. Your President appointed as her special delegation, not those from her own town who she knew would not go, but from the Washington, Philadelphia and New York Chapters. Many of these latter went and you have read Mrs. Parker's report of it. She was asked to serve as chairman of the delegation.

Wreath for Tablet to Gen. R. E. Lee in the Hall of Fame in New York.

In April your President received a request, sent first to the Corresponding Secretary General, to send for the occasion of the second unveiling of memorial tablets in the Hall of Fame at the University Heights in New York, flowers to be placed on the memorial tablet unveiled several years ago, by the U. D. C., to the memory of Gen. R. E. Lee. She wrote to Mrs. Parker asking her to attend to this and appointing her and members of her chapter to represent the U. D. C. on that occasion. Later on while in New York she was told what beautiful flowers were sent from the U. D. C. and some of our members in New York.

Invitations to everything of importance in the United States are sent to your President, including one to the platform on the opening day at the Jamestown Exposition. These things she tells you of because they are attentions paid to your President, and not to an individual, and they go to show the stand we are taking in the world. She is asked to send literary contributions to every book, with contributions from the different people of importance, for instance the "Library of Southern Literature," volumes to be gotten out by men associated with the Chancellors of all the Universities in the South, and edited by Mr. Kent, of the University of Virginia. Do you see what is expected of you, United Daughters of the Confederacy?

Circulars Sent to Division Presidents.

During the last week in November your President sent to the Corresponding Secretary General to send to the division presidents, a circular calling attention to the changes made by the Convention, which were necessary for them to know before they would get the advance minutes. These were gotten out as soon as possible, but not in time to save some heart-burnings over the crosses.

Correction of An Historical Mistake.

Early in June your President was visiting at Scarsdale, New York, and while there was invited to hear Will Carlton talk to the Chapter of the D. A. R. in that neighborhood. He talked on "Unlucky Days" in a very amusing strain, and then more seriously on "Historical Landmarks." After telling us of visits to several interesting places because of the history connected with them, he wound up his talk by describing a visit to Gettysburg. In this he said, "As I passed down the street of Gettysburg, along which the Confederate army passed the night before the battle, wantonly killing citizens in their own homes and a minister of the gospel in front of his own church," etc., etc. Imagine how I felt! For you could see that he was an honest, straight gentleman, who would not make a false statement if he knew it. I knew he was mistaken, for the whole history of the Confederate army contradicted it, but I did not have proofs to give him which would convince him. So I said nothing about it to him when I was afterward introduced to him. But I waited until I reached home, and then began to investigate by letters to different ones who I ascertained were in the Confederate army at that battle. Before I had completed my evidence I wrote to Mr. Carlton and recalled to his mind the statement he had made, and told him that I was sure that if I could prove to him that he was mistaken, he would correct the mistake himself. And I asked him to give me his authority for the statement. I received a very nice letter saying he would be glad to correct the statement, when I had sent him the proofs, and stating that a guide at that battlefield park had told him. The very day after receiving this letter, I received a letter which completed the evidence I wanted to send him, and at the risk of being tiresome I am going to insert the letter I sent him and his reply here. For if that guide was telling that, others heard it, and you may hear it again, and can then have the evidence to contradict it with. And above all, because I want to show you how I think we should correct things quietly without rushing into print, and how much more effectual this way is than a public statement would have been.

Greenwood, Miss., July 16th, 1907.

My Dear Mr. Carlton:—

Your letter came yesterday, and this morning's mail brings me a letter from Senator Daniel, the last thing I have been waiting for to make my evidence complete. But first of all I want to thank you for measuring up to my estimate of you as a man. I hate so to be disappointed in anyone of whom I have gotten a good opinion. And then, too, in writing to the gentlemen to get facts from them I did not tell them your name, but said a "Distinguished Northerner," and in their replies I could see that few of them thought I could get you to see that you were wrong, even though "one rose from the dead" to tell you.

"Now, you remember that you said that this happened the night before the battle, as the Confederate army passed through the town. Being more ignorant of the positions of the troops than I ought to have been, the impression made on my mind was that the Confederate army passed through town before the fighting began, when, on looking up my history on the subject, I find that the Confederate army was not in Gettysburg on the night before the battle, and was not there at all until pursuing General Meade on his retreat through the town. I refer you to "Gordon's Reminiscences," and to "The Battle of Gettysburg," by Carl Schurz, in the July (1907) McClure. General Meade retreated in good order and was fighting as he went through, and if any were killed it might have been by either army's bullets. That is a self-evident fact. I also refer you to the very noted manner in which the Confederate army kept all the best usages of civilized warfare during the invasion of Pennsylvania. And to Gen. R. E. Lee's orders on the subject which orders were strictly enforced. And please do not lose sight of the fact that each officer, even to the lowest in rank, was a Southern gentleman, and came from the people of whom Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, said: "They have, the best of them, and the most of them, inherited from the great race from which they came, the sense of duty and the instinct of honor, as no other people on the face of the earth." The Confederate army was made up of these people with very rare exceptions, and where there were exceptions, they were afraid to disobey such orders even if they wished to do so. Now, Gen. Clement E. Evans, who was one of London's Colonels and was in the battle, writes me thus: "The gentleman referred to" (speaking of you) "has been grossly imposed on by some one, for I am sure that he was not an eye witness of any such occurrence, and I am equally sure that no such occurrence happened. On the night before the battle of Gettysburg, beginning July 1st, 1863, I was leading my command hurriedly to reach Gettysburg during the morning of the first day of the battle, and arrived there during the morning. Hence I can only protest that such a story is utterly false, on the ground that no part of the Confederate army which passed along the streets of Gettysburg on the night before the battle were capable of committing a wanton killing, such as the Northern audience heard told of on the occasion referred to. I do not think the Confederate army passed through the streets of Gettysburg the night before the battle. The Confederate army was attacked by a corps of General Meade, when on the outside of Gettysburg, and this attack was repulsed and the Federals were driven through Gettysburg to the hills beyond. I was in that attack. It is improbable, indeed, that any such killing occurred."

Dr. B. F. Ward, one of the most honorable men who ever lived and who would not tell a falsehood to save his life, and who was a dear friend of my father—the late Senator George, of this state.—and whom I have known all my life, I knew to have been a surgeon of one of the Mississippi regiments engaged in that battle. And knowing also that surgeons have an opportunity of learning things that even officers do not know, I wrote and asked him for a statement. He writes: "There is not one word of truth in what you heard. No Confederate soldier ever shot, maltreated or insulted a non-combatant citizen at Gettysburg. I was in the little village of Gettysburg immediately after the battle. I remained there three weeks after Gen. Lee's army retired. I had many intimate associates among the other Confederate surgeons, who remained there. Rev. T. Dwight Witherspoon, an eminent Presbyterian divine, who was chaplain of the brigade to which I belonged, volunteered to stay there with me and assist me with the wounded. He was in the town every day for three weeks, in every nook and alley. None of us ever heard a breath of such a thing. Then he goes on to state that Gen. Reynolds was killed and between the town and Confederate lines, and that his corps retreated through the town pursued by the Confederates, and adds: "Of course, in the confusion, it was possible for some citizen to have been accidentally shot, but they were in as much danger from Federal as from Confederate guns. None of us ever heard of a citizen being accidentally shot. Such things, however, did occur during the war several times. A lady was killed in her own house at the first battle of Manassas, the Federals probably thinking the house had been abandoned, as it was between the lines."

Then, after citing some other instances of non-combatants being maltreated in the South by Federal soldiers, he says: "But the South never held the whole North responsible for this. The private soldiers in the Confederate army were gentlemen from the best people in America." Then after citing the well-known fact that many of the Federal privates were foreigners, he says: "Consequently it was almost unavoidable that Federal soldiers should have committed so many more outrages than Confederate soldiers." Knowing that Senator Jno. W. Daniel, of Virginia, was on General Early's staff, and that it was his division which pursued the Federals through the town, I wrote to him and asked him for a statement. He writes: "I went speedily into Gettysburg with General Early at the head of his division just after the town was taken. There was not a single case of indignity or cruelty to any citizen that I saw or heard of. A minister of the gospel was shot near his church as he ran into the street while the firing was going on, and a lady inside of a house was killed by a stray ball.

"The Confederate troops behaved as well as troops ever behaved as a rule, and if there were any exceptions to it in the way of injury to any citizen, I never saw or heard of it.

"I feel quite sure that the report to which you refer is absolutely groundless."

Now, Mr. Carlton, I haven't the slightest doubt that these instances which Senator Daniel cites are the foundation for the statement of the guide who gave you the information you stated in your talk. General Evans holds one of the responsible offices of Georgia, I think Secretary of State, and if you saw him once you would know that he is the soul of honor. And all well-informed Americans know what Senator Daniel is. I have had statements from private soldiers, too, but knowing their statements would not carry the same weight which would go with these of such men as made them, I will not trouble you with them. As General Evans says, "such statements have the effect of assassination on the fraternal sentiment which the South and the noblest people of the North are striving to nurture into universal peace and good-will." And don't you think that men who were on the spot and of whom not even an enemy can say they would falsify things, are more able to know and more able to tell the truth than some one who makes his living by telling to each traveler when he comes that which he thinks will please him most? I am going to ask you to write me what you think after reading all this, and then I am going to ask that you write to your friend, Mrs. Powell, and ask her to correct the mistake for you, at a full meeting of her chapter. And don't make any more such statements. They keep us apart. And you and I and all good people want to do everything we can to bring us closer together. The more we see of each other the more we will become really and truly united, and I say, "God speed the day when we shall be so." And I mean to do all I can to bring it about. I hope I have given you proof enough, and if I have not I will still get more. It is not easy, for so many of our brave men are gone and it means that the survivors of any battle are now scattered everywhere. We are a united people, however, and we are so tired of being misrepresented that we will go to a great deal of trouble to correct a mistake.

With friendly greetings, I am,

Very truly your friend,

LIZZIE GEORGE HENDERSON.

I received the following reply:

"My Dear Mrs. Henderson:—I have read with great interest your latest letter upon the matter which we have been discussing, and feel that the brave men who fought in the Confederate army have in you a faithful defender. I have sent the entire correspondence to Mrs. Powell, with the request that she have it read at the next full meeting of her chapter.

"With good wishes,

"WILL CARLTON."

Don't you agree with me in thinking that it is much better to make friends to correct their own mistakes than to be ugly and make enemies?

Ease With Which the Work Has Gone On With Three New Important Workers.

Your President must confess that she feared the prospect of this year with new Secretary and Treasurer General, and new Custodian of Cross of Honor, three of the hardest places we have to fill. But each place has been so well filled that the work for your President has not been greater than it would have been with experienced officers. You will see from their reports how nicely things have been conducted.

The Effort to Get President Davis' Name Replaced on "Cabin John's Bridge."

At their annual meeting held in Richmond in June, the Confederate Southern Memorial Association passed a resolution creating a committee for the purpose of getting the government to restore to its place on "Cabin John's Bridge," near Washington, the name of Jefferson Davis. This committee to be composed of the heads of the Confederate organizations with the President of the C. S. M. A. as chairman. A letter from Mrs. Behan asked that I represent the U. D. C. on this committee. I replied accepting the place and making some suggestions as to the work. I have heard nothing more, so do not know what is being done.

Giving Permission to Pickett-Buchanan Chapter to Duplicate Our Badge on Souvenir Spoons for the Exposition.

Some time in January, upon request from the Pickett-Buchanan Chapter to give them permission to duplicate the U. D. C. badge on the handle of some souvenir spoons they wanted to sell during the Exposition, your President gave them this permission, not knowing until later that we did not own the patent to the badge. We doubt now if we had the right to give the permission.

Allowing Chapters to Have Old Charters After Being Cancelled.

The M. Jeff Thomson Chapter of the District of Columbia Division, wished to surrender its charter because all the members had moved from Washington, but wished to keep the charter as a memorial to M. Jeff Thomson, after it had been cancelled, and the U. D. C. world notified of this fact.

And the Angleton Chapter of the Texas Division, and the Huntsville Chapter of the Alabama Division, wished to retain their charters after being cancelled, because these Chapters changed their names, and wanted proof that their Chapters had not died, but were continued under different names; so your President, after writing across the face of these charters the dates of and the reason for cancellation and signing her name to it, returned the charters to those chapters to be kept in the chapter records.

Invitation From Virginia Division to Their Home at the Jamestown Exposition.

Some time in February, I think it was, or perhaps it was later, your President received from the Virginia Division, through its President, Mrs. Wm. R. McKenny, a very cordial invitation for the U. D. C. to visit and rest at their Home at the Jamestown Exposition. This home is named for President Davis' home on the Mississippi coast, "Beauvoir," and is a duplicate of the residence at that place. Your acceptance and thanks were expressed by your President, and both invitation and acceptance were put in the "Veteran," that all might see it before going to the Exposition.

Request That R. E. Lee Chapter be Made Custodian of Camp Chase Cemetery.

Upon request of the R. E. Lee Chapter of the Ohio Division, your President wrote to the Secretary of War, asking that this Chapter domiciled in Columbus; be made the Custodian of the Confederate cemetery at Camp Chase, and that no permission be given to any one to erect a monument there where there is one already erected through the efforts of Colonel Knauss. The reply came that the requests could not be granted, in the latter case because the permission had already been given to the Robert Patton Chapter to erect this monument.

The Uniting of the Oklahoma and Indian Territory Divisions.

Acting upon the instructions given us at Gulfport, upon the request of the Indian Territory Division, without objection being made by the Oklahoma Division, the Executive Committee mapped out a plan for the uniting of these two Divisions, this plan to be adopted at a meeting early in October, and to go into effect as soon as the State of Oklahoma is proclaimed. About the middle of August these plans were written out fully and sent to the President of each of the Divisions. They were not received until after the two Divisions had had a joint conference and mapped out a plan for themselves. No action was taken except to consider plans which would be adopted at a meeting after the State is proclaimed. Your President wrote to the Presidents of both the Divisions explaining that they should have waited for the plans from the Executive Committee to be given them before taking any action. She rendered the opinion that since they had voluntarily put themselves under the general order that they had lost the right to act for themselves with regard to that. The two Divisions could not be united thoroughly until their action had been approved by the U. D. C., even though they had not put themselves under the advice of the general order first. But as it is now, no action they take with regard to uniting the two Divisions without having the advice of the U. D. C. Executive Committee, can stand. She urged them to have their meeting in October, and follow out the plans mapped out for them by the committee. But the officers thought it would be impossible to get a meeting so soon after the one in August. It is but fair to say that had we been informed of the intended meeting in August we would have had the plans there for that meeting. But we did not hear until the 18th or 19th, and that was too late. The plan which your President would suggest now is that since no action taken by them as two Divisions in the same State would be legal, as it is illegal to have two divisions in the same State. The best thing to do is for the President General to appoint, as soon as Oklahoma is proclaimed a State, the officers for the united Division—proclaiming it as the Oklahoma Division, U. D. C., and then let these officers serve until the new Division meets at the regular time in August, when they can proceed to elect their own officers. The President General to appoint the officers according to the plans mapped out by the Executive Committee, and to appoint those recommended by the Executive Board of each old Division. This is the easiest and the best thing to do.

The Unveiling of the Davis Monument.

The committee appointed by you to make out a program for the unveiling of the Davis monument, made the program so successfully executed on that occasion. A description of which your President attempted to give in the August "Veteran," and she will not detain you with it further now.

Visits to Divisions and Chapters.

Your President has visited the following divisions and chapters during the year: Alabama, Mississippi, District of Columbia and Tennessee Divisions, and the New York, Mary Custis Lee Stonewall and Kate Lytton Hickman Chapters. She also had the pleasure of presiding over U. D. C. Day at the Monteagle Chataqua during woman's week at that place. During that day she had the pleasure of listening to Mrs. Pickett in her splendid lecture on the "Battle of Gettysburg." She saw perfected the Monteagle U. D. C. Circle, and she hopes they will carry out their plans of getting many hundred members throughout the U. D. C. She was most cordially received and beautifully entertained on all her visits.

Arlington Monument.

There grew up some misunderstanding with regard to the Arlington Monument among the workers for it, and when your President was in Washington, she found that if the President of the U. D. C. would suggest to them a plan which she believed you would adopt, that it would harmonize things completely. So she met with them and suggested a plan which they will bring before you at this convention, and she hopes very much that you will give it your approval.

C. S. A. After the Company and Regiment on Headstones.

Your President would be derelict in her duty to you and to the memory of our great dead, if she closed her term of service without trying to impress you with the importance of having on every headstone placed over the grave of a Confederate soldier, the initials C. S. A. immediately following the company and regiment. This is to be done by the government on all such stones placed by it. Shall we be more careless of this than the United States Government? Nothing can do more in the years to come to disabuse the minds of the world of that fallacy that we were "rebels" and "traitors" than the fact that after all the bitterness had died out, when the Government of the United States marked the graves of the brave men who fought for their constitutional rights, it put on their headstones C. S. A. Let us be sure that we do not neglect this duty.

The Necessity of Having the Lists and Certificates of Those Getting Crosses Prior to This Year Recorded.

Your President regards it as absolutely necessary that you authorize the Custodian of Crosses to have all the lists sent the Custodian before this year, copied in a book, so that the Custodian can keep up with those who received one or two Crosses. Each Recorder should do as the Alabama Recorder has done. Record in her book all the back lists, and each Chapter who has not kept those lists as required by the rules should get them up as soon as possible.

Memorial Window to Faithful Slaves.

The Musidora McCorry Chapter, of Jackson, Tenn., will come before you at this convention with a project, which I am sure is a just one. One which if not carried out by us now, will probably never be done. The placing of a window to the memory of the faithful slaves. Do we not all know how terribly much worse they might have made even the unhappy condition of the women and children of the South during those four long, hard years? It is time to show to the world that such faithfulness is worth recording in our places of historic interest. That we need not be in any doubt about getting permission to place it in the Battle Abbey, your President wrote to Dr. J. Wm. Jones and asked him to talk to the individual members of the Board or Committee, and see if they would allow us to put it there. A letter recently tells me that he has done this, and finds that they are willing, but he thinks most of them prefer a memorial tablet. The building he expects to be begun with the new year.

Badge for the President of the U. D. C.

I want to speak a word for the convenience of my successor. It is often very embarrassing to your President to have to go around proclaiming herself as President General, in places where she should be known as such. I have had that to go through with, so I have decided to recommend that you have for your own property a badge for your President General to wear, that every one may know her office as soon as they see the badge.

Your President appointed the Shiloh Monument Committee according to resolution passed at Gulfport. Since discussing the matter fully with one of the division presidents, we believe it would have been better for me to consult the division presidents before appointing the members from their divisions. She asks, therefore, that the president of each division endorse her appointment in that division, in this way putting her appointee in the division work.

Explanation.

And now a word of explanation as to my use of the term President General. In the minutes of the Charleston Convention, begin with (page 181) "Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant objected to the phraseology of President General," and read to the bottom of the page. Your President was present at that discussion, and it was quite evident that the large majority preferred that as the term to express the office of the Chief Magistrate of the U. D. C. So that when she went into office she felt that she must sign herself according to the wishes of the U. D. C., as expressed at that convention. She had not thought of the necessity for this explanation until she heard of some criticism of her use of it, very lately.

Memorial.

Some time last spring Mrs. J. Jefferson Thomas, ex-Treasurer and ex-Recording Secretary General of the U. D. C., passed from among us. Your President only heard of it quite recently, and could do nothing but appoint a committee to draft resolutions to be read at the memorial service. Another of our real Confederates gone! Leaving her approval on us and our work by being interested in it to the last. As they slip from us one by one we must struggle all the harder to do the work they have left for us.

During the summer months Alabama was called on to give up both her "grand old men," almost in the same month. Gens. Morgan and Pettus, Alabama's two great senators, and the last two Confederate Generals in the United States Senate, passed away. Your President was traveling and did not see of General Morgan's death until too late to send flowers from you. But she did send them to General Pettus, and received a note of thanks and appreciation from his family. In July Mrs. N. C. Blanchard the wife of Louisiana's Governor, and an enthusiastic member of the U. D. C., laid asire her life in the very prime of her womanhood. A telegram of sympathy was sent to her husband and children from the U. D. C.

And in September another of our vigorous workers laid aside her work for the rest of death. Mrs. Ruth H. Tesson, President of the Oklahoma Division U. D. C. You will all remember her as being with us last year, and how full of life and energy she was. It is hard to associate the idea of death with her. And so it goes on, each year the death of some to record. Committees have been appointed to write and read resolutions on all these at the memorial service.

Still another of our great Confederate women, the widow of one of Robert E. Lee's lieutenants, Gen. Kirby Smith, has passed from us. Such a sweet and strong character we do not often see. Ripe with years and things accomplished, she still had strength and love to spare to encourage us in the work we have undertaken and which she loved. Sweet-faced, soft-voiced and strong in her belief in the righteousness of the cause for which she and her distinguished husband did so much, her place in our ranks will remain vacant as a memorial of her value to us. Your President sent a telegram of sympathy from you to her children. A committee has been appointed to read a resolution in our memorial meeting.

Decisions.

1. If a chapter has on as many as two occasions presented Crosses to the veterans in its county and then, wishing to begin presenting them to the widows and descendants, and advertising for the three required months, receiving no application from veterans, begins presenting them to the other class, if at a later date a few veterans send in applications, that does not necessitate the chapter discontinuing the presenting them to widows and descendants. Or if, after advertising the three months, a few veterans who are late about applying for them ask for them, they can be presented to both classes at the same meeting, provided that those for the veterans are presented first and then the widows and descendants.

The plain purpose of the rule is to keep the descendants from being at any time preferred to the veterans, and not that the descendants shall wait for years and years because a few veter ans are dilatory about applying for theirs. And we must look at the purpose as well as the letter of the law.

2. The Stonewall Jackson Chapter, of Cincinnati, Ohio, having taken the place of the former Robert Patton Chapter, which is now a member of the U. D. C., and therefore not eligible to replace a lost Cross, as none except chapters of the U. D. C. can present Crosses of Honor—can present the second Cross to those veterans who received their first Cross from the former Robert Patton Chapter.

3. Chapters in other States cannot present Crosses in States or Territories where there is even one chapter of the U. D. C.

4. The division recorder of Crosses is the purpose of examining all orders sent from her division, and having them properly filled out before forwarding to the Custodian. It is her duty also to inform the chapters in her division on all points connected with the Cross. It is the duty of the Custodian to decide whether or not the rules are complied with when the orders reach her, for Rule 2, Section 1, distinctly states, "No Crosses shall be furnished by the Custodian unless" certain required things are done. The Custodian will have the same interpretation of the rules for each chapter, while if left to the recorders each interpretation may be different, and there would be confusion. It is the duty of the Custodian to refuse to send Crosses when in her opinion the rules are not complied with. But the recorder or Chapter has a right to appeal from her decision to the President General—whose duty it is to have general supervision of all the U. D. C. work—whose decision is final until voted on by the convention.

5. If the Custodian asks that the work be done in a certain way, if it is not contrary to the rules laid down by the U. D. C., her requests are to be carried out by the recorders. The Custodian is the general supervisor of all Cross work, and the recorders are to help her get the rules carried out.

6. The Custodian should send a Cross for every certificate which is made out properly and sent in according to the rules. Since every certificate of eligibility is signed by at least one officer of a camp of the U. C. V., and also by two members in good standing, the U. D. C., has no right to go back of that to look up his record.

This came up from the question as to whether or not the Cross should be given to conscripts. Your President wrote to Gen. S. D. Lee and asked what he thought the U. C. V. would like done about that? He replied as follows, after saying that if he were to advise her he would do so as an individual, and might not express the wish of the U. C. V. He added: "But this I will say, that upwards of 80,000 conscripts were in the Confederate Army, and they did the good fighting that all Southern men do, and right alongside of those who volunteered, and many a poor fellow gave his life for our cause. The older I get the more generous I am to every one who was a Confederate soldier, and the more inclined I am to cover with a mantle of charity, forgiveness, and forgetfulness, any fault they may have had."

Your President also had the opportunity at this same time of consulting Dr. J. Wm. Jones, Chaplain General of the U. C. V., and the man who comes nearer knowing what would please all the veterans than any man, and he said this in substance: That he had been associated with many conscripts during the war, and while he was, as all volunteers were, inclined to hold the conscript in contempt, yet he had to see that they made fine soldiers, and were of great service to the Confederacy. He then called attention to the fact that in many instances they had failed to volunteer not from lack of love for country, but for other reasons which were good ones. He gave an instance he knew of where the conscript was the fifth son of his widowed mother. All four of his brothers volunteered, but they all decided that he had best remain at home to care for his mother. When he was conscripted he very gladly went into the army, and made a fine soldier. After getting the expressions from these two veterans, your President rendered the decision just read.

7. Women stand on the same plane with men when it comes to the Cross for descendants. The rule was changed at Charleston making it so.

8. There is nothing in the general Constitution and By-Laws to prevent each chapter in a town or city from having its children's auxiliary.

9. The General Constitution and By-Laws make no provision for getting rid of a member found to be not of good moral character. Divisions and chapters should make provisions for this in their laws.

10. Divisions and chapters can make provision for having honorary and associate members, if they care to have them. There is nothing in the general Constitution and By-Laws to prevent. But they cannot elect such associate members without such provision. No election to a place which has never been created can stand.

11. "Lineal Descendants" can only mean the children and grand-children to whatever generation they may extend. Only lineal descendants of women who served the Confederacy are eligible to membership in the U. D. C.

12. Little girls may be among the charter members, provided there are seven women among that same charter membership.

13. Names of those not living in the town or city in which the chapter is located, may be on the charter, provided there are also the names of seven women who do live in the city or town in which the chapter is located.

14. Committees are always subservient to the bodies which create them.

15. If an association has put any work in the hands of a committee, neither the officers nor anybody else has any right to attend to those duties, unless the instructions of the association provide for such action on their part. Committees and officers are servants of the association, and have no rights in the business of the association not given them by the association.

16. If a chapter has no law naming the quorum, it would take a majority of the members to make a quorum. But it can, by adopting a law, make the quorum any number it sees fit to name.

17. A niece of a man who served in the Confederate army, navy, or civil service, is just as eligible as a grand-daughter or daughter, and no chapter has a right to refuse to accept her because she is only a niece. But chapters are not compelled to accept members who are personally objectionable to them, no matter how eligible they are.

18. A duplicate of a charter which has been lost or defaced can be issued for the regular charter fee of three dollars. This duplicate being merely a certified copy of the original charter, the Secretary General has a perfect right to sign the names of the President and Secretary General who issued the original. But she must add this note at the bottom of duplicate:

"I hereby certify that this is a duplicate of the charter issued by the U. D. C. in (give the year in which the original was issued), Signed, Secretary General, U. D. C."

A new charter would not be necessary if, after the charter is issued, a charter member is for any reason found not to be eligible.

19. The General Constitution and By-Laws do not state how the proof of the eligibility of a member is to be shown. The laws of the divisions and charter chapters where there are no divisions, should provide for that, and they should do so very carefully, that frauds may not creep into our midst.

20. Parliamentary law not recognizing proxies, they cannot be used except where provided for by the Constitution, By-Laws, or standing rules of an association.

21. Those eligible to membership in the U. D. C. are eligible to office in any chapter or division of which they may be members in good standing.

22. No chapter domiciled in the State or Territory where a division exists can be a member of the U. D. C. and not of that division.

23. So far as the General Constitution and By-Laws are concerned, a chapter may elect as honorary member whom it pleases.

24. Certificates of membership must be signed by the officers holding office when they are issued. The Constitution plainly says "These certificates must be signed by the President and Secretary of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the President of the State or Territorial Division, and the President and Secretary of the local chapter, and this, of course, means that they are to be signed by those holding office when the certificates are issued. It would be an offense against the law of the land for an ex-officer to sign her name to any official document.

25. The U. D. C. cannot issue certificates to individual members. Art. 8, Sec. 1, requires each chapter to give one to each of its members in good standing.

26. It is the duty of the Secretary General, who serves during a convention, to get the minutes of that convention ready for the printer.

27. Members in good standing in a chapter may resign from that chapter, and if their resignation is accepted they have a right at any time to refer any chapter with which they wish to connect themselves, to the chapter from which they resigned. Members may withdraw from a chapter when it pleases them, and this takes no action on the part of the chapter except to drop their names from the roll; but a member having withdrawn has no right to call on the chapter for recommendation. Therefore the chapter cannot be called on for such. Chapters cannot give transfers to those who have been members, and have withdrawn or resigned. But in the latter case a copy of the application for membership should be sent to the member, that she may furnish it to the chapter she wishes to join.

28. The Constitution provides no way for regular members to be taken into a chapter except by a regularly filled out application and by demit or transfer from another chapter in good standing, when this transfer or demit is presented in six months after it is given by the chapter.

Some of these, as you will discover, are reiterations of decisions already approved by the convention, but they are nearly all mixed with some new point, and therefore have to be reported.

Your President wishes you for a few moments to come with her to the heights of love for our work, overlooking the promises in the future of the U. D. C., and see how, if we will allow unselfishness, energy, patience, courtesy and the spirit which actuated the real mother of the child who went before Solomon—"I will give up my child rather than see it injured"—to lead us, what great things we may accomplish. The greatest thing for us to do now that our veterans in all the States of the Confederacy but one are cared for by the State, is to go actively into the work of educating the descendants of Confederates. Establish scholarships in all the schools in the South, and you will teach every boy and girl in that school that it is a special honor to be descended from Confederates. Have the public schools all over the South named for our great Confederates. The trustees will be glad to do it, if the chapters will only ask. Place, during this centennial year of Gen. R. E. Lee, his picture in every public school house in the South. And next year, the centennial of President Davis' birth, place his picture by its side.

Pass resolutions calling on all the Confederate organizations to unite with us in having a great celebration on the 3rd of June, next, the 100th anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis, the only President of the Southern Confederacy. See to it that the children of the South are made great patriots by pointing them to the great Confederates.

Take the ten-cent estimate off ourselves, that we may do great things. And saying to the world what President Davis said when he left the United States Senate, to throw his lot in with his people, let us each year grow larger and larger in the best sense of the word: "This is done not in hostility to others, not to injure any section of the country, not even for our own pecuniary benefits, but from the high and solemn motive of defending and protecting the rights we inherited, and which it is our duty to transmit unshorn to our children."

Thanking you each and every one, for all your consideration and encouragement, and begging you always to keep me in your minds as one who has honestly striven to give you the very best within her, I respectfully submit my report.

LIZZIE GEORGE HENDERSON,
President General U. D. C.

RECORDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Madame President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

One year ago you conferred upon me the honor and intrusted to me the responsibilities of the office of Recording Secretary, in this great organization of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

It is a pleasure to meet you again; to clasp your hands in warm friendship, and a privilege to look into your faces now, when I come to give an account of my stewardship and report to you in detail my work for the past year. To one who is busy with hands, heart and mind, time flies with such rapidity, that with the twilight of each day, we would love to stop the revolving wheel and beg for a few more hours. Such has been my daily desire through the year. I have, perhaps, done more work during these twelve months than at any other period of my life, but, prompted by intense love and interest for the cause which we strive to perpetuate, and too, that you added zest and interest to the arduous duties by your warm support and cordial co-operation, the work has not been without its pleasures. Each letter written, and each one received was of personal interest, though in many instances the writer and the one written to were strangers, the common tie between us formed a bond of love and true friendship. If you have had censure for my mistakes, you have been very kind and loyal, as you have not expressed your feelings, thus applying the "Golden Rule." There is no doubt but that many mistakes have been mine; however, it has been my wish and desire, combined with every effort to perform the duties prescribed to my office and to make the year's work a success. In assuming the duties of this office, my initial work was to secure bids from the publishers for printing the minutes of the Gulfport convention, and to be ready to comply with Article XIX of the By-Laws, for the advance pamphlet to be issued within thirty days. Bids for this work were received from seven reliable publishers: The Brown Printing Co., of Montgomery, Ala., the Advance Printing Co., of Birmingham, Ala., the Post Publishing Co., of Opelika, the Franklin Printing Co., and Geo. G. Fetter Co., of Louisville, Ky., and Foster, Webb & Parke, of Nashville. All of these bids were submitted to your President General, and we found that the only competitors were the Advance and Post Publishing Co.'s, the former having a little advantage in price, but after repeated requests for specimens of paper and work, none were given. The Post Publishing Co. offered the inducement of wrapping and sending from their office the minutes when finished, and too, volunteered to place a forfeiture in the bank, if the contract was not promptly complied with; therefore, after considering all things, the contract was awarded to the Post Publishing Co., and you all know the result. The "Advance Pamphlet" was mailed to each general officer, to the chairman of each committee, to the president of each division and to each chapter president, on the 5th of January. This you will note was more than thirty days after the convention closed, but with the new order of things, it was just as soon as it could be gotten out.

The minutes in full were issued from the press and mailed to the general officers, to the chairmen of the various committees, to the president of each State division, and to 475 chapters, that had sent in the required 25 cents, mailing or express charges, on February the 25th. This date was more than one month sooner than the minutes had been issued in previous years. The minutes increase in volume every year; the weight of each book of the Gulfport convention is sixteen ounces, and either by mail or express costs 8 cents; that is, if the express is prepaid, so it was only possible to send three copies to each chapter for the 25 cents. Some few chapters sent for a larger number of the books, and other chapters through the year, until about 2,500 of the 3,500 copies printed have been distributed.

In submitting to you the receipts and the expenditures of my office, I wish you to please consider the additional work as well as the additional expense, in order that you can form a just conception of the year's work. We were most fortunate in securing cheaper prices on the printing of minutes and other work. With the one thousand copies of the "Advance Pamphlet," five hundred more copies of the minutes in full, than last year, and the thirty-seven pages more than the San Francisco minutes contained, the additional cost was only $104.30. The minutes of the same size and the same number of copies, as the San Francisco minutes would have been more than $200.00 less.

The new rules for sending the Cross of Honor material to the State recorders and the record sheets, has caused an increase of expenses in the printing, as well as in the cost of expressing this heavy printed matter. These record sheets will not be required in such large quantities another year, as you know that so many were used to bring up the records of past years. In my bill of expenses, is included the paid help of the stenographer, and some typewriting, which is new in the expenses of the Recording Secretary. Let me call your attention to the fact that the work of the office was increased for the Secretary by the Gulfport convention, and of course made a greater tax upon her time. First the "Advance Pamphlet" proof reading and all work necessary to issue this; then correcting, re-arranging it and again all the work for issuing the full Minutes. Another addition to the work—the arrangement alphabetically by towns, rather than by their numbers the rosters, was a task of no small purport; it required many days with most efficient help, and that some mistakes are found in these rosters I must confess, but altogether unintentional, for the most painstaking care was exercised in trying to avoid errors. If we had gone strictly by Article VIII, of the By-Laws, "No State or chapter rosters, not in the hands of the Recording Secretary of the United Daughters of the Confederacy before January 1, shall appear in the published minutes of that year," we would have had very few pages of these rosters.

The Presidents of three States, California, Kentucky and Louisiana, sent their rosters of the chapters in their States, completely and correctly arranged—to these officers, I wish to express my special thanks. The rosters from Alabama, Georgia and some of the other States began to pour in the last of January, all requiring letters of explanation, too late. Only three or four Chapters from Texas ever sent roster at all. Under the circumstances the rosters cannot be correct; is it then a wonder that the convention notices, credential blanks, etc., never reach the chapters?

On October the 11th your secretary mailed credential blanks, notices of the Norfolk convention, revision of Constitution and By-Laws, and proposed amendments, as follows: To the presidents of eleven hundred and ten chapters, the chairmen of the various committees, to the general officers, and to the division presidents; these were mailed in official envelopes, hoping that if each was not delivered, it would be returned to me. Fifteen of these did return, and were immediately re-mailed to the secretary of the chapter.

92 MINUTES OF FOURTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION,

Twenty letters have been received complaining that no credentials had reached their chapters; and to these chapters the blanks were promptly mailed again. If there are chapters yet who failed to receive credential blanks, etc., it will be a deep regret to your secretary.

I have written during the year, three thousand, two hundred and sixty-five (3,265) letters and postals, and have received and properly filed five thousand (5,000) letters and postal cards.

Forty-one thousand (41,000) blanks of eligibility for the Southern Crosses of Honor for veterans, widows, and descendants of veterans, have been distributed among the State recorders, and to some few individual chapters.

The receipts and disbursements of my office for the past year have been as follows:

By eighty Charters issued	$240.00
By 2215 Certificates issued	221.50
By membership blanks	41.00
	<hr/>
Total	$502.50

Expenditures.

To expense account	$180.78
To express account	61.84
To postage account	107.22
To ribbons, seals and tubes	53.50
To telegraph account	7.77
To mailing convention notices, credentials, etc. .	48.00
	<hr/>

Totals

	$459.11—$459.11
--	-------------------

Total balance	$43.49

Each bill of these expenses, has been rendered to the Auditing Committee in an itemized form, and I have turned over to the Treasurer General the balance of $43.49, and hold her receipt for the same.

The bills for the printing of minutes, etc., have been sent to the President for her endorsement, and then on to the Treasurer General, and will be rendered in her accounts..

I wish to report that there is not a complete file of the Minutes of the conventions of past years in the Secretary's office, and would therefore recommend that by some means these be gathered together and made safe for the records of history before it is too late.

The chapters when chartered are now recorded in very inexpensive record books, cheaply bound, and one of these is even now in a dilapidated condition, and the leaves easy to lose out. Realizing the great importance of these records being safely kept, your Secretary would recommend that a well bound book be secured and that these charter records be transcribed therein.

In concluding this report, permit me to return my heartfelt thanks to our gracious President General for her very kind and courteous consideration of, and assistance to me, in my office throughout the year; and to each of the other officers; to the presidents of the State divisions; to the chapters and individual friends, one and all, you have made my work pleasant, and always to be recalled with delightful memories. I thank you for the privilege that has been mine, to be one of your official board, and the pleasant association with its members throughout the year.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. ANDREW L. DOWDELL,
Recording Secretary General U. D. C.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Madam President and United Daughters of Confederacy:

It is again my duty and privilege to make a report to you of the work of your Corresponding Secretary. The past year has been a busy one, and the United Daughters of the Confederacy now number more than 45,000 members. By their steadfastness in the work and undying devotion to the cause they have won the admiration of the entire country from Montana to Florida, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In the position with which you saw fit to honor me I have striven earnestly and labored zealously. In the performance of my duties the correspondence has not been confined to the mandates of our beloved President General, Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson, on official business, but has come from a number of other sources, to all of which I made prompt and courteous reply. Authors, desiring the endorsement of our organization; educational institutions wanting our co-operation in financing their school; magazines desiring to interest us in their work; manufacturers and venders of banners, flags and devices, desirous of our trade, and other miscellaneous correspondence too numerous and various to detail. The Corresponding Secretary of so large an organization might well be said to stand at the end of an interrogation point. During the year I have written 887 letters, and sent out 300 circulars. In closing my report I wish to express my heartfelt thanks for the uniform courtesy and kindness extended to me by the officers and members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. It has been a labor of love, under the circumstances, and I am certain that my successor will be as happy as I have been in the performance of the duties of Corresponding Secretary General of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Respectfully submitted,
ANNIE WASHINGTON RAPLEY,
Corresponding Secretary General.

MRS. L. EUSTACE WILLIAMS,
 Treasurer-General. U. D. C.

CUSTODIAN CROSS OF HONOR'S REPORT.

Madam President, Daughters of the Confederacy:

When in far away San Francisco you honored me, by electing me honorary President, I immediately set to work to find, if possible, the duties of the office; having failed in my search, I concluded, that it was but a gentle hint that I was retired, and nothing else would be expected of me, but to be quiet, smiling and pleasant in my old age.

You can then imagine my feelings when through the press notices of the Gulfport Convention, I found myself called from dreams of quiet and rest to one of the busiest offices in the organization. I felt I must prove myself worthy of this expression of your confidence, whether or not this has been done is for you to say.

The duties of office were taken up with fear and trembling. Feeling the great responsibility of the work before me, I wrote at once to the former Custodian, asking that all records, books, etc., pertaining to the routine work be sent me, that I might post myself before the first bestowal day, January 19th, but was told the only things in hand were several boxes of data which she kindly offered to keep until the Association was ready for them. Right here, let me beg that you give this data your most earnest consideration for it is the only record you have of the 50,000 crosses given out and to whom given from 1900 to 1907. I would suggest that you appoint some careful person to take this data, arrange it alphabetically and if practical have two copies printed, one to be placed in the Solid South room in the Richmond Museum and the other to be kept by the Custodian as her reference book. This work cannot be done too soon, for if by any cause these records should be destroyed, it would almost be impossible to ever get them again. Some may think each chapter could furnish a list, but you would be surprised at the requests I receive almost daily "for lists of all the crosses furnished by our Chapter, as by some means our lists have been lost." These books could be arranged similar to the one I have had made, and in this way a complete record could be kept.

This, of course will mean work, most patient, painstaking work, for an imperfect record is worse than no record at all.

The opening of the year found every detail of the work in a most deplorable condition,—new rules, new records and a new custodian, everything and everybody new to the work, in fact a case of blind leading the blind.

Some of the Recorders very quickly got their respective States in working order, others were slower in "catching on," and some I have given up all hope of ever being able to get them to work with any system, but, with very few exceptions, all have been most anxious to accept suggestions and have proven a most valuable corps of officers.

Considerable confusion has arisen from a misinterpretation of the rules, especially the one relating to descendants. I would ask that at the proper time, this rule and section be thoroughly discussed that all points which now seem obscure, can be brought clearly into the light. Realizing that reports at best are tedious, I have tried to condense this one as much as possible, but I feel it is your right to know, and my pleasure to give you, every detail of the work of Custodian, and should any wish to offer suggestions which would be helpful, please don't hesitate to offer them, for your Custodian wishes you one and all to take a personal interest in this work, and if your suggestions can be accepted, I will most gladly use them.

Now let me thank all I have had correspondence with during the year just closing for your patience and your courteous letters, notwithstanding your many disappointments, and just as soon as we can get the manufacturer to deliver the crosses on time, I assure you there will be no more disappointments emanating from the Custodian's office.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CROSS OF HONOR.

Madam President and Members of the Fourteenth Annual Convention:—

It is gratifying to report that since the adoption of the revised rules for the bestowal of the Cross of Honor at Gulfport, Mississippi, a better understanding and interpretation has resulted as to methods, hence giving less complaint from chapters and less friction from all sources.

It is the desire of your Committee to make these rules as clear and comprehensive, as possible, and to this end we submit amendments to Rule 1, Section 1 and 2, adding Section 3, and adding Section 4 to Rule V, and ask your adoption of the same.

We request that chapters, State recorders, and custodians of Cross of Honor, will be strict in observance of the rules; that the dignity and value of the Cross may be preserved.

REPORT OF CHAIRMAN COMMITTEE ON STATIONERY.

Madam President:

During the past year your Committee on Stationery has continued its efforts to encourage the adoption of an uniform representation of the emblem on stationery used by the various divisions and chapters of our order. While the result has not been so satisfactory as we would have desired I am glad to say several divisions have sent in orders which may mean by them a permanent adoption of our die, as they have had special dies cut for embossing the names of their divisions below the U. D. C. emblem. Many individual chapters have also ordered the stationery, so on the whole we feel that we have at least made a step toward the much desired end. It is however a matter of regret that it is not obligatory upon our members to use this approved die, or one exactly similar, whenever stationery is stamped with the badge.

The stationery furnished our general officers has been the same as last year, which was approved by the President General. It is excellent both as regards the quality of paper and workmanship of stamping.

Dies have been cut for embossing the titles of various general officers on the stationery, without their names, thus making them available for constant use.

Respectfully submitted,

LILY McDOWELL,

Chairman Committee on Stationery.

REPORT OF CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE ON HISTORY.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

Norfolk with its environments and its splendid memories furnishes the stage setting and the atmosphere most congenial to the U. D. C. And especially does it appeal to the Committee on History, for it was from the colonists of Virginia that the Southland received her traditions of chivalry, of culture, as well as her inheritance of high thinking, and possibly that of high living.

During this season the name of John Smith has echoed over the length and breadth of the United States, and yet at the peril of being called a "bromide," your chairman ventures again to sing the praises of the redoubtable captain—in this instance as the founder of American literature. Here was a man of action—of great good judgment, an organizer of men, and one who in the midst of threatened dangers, still found time to write the first book in America. The highly dramatic occurrences of the period fired his imagination and in terse, vigorous English, Captain Smith reported the affairs of the colonists to the London companies. Aside from the news so eagerly awaited at home, the purely literary quality of this book was recognized, and literature of America had taken its rank in the world. At about this time George Sandys, too, added luster to the Virginia literary output by his translation of the classic Ovid. (Ovid's Metamorphoses). William Strachey also claims our interest as one of the early historians as well as for his indirect contribution to the great literature of the world. On a journey towards the new continent, their fleet was wrecked off the Bermudas, and not until a ship was patched up out of the wreckage did these adventurers reach Virginia. William Strachey's vivid description of the storm and his details of hardships endured, proved the inspiration of Shakespeare's exquisite idyl, "The Tempest."

Not only did these men go down as makers of American history, but they also were founders of American literature; and this same impulse of the Virginia cavaliers toward the higher things of life has been felt through the three hundred years that have passed since that epoch; through all the vicissitudes of life in a new country of unbroken forest and savage inhabitants; through all the wars with other nations, and on down through the bitter struggle between the States, the South has kept her high courage.

her defiance of material welfare, and in the face of all this has maintained the supremacy of her high ideals.

In the ante-bellum days the mecca for writers of the South was either in Charleston or in Richmond, and in this connection the appropriate suggestion of the State Historian of Georgia teems with interest. She has proposed a collection of all books by Georgia authors—more particularly those on history, to be donated as a nucleus for a library in the Georgia Room in Richmond. This would in a measure go toward the re-establishment of Richmond's former glory.

We cannot pass over this period of literature in the South without a fleeting reminiscence. Edgar Allen Poe (1809-1840) was one of the few American writers whose work conforms to the literary standard of foreign criticism. Could anything be more beautiful than these few lines from his poem "Israfel"?

"In Heaven a spirit doth dwell,
Whose heart-strings are a lute';
None sing so wildly well
And the giddy stars (so legends tell)
Ceasing their hymns, attend the spell
Of his voice, all mute.

"And they say (the starry choir
And the other listening things)
That Israfel's fire
Is owing to that lyre
By which he sits and sings—
The trembling living wire
Of those unusual strings."

Then, too, there are three writers of the South—Henry Timrod, (1829-1867); Paul Hamilton Hayne, (1830-1886), and Sidney Lanier, (1842-1881), the story of whose brief lives and of their meritorious work is well worth the consideration of the U. D. C.

The new South has added scores of authors to America's literature. With the growing prosperity, the inherent talent blossoms like the rose; favorable conditions induce the flowering of genius, and today the South adds a distinctly new force to the literature of the world. The local coloring gives piquancy to its notably fresh and vigorous style. Miss Mary (Noailles) Murfree (1850), under the pen name of James Egbert Craddock, enthralls us with her stories of the Tennessee mountains; John Fox, Jr., interests us with tales of the mountains of Kentucky; Mr. Cable presents Creole life, while Mr. Page continues to delight with the Southern atmosphere in his work; Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith has that genial tone endearing his work to all readers; and there are the journalists—Mr. Grady, whose death was a national loss: Mr. Watterson, of Louisville, and that writer of charming colloquial verses, Mr. Frank L. Stanton, of the Atlanta Constitution.

The names of numerous Southern writers in the leading periodicals evidence the increasing demand for this work of the new South.

And it is to a serious study of the works of our early Southern authors the chairman wishes to call your attention. If we cannot, perhaps, find so much of interest in these first productions—at least, as glimpses that may never be gleaned from historical writings, alone, they will tell much of the history of those days. And further, the chairman earnestly suggests that the U. D. C. inform themselves with regard to the writers of the new South. In the world of literature the authors of the Southland have made their appeal, and have been welcomed as of the class literary, solely because their work has merit and is a new factor in the development of literature in the United States. Much of their work has been recognized abroad; wherever literature is read and lived for its own sake, these messages from the South have reached the hearts of their readers. The world of literature is outside and above the realm of geographical limitations, and it should be our pleasure as well as our duty, not only to glory in the achievements, but to give every possible encouragement to young aspirants for fame, since the path of literature is beset with thorns, and rewards are slow. We honor the memories of our heroes in war who have proved to us their claim; it is equally incumbent upon us to honor the living whose field of endeavor lies in more peaceful pursuits. It should be our delight to read the works of our living writers—to know the work they are endeavoring to do—to give help to the living—to those who may in the course of time become illustrious also. In the "Forum" of 1888 Mr. Albion W. Tourgee observes: "A foreigner studying our recent literature without knowledge of our history, and judging our civilization by our fiction, would undoubtedly conclude that the South was the seat of intellectual empire in America."

"Lest We Forget" is the appropriate motto of the Committee on History—it is their duty to see that the true history of the War Between the States shall be revealed in all its clarity, by the publication of all truths that investigation may develop; and, too, it is their sacred duty to publicly honor our gallant men who perished so gloriously, by monuments and by memorial services. However, side by side with these obligations, and in keeping with the progressive spirit of the times, we must bear in mind that we are the makers of the history of the future, and to this end it is equally needful for us to develop all latent talent in the Southland to the very limit of our resources.

Chivalry and courage are still characteristic of the Southerner; now with prosperity has come the revival of the fine art of literature. It is none the less true that if the call to arms were sounded today these writers would exchange their pens for the mightier sword, and the splendid valor of the men of the South would shine forth as in the past; in the meantime, let the U. D. C. make united effort—in trend with events of today—to encourage genius of the South in whatever form it may show its light. Universal interest attaches to the collection of material relative to the incidents of the war, and the chairman finds throughout the country a general expression of regret amongst the chairmen of the Division chapters, inasmuch as the veterans, for very many good reasons are disinclined to put their experiences into writing. As illustrating what may be done: Dr. Hyde, of the Gaelic Society, tells us that in order to collect all the folk-lore from the Irish peasants who are fast dying without bequeathing their legends to their descenddants—it has become necessary to employ agents to go over all Ireland, whose duties are to lure these old countrymen into a complaisant enough humor to relate these tales; these they take down and send to London for future publication—there is no time for editing this mass of material as yet—the main thing is to secure it before the receding waves of time shall have carried it beyond the reach of mortal man.

This is also done in the Scandinavian countries, and to much of this folk-lore are we indebted for our literature of today. Ibsen found his inspiration for Peer Gynt among this primitive store of records,—tales that have been handed down in a strictly literary form by word of mouth.

Now the spirit of emulation should mark the progress of the U. D. C., and your chairman would suggest that in so far as the finances of each chapter may allow, it shall engage some professional representative with a knowledge of stenography—for spontaneity is lost with slow dictation—to go to these veterans of the Confederacy and by the sincerity of their address, inspire in them a responsive mood, so that when their stories are related they may be taken at once in all the freshness pertaining to personal reminiscences. These records may then be preserved for future publication.

And when that time shall arrive there are writers amongst us who can select from this data on broad, comprehensive lines; they will reject the unessential details that tend to blur the boldness of the outline, and they will give to the whole a sweep and vigor that shall reveal the true history of the Southland in its magnificent effort to maintain its independent rights.

Again in the matter of the Confederate flags there is need of precise information by the U. D. C. The flag is the emblem of all the South fought for in the past, and as we cherish those memories, we should allow no vague, floating banner of illy designed colors and illy designed dimensions to represent us. There should be consistency in our deeds, if we wish to show to the world that our hearts are in sympathy with all our flag implies, then we must look to it that we shall conform in every particular—in size, color and design to that dear emblem borne so proudly during the war. It were better to have no flag whatever than to bear a standard that indicates indefiniteness of purpose, and incoherency of sentiment.

In this connection the U. D. C. have reason to felicitate themselves on the result of the long and arduous investigation by the U. C. V., which permanently establishes the correct sizes and colors of both the army and navy flags. The chairman is also pleased to tell you that a report of this work, together with accompanying representations of the flags in colors, may be purchased from the U. C. V. for a nominal fee, and the chairman trusts that every chapter will avail itself of this privilege.

Dr. Samuel E. Lewis, member of the Executive Committee from U. C. V., of the Division of Washington, D. C., has kindly submitted an explanatory letter to the History Committee which will prove interesting to this convention. "It is deemed opportune," observes Dr. Lewis, "to impress upon the committee that the object of the report is the correction of inaccuracies regarding the flags of the Confederacy in historical works of reference and school books; and the guidance of manufacturers of flags, designers, decorators and others in their representations and reproductions of these flags." Attention is especially requested to Part III of the Report, wherein "The Commander-in-Chief urges all Confederate Veterans, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy, the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, and other Confederate Memorial Associations, to exert their utmost influence in support of the resolution and the abridged report—to the end that manufacturers of flags, designers, engravers and others may hereafter be required to conform therewith in all respects."

Our valued member from Washington City—Mrs. Arthur E. Johnson—reports a second letter from Dr. Lewis dealing with the "Treatment of Prisoners of War; the percentages of Deaths, North and South." This was read by Dr. Lewis before the Association of Medical Officers of the Army and Navy of the Confederacy, May 31, 1907, in Richmond, Virginia. In part he says: "It would be painful to more than refer to the subject in a general manner, but occasion requires mention of the fact that the Confederate Government, from that war-time period to the present, has been persistently falsely accused and unjustly condemned for the lamentable sufferings of the Federal soldiers in the Southern prisons." Dr. Lewis further observes: "The subject is one in which I am of opinion the U. D. C. will feel a deep interest, therefore the paper is respectfully submitted herewith to your committee, with the hope that it shall receive careful consideration, and I trust, decision that it shall be laid before the U. D. C. for their information, at the assembling to be held the 13th of November, next, at Norfolk, Va."

This report is also in the hands of the committee, and it is desired that all members of the U. D. C. inform themselves of its contents. (Barnes Report.)

In response to her letters of inquiry, the chairman learns that memorial days in honor of the heroes of the South are universally observed throughout the country. Since the Mississippi Division reports special service for Jefferson Davis, and inasmuch as Mrs. Lucy Green Yerger has so beautifully voiced the sentiments of the U. D. C., the chairman ventures to quote that part from her report, in which she presents as subject for a prize essay, "Jefferson Davis as citizen, soldier, statesman, unbending patriot, and grand Christian man, as an intense American, and yet more intensely a Mississippian."

Appropriate exercises, evidencing love and esteem are also everywhere observed in honor of Jackson and Lee; surely in no place would it be more in keeping than on this historic ground to repeat a few lines from the Memorial Ode written by the Norfolk poet, James Barron Hope:

"Our history is a shining sea,
Locked in by lofty land,
And its great Pillars of Hercules
I here behold in majesty Uprising on each hand.

"The Father of his Country
Stands above that shut-in-sea,
A glorious symbol to the world
Of all that's great and free;
And today Virginia matches him—
And matches him with Lee."

The chairman has the honor to submit brief reports of the Division Chapters, and regrets that the U. D. C. cannot share with her the details of the great good work carried on in every part of the country.

Alabama Division reports enthusiasm and increasing interest shown by all chapters. In addition to other work they have added the 27th of September—Admiral Raphael Semmes' birthday—to the other usual dates for the bestowal of Crosses of Honor.

District of Columbia: The especial work has been the raising of funds for the monument in honor of the Confederate dead at Arlington National Cemetery. A bazaar for this purpose, in 1906, netted in the neighborhood of a thousand dollars. The Albert Sidney Johnson Chapter is raising funds for the education of descendants of Confederate soldiers. At present they are educating the grand-daughter of a veteran. On the occasion of the memorial services of Stonewall Jackson Chapter in honor of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Robert E. Lee, a letter from Mr. Roosevelt was read in which he expressed the hope that the people of the country would commemorate General Lee's life and deeds by the establishment of some great representative educational institution of the South. Initial steps are being taken for a permanent home for the meeting of the chapter, where a Department of Confederate History may be established, and for a collection of relics of the war. On the 9th of June, during the memorial services at Arlington, Mr. Roosevelt sent a handsome floral piece.

Florida Division: In line with the general suggestions made by the chairman, Florida has already done good work in the collection of material which will be of great value to the U. D. C. The specific work is the gathering of autographic accounts of battles, and camp life episodes from the veterans. Fresh impetus was given the workers in this field by the reunion of the Florida Division of the U. D. C.

Georgia Division urges the use of Southern text books in Southern schools. The argument is convincing—it is said that the Mathematical, Scientific, as well as the Latin, Literary and Historical text books are equally as good as those now in use—then, why not use our own? The chairman urges that Miss Rutherford's work, "The South in History and Literature" be placed in Southern schools.

Kentucky Division reports work for the year to have been "Women of the Confederacy," calling forth a number of interesting sketches.

The Mississippi Division Historian has prepared a comprehensive programme for study by the Mississippi Chapters for the season of 1907-1908, subject: "Mississippi from 1861-1875." The Mississippi Division is directing its efforts to restore to the "Cabin John Bridge" at Washington City, the name of Jefferson Davis that was erased during Mr. Lincoln's second administration. A personal letter to Mr. Roosevelt brought a prompt and courteous reply, stating the letter would be sent to the War Department. A few days later General McKenzie, from the Department, courteously informed the Mississippi chairman that her letter had been forwarded with the recommendation that it be honored, and advising her that on the return of Mr. Taft his attention would be called to the matter. The Mississippi Division has also made an appeal to the U. C. V. to republish Mr. Davis' "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government," since it is now out of press. The chairman is especially urged by teachers, and by those fitted to speak with authority, to request the more general study of all works that pertain to the history of the South.

Missouri Division reports great interest taken in historical contests. Subjects selected: "The Causes of the War Between the States," "The Missouri Compromise," and "The Relation Missouri held to the General Government during the '60s," resulting in splendid papers. Found a Southern historical paper to reveal fact that in 1865, two ladies from Winchester, Va., dedicated Stonewall Cemetery in October, 1866, with 2,496 Confederate soldiers in the "bivouac of the dead." Winchester also first to erect monument to the Unknown and Unrecorded Dead, June 6, 1879.

New York Chapter inaugurated historical meetings in 1906, incorporating the social element in order to make it attractive to younger members. Doing good work in disseminating correct history of our struggle in the wide field in the North.

North Carolina Division reports inspiring activity—much material gleaned from the veterans and sent to the Secretary of State for preservation until such time as their Department of Archives and History shall be established in fire-proof buildings. Chapters are influencing legislators to mark historic points on battle grounds. Especial attention given to teaching children's chapters the history of the War Between the States.

Philadelphia Chapter, recently organized under this name, finds collection of material difficult in Northern cities.

Oklahoma reports severe affliction in the death of their President, Mrs. Ruth Tesson. They are taking up the thirteen States in the order of secession as a study.

South Carolina Division issued historical circular to all chapters in the Division, asking for report by October 1. But one report was received. However, many chapters followed suggestions in circulars. A successful literary evening was held at State convention last December. One paper, "Extracts from a speech by Hon. James Simons—Torpedo Men in connection with German Artillery," attracted attention all over the South. Many requests were received for copies. Sixteen original manuscripts were received during the year. All manuscripts in September (about three hundred-), have been card indexed.

Tennessee Division reports good work in history. Majority of the chapters are using programmes prepared by Mrs. Dozier, and the remaining chapters use parts of her programme. A number of chapters have separate meetings for history, together with good music. The chairman of Tennessee has submitted a list of recommendations, which your chairman trusts will be examined by the U. D. C.

Texas Division: The very ozone of Texas breathes through the inspiring report from the Division Historian. It is stimulating to learn of the work accomplished in the land which the Texans claim God loves with special fervor. Besides their study of the history of the Civil War for the four years, they review a number of important points in order to more fully impress them on their minds, and in addition they have taken up their State's history. "The Old Virginians" holds part of their attention, also Southern writers, current events and other studies. Great value is attached to their innovation of open discussion in their meetings—since this art of extempore speaking develops the mind and memory, increases the readiness with which scattered thoughts may be gathered and garnered at will. The chairman recommends other chapters not yet attempting this discussion plan to adopt it for future meetings.

Virginia Division: Determined to erect building on Jamestown Exposition grounds now known as "Beauvoir," and historical work was laid aside in order to raise funds for this purpose. Virginia suggests that the term of two years is too short for the office of historian to do well rounded work.

West Virginia Division suggests arousing interest among members of the U. D. C. for historical data. West Virginia claims the honor of first observing Memorial Day, having done so very soon after the first battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861. West Virginia therefore challenges Mississippi's claim of having been the first to inaugurate Memorial Day. West Virginia also claims another honor, and deservedly, so far as is known, namely, that of being the first to erect a monument to the Southern dead. This shaft was unveiled in Romney in 1867.

The Robert Lee Chapter, Seattle, donated $10.00 to the Shiloh monument, and pledged $10.00 yearly until its completion, to Mrs. Bushrod Bell for the Shiloh fund. Far away Washington has set a good example of practical work, by furnishing a room in the distant Home for Veterans in Raleigh, N. C.

In addition to the ideas which these good reports will inspire in the U. D. C., the chairman further makes the suggestion that Mrs. Rutherford's book on "The South in History and Literature," together with Mr. Carl Holliday's "History of Southern Literature" be placed in every library in the South by the U. D. C. Chapters wherever possible. Also the chairman recommends for perusal the volume by Alexander Hunter bearing the unique title "Johnny Reb and Billy Yank." The reciprocal favors offered and received in the last few years by the people of the South and the North evidence on both sides an ever growing feeling of good will. Surely to confer a favor is in itself an expression of regard, while on the other hand to accept a kindness implies a certain esteem for the donor, and it is this friendly attitude—this cementing of kindly ties—your chairman urges upon you whenever the opportunity shall arrive.

"I come from a land where people are loyal," said a charming Southern woman whose fireside is now in the North—"but wherever I am I shall always be loyal to the place I live in and call my home," and it is unnecessary to add this friendly optimism finds all hearts responsive to its appeal. In the January number of Scribner of 1907, Gen. E. P. Alexander, of the Confederate Army, in the introduction to his article of The Battle of Bull Run, contrasts the nation as it exists today with what it might have been had the Union been disrupted. This comprehensive grasp of the situation should carry weight, coming, as it does, from one so prominent in the army of the Confederacy.

The chairman cannot forego mentioning one important factor in the strengthening of ties between the South and North, and this is the very sincere mutual admiration and appreciation of literary work in each section. Poetry lifts us into the world of fancy—at times into the realm of idealty—and even though the muse is not tuned to higher pitch, it yet leaves a note of cheerfulness in its wake, and the chairman is pleased to repeat some verses written in tribute to our poet of the Southland by the Hoosier poet, Mr. Riley:

"O, singer of the South,
Singing on through drip or drought,
With the very bees a murmur 'round the honey of your mouth,
Sweeter song or sweeter word
Never woodland ever heard—
Simply, Stanton, Master-Songster—bard of nature, you're a bird.

So from out the north-land stirred
May another, a bird, be heard—
The chirrup of the merest wren beside the mocking bird—
But la—no matter whether
It is wet or shiny weather,
We'll hop up on the self-same bough and chirp, and sing together."

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIE READY BENSON,
(MRS. WILLIAM JEFFERSON BENSON,)
Chairman History Committee.

REPORT OF THE JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT ASSOCIATION, U. D. C.

Madame President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

According to your appointment at the convention in Gulfport. Mrs. Henderson, President of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. Behan, President of the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, and Mrs. Holmes, President of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, assisted the Confederate Reunion Committee of Richmond, Virginia, in perfecting the details of the programme for the unveiling ceremonies of the Davis monument. The Central Committee under their chairman, Mrs. N. V. Randolph, closed their years of arduous service by being a part of the Reunion Committee, and welcomed the women of the South with unflagging courtesy and hospitality.

Those of you who were not in Richmond on June third, nineteen hundred and seven, have a life-long regret to carry in your bosoms:

To those of you who witnessed the unveiling of the monument to the illustrious Jefferson Davis, there remains a vision, seen through a mist of tears, of gray-clad men bearing banners of red and white, marching past to the strains of martial music. There the sun shines out, but the cannons roar, the curtain falls, and there stands our President, Jefferson Davis, while the vindicatrix points to heaven. Above his head are the crossed banners of the Confederate States, on each hand quiver great sheaves of crimson roses, at his feet are set floral tributes of wondrous beauty, offered by all the loving and loyal women, men and children of the South. The most exquisite moment was when the huge mortar sent floating over his head, to fall like a mantle on his shoulders, the flag of his beloved people.

Reverent gratitude and not jubilant pride was the keynote of that eminently happy day, the end of eight years' work, only made possible by the united efforts of the South, headed by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, seconded by the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, and executed by the hands of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association and its Advisory Board of Confederate Veterans. The year will see the monument fully completed by a few additions to the fitness of the tribute, and there remains only a few last duties.

We do hereby recommend that the monument to Mr. Davis be turned over to the City of Richmond on June third, nineteen hundred and eight, the centennial of the birth of Jefferson Davis, the Presidents of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, of the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, and the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, also the members of the Central Committee and Advisory Board to serve as a committee to perform this duty.

Furthermore, we do recommend the bestowal of the bronze coats of arms of the fourteen Confederate States to the Battle Abbey to be erected by the Confederate Veterans, as a donation from the United Daughters of the Confederacy and a helpful token of good will, most suitable to adorn a great building, since these bronzes were cast for a large structure; and, lastly: The Jefferson Davis Monument Association of the United Daughters of the Confederacy is impelled to make these recommendations since they have lovingly and faithfully fulfilled their trust in seeing the conclusion of this great undertaking.

In November, nineteen hundred and eight, this Association will render a final financial report. I do now present the greetings and thanks of the entire Jefferson Davis Monument Association to your honorable body, and I would only add—ave atque vale—Good-morrow—and goodbye!

NELLIE HOTCHKISS HOLMES,
(MRS. GEORGE S. HOLMES),

November 16th, 1907.

President.

REPORT OF MRS. EDGAR D. TAYLOR, TREASURER OF THE JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 8th. 1907.

Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, Treasurer, Richmond, Va.

Dear Madam: I have received the books and papers and have examined them, as requested by you, and find them to be correct, as per statement herewith.

You will find upon examination that there is to the credit of the Treasurer of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association $5,271.87. This includes the amount of $281.73, which was transferred from the Treasurer of the Central Committee to the above fund on August 5th, 1907.

I return herewith all papers and books received from you, and hope you will find the above satisfactory.

Yours truly,

LAWRENCE N. FOX, Accountant.

The undersigned beg leave to state that they have carefully examined the within report of Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, as Treasurer of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, and that they have compared the expenditures with the vouchers for same. They find that the additions of the amounts received are correct, and that the expenditures are sustained by satisfactory vouchers, which are also correct.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE FOR THE MEMORIAL WINDOW TO MRS. JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Madame President and Daughters of the Confederacy:—

At your last convention in Gulfport, Miss., I had the honor to present a Resolution that the U. D. C. should erect a Memorial Window to Mrs. Jefferson Davis to be placed in the Church of the Redeemer at Biloxi, Miss., next to that erected by her in memory of her husband, Hon. Jefferson Davis.

This Resolution was unanimously adopted, and at the close of the convention, our President, Mrs. Henderson, appointed me to the Chairmanship of the Committee to accomplish this purpose, saying she would advise me concerning the other members at her earliest convenience. This she did a few weeks later, the other members being Mrs. C. J. Weatherby, of "Beauvoir" Chapter, Biloxi, Miss., and Mrs. John J. Crawford, of New York Chapter.

With my report, I shall give with the Secretary a copy of the contract, with Mayer & Company, of New York, for this memorial window, signed by Mrs. Lizzie Henderson, President U. D. C., and Mrs. L. E. Williams, Treasurer, U. D. C., and Decca Lamar West, Chairman Memorial Window Committee. I shall read only the substance here as it will appear in the "Annual," and the design is more fittingly depicted in the further report of our work.

In brief, the theme selected for the window is "Christ in the Home of Martha and Mary." The coloring and mechanical details correspond with the other windows. Unfortunately, the design could not be returned in time to exhibit at this convention, as the work is done in Munich. Mayer & Company tell us that the small designs are never very satisfactory in facial expressions, but guarantee this important point in the finished work. The firm agrees to have the window in place not later than January 31st, 1908, and when received, placed and pronounced satisfactory by Rev. C. B. Crawford, the Rector, the U. D. C. shall pay them the sum of Six Hundred ($600.00) Dollars.

I should like to ask that when the report of the Committee is received, that a motion be entertained that the time for the unveiling of the window be set for the 26th of February, 1908, if the usual Mardi Gras rates can be obtained by that time. Reason—it is the date of the anniversary of the marriage of President and Mrs. Davis. Second—it is believed that a greater number will be enabled to attend to the ceremonies at this time. Further, it is suggested that the Corresponding Secretary be instructed to send notice or invitations to unveiling ceremonies to General and State Divisions U. C. V., and to General and State Divisions of the U. S. C. V., General Officers of the U. D. C., and State Divisions U. D. C. That all State presidents be requested to attend, or appoint a representative. Invitations shall be extended to all Southern Memorial Associations. That a sum from the original appropriation be set aside for this purpose.

My first step as Chairman was to go to Biloxi to confer with the Rector in regard to some general plan that would be in harmony with the Memorial windows in the church and such other details as were deemed necessary for the beginning of the work. As the convention had voted that the same firm—Mayer & Company, of Munich and New York, who designed the window to President Davis and Miss Winnie Davis should be employed—that point was settled. Mrs. C. J. Weatherby having received notice of her appointment, entered heartily into the spirit of the work. And I should like to acknowledge here that as your representative, I was entertained and treated with the utmost hospitality and courtesy by the Rector and parish of Biloxi.

At this preliminary conference, if it may be so termed, it was decided that the members of the Committee, our President General. Mr. Crawford, the Rector, at Biloxi, and Mrs. Hayes, the sole surviving child of Mrs. Davis, should each suggest a subject, or theme suitable for such a memorial. Mr. Crawford kindly volunteering to write to Mayer & Company for suggestions and designs, which he did, thus assisting the Committee very much. This practically made a membership of six instead of three, and in consequence increased the chances for their choice to be wise and likely to meet the approval of the whole body. Also, it consumed more time, both on account of discussion of various "themes" suggested and for the necessary correspondence. Each one gave the matter their earnest, careful, prayerful consideration and labor. There were some who thought that this window should have been placed six months ago. I know it, because they told me so! We do not believe these criticisms were meant in unkindness, but only came from those who lacked experience in such matters. It is a good thing that we serve now and then on a committee, it makes us more considerate of the failures, more appreciative of the labor of others—our co-workers. We could occupy many moments of your time here, fill many pages of the "Annual" by a detailed account of the "themes" suggested, of the subjects and designs rejected, the discussion why one was more appropriate than another. The excellence of the reasons we had for our opinions would fill a book. But we will tell you just a little of how we worked and of the results. A few moments in the telling; many hours, aye, days and months in the doing. Your President and the Committee were unanimous in the wish that Mrs. Hayes should be in every way satisfied with the subject and design, feeling that it was just and right, a courtesy due her from the Daughters of the Confederacy. In what better way could we show our love and reverence for the mother than in considerate love and sympathy for the daughter, who first called her by that sacred name, the last child to cherish her, mourn her, the one to catch the last words from her lips on earth, "Oh, Lord, in Thee have I trusted, let me never be confounded." That the spirit took its flight upon such wings of faith was in itself a benediction to the daughter left to weep. And while the words sounded but faintly to human ears, can you not imagine that they echoed on the other shore in a song triumphant—that heralded her coming to the loved ones gone before? It is upon these words and upon the study of Mrs. Davis' character that the selection for this memorial is based. It is true that we have been careful to conform to the harmony of color that prevails in the church. It is true that we have sought to have it attractive by its beauty, but it is more than mere beauty of form and color, that one strives to accentuate in a memorial. It is a testimony of the strong characteristics of her whom we would honor, whom we should emulate. Faith, strength, patient endurance. May we not believe with Shakespeare, the greatest interpreter of the human mind and heart, that the words of the dying are indicative of the life and character? These words of perfect trust, struck the key-note of the life that went from us one year ago. We have endeavored to symbolize that faith and the strength that was hers—strength of mind, of will, of heart, of soul.

Did you ever stop to think what she endured? Not only the vicissitudes of war that many of you bravely bore, but the usual trials of life, sickness, sorrow, loss of loved ones—that come to us all. Think, oh! mothers, of the children she bore. How they slipped from her embrace one by one. Every phase of this, the greatest of earth's sorrows, did she endure—the babe at her breast, the sudden snatching of the prattling child—the boy, almost a man. (What hopes do not mothers build on their sons! And this one with proud lineage, and who could say 'his father is Jefferson Davis'). What queen ever had a right to set her earthly hopes higher? This cup she drained to its dregs! And the baby born in the dark days—"The Daughter of the Confederacy." Like a fair flower that buds, and blooms into beautiful maturity—she, too, faded into eternity. Yet from this crushing blow also did the mother arise with her faith and her strength. Oh! ye women that saw your husbands go forth to battle, saw them with wounds, perhaps in death, you suffered; but what other woman endured with Mrs. Davis? She, too, saw her husband fall in a noble struggle; saw him suffer not only defeat, but ignominy and humiliation. Some say, and I think with truth, ingratitude, or what seemed so for many years. She knew him for a statesman, soldier, patriot, but she saw him in the eyes of the world an exile, "a man without a country." More bitter than death to a proud spirit, but she arose in her faith and strength. It is true her hopes that he and his policies would be vindicated were almost fulfilled ere her eyes closed in death; but ah! the years had been long, the pathway steep! The unjust accusations that she was not loyal to her Southland—could she have borne them with such patient dignity, but for the strength of her great soul?

When you pause to think of these things, do you wonder that in all sacred history your Committee could find no one character to typify the strength and faith of Mrs. Davis? For centuries the names of Martha and Mary, the followers and beloved friends of our Lord, have been typical of strength and faith, and so for this window which we hope and believe will be beautiful, we have chosen the theme of "Christ in the Home of Martha and Mary," and beneath the customary inscriptions are the final words of the Te Deum which were the last words that our revered friend—who lived and died with strength and with faith.

May each of us make a pilgrimage to this beautiful coast which our President and his faithful wife loved so well, go to the little chapel where they worshipped. Again into the Memorial Church and let us stand reverently before this window as before a shrine. As we behold the strong face of Martha, and the beautiful Mary as she looks up with child-like confidence into the tender face of Jesus, may we, too, be filled with strength and with faith. So when the trials of life come we may bear them, unswerving, when the great summons comes we, too, may say with the unfaltering trust of the faithful Martha, the adoring Mary, and our beloved Mrs. Jefferson Davis, "Oh, Lord, in Thee have I trusted, let me never be confounded!"

REPORT OF THE CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL LITERARY SOCIETY,

In Charge of the Confederate Museum, Richmond, Va., United Daughters of the Confederacy, in General Convention, November, 1907.

To the President, and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

I find that before reading the report from the Confederate Museum, I must make several statements, as information.

First, in your minutes (Index) of 1906, you call the society in charge of the Museum "Confederated Memorial Literary Society."

This is wrong. It is "Confederate." This society is not connected with any other organization. It stands distinct from every other body, and chartered under the laws of the State of Virginia for the specific purpose of preserving everything pertaining to the Confederate States of America.

In the minds of some persons, it is one and the same, or at least a part of the project known as the "Battle Abbey." One word will clear this impression from the mind. The "Battle Abbey" first and last is an organization by, and of, men.

The "Confederate Museum" is an organization by, and of, women. We have an Advisory Board of Gentlemen. Now, it is clear to you, that the "Battle Abbey" and the Museum are entirely distinct. The "Battle Abbey" is something of the future. The Museum has been an accomplished work for eleven years, with the doors open to the public.

Second: I request in the name of the Museum, that there will be no motion to take up contributions, and that there will be no motion to give anything to the Museum this year. But I pray the divisions to take this work home, in their minds and hearts. I am not asking for money today.

In papers written heretofore on the Confederate Museum in Richmond, Va., my account has been confined to the practical management of this splendid institution. One paper delivered before the Virginia Division in 1905, and another before the convention of the Southern Confederate Memorial Association in 1907, deal specially with the practical affairs.

Today I propose to take another phase of the life of the Museum. This phase is expressed in the question:

What is the relation of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to the Confederate Museum in Richmond, Va.?

Whence comes, and how comes, this relation? The answer is, This relation comes as a result of the birth of a little girl to President Jefferson Davis, in the White House of the Confederate States, now the Museum in Richmond, born during 1861-1865.

Years afterwards, when the women of the South wanted a title, they took the one of "Daughters of the Confederacy," because this was the acknowledged, distinctive title of that little girl. In all the world this was the closest, indissoluble link between Southern women, and our leader—Jefferson Davis. Only one step through the daughter to the father.

When in 1899 the U. D. C. held their convention in Richmond, Va., so forcibly did that body of splendid women realize their close relationship to the Confederate Museum, with unanimous voices they passed the following resolutions:

Resolutions From a Printed Copy.

"As the treasure-house of the relics of our beloved cause belongs not more to Virginia than to the other States,

"I move that each State Division, U. D. C., appoints a committee of three.

"This committee shall have charge of the interests of the Museum, and keep it before their State division.

"Further, that each State president shall, after presenting the matter to her State convention, recommend the appropriation of a sum of money varying according to the condition of her treasury for the running expenses of this sacred treasure-house, the burden of which has heretofore been borne by the Confederate Memorial Literary Society.

"Further, that each chapter shall set aside annually a sum for the maintenance and enrichment of the room assigned its State."

When you, here today, hear these resolutions what do you think?

Mark what a name the U. D. C. of 1899 have given the Mu seum, the sacred treasure-house. Could another name be formed more expressive of the priceless heritage in those walls?

Yet, ask yourselves, if either the spirit or the letter of those resolutions is manifested today, in your relationship to that sacred treasure-house?

Ask yourselves, if a great organization of bright, loved women, can afford to put on record such resolutions, and then forget them?

Ask yourselves, if there ever has been, is now, or ever will be, such an object on which the whole South can center a common love, as on that Museum?

Let us look around and see to what extent the U. D. C. of today recognize their close relationship. What are we doing with this inheritance of a glorious part?

The most direct answer comes from the annual report of the Museum. As those of 1907 are not due until December, we will turn back to those of 1906.

Here are the reports of the fifteen State vice-regents of the sums received by them from either chapters or State Divisions in 1906:

Forty dollars of this was given by the Richmond Chapter, U. D. C., and Memorial Associations of Richmond, Va., to buy a case in which to deposit records of the U. D. C. and Memorial Associations.

The sum total given by the U. D. C. in 1906 was $368.00.

Now, let us see what was sent to the treasury in 1906 for the general use. This general use means the salaries of all employes, all repairs, all fuel, and care of the grounds.

The Treasurer replies to my inquiries:

No State Division, U. D. C., has ever given any sum to the treasury for general use. In 1903 Missouri gave $25 for the endowment fund.

In 1906, Richmond Chapter U. D. C. for general use gave $15.00.

Three chapters gave $1 each, and one chapter $2 for the endowment fund, $5.00.

The Treasurer continues: "No State, not even Virginia, has given a penny this year, 1907, to the treasury or to the endowment funds. But the majority of the rooms subscribed to a salary for an assistant house-regent."

I will add, that this assistant was absolutely necessary, on account of the increased number of strangers this year. Her salary began May 1st. Our regular employes number three only.

The report of the Treasurer adds but a few dollars to the sum total of the rooms.

There are three separate funds, that represent the finances of the Museum, to any one, or all of which individuals, or organizations are privileged to contribute. These funds are:

1. The Endowment fund.
2. The Treasury (for general use).
3. The Rooms representing States, and the Solid South Room, which is the Library.

The annual membership is $1.00.

The life membership is 10.00, without further tax, or obligation. It is always added to the Endowment Fund.

Do such meagre results show a love for the tie that comes through our title?

Are we proving ourselves worthy of this heritage, worthy of our wonderful history? Shall we tell to strangers that, after eleven years' work, we have only $5,000.00 for an endowment? Shall we tell to our Southland that only a faithful few stand in the breach to guard the sacred Treasure-House, and that when they fall, there are no others to fill their places?

My friends, when you turn your faces homeward, cry the glad tidings that the grand heritage of the Confederate Museum will be the child of the Daughters of the Confederacy forever. Theirs to nourish. Theirs to lead forth before the world, strong with the strength of honor, robed in the mouth of truth.

Respectfully submitted,

VIRGINIA MORGAN ROBINSON.

MRS. J. ENDERS ROBINSON, 113 Third St., South, Richmond, Va.

THE SOUTHERN HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPT COMMISSION.

To the U. D. C. Convention, Norfolk, Va., November, 1907. The Southern Historical Manuscripts Commission, of the Confederate Museum, Richmond, Va.

Whereas, during the reunion held in Richmond, May 30th-June 3rd, 1907, the United Confederate Veterans and the Confederated Southern Memorial Associations approved a resolution of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society, in charge of Confederate Museum, Richmond, Va., organizing a Southern Historical Manuscripts Commission, and Whereas, the United Daughters of the Confederacy believe that the work undertaken by the said Confederate Memorial Literary Society will be most beneficial to the cause of historical truth.

Be it Resolved, first, That the United Daughters of the Confederacy do hereby endorse the Southern Historical Manuscripts Commission as proposed in the appended resolutions of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society.

Resolved second, That the historians of the local chapters be urged to collect and send to the Confederate Museum such papers or such copies of papers as they may be able to procure. The resolutions of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society is as follows:

Whereas, there are a great number of papers and manuscripts of an historical character now in the hands of private individuals in the South, and elsewhere, which are subject to great risk of damage or destruction through time and negligence, but which are of great importance as throwing light on the history of the war between the States; and whereas the Confederate Memorial Literary Society is anxious to accumulate and properly preserve these papers, for the uses of future historians;

Be it therefore Resolved, That an Historical Manuscripts Commission, consisting of a committee of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society, and members of the Advisory Board, to be appointed by this Society, whose duties it shall be:

First, to ascertain by correspondence or otherwise, the character and location of papers and manuscripts relating to the causes of the War Between the States, the operations on land and sea, the political, civil and social history of the Confederate government and of the particular Southern States, and all other papers, manuscripts or newspapers relating to any phase of the war and its causes.

Second, to request, in the name of this Society, the gift of the same, or of certified copies of the same, and to receive such gifts in the name and in behalf of this Society.

Third, to deposit the papers, newspapers, manuscripts and other materials thus given in the archives of the Confederate Museum, Richmond, Virginia, subject to such conditions as may be agreed upon by the said commission and the said Confederate Memorial Literary Society.

Fourth, to have the said gifts properly arranged and classified, for the use of students and other investigators, subject to the rules agreed upon by the said commission and the said Confederate Memorial Literary Society.

Fifth, to prepare and submit to this Society such plans as may seem to them advisable for the editing and publication of these gifts, or any part of them, and to request the advice of historical students as to such editing and publication.

Sixth, to report annually to this Society upon the progress of the work to them entrusted.

Seventh, to solicit the aid of such individuals as they may deem wise, and to take such further action as shall be, in their judgment most conducive to the aims of this Society, and not inconsistent to the terms of these resolutions, subject always to the approval of this Society.

Resolved, Second, That the Confederate Memorial Literary Society asks the endorsement of the R. E. Lee Camp No. 1 Confederate Veterans, the United Confederate Veterans, the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, and all other Confederate Organizations, and that they aid the work in every possible way.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PRIZE ESSAY, TEACHERS' COLLEGE, COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY.

Madam President-General and United Daughters of the Confederacy:—

The prize of $100.00 offered by the United Daughters of the Confederacy was awarded to Mr. Herbert T. Coleman, the subject being "The Status of Education in the South Prior to the War Between the States," of Teacher's College, Columbia University.

In my report of last year, I mentioned the fact that we were indebted to Professor Mitchell, of Richmond College, for a list of topics, and that the Committee had thought it wise to arrange these topics in some logical order, beginning with the conditions in the South prior to the War. This plan will be followed as closely as possible, with the exception of this year, when we have taken for our one topic General Robert E. Lee—it being his centennial year.

It will be of interest to all those who have not seen the October number of the "Veteran" to learn that Mr. Coleman is a Canadian.

A graduate of Toronto University, he afterwards received his Master's Degree from Columbia, and was called to fill the Chair of Education in the University of Colorado, the same position from which Dean Russell was called to Teachers' College. In September last he returned to his Alma Mater, Toronto University, as Professor of Education in that institution. While at Teachers' College he also had the distinction of winning the prize offered by the Daughters of the American Revolution. It would not be unnatural for us to anticipate a great future for the recipient of our first prize.

I hope every Daughter will read this essay in the October "Veteran"—it cannot fail to interest you, and may fill you with some pardonable pride to read of the part taken by the South in education, and to learn that out of six State Universities founded before 1830 the South furnished FIVE.

Before closing this report I must, in justice to Miss Hallie Morrison Prentis, speak of the essay submitted by her and praised "for its superior character" by our judges, Dr. Alderman, President of the University of Virginia, Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, Professor of History in the University of North Carolina, and Dr. John H. Finley, President of the College of the City of New York. Dr. Russell felt it was of such excellent character that he asked if the Committee might divide the prize,—but your Committee felt that this would not be fair to Mr. Coleman. The subject of Miss Prentis' essay was "The Anti-Slavery Sentiment in Virginia in the Eighteenth Century." It is a great pity that this essay could not be preserved, for it made me proud (when I remembered that my grandmother was a Virginian) to read of the efforts made by Virginia to abolish the traffic in slaves,—that it was Virginia that incorporated into the proposed Constitution of the United States a clause to abolish the importation of slaves from the date of its adoption, but that after a protest from South Carolina and Georgia, the clause was amended in such a way that it did not take effect for twenty years. It is noteworthy to read that the compromise was carried by the votes of New Hampshire, Connecticut and Massachusetts, the only New England States represented.

Your Chairman feeling the necessity of placing ourselves on a firm foundation, would recommend that the sum of five hundred dollars be appropriated annually for the purpose of raising an endowment fund for this prize at Teachers' College, until the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars be raised.

It was a great privilege and pleasure to have with me our President-General at the commencement of Columbia University last spring—when our prize was awarded for the first time—especially as she is a member of this Committee.

I have received the consent of Dean Russell to place in the library of Teachers' College, Columbia University, for the purpose of research work, any manuscripts which might be of value in connection with the study of the War between the States—documents which might (in the words of the Dean) "aid some day in the writing of a correct history of the war."

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. LIVINGSTON ROWE SCHUYLER,
Chairman,
MRS. LIZZIE GEORGE HENDERSON,
MISS SALLIE J. DOSWELL.

REPORT OF BULL RUN MONUMENT.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The President of the "Jefferson Davis Monument Association" has just made her report on the monument to our beloved President, of whom the South has just cause to be proud.

I come before you to present my final report on the Bull Run monument, erected by the Daughters of the South, to mark the spot where sleep five hundred of the boys who wore the "gray;" the flower of our Southland, gathered from the hillside, the valley, the woodland and the plain, in their last resting place, with this white shaft keeping watch over them until the Great Commander shall call them to enter the army of the celestial city.

In Baltimore, Md., in the year 1895, I made the first appeal, to this convention, for assistance to place a fence around this cemetery. The one which had been placed there by the women of the old "Memorial Association" had all fallen in decay.

At our convention held in New Orleans, La., I reported on behalf of Bull Run Chapter, "that after being 'on the fence' for five years, I was now glad to say that it is completed." A voice from the audience said, "Let us have a monument." I replied, "not on me." And then and there was started the monument I now present to you as finished.

You entrusted to me your sacred gift; the money with which to place a marker over those we loved, and I feel that I must make this report, that you may know how and where your money has gone.

I hold in my hand a picture of the cemetery, showing the white shaft and the fourteen markers; each marker bearing the name of a Confederate State. I want every State to have one of the postal cards, so that you may show it to your "Division."

The monument stands on a high hill, where sleep the boys of '61 and '62. It rests upon a granite foundation, and is about sixteen feet high. On the front of the shaft, the crossed flags are cut in relief, and the inscription,—“Erected by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in Memory of the Confederate Dead.” On the base, Father Ryan's beautiful words:

We care not from whence they came,
Dear in their lifeless clay;
Whether unknown or known to fame,
Their cause and country still the same,
They died and wore the Gray."

On the other "faces" of the die, the following:

"Who gave their lives in defense of their country on the battlefield of the first and second Manassas."

"They sleep well in their unknown graves on the far-away battlefield."

"To them the counting of time is not, for they dwell in the City of God."

A gravel walk and concrete curbing encircles the monument and leads to the gate.

I also hold in my hand a picture of the "stone house," which figured in both of the battles of Manassas of '61 and '62. On this hill there were sleeping five men; one a Mississippian, the others Georgians. The farm had changed hands and the plow had run within one furrow of their graves. The Bull Run Chapter decided to move the bodies to the cemetery, and one hot August day I called over the 'phone, to a cousin, asking him if he had a "hand" he could let us have, to go over and move the bodies from the "stone house," hill; he said he had not, but a colored man was there. I said tell him to come to the 'phone. I asked the man if he would go. He said: "I would do anything I could for you, but these men bin dead forty years, and they never do me no harm and I don't believe in resurrectioners no how."

We succeeded in getting another man to go, and a cousin and I went upon our sad errand, arriving on the ground just as the sun was at its height.

The negro opened the graves and we sifted through our fingers the bones and dust of somebody's loved ones, placed them in boxes, carried our sacred treasures to our little city of the dead, and there Miss Katherine Leachman and I committed them to the God who gave them. From time to time, other bodies have been moved by the women of Bull Run Chapter, every woman doing her duty. Among those moved was the body of the brother or our beloved President of the Virginia Division, Mrs. Elizabeth Neeley.

I mention these instances to let you know that these noble women are never idle in the cause we represent. I come now to the unveiling, and I want Kentucky's daughters to listen.

On the 26th of August, 1904, a cousin and I both dressed in, our best and behind the finest team he could get, drove over to one of the camps (it was during the military maneuvers then being held on the battlefield), and asked to see the officer in command; there was some delay in his coming, but when he did come, I stated my business, which was to ask for a band for the unveiling of our monument. He hesitated, and I remarked that although a lady friend had said to me "You are not going to ask an officer of the United States army such a favor and be refused?" I remembered that the Daughters of the Confederacy were shown the favor of the United States army band to play for them at Charleston, S. C., and that they had been permitted to visit Forts Moultrie and Sumpter. My memory of the courtesies we had received was of no avail, my request was refused.

The next day, while on our way to the monument, we turned aside to the "Henry" house, and as we entered the grounds, an automobile came up in which were some officers of the army. One of them sent an orderly to hold our horse, as he was frightened.

We got out of the buggy and went towards the gate, just as the officer and his staff arrived; we entered first, they following. While strolling around the grounds, we came to the grave of Mrs. Henry who was killed by a piece of a shell, during the battle of 1861. The officer was telling his staff of the movements of the two armies, and I remarked that "perhaps I can explain them, as I was here when the battle was fought." He looked at me and I said: "You doubt it;" he replied: "Your hair does not tell it." I then introduced myself and companion, and he said: "I am General Bell of the army, and introduced us to the members of his staff. We all walked towards the United States Monument which stands just back of the "Henry" house; on the way, General Bell noticed the little pin I wore, which designates a Daughter of the Confederacy, and after looking at it, said: "Let me shake hands with you, my mother is a Daughter of the Confederacy."

I then invited him to the unveiling of our Monument, which was to occur on the following Tuesday. He asked me if we had a band. I told him we had not; and mentioned the visit and conversation of the previous morning. He replied: "If there is a band up here, you shall have it." So, on Tuesday, when we arrived at Groveton, we found General J. Franklin Bell, with his staff, a mounted band, and two troops of cavalry; also two troops from General Grant's command.

At the suggestion of General Bell, the company assembled, formed in procession of twos; he with Governor Montague leading, and preceded by the band, dismounted, we marched up the hill to the cemetery; the band playing "My Old Kentucky Home." The Cavalry formed in line on the hill, with sabers drawn and glistening in the sunlight, and was a sight not soon to be forgotten.

Texas' noble son, Chaplain Newsom, of General Bell's command, invoked God's blessing, beginning his prayer with Virginia's old motto:

"Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget."

The shaft was covered with the flag of the Confederacy, and was unveiled by Miss Mary Neville Dogan, whose family for more than a century have lived on the site of the battlefield.

Miss Dogan not being strong enough to release the flag, General Bell stepped forward and assisted her, so that Kentucky's son and Virginia's daughter unveiled our monument to our "Boys who wore the Gray."

General Bell was requested to read the inscriptions to the company; this he did with sympathy in every tone, and said he esteemed it an honor to have been asked to perform this service.

Governor Montague was the orator for the occasion, and every Virginian knows what that means. His address was eloquent and thrilling.

During the ceremonies at the unveiling, the band played old-time Southern airs, for which we were especially grateful.

Just as the ceremonies at the cemetery were closed, General Corbin, Commander-in-Chief of the Maneuvers, and his staff, arrived. The General expressed his regret at his failure to be present in time, which was owing to a misunderstanding of the appointed hour.

General Grant, commanding the troops, opposing General Bell in the Maneuvers, was unable to be present, but sent his regrets.

The whole company went to a grove nearby and enjoyed the dinner prepared by the women of Bull Run Chapter.

After dinner, General Corbin, General Bell and others addressed the company, and some time was spent in a social way. The day was passing into evening, before we parted.

So the Bull Run Monument was most fittingly unveiled, with far more distinction and display than we women of the Chapter had hoped for or anticipated, for the North and South here met in a common cause, to honor true courage and devotion.

General Bell has won a place in our hearts, which can never be effaced; for, by his sympathy, generous help, and sincere interest the success of the unveiling was assured. Kentucky may well be proud of so noble a son.

The report which I made to the Convention in Norfolk, Va., was impromptu and extempore, but this is what I remember to have said.

MRS. J. E. ALEXANDER.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ESTABLISHMENT OF DEPARTMENT OF ARCHIVES AND HISTORY.

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in Convention Assembled in Norfolk, Va., Nov. 13, 1907:

Supplementary to our last annual report, the Committee on the Establishment of Department of Archives and History, beg leave to state that:

The State of Arkansas has an Arkansas History Commission, and has made an appropriation of $1,250.00 to aid in the work.

Texas has a Department of History, and a room in the Capitol has been set apart for the use of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and all manuscripts and relics are preserved therein.

Florida reports that provision has been made for the publication of all names of her Confederate soldiers, but the report of the committee makes no reference to a Department of Archives and History.

Georgia and North Carolina have not been heard from.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. W. A. COLLIER, Chairman.

SHILOH MONUMENT COMMITTEE.

Madame President:

This, the first year's work of the Shiloh Monument Committee has been largely in placing before the chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy and all other Confederate organizations the conditions at Shiloh and the claims and needs for a monument there to all Confederate soldiers in that terrible battle. Circulars were printed and distributed by the members of the committee, personal letters have been written and appeals made. The growing interest in Shiloh is the result, and next year the committee expects to garner a large harvest from this preparatory work. Every member of the committee heard from reports progress and good prospects, nearly all have received money and pledges for this fund. No report has come from and probably no work has been done in Louisiana, because we had the misfortune to lose by death after a long illness our valued Louisiana member of the committee, Mrs. N. C. Blanchard, and her place has not yet been supplied. A few members appointed on this committee have shown no interest in the work, and have taken no notice of the several letters written them by the chairman.

The work this year has demonstrated three needs, and the committee asks your careful consideration of them and that proper legislation covering these matters be enacted:

First, that this committee created for the special object of raising funds and planning for a monument at Shiloh, and its work thus necessarily extending over several years, that while it is a special committee, yet it should have a permanent membership to insure steady progress in the work, and the maturing and forwarding of plans that require time for execution and its efficiency would be materially injured and the work retarded so long as its personnel is subjected to yearly changes.

Second, the members of the committee are so distant from one another there is needed a central or executive committee of women near enough to one another to meet together to discuss and plan the work in the interim between the meetings of the committee.

Therefore, at their meeting Tuesday they adopted the following resolutions, and ask your endorsement of same:

Resolved, first, That this present personnel of committee be considered permanent, vacancies caused by death, resignation, removal from State or failure to serve, to be filled by State division appointments in interim and for chapters not in a division to be filled by President-General.

Second, That the members from Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky and Arkansas constitute a central committee to transact the immediate business of the committee in the intervals between the meetings of the whole committee.

Third, From the central committee shall be elected the chairman, vice-chairman, secretary and treasurer of the committee.

The committee asks for an efficient member in every State having a chapter of the U. D. C. and that others be substituted where a vacancy exists.

The committee recommends that the amount to be raised for the monument should be $50,000.

The following amounts do not represent by any means all the moneys collected or promised, but they are the sums or pledges

This, with other pledges and cash in hands of other members of committee, makes over $3,000 in sight for Shiloh.

Dear friends, we would ask that all of you would give heed to the claims and needs of Shiloh, that you would tell your chapters and your friends how much a monument is needed at Shiloh, the scene of that fearful two days' battle, where the Confederates lost more than 10,000 men, and the Federals more than 13,000. In building a monument there you honor no alien, but place the boys upon your own brave, your own dead, for the whole South was represented in that fatal field. The South's remembrance of them is represented by two small monuments, one erected a few years ago to the memory of the regiment of Gen. Wm. B. Bate, of Tennessee, the other unveiled there last May by the Alabama Division of the U. D. C., in memory of the Alabama soldiers who fell at Shiloh. Above and about them tower more than one hundred handsome shafts and memorials erected there by Northern States to honor the memory and valor of Federal soldiers. The North has expended more than $200,000 at Shiloh for monuments alone, but no monument is there to tell of the heroism, patriotism and devotion of the Confederate soldiers who fought without reward, but not without honor.

In one long trench alone lie 4,000 Southern men devoted to home and country; but no stone stands there to tell how nobly, how generously, they gave their lives for principle. Only the wind sighing through the pines whispers of their glorious deeds; no flowers bloom for them, only thorns and weeds conceal the crowded graves, scarce hid by mother earth, they lie, unwatched, forgot, neglected and unkept.

Is not the vanquished as worthy as the victor? If the stranger, and so many visit this battlefield, sees no memorial, will he not think the bravest, truest of earth's soldiers were cowards and unworthy of remembrance? Is this what we want our children to believe? Are they forgotten with their glory? Will they always lie in unmarked graves? They must not.

We cannot build a worthy shaft without aid, and I ask your aid now. Help in this work, and help us to enlist every son and daughter of the South in this work to honor those uncrowned heroes who battled for Southern honor and Southern rights, and let us show we have not forgotten, but cherish their history as a priceless heritage.

MRS. A. B. WHITE, Chairman.

REPORT OF CONFEDERATE PRISON DEAD.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

At Hot Springs convention, 1898, (see minutes), it was reported that in Arlington cemetery, Washington, the graves of Confederate soldiers were marked "Rebel." As a delegate from the Grand Division of Virginia, I promised if that was the case Virginia would have these bodies removed to Hollywood. This report following so soon the request of the gallant Yankee soldier, Col. William E. Knause that flowers be sent to Camp Chase, struck the chord that for eight years has rung in the hearts of the Richmond Chapter, and ended in a sweet memorial hymn sung at the unveiling of the monument to our prison dead, in Madison, Wisconsin, when on June 16th, 1906, the G. A. R. of that city, by the request of the Richmond Chapter U. D. C., sung the hymn of our loved chieftains, Lee and Jackson, "How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord," and the monument to "Mrs. Alice Waterman" and her Boys, as she loved to call them, was dedicated. No other inscription but this, and the names of 139 Confederate prison dead but it tells the story of one woman's faith and devotion to the cause she loved, and the recognition of her faithful work by the Daughters of the Confederacy. Daughters of the Confederacy, I can but feel that the Foraker bill, making an appropriation to care for our dead is the result of that report at Hot Springs, concerning the rebel graves in Arlington. From that day at Hot Springs until this bill passed, I never ceased to importune the government to care for these graves or rather to allow us to do it. From the fund reported in New Orleans, we have given to the following cemeteries at the North:

Johnsons' Island	$300.00
Madison, Wisconsin	400.50
Arlington, D. C.,	100.00
Alton, Ohio	165.00
Expense postage	5.00
Picture of Monument	1.50

My account is closed. My promise to bring home our dead was denied me. But I do feel that my work was not in vain, and that the Daughters of the Confederacy have honored themselves, in their efforts to rescue from oblivion the graves of our Confederate prison dead.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. N. V. RANDOLPH, Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MEDAL FOR MRS. M. C. GOODLETT.

Madam President, and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

It is my pleasure to report that the duty entrusted to me, as a committee of one, for the purchase of a suitable medal, or pin, as a testimonial to Mrs. M. C. Goodlett, "founder of the United Daughters of the Confederacy", has been conscientiously executed, and a beautiful and appropriate medal was sent to her, at a cost of forty dollars.

Mrs. Goodlett's appreciation of this gracious act of her "Daughters" was freely and fully expressed, and this tribute came to her when she was slowly recovering from a long and painful illness, which gave a peculiar and touching tenderness to this recognition of her service. In her letter of acknowledgement you will be gratified to know that she said, "It is an exquisite piece of workmanship, and is just what I should have selected, if I had been making the choice for myself."

In accordance with Mrs. London's motion, a letter was sent by your committee, expressive of "the love, reverence and appreciation of this Association, for the valuable service rendered by Mrs. Goodlett."

With a trust that this commission has been executed in a satisfactory manner,

Respectfully,

CORNELIA BRANCH STONE, Committee.

DIVISION REPORTS

ALABAMA DIVISION.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

In giving you my first report of the Alabama Division I would not be true to the love I bear "our cause" did I not tell you how keenly I regret not bringing in person Alabama's greetings and words of comradeship from her three thousand loyal loving Daughters.

Within the past year, we have gathered up the threads of much unfinished work, and assumed greater responsibilities. Eight years ago the Division commenced the raising of funds to put a monument upon one of the battle fields, now "National parks." Later Shiloh was selected for our first work. Last May saw the fulfillment of our efforts, and the presentation of this monument was made a glorious day for our Division.

At the last Legislature companion bills, the Monument Commission Bill and the Monument Appropriation Bill, were introduced and passed. The Monument Commission to be appointed by the Governor, of which he is a member, and the Commanders of Confederate Veterans, the Sons of Veterans and Daughters of the Confederacy and nine Confederate Veterans chosen by the Governor. The Commission has the power to locate monuments, to co-operate with persons and voluntary associations in erecting monuments. The companion bill was to make an appropriation to be expended under the direction and control of the Monument Commission. It appropriated $25,000.00 per annum, but it is contingent upon the ability of the State Treasury to stand it, and this is left with the Governor.

Now that these bills have passed and become laws, we hope that those who were at the "genesis" of the movement will further every endeavor to erect to Alabama's noble dead monuments at Salem Church, "The Crater," Vicksburg, Chicamauga and other historic spots.

In nearly every town in Alabama where chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy have been organized, monuments have been erected. Athens and Gadsden have but recently dedicated their monuments; Jasper is fast completing hers.

A new work has been assumed by our Division. A work that appeals to us all, as it will present from generation to generation exemplars of our holy cause, namely: The educating of a young man at our State University. Our beneficiary is the worthy son of a deceased Confederate Veteran.

The Jefferson Falkner Soldiers' Home has ever claimed our interest. Though the State's appropriation is generous, it is left to the Daughters to provide comforts and delicacies for the sick and suffering—many chapters sending large contributions.

Our C. of C. chapters are greatly interested in their efforts to establish a Lee Memorial, in the form of free scholarships. In this, they are aided and encouraged by the division.

The chapters are generously responding to obligations and the Chairman reports for Arlington Monument $86.50, for Wirz $17.00, for John H. Morgan, $8.50. All co-operative work in our Division is progressing finely, and the individual work of chapters is marked with great interest.

I respectfully call your attention to the following resolution introduced by Mrs. Rountree, and unanimously adopted at our last convention:

"The Alabama Division recommends to the United Division that the official demit require the name and record of ancestor from whom the member is descended, and that space for same be provided on demit."

In recounting the activities of our Division it is well to pause and pay tribute to our heroes who have fallen the last year. In quick succession death claimed a triad of Alabama's foremost and most masterful men—Falkner, Morgan and Pettus. Not only our State suffered in their decease, but the whole American people. Captain Jefferson M. Falkner never held any public office, State or Federal, but he was identified with every great financial, political, and moral movement in our State's history for two decades of time. In his private life, he was kind and gentle, always courteous, open to every charity, but the one closest to his heart was love for his comrades—our veterans.

To him Alabama owes the establishment of her Soldiers' Home. For many months it was sustained almost entirely by his contributions. A man of great strength of intellect, deep convictions and innate sense of honor and justice. His friends, and they are numbered by thousands, devotedly loved and trusted him. Those who differed with him respected him, never doubting his sincerity and the honesty of his purpose.

The fame of Senator Morgan as a great lawyer, orator, statesman, pure and incorruptible public man of comprehensive learning, deep, accurate research, is so universally admitted that eulogy would be a work of supererogation.

Senator Edmund W. Pettus was a most extraordinary man, physically, mentally, and morally. His very presence, majestic head and body, commanded absolute respect and confidence. He was a man of iron nerve and courage, massive intellect, original, perpendicular, his whole make-up was at right angles and formed a perfect square. His logic was on broad lines. He was like Charles James Fox, "full of honest strength." He loved truth for itself, and in its purest simplicity—he abhorred subterfuges and the gaudy trappings of rhetoric and sophistry. His eloquence was that of plain, unadorned truth, sterling integrity of purpose, undaunted courage of conviction. It was impossible for him to be otherwise than the personification of the uprightness of intellect, of sentiment and patriotism.

We cannot recall that any other State, in so short a time, suffered the loss of three such great and good men.

We fear "we ne'er shall look upon their like again."

Respectfully submitted,

MARY BILLINGSLEY BROWN.

ARKANSAS DIVISION.

From the land of the pine, the cotton field and the big red apple, two thousand loyal "Daughters" send greetings of love. Could you have been with me in our recent convention, you would need no words of mine to convince you that the work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Arkansas was in the hands of earnest, energetic women,—each chapter being interested in some special work.

Two of our chapters are building monuments, one is collecting funds for a memorial hall, and another for a bronze bust of Gen. Albert Pike, the poet, statesman and soldier. Many are engaged in beautifying the cemeteries, the sacred resting places of our beloved dead, while others realizing the importance of our historical work, are collecting books on Southern history and Southern literature. We boast of our Confederate choir, which has given several concerts of the music so popular in the days of the sixties.

-Prairie Grove Chapter, with a membership of sixty earnest workers, is trying to buy the Prairie Grove Battle Ground for a park; they need help in this very laudable enterprise and will appreciate any assistance given to them. The Batesville Chapter reported their monument to the sons of Independence County completed; it having been unveiled last May. In the cemetery at Little Rock we have erected a beautiful speakers stand of grey brick and concrete, which is also a memorial, containing a tablet, on which is inscribed the following lines, from Timrod:

"Stoop, angel hither from the skies
There is no holier spot of ground
Than where defeated valor lies
By morning beauty crowned."

Last but not least is the care and attention given to the veterans and their widows,—all assist in this work. The D. C. Govan Chapter is going to send the veterans from their county to the Reunion. A donation from the chapters generally is given each year for a Christmas fair at the Confederate Home and no more patriotic scene can be imagined than those old men, most of whom are in their second childhood gathering around a Christmas tree, happy as children in anticipation of the gifts in store for them,—fruits, candies, socks, handkerchiefs, with two or three dollars for each one, which he can spend as he pleases. Oh, Daughters let us do all in our power for the comfort and pleasure of this feeble remnant of what was once the grandest army the world ever saw. A few years more and they will all have passed over the river to rest under the trees.

Now a word about our recent State convention held in Little Rock, Oct. 23, 24 and 25. The number of delegates present was much larger than ever at previous meetings, showing an interest in our work. Many subjects of importance were discussed, one being the most suitable time for holding Memorial services,—after much argument pro and con, the Sunday nearest the 10th of May was decided upon, it being the wish of the veterans that we have it on Sunday. The chapter reports showed a most satisfactory year's work. The social features were many; two receptions were given,—one in a private home on Wednesday evening and another on Friday in our beautiful new hotel. The historical evening, the principle feature of which was our State Historian's report, was indeed a literary treat.

The closing event was a trip to the Confederate Home, five miles out of the city and a flag raising of "Old Glory" and the Stars and Bars of our own Confederacy.

MRS. ORLANDO HALLIBURTON,
President Arkansas Division, U. D. C.

CALIFORNIA DIVISION.

Madame President and Ladies:

The President of the California Division regrets that she cannot report a more prosperous year's work for the U. D. C. organization in this Division. She is sorry to announce that the Old Hickory Chapter has returned its charter. They struggled along with only twelve members for two years, until these faithful few grew discouraged and decided to give up the work. According to the General Constitution, the charter has been returned to the General Recording Secretary.

A Chapter named for General Joseph Brent has been organized at Pacific Grove. The increase in membership under its efficient President since its organization has been remarkable, and it bids fair to rank among our most successful chapters in good work.

All the Chapters are doing benevolent work, and contributing money towards the building of monuments to Confederate dead, and towards the education of the descendants of Confederate soldiers, who live in the South.

We hoped last year to provide the needy veterans in our midst with a home, but the Finance Committee wisely thought it best to send a letter to each chapter asking for an expression of opinion as to whether it would be best to establish a home for, or to provide a fund, for the relief of the old veterans. A majority of the chapters were in favor of a fund, and this will be carried out.

The circulating library, composed of books on Southern history and fiction, is a success, and is now at the command of any of the chapters desiring the use of the books.

The Relief Committee which held the funds for the U. D. C. sufferers of the earthquake at San Francisco, reported at the State convention, which was held at Pacific Grove on the first of May, that there remained on hand about fourteen hundred dollars. A motion was made that the five hundred dollars which had been sent to the California Division, be returned to Mrs. Williams, General Treasurer, as we had no need of the money—the amount remaining on hand being sufficient to meet our demands. This motion met with no opposition, and the money was returned with grateful thanks and appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. ALBERT M. STEPHENS,
President California Division.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA DIVISION.

Madam President-General, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

Five events mark the history of your District of Columbia Division during the past year: First, our annual convention on January 4th; second, the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Robert E. Lee; third, the departure of our delegates and members with the Confederate Veterans and Sons of Veterans for the grand Reunion at Richmond and the subsequent share of our Daughters in that wonderful demonstration; fourth, the visit of our President-General, which afforded great pleasure to the division and gave us the sense of personal contact with "the powers that be;" fifth, Memorial Day at Arlington.

Two of these events were of National importance, the Birthday Celebration and Memorial Day, and for this reason I may be pardoned for speaking of them specially. The Committee in charge of the Lee celebration—made up of Confederate Veterans, Sons of Confederate Veterans and Daughters of the Confederacy—departed from our usual custom celebrating the birthday in the hall of the Veterans, realizing that the occasion should be something more than a family affair; and, urged particularly by one of their number, Mr. Thomas Nelson Page, secured the largest and handsomest hall in the city, the large ballroom of the New Willard Hotel. Another of the Committee, the Reverend Doctor McKim, offered the services of his magnificent choir of the Church of the Epiphany to sing the hymns beloved of our Chieftain; and still another committeeman, the Honorable Hilary A. Herbert, ex-Secretary of the Navy, obtained the assistance of the Marine Band, the best of all the military bands of the United States. These two bodies of musicians, the choir, clothed in the solemn vestments of the church, and the Marines in gorgeous coats and trappings, rendered a musical program it would be difficult to surpass. The exercises were opened in well-chosen words by the Hon. Mr. Herbert. Then followed a beautiful invocation by the Reverend Roland Cotton Smith, Rector of St. John's Church (called the Church of the Presidents), a gentleman of northern birth and affiliations—this in the absence of Doctor McKim, who, with Mr. Page, had made, to our sorrow, engagements elsewhere. President Roosevelt expressed great regret to our Committee at his inability to be present. He also wrote a letter expressing this regret, adding as glowing a tribute to the life and character of our leader as the most loyal veteran who fought under him could have penned. The letter was read aloud to the audience and was greeted with tremendous applause. A speech then followed by that gallant soldier and statesman, Senator Berry of Arkansas, a ringing speech that made us want to hurrah for the Bonnie Blue Flag and the Southern Confederacy! Then came a scholarly eulogy from Justice David J. Brewer, probably the most eloquent orator on the Supreme Bench of the United States. After this, a talk by the Honorable John Sharp Williams, the like of which made him the leader of the democratic wing of the House of Representatives and has recently carried him into the Senate of the United States. Then came the presentation of Crosses of Honor, twenty-three in number, then the benediction, pronounced by the most Reverend Bishop of Washington, Henry Yates Satterlee, and the singing of America by the immense audience and the choir, accompanied by the Marine Band.

I wish each one of you might have been present to join in the "Rebel Yell," there in the capitol of the nation! The "yell," by the way, was led in most enthusiastic fashion by the President of this Jamestown Exposition, Mr. Harry St. George Tucker, many times during the evening. When I tell you that the 1,200 seats were filled by a distinguished company and that a throng of equally distinguished people stood, for lack of seats, during the entire exercises lasting two hours and a half, you can understand the enthusiasm which prevailed, and may pardon mine for consuming so much of your time in this description.

I will speak briefly of our beautiful Memorial Service at Arlington. It was of national importance in that the Committee of Confederate Veterans, who with us have charge of the occasion, assisted by a committee from the Sons and one from the Daughter: and this year by the Children of the Confederacy, were aided in every possible way by the government officials. These latter built, at the expense of the Government, the large platform upon which were seated our choir, our speakers and our distinguished guests. The same officials supplied the military band and contributed in many ways to the comfort of the vast crowd present. Flowers were sent from the White House, and the occasion was further graced by the presence of our President-General and by that of the President of the Southern Confederate Memorial Association and her soldier-husband, General Behan.

The District of Columbia Division is unique in that it typifies the National emblem, E pluribus unum. Our chapters, five in number, are made up of women from every section of the South, each woman as loyal to her own particular state as is our President-General to hers. I heard her say to President Roosevelt, "Yes Mr. President, but I am a Mississippian first, then a Southerner, and then an American citizen."

I hold in my hand the reports of four of the chapters of my Division. All of these are active, growing bodies, full of enthusiasm and ability. They have responded promptly and generously to all the objects presented to them in both the local and the general work of this organization.

The special object of the Stonewall Jackson Chapter, Mrs. Magnus S. Thompson, president, is the Arlington Confederate Monument. Mrs. Thompson is the mother of this movement among the Daughters, as she is their founder in the District of Columbia. We thank you for the honor conferred upon us in her election as one of your Honorary Presidents.

The Robert E. Lee Chapter, Mrs. J. Somerville Harris, President was organized for the purpose of raising funds for the Arlington Confederate Monument and has recently inaugurated another work, that of assisting the Confederate Veterans in purchasing a home which will also serve as headquarters for the other Southern organizations in the District.

The Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, Miss Mary Desha, president, has for its special mission the education of a young girl, both the daughter and the granddaughter of a Confederate soldier.

Beauregard Chapter, Mrs. Wm. Anthony Wayne, president, only organized in June last has already a membership of over sixty.

and is making its specialty the aiding of the families of needy Confederate soldiers.

Our Children of the Confederacy, Mrs. Arthur E. Johnson, Director, report $78.00 toward the Monument fund, $5.00 towards the Confederate Home with a balance of $16.16 in their treasury and at least $50.00 in sight from the expected sale of postal cards, souvenirs, etc.

If I have failed to impress you with the fact that your work is being well and faithfully done in District of Columbia, the fault is in me, not in the chapters who represent you there.

Respectfully submitted,
 JEANIE PATTERSON WALSH.

FLORIDA DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

Again I bring you cordial greeting from Florida's Daughters, and a brief report of our year's work.

We are growing in numbers slowly. Two new Chapters have been added to our State roster—John B. Gordon and Anna Dummitt—the latter in St. Augustine, Florida's "Ancient City," of quaint old traditions, and new palace hotels—with forty-one enthusiastic charter members, this chapter will make its impress on our Division work.

Three other chapters have recently applied for charters, and will soon be fully organized, and one, long dormant—Sewanee River Chapter—has been aroused, and promises to fall into the U. D. C. line again.

Five other chapters now on our roster are so silent, we have despaired of re-awakening, and will have to report as "hopeless," if no note of life comes before this year is over.

Two "Children's Chapters," organized as auxiliaries, by Pensacola and Marianna Chapters, respectively, with a membership of fifty, are reported as much interested in their monthly meetings and exercises.

Kirby Smith Chapter has taken initial steps along this line, and J. J. Finley has an auxiliary already organized, with twenty members.

The Division heartily endorsed this movement, and urged all chapters to endeavor to make it universal, for it realizes more and more that to perpetuate the keynote of our order, "Love and Memory," we must capture the children and the schools.

The chapters are all loyally interested in Confederate work, and respond to calls for aid wherever needed—nor is the social feature forgotten, as shown by frequent reports of "picnics," "dinners," and "receptions" to Veteran camps.

Martha Reid, our splendid charter Chapter, was hostess for the recent State convention, and prepared such a varied, charming program of pleasant functions, that delegates were in danger of forgetting that they had assembled for sober business.

Many chapters take up some special line. Kirby Smith gives this year one hundred dollars for scholarship in the State University, to a grandson of a Confederate Veteran, and pledges to do this yearly.

Martha Reid, Pensacola, Apalachicola, Anna Jackson, Stonewall, J. J. Finley, Joe Wheeler Chapters, give medals for the best essay on Confederate history, to students of public and high schools.

Pensacola writes: "The history medal, given annually by the chapter in grade eight, public school, was contested for by forty eight children, which means that forty-eight children, at least, have made a careful study of eight subjects of Southern history, selected by the chapter."

This chapter has secured and furnished a "Chapter room" for the use of their members, and of all the Confederate organizations in their city.

Apalachicola has given a handsome silk flag to her local camp of Veterans.

Dixie Chapter prevailed on Veterans to withdraw from the Blue and Gray, and form a camp of U. C. V., in their midst.

Several chapters are working for local monuments to their Confederate dead. Dickinson Chapter has fifteen hundred dollars for this purpose, and will unveil one on General Lee's next anniversary.

With but slight exception, the chapters have placed "markers" on all soldiers' graves in their several localities, and see that they are lovingly cared for.

But the dearest charge of all hearts is the Soldiers' Home," on the beautiful St. Johns, near Jacksonville. Liberal donations from every chapter, of money, clothing, books, and delicacies, attest this, and keep the Home comfortable and cheery.

At our last State convention, a delightful "afternoon tea" was served at the Home to delegates and visitors by the "Home Committee," much to the pleasure of both guests and the veteran inmates, who acted as the hosts of the occasion.

Religious services are held for them at the Home two Sabbaths in each month.

Recognizing the responsibility devolving upon the chairman of the Home Committee, our Division has made her office—heretofore appointive—elective, and she is now one of the State officers.

An increased dignity belongs to the soldier inmates of the Home.

also, as well as to its chairman—the freedom to spend their pensions as they individually please—and still remain in the Home.

This boon was suggested by the President of Patton Anderson Chapter, and a petition to that effect, signed by the "Daughters," was sent to our State Legislature, which granted it without a dissenting vote.

This legislature also made provision for a pension to every Confederate Veteran, and widow of Veteran, in Florida, who can make record of loyal service rendered the Southern Confederacy, and also appropriated fifteen hundred dollars for a monument to Florida's soldier dead, on Chickamauga battle ground.

The petition for this monument was also signed by our Daughters.

But our very own big battle field, Olustee, is still without its monument, owing to diverse wishes as to its most fitting site.

At our last State convention, our Division ratified the pledge of fifty dollars, made at Gulfport, for Arlington monument, and named a committee to do further work for this monument.

The chairman of the Shiloh Monument Committee reports a fair meed of success, and is sure of larger results later.

To the Regent's appeal at the last convention, the delegations responded with pledges of fifty-eight dollars for Florida room, Confederate Museum, in addition to their annual donations.

The celebration of General Lee's centennial birthday, was joined in by Daughters, Veterans, and "Sons," with impressive programs of music and oratory everywhere, and the attendance of the school children was made a special requirement, by a joint request of the Major General Commander of the Veterans, and the State President of the Daughters.

Memorial Day, always a sacred remembrance, was rather more accentuated than usual by addresses, bestowal of Crosses, music and procession of children bearing evergreens and flowers to the graves.

June third, in Richmond this year! Shall we ever forget it? Ever again feel our pulses throb with such proud, yet pathetic elation, as the splendid monument to our Confederate President was unveiled, amid the applauding shouts of enthusiastic thousands! Never! Never!

The Florida Division sent a handsome laurel chaplet, freighted with the love of all its Daughters, to do honor to the day. It also sent its President, its State Director J. D. M. A., its Regent of the Confederate Museum, many fair sponsors, and other Daughters from its ranks, to join in that wonderful parade—to enjoy the Veterans' reunion, and to garner up a wealth of beautiful memories for all time, from the Old Dominion's historic city.

Again the Reaper has been in our borders, and borne away rich sheaves. With Alabama, we lament the deaths of her two distinguished soldiers and statesmen—Generals Pettus and Morgan. Rich in intellect, stainless in honor, full of years and dignities, the South can ill afford their loss, even after their long life of unstinted service for her, and we can say of each, as was said of General Joe Wheeler by an eloquent churchman, "Today a Southern gentleman stands in the presence of his God to receive the 'well done' of long and faithful service."

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. SHELDON STRINGER,
President Florida Division, U. D. C.

GEORGIA DIVISION.

Madame President and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

Georgia comes to give you the glad hand, and to tell you what Georgia Daughters have done in the past year and what we hope to do in the future. The Wirz monument proposed two years ago through resolutions introduced at our State Convention by Mrs. L. H. Young, of Savannah, chairman, Miss Anna C. Benning, of Columbus, and Mrs. C. C. Sanders, of Gainesville, has become an assured fact. Under the able leadership of Mrs. A. B. Hull, our beloved retiring President, the work has steadily moved forward in spite of adverse criticism, so that we now have enough money in the treasury, together with outstanding pledges, to justify the erection of the monument, and we plan for its unveiling June 3, 1908 the one hundredth anniversary of Jefferson Davis' birthday.

Said Mrs. Hull in her recent report to the Georgia Division:

"We place the monument on land offered us in the town of Andersonville. It will be on Georgia soil, and cannot be construed into an act of retaliation or aggression, for, friends, we are not building this monument in a spirit of animosity, but simply to commemorate a man whose life was sacrificed for us, and who has been much maligned and misrepresented. We only bear witness to the truth, and with malice to none, place our memorial on our own soil and to our own dead. Let us do the work now while Mrs. Perrin the daughter of Capt. Wirz, well stricken in years, remains to enjoy the South's first public recognition of her father's unjust trial and condemnation."

And here let me place on record our deep appreciation of the Woman's Relief Corps, Grand Army of the Republic, whose President, as almost her last act upon earth, saw to the removal of unworthy and false statements on sign boards and posters in the prison park at Andersonville. With their removal goes one great cause of bitterness and resentment, and when our monument is raised we can say, "Well done," and pass on to other work.

It delights me to speak of our proposed girls' dormitory at Rabun Gap, in the Georgia mountains, a living memorial to Frances Bartow, and undertaken during Mrs. Hull's Presidency.

"The memorial is strikingly in keeping with the character of General Bartow," said one who was nearest to the illustrious Georgian. "He was always doing some good."

The motto on the flag of the Oglethorpe Light Infantry of Savannah, the company General Bartow led to Virginia in 1861, where he said "I go to 'illustrate Georgia,'" was "Not for himself but for others."

It was the motto General Bartow adopted as his own, and made the rule of his life. A memorial seeking to help Georgia mountain girls is surely in keeping with this broadly benevolent thought. "Not for ourselves, but for others," do we look through that Gap in the Georgia mountains, see its smiling valleys, its picturesque mountains, its great natural resources, and seek to help in its development. "Not for ourselves, but for others," do we work, when we heed the call of the children through that Gap in the Georgia mountains, calling, dear women of the South; not through their conscious need, but through our conscious knowledge of that need. We feel that Georgia's greatest riches lie in the development of her children, and we long to help in the education of these children, leading out the potentialities within them.

The cost of our dormitory has grown as we see the needs of the school. Nay, more, our study of the situation at Rabun Gap gives us the keenest interest in Mr. Ritchie, principal of the Rabun Gap Industrial School; himself a mountain boy, and struggling to place the school on a firm financial basis. He needs a fifty thousand endowment fund. The dormitory is the official work of the Georgia Division, but we would like to widen our circle of influence by individually interesting others to help Mr. Ritchie raise this essential endowment fund.

After all, what is money?—"Dust in the miser's chest, but streams of mercy flowing from rich men's hearts into poor men's homes."

We stand ready to co-operate with you in work for the Arlington monument. Our Georgia convention voted one hundred dollars as our first pledge to this work, and before it leaves our Division treasury we hope to add to this sum. The convention was favorable to Shiloh, when we can see our way to further contributions.

Georgia works well along historical lines. We have a medal committee and there are many competitors for the medal. The subject of study is always selected by the committee. We have also a splendid special committee whose business it is to prepare monthly historical programs for the use of the division chapters.

We claim, too, as being the direct result of her work as our U. D. C. State Historian, Miss Rutherford's "South in Literature," and commend it to you for examination by your State School Boards of Education.

Our organizer of Children of the Confederacy is earnest in her effort to develop this branch of our work. Our recent convention was notable for a greater number of young women in attendance than heretofore.

Our Recorder of the Cross of Honor has worked hard to untangle the skeins twisted about this new office, and has given 724 Crosses in the past year. We hope to work earnestly and to go forward along our various lines of endeavor.

ALICE BAXTER,
President Georgia Division, U. D. C.

CHICAGO CHAPTER.

Madam President, Ladies of the Convention:

Just one year ago the Stonewall Chapter organized and received its charter. Although young, we are a very enthusiastic and energetic chapter. Have during the year assisted in many cases of charity. We have given many entertainments, the proceeds of which we have in reserve for assistance for needy veterans. We have taken up the study of Southern Literature, which we find instructive as well as entertaining.

The 19th of January we celebrated the birthday of our noble Lee by an address by Judge Mason, of Louisiana now of Chicago; also had a musical program, including Southern songs—we love so well.

Memorial Day we were invited by Camp 8, Confederate Veterans of Chicago, to assist in decorating the Confederate monument at Oakwoods. How beautiful it was to see on that day the members of the G. A. R. Camp lay floral offerings on this monument, and in return our ladies scattered the jessamines sent from the South on the graves of their dead.

Our headquarters are at the Lexington Hotel. We meet once a month, and make it rather a social affair, as the chapters in the South have no idea how delightful it is for this band of truly Southern women to meet, having this noble cause as well as the Southern love of home to unite us.

We hope at the next convention we can enumerate many noble deeds of good work done by the Stonewall Chapter.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. JOHN WILLIS HEATFIELD,
President Stonewall Chapter, Chicago, Ill's.

INDIAN TERRITORY DIVISION.

Madam President and Ladies of the Convention:

I have the pleasure of bringing to you the love and labor of the Indian Territory Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. We have not buried our talent the past year, but return it with interest.

The Capt. Stanley Chapter was organized about August 1st with a membership of fifteen; their President representing them at our Division meeting in August.

Ada Chapter No. 259 has revived, paid two years' dues to the Territorial Division; also their per capita tax to the General Convention. We hope they will succeed, and take up some special work, as that always assures a chapter success.

We have been called upon to mourn with the Chickasaw Chapter No. 293 of Ardmore, in the loss of their beloved President, Mrs. Ben Carter, who was the life of their chapter, and who will be sadly missed by our Division. This chapter reports a good year's work. They have secured a piece of land for a Confederate cemetery, have planted five hundred trees, keeping them watered to assure their growth. The City Council kindly gave them $10.00 to pay for the surveying. On May 13th they bestowed Crosses of Honor. They have no debts, and are in good standing in their Division.

John H. Reagan Chapter No. 838, of Wynnewood, hold their regular monthly meetings, and have also held two social meetings, have given aid to several Confederate soldiers, and furnished cowers for funerals. They also assisted with the Solid South Room in Richmond.

The Governor Guy Chapter No. 321, of Davis, has been engaged in assisting a soldier to pay rent, grocery bills, etc., and has finally aided him to go to his family in Oklahoma. They have secured a good deal of Southern literature, also music, and hope to have a choir soon.

The Julia Jackson Chapter No. 564, of Durant, is very progressive. They devote their meetings to the study of both Southern and United States history. They paid their per capita to the Division, delegates' expenses to Gulfport, also defrayed expenses of delegates to McAlester convention. They observed General Lee's birthday, bestowed Crosses of Honor on several soldiers, and sent flowers to Camp Chase.

The Stonewall Jackson Chapter No. 40, of McAlester, is the mother Chapter of the Indian Territory Division, and an excellent parent. She is always so industrious and ready to aid others. They gave a reception on the birthday of General Lee. Memorial Day was observed on May 13th with proper ceremonies. They gave a very successful "Indian Dinner," realizing a handsome sum, also an ice cream social in the late summer which was a success. No call for aid is ever turned away from here.

Choctaw Chapter No. 614, of South McAlester, holds its meetings regularly. They observed General Lee's birthday with a reception, meeting with McAlester Chapter, which was most pleasing, as so many veterans were present. They raised quite a nice sum by giving a Musical Tea in the Masonic Temple, observed Memorial Day with appropriate ceremonies, and answered a number of calls for aid.

The Mrs. Robert E. Lee Chapter No. 1016, of Poteau, celebrated President Davis and General Lee's birthdays, on President Davis' birthday, bestowing twenty Crosses of Honor. Have regular monthly meetings with programs, have sent clothing, groceries and money to an old soldier and wife—the special charge of this chapter.

The Ida Harris Culbertson Chapter No. 956, of Kiowa, is very progressive. They report nine members; observed President Davis and General Lee's birthdays, gave a garden party to raise money for their treasury. Our beloved Honorary President, whose name the chapter bears, is the local President, hence assured success.

It is with pleasure that I report so much excellent work done by the Stephen D. Lee Chapter, No. 759, of Eufaula. Their membership is forty-six. Birthdays of Davis and Lee were properly observed. They bestowed several Crosses of Honor, assisted in a local division expenses, contributed to John H. Morgan fund, $2.50, secured sixteen subscriptions to "The Veteran." A site has been secured for a fountain in the main street to be erected soon. This Chapter has been given the honor of naming the $1,500.00 High School building. Veterans meet with the U. D. C. frequently. They are taking up the work of compiling a history of the war in the Territory.

General Joe Wheeler Chapter No. 919, of Wagoner, comes forward with an excellent report. They have purchased a lot in Elmwood cemetery to be dedicated to the memory of Confederate soldiers, have paid $35.00 to the Civic Improvement League for the care of Confederate graves, and contributed the following sums to the different calls:

Arlington Monument Fund	$20.00
Alton, Illinois, Cemetery Fund	3.50
U. D. C. Fund of California	5.00
Solid South Room, Richmond	4.00

The Chapter has furnished floral offerings to deceased members. Memorial exercises were held for President Davis, also General Lee. Memorial Day was observed by decoration of flags and flowers. They have bestowed eleven Crosses of Honor upon veterans of Camp No. 1348, U. C. V. They expected to hold a fair in October to raise funds for the Confederate Home.

The Colonel Wm. Adair Chapter No. 1001, comes to us from the historic old town of Talequah, nestling among the hills of the Ozarks, with a fine report of their year's work. They hold their regular meetings each month with a good attendance. They have studied Southern literature, devoting one meeting entirely to the part taken by the Cherokees in the war. They held a reception on General Lee's birthday, observed May 10 as Memorial Day, had a musical, to add to the treasurer's fund, and voted an annual donation to the Solid South Room in Richmond.

The Mrs. Stonewall Jackson Chapter No. 550, of Purcell, realized their hope of dedicating a fountain to the memory of the Confederacy, which they did on January 19th, General Lee's hundredth anniversary. Their work for the past year has been the support of an old soldier, paying board, room rent and clothing. This is done by the members contributing 25 cents per month. We sent flowers to Camp Chase, furnished flowers to all funerals of veterans near us, contributed to the monument fund at Dan ville, and a number of small donations to other funds.

Our Division meeting met with South McAlester Chapter on the 19th of August. We were royally entertained. This chapter also entertained the Oklahoma Division at the same time. Joint meetings were held and the question of amalgamation discussed.

Directions sent by Mrs. Vaught were considered, but as we could do nothing until Statehood was settled, the matter was referred to a committee of five from both Divisions. Said committee to meet as soon as the matter of Statehood was decided, to arrange for division of officers, constitution and by-laws. The meetings of the two Divisions were very harmonious, and we hope that good results will follow.

Respectfully submitted,

VIRGINIA COWAN WOODS,
President Indian Territory Division, U. D. C.

KENTUCKY DIVISION.

Madam President and Members of the Fourteenth Annual Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

The representatives of the Kentucky Division are here today to report a good work done within her borders during the past year; to honor the memories held sacred by this organization; and to support measures that may develop during this meeting, that will promote the lasting good of our "Noble Order."

That the Kentucky Division is growing is evinced by the reports submitted to the State Convention held at Paris, October the 9th and 10th. The Credentials Committee reported 177 votes and a larger number of delegates present than at any meeting in the past. Mrs. Jno. L. Woodbury, Recording Secretary, has added to the roster, since October, 1906, 171 new members. The report of the Treasurer, Mrs. F. S. Allen, shows only two delinquent Chapters; all obligations paid and a balance of $241.53 in the treasury. In addition to this, a growing fund, for a special purpose, now amounts to more than $100.00.

Mrs. Gray Gatlin Swan, Division Historian, reports increased zeal in historical work. During the past year under the direction of Mrs. Swan, the Chapters have collected "Personal Reminiscences of the Women of the '60s." These papers are sent to the State Historian and are published in the Year Book. The publication of such work has been a great incentive to the chapter. Though it makes the Year Book large and expensive, the good work accomplished along historical lines and the enthusiasm thus engendered justifies the added expense.

There is a significant tendency toward more systematic organization in our Division. Mrs. Nelly Steadman Cox reports that one of the two credentials blanks filled by the applicant is sent to the chapter, the other, as a matter of record, is kept by the State Registrar; the report further shows these files to be clear and accurate. Greater care is also taken by the chapter to properly fill these blanks before forwarding them to the State officers.

The most important new work accomplished at our October meeting is the interest taken in and steps taken to promote education. The plan of school betterment offered by the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs was endorsed by the convention. It was decided to identify the Division with school improvement work; to take advantage of every opportunity to place emphasis upon historical points neglected by most historians; to get in touch with the school children of the State, and especially endeavor to make the U. D. C. in Kentucky the State strongest educational leader. To strengthen this work a State Educational Committee was added to the list of standing committees.

The Division will, in the future, support a scholarship in the mountain school at Hindman, Ky.

The Division endorsed the action of the Lexington Chapter in the removal from public schools of that city a historical work that grossly misrepresented General Morgan.

Mrs. Wm. Batesman, Chairman of the Committee on the Monument to General Morgan and his men, at the recent convention reported the following funds: Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, Louisville, $1,077.92; Lexington Chapter, $403.85; from district chairman and other sources, $1,088.76; Lexington Chapter Emergency Fund, $74.00, making a total of cash in hand, $2,644.53. The following pledges have been made: Lexington, $144.00; Louisville, $875.00; Shelbyville, $75.00; Nicholasville, $170.00; Lawrenceburg, $200.00; Cincinnati, $50.00; total, $1,534.00. Making the total of cash and pledges amount to $4,178.53, secured during the past year. This monument is Kentucky's first great co-operative work, and already it is bearing fruit, for during the coming year the Chapters will co-operate in an effort to remove Thalheimer's History from the public schools of the State, substituting, if possible, the works of — Chambers, known as the Hansell Series.

We of the Kentucky Division have before us a mammoth work in the nature of a State Bazaar, to be held in Louisville, for the benefit of the monument to General Morgan and his men. The chapters have pledged their support, and we anticipate the success that co-operation is sure to bring upon this occasion. We hope our shop will contain a large line of gaily lingeries, substantial wearing apparel, fancy articles and even home made jelly, preserves and pickles. The fact that such interest is felt in the bazaar prompted the committee to postpone the event from December, 1907, until December, 1908, giving the chapters more time to plan and prepare their contributions.

Three new chapters have been added to Kentucky's ranks since our last report; the E. M. Bruce Chapter, of Covington; the Arlington Chapter, of Arlington, and the Edmonia Roberts Chapter, of Lebanon. Under the direction of the new Executive Board elected at Paris, I bespeak successful work for these infant chapters.

The Standing Committees serving the Kentucky Division are. The Committee on Monument to General Morgan and his men; Transportation, Stationery, Historical, and the recently added Educational Committee. The "Select Committees," Essay, Auditing and the Sun Parlor reported finished work at the October convention. It was decided to add a Jurisprudence Committee to the list of Select Committees next year.

Marking Confederate graves is the absorbing local work of many Kentucky chapters and at present twelve Confederate monuments are being built in the State, one having been completed during the past year. Seven of these monuments now under construction are in the extreme western counties of the State, where much good work for the cause is evident.

During the year Kentucky has surrendered to the hands of death some valued members—among the number our faithful worker, Mrs. T. L. Burnett, of Louisville, the ardent supporter for years, of Shiloh monument work in Kentucky, and later, Mrs. John C. Breckinridge, the wife of Kentucky's gallant General, was called home, after a long life filled with good work.

The Division has built, for the comfort and pleasure of the soldiers, a Sun Parlor, costing $160.00, at the Confederate Home. Mrs. Nelly S. Cox, chairman of the committee overlooking the work, reports the amount paid in full, the chapters having liberally contributed to the fund. Twenty-five dollars has been paid in prizes to Kentuck children under sixteen years of age, for the best essay on the "Causes That Led to the War Between the States." Fifty dollars has been given by the Division to the Daughters of Georgia for the monument to the memory of Maj. Henry Wirz.

On January 19th, June 3rd, and October 8th, the anniversary of the sanguine battle at Perryville, the bestowal of the Cross of Honor, still an important factor in our work, is observed with appropriate ceremony. The report of the Recorder of Crosses shows that many of these iron mementoes have been presented since October, 1906. The number is smaller than it would have been had there been less difficulty in securing the Crosses.

Mrs. Mattie Bruce Reynolds has, for many years, worked faithfully among the Confederate children in Kentucky. There are now five chapters in the State, and she hopes soon to have a division fully organized.

The Kentucky Division was represented by a large delegation at the unveiling of the Jefferson Davis Monument on June the 3rd, and on this occasion placed a handsome floral design on the base of the bronze statue of the great Kentuckian; a loving tribute from the people of his native State.

On May the 7th it was the privilege of the President of the Kentucky Division and three enthusiastic Daughters of the Col. Tom Johnson Chapter, of Princeton, to participate in the unveiling of the Alabama Confederate monument on the battle field of Shiloh. My friends, this work of the Alabama Daughters clearly proves what can be done, without legislative appropriation, and I hope ere long not a Confederate State will be found wanting in the Shiloh memorial work. With pride I recall that day; with appreciation I acknowledge the recognition accorded my native State when the honor of being orator of the day was given the man upon whom the marshall cloak of the peerless Morgan fell, that brave Kentuckian, Basil W. Duke.

The officers elected at the convention in October and under whose able direction the affairs of the Kentucky Division will be conducted during the coming year are:

Mrs. Wm. Talbot, of Paris, President.

Mrs. M. B. Reynolds, First Vice-President.
 Mrs. Polk Prince, Second Vice-President.
 Mrs. Mary D. Bond, Third Vice-President.
 Mrs. John L. Woodbury, Recording Secretary.
 Miss Lucy Colville, Corresponding Secretary.
 Mrs. F. S. Allen, Treasurer.
 Mrs. Carrie Durrett, Registrar.
 Mrs. J. C. Bean, Chaplain.
 Mrs. Robt. Soaper, Vice-Chaplain.
 Mrs. Warren Swan, Historian.

It is a privilege to present so capable a body of women and a pleasure upon retiring, to know that no matter what the burdens and responsibilities of this organization may become, Kentucky is fortified with a corps of officers that will support every good endeavor and will add strength to the "United Daughters."

Respectfully submitted,

MAY M. FARIS MCKINNEY,
 President Kentucky Division, U. D. C.

LOUISIANA DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Louisiana Division has, since the general convention at Gulfport, passed an uneventful year, as far as general public State work is concerned.

The State President reported her impressions of the proceedings at Gulfport, with the regret that owing to crowding in of important matters late in the term, many items of interest to Louisiana were hurried over or omitted. The various chapters are pursuing their respective local work, all uniting in division interest and in co-operating with the veterans.

The Soldiers Home of Louisiana is the constant object of their loving care, gifts and entertainments being constantly provided for the inmates, through the State Custodian.

The four official dates in Louisiana for bestowal of Crosses are always observed by some, if not all, the chapters. Great disappointment has been felt this year on account of chapters not being warned that it was impossible to obtain Crosses in time for distribution, and as Louisiana is an agricultural State, full of rural communities, often the old men come in to the celebration at great fatigue and inconvenience to meet disappointment. New Orleans Chapter No. 72, maintains a small benevolent fund, used for emergency cases for needy Confederate soldiers and their families. Of late several calls have been made upon it, for old negroes, whose friends claim for them service in the Confederate army, whereas any such claim has yet to be substantiated. They are probably body servants, having served their masters faithfully, but while the ladies contrive outside aid, they do not feel justified in using chapter funds. This is dwelt upon, as owing to the cheapness of winter rates, and the attraction of our great free hospital, many calls are made upon the fund which its custodian must ignore.

The four annual celebrations, January 19, April 6, June 3rd, September 25th, are the occasions of historical research, addresses, poems and old songs, as well as original papers, and are open to the public. The Beauregard monument is the chapter work and having modestly held back last year, the chapter, heartily endorsed by the State, will present in due season a request to this convention. On January 19th, New Orleans had the grandest possible Lee celebration. The Lee Centennial Committee donated to the State President 1,200 copies of a leaflet, containing besides a portrait of General Lee, the hymns and extracts, farewell address, etc., suitable for the celebration, to be distributed throughout the U. D. C. This was done by sending to each State President a number of copies corresponding to numbers of chapters in her Division; the success of this may be an argument in favor of the amendment from Louisiana in respect to the General Order dealing with the Division officers and they with their chapters. In January a beautiful program was prepared on the occasion of presenting Mrs. Goodlett's portrait to Memorial Hall. Colonel Chalaron delivered a eulogy upon receiving it for the hall, and the portrait, the only one of a woman in the hall, was hung in the fire-proof annex, where are gathered the Davis relics. As it is noted that suggestions have been made recommending naming of schools for Confederate heroes, New Orleans would again beg to state that she has done this years ago, and already so reported. The names are Davis, Lee, Beauregard, Allen, Benjamin, Rogers, Semmes. Portraits are presented, birthday anniversaries with appropriate addresses are faithfully observed. The Katie Cabell Currie Chapter, of Napoleonville, though small in numbers, is always among the first to respond to calls, from within or without. Their report shows active work done in benevolent, memorial and educational lines. Shreveport Chapter, of Shreveport, has entertained the State reunions, U. C. V., and has observed the memorial days appointed. Mildred Lee Chapter, of Thibodeaux, pursues its quiet course, keeping well in line. Madison Infantry, of Tallulah, is raising funds to build a Confederate monument, while not neglecting other duties. They awarded two silver medals for essays on General Lee. In justice to New Orleans Chapter, I should say here that they have offered medals, but the rules of the public schools do not permit their acceptance.

The Edward Sparrow Chapter, of Lake Providence, also gave medals for an essay on Lee, and faithfully performing its duties to living and dead Confederates. The Camp Moore Chapter, of Tangipahoa, has been largely instrumental in securing and maintaining the Confederate Cemetery Park at Camp Moore, and in erecting the monument, unveiled in October. Joanna Waddill Chapter, of Baton Rouge, entertained the State Convention in May, when their Chapter President, Miss McGrath, was elected Division President. This chapter shows an interesting list of Confederate books in the public library of that city, which they organized and maintain. On the 19th of January, this chapter holds appropriate exercises, and gives a banquet to the veterans and their wives and daughters. They answer to all calls made upon them, and contribute to monuments and other good works. They have inaugurated a musical and literary program at the conclusion of each regular monthly business meeting, and on each occasion a paper is read giving a sketch of some famous local character of Confederate fame, thus keeping on file in their library a history of events of that historic time.

Hubert Treille Chapter, of Donaldsonville, Clinton Chapter, of Clinton, Monroe Chapter, of Monroe, Iberville Chapter, of Plaquemine, Blue Cross and J. M. Craig, of Amite, T. O. Moore Chapter, of Alexandria, West Feliciana Chapter, of St. Francisville, William Walker Chapter, of Winfield, Fitzhugh Lee, of New Orleans, Jackson East Feliciana Chapter, of Jackson, all are active workers, either raising monuments in their own towns, or assisting a neighboring chapter. All do constant benevolent and educational work. Plaquemine Chapter, of Plaquemine, has secured a chapter room, and is building a tomb for veterans and erecting a monument. The Mansfield Battle Park is under the special direction of the Kate Beard Chapter of Mansfield, which is bravely keeping up its work, besides marking the graves of each soldier. Clinton and Mansfield Chapters observe a Memorial Day in April for sacred local reasons. All the other chapters in Louisiana observe June 3rd as Memorial Day, decorating graves and monuments. Mouton-Gardner Chapter presented an oil portrait of General Gardner for the Louisiana room in Richmond, a companion piece to the one of General Mouton, given two years ago.

Louisiana Division protests against any idea of taking May 30th as Memorial Day. If for no other reason that in our section it is the day on which the stream of negroes pervades the streets and roads, as a large number of negro men claim to have been in the U. S. army, and countless followers attend them.

The Division is preparing to erect within her own borders six monuments; several have recently been completed. They will do their duty by the various Battle Parks, Shiloh, Vicksburg and others. Mansfield invites the interest of Arkansas, Texas and Missouri, whose troops participated in that victorious day, April 8th, 1864. Every assistance will be given to the Northern States which may desire to mark graves or other spots. At the suggestion of our President-General, the President of Louisiana Division has appointed a committee to work up interest over the State for building monuments. This committee will communicate with the Senators and Representatives in each parish, and will appear before the Legislature in May, urging a large appropriation for monumental purposes.

MATTIE B. McGRATH,
President Louisiana Division.

MARYLAND DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Maryland Division, through its various chapters, is pleased to report its steady progress, healthy increase in membership, and liberal dispensing of relief.

The Daughters of the Confederacy in the State of Maryland, (Baltimore Chapter No. 8) of which Mrs. John P. Poe is President, has undertaken no large work during the past year, but has kept up its regular work steadily and effectively. It now has 740 members, and from this large number various committees accomplish its numerous undertakings. Last fall there was a sale to augment the Charity Fund, which was inadequate to the demands made upon it, and from this sale was realized $499.40. About $300.00 have been given during the year to needy applicants in the chapter's midst who have drawn upon it as Southerners.

The Confederate Veterans' Home at Pikesville, under the care of the Association of the Maryland Line, is largely supported by a generous appropriation each year from the Legislature of Maryland, but General Bradley T. Johnson, the first President of the Association, feeling the need of woman's touch and voice, appointed a Board of Lady Visitors, whose duty it is to care for the sick and suffering in the infirmary and to add to the comfort of the inmates of the Home. Ever since the formation of this board, a committee has been appointed each month from the Daughters of the Confederacy in Maryland to visit the Home; and, each year, six bountiful dinners are provided there, namely: Thanksgiving, Christmas, January 19th, February 22nd, Easter Sunday and July 4th, but the latter dinner was discontinued by the chairman for that month and, at the request of the old men, the amount divided among its Sundays to supply ice cream, cake and fruit. In addition, the inmates of the hospital are tenderly cared for and supplied with the delicacies they desire. The cost of this is about $300.00 a year, not estimating the gifts of the individual members of each monthly committee. A fete is held at the Home on June 3rd, which is a great source of pleasure to the old Confederates, who are generously cared for at that time. In addition the hospital is provided with linen from year to year.

Crosses of Honor are bestowed upon the Veterans January 19th and June 3rd, with appropriate ceremonies.

The Maryland room in the Confederate Museum in Richmond is always cared for by the Daughters of Maryland. This year larger contributions were needed owing to the crowd drawn to Richmond. The amount contributed was $65.00.

On Memorial Day, June 6th, large numbers of Daughters go to Loudoun Park Cemetery to strew flowers on the graves of our dead and join in the services held under the auspices of the Army and Navy of Maryland.

The care of the graveyards where rest the Confederate dead ever appeals to the chapter.

July 4, 1876, the monument erected by the State of Maryland to the Confederate soldiers who died in the Federal prison at Point Lookout was unveiled. The monument consists of a granite shaft, quarried in Baltimore county, and beneath it repose the remains of 3,004 soldiers of the Confederate armies, representing all the States that composed the Confederacy. The number of soldiers from the different States, whose bones repose beneath the monument, are:

Virginia, 640; North Carolina, 972; South Carolina, 248; Georgia 249; Alabama, 75; Tennessee, 63; Louisiana, 38; Mississippi, 42; Florida, 31; Kentucky, 18; Texas, 6; Maryland, 6; Arkansas, 4; Missouri, 4; unknown, 618; total, 3,004.

The committee in charge of the monument and graves accepted an offer made recently by the Daughters of Maryland to have the monument and graves in this cemetery put in perfect order, and Mr. James Hall, of the old committee, was appointed to take charge. He reports that everything is being thoroughly attended to, and by spring will be in order. The cemetery will then be cared for by the Daughters of the Confederacy in Maryland.

The religious services of the centennial of Gen. Lee's birth were held in old St. Paul's. The large church was crowded, and the services solemn and impressive. In the afternoon the Army and Navy held memorial services in a large theatre, Senator Daniel being the orator. The Daughters of Maryland attended in large numbers.

The Annapolis Branch of the Baltimore Chapter, under the active and able chairman, Mrs. Robert Bowie, never fails to respond to the calls of the Mother Chapter, and, though only few in number, has contributed $30.00 to the different works of the Chapter, besides aiding in various other ways.

During the past year a board of the Daughters of the Confederacy has taken under its special care the Confederate Women's Home, in Baltimore, there having been trouble with the old managers, and the State appropriation withdrawn. This board has worked most nobly to support the Home. Its members, through their untiring efforts, have realized $1,028.00 exclusive of donations of provisions, fuel, furniture, and wearing apparel in abundance. All honor should be given those who have made a happy home for the Confederate widows and mothers.

The Harford Chapter, No. 114, Mrs. E. H. D. Pue, President, celebrated the centennial of the birth of Gen. Robert E. Lee by a reception tendered by its President to the members of the chapter. General Lee's favorite hymns were sung and suitable readings given. Delegates were sent to the Baltimore celebration.

The chapter contributed $5.00 to the Arlington monument fund, $5.00 to the Maryland room in Richmond, and sent flowers to the extent of $10.00 to the funerals of veterans.

June 3rd was celebrated as Memorial Day, and the graves of the Confederate dead scattered throughout Harford county were decorated by delegations from the chapter.

The fund for the erection of a memorial to the men of Harford who wore the gray, grows slowly, but it is hoped next year to add materially to it.

A barrel of provisions was sent to the Home for Confederate Women in Baltimore.

The Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, No. 279, Mrs. E. C. McSherry, President, has cared for the families of Confederate veterans in destitute circumstances by providing fuel, provisions, medicines, and in extreme cases, paying house rent. In several instances a nurse was sent to assist in illness and in two cases of death the chapter paid for the last services rendered the dead.

White marble stones have been placed as markers of Confederate graves which were marked by boards in a church burying ground; and in Mt. Olivet cemetery the graves of those who died wearing the gray are marked by stones, cared for, and kept up by the chapter. There are many unknown dead in Mt. Olivet and for them was erected the first Confederate monument to the unknown dead of the Confederacy.

Through the chapter, two little boys, sons of veterans who died in abject poverty, were placed in an industrial school where they are being educated and trained. Their only relative, an aunt, has been most grateful to the chapter for the work done in the boys' behalf.

On June 3rd every year the Daughters and Veterans, escorted by the High School Cadets, have services in the two cemeteries where the Confederate dead are buried. After the services, each grave is profusely decorated with flowers, and a special committee sees that the graves of Veterans and Daughters who are buried in private lots in these cemeteries are decorated at the same time. The flowers are sent in such profusion that a large conveyance is required to take them to the cemeteries, and each and every one present loves to strew them on the graves, thinking always of those who would like to do so if they only knew where their loved ones lay.

The Fitzhugh Lee Chapter gives annually $25.00 to the Confederate Veterans' Home at Pikesville, and during the past two years has assumed the care of the Robert E. Lee room at the Home, as those who had taken charge of it were unable to do so longer.

Ten dollars was sent for a flag to the Maryland room in Richmond, and $5.00 for a strawberry treat to the veterans at the Pikesville Home.

The chapter assumed the expense of removing the Confederate soldier buried in the year '62 in the church graveyard at Braddock, Md., this graveyard being no longer used, the remains were brought to Frederick and placed with the Confederate dead in Mt. Olivet cemetery, and the grave of the re-interred body was marked by a marble stone inscribed with the name—Damascus Wetherly, Sergeant, C. S. A., Homesville, Alder County, Ga. The removal and marking of the grave was most gratefully done by the Fitzhugh Lee Chapter.

The work of the Frank A. Bond Chapter, No. 370, Mrs. P. Alexander Hammond, President, for the past year has been a noble one, that of assisting in the maintenance of the Confederate Women's Home in Baltimore. The expenses for each month of the Home are met by a chairman and committee selected from the board., October fell to the Frank A. Bond Chapter, and at the close of the month it was found no less than $100.00 had been expended.

Memorial days have been observed, and all expenses incident to the chapter paid.

The Cecil Chapter, No. 478, Mrs. G. S. Woolley, President, though still in its infancy, and with comparatively few members, has done good work. It has responded liberally when called upon for aid by its sister chapters, having during the past year contributed to the Memorial window in the Maryland room at the Confederate Museum in Richmond, and to a number of monument funds. Regular monthly meetings are held, and the birthdays of President Davis and Generals Lee and Jackson celebrated.

Respectfully submitted,

CORDELIA POWELL ODENHEIMER,
President Maryland Division, U. D. C.

MEXICO CITY.

The Father Ryan Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy of Mexico City was organized in May, 1905, by a small band of loyal Southern women. At the first meeting there were just seven that it takes to organize a chapter; now we have twenty-five good loyal members, with quite a number on the applicant list.

As far as we know, the Father Ryan Chapter of Mexico, is the only Chapter of the U. D. C. in a foreign country, and we feel very proud of it.

Our first President was Madame Dellagado, a most charming and interesting woman, she having lived in Mexico during the reign of Maximillian, and was lady-in-waiting to the Empress Carlotta. On account of ill health she sent in her resignation last April, at which time the First Vice-President, Mrs. Frank Webb, was asked to fill her place until our regular election in October.

In October Mrs. Manuel Vera-Estanol was elected President, and a very capable officer she is going to make. We feel under her leadership that we will grow very rapidly.

In the past we have had rather a hard struggle keeping the chapter going. There are many reasons why it is difficult to keep the interest of the members aroused in a foreign chapter. In the first place, we have not the incentives to keep us interested that the chapters here in the States have.

We have very few veterans, and there are none in Mexico that we know of who are not well able to care for themselves. We have no cemeteries to look after, and, I am glad to say, we have no charities to worry us, for the Southerners who live in Mexico are, as a rule, all hard working, self-respecting people. We also have in the Southern colony many people of wealth, and I believe the wealthiest American in the Republic is a Georgian. We are proud of our Southern colony.

Another reason why we have to struggle to keep alive is that our people come and go at such a rapid pace. Every few months we have to revise our membership list on account of so many leaving the city for other parts of the Republic or the States.

From this you can readily see that we have no easy time keeping the chapter together. Recently we have come to the conclusion that the principle cause of much of our trouble has been the loose manner in which the chapter has been run. Before we knew it we were drifting at a rapid rate on to a very dangerous snag. It was just when trouble developed that we realized how very ignorant we were, so then and there we began to educate ourselves in matters pertaining to the successful running of a chapter. The affairs of the chapter had become very much tangled, but by careful, persistent work, everything is now in first class working order, and we hope to keep them in good shape.

We have never done any studying until our last meeting when we began a course in history. We feel the need of refreshing our minds, as well as, the minds of some of our northern friends on many questions in regard to the South's place in history; not so much in regard to the history of the late War Between the States, as to what the southern men and women did in the colonial days on through the revolution up to the present.

Last winter I was talking to a lady from New York, who claims to be a graduate of one of the largest and best colleges in the United States. The conversation drifted to the U. D. C. and our chapter, and she wanted to know what we did at our meetings. When I told her we were going to study colonial history and particularly that part relating to the south, how much we did in the war of the revolution and the making of this great country. She asked: "What the South had to do with that war?" The only reply I could make to such a question, was to ask her where Washington, Jefferson and Patrick Henry were from. Where Cornwallis surrendered. What she knew of the Mecklenberg Declaration of Independence, and if she had ever heard of Francis Marion, as well as many others.

Now in a foreign colony where every one knows every one else we often and often have many such silly questions asked us, so for this reason to me it seems that the best work we can do is to study the history of our beloved southland so that we can answer all such questions fairly and truthfully. We of the chapter are trying to set straight the minds of our northern friends who live in Mexico who ask us questions of such character.

I am glad to say that the Father Ryan Chapter has done a great deal of good in many ways, and it is looked upon by the American Colony as a body of women who represent all that is good and true, and as one of our brightest members has said, "We have taught our Northern friends in Mexico many facts about American history that they did not know." I am sure that we will continue the good work.

It was in the "Land of the Aztec" that our beloved Lee first won his spurs. It was there that he, Davis and Semmes fought side by side with men and friends whom afterwards they faced as foes in the long and bitter struggle of the War Between the States.

Not very far from Chapultepec Castle and Molina del Rey, where two of the bloodiest battles between our soldiers and the Mexicans were fought, is the American National Cemetery, in which are buried the American soldiers who were killed in those two battles—also the members of the G. A. R. who have died in Mexico. In recent years the American government has permitted the burying of Confederate veterans in this cemetery, and we have seven resting there. The government also permits the members of the veterans' immediate families to be buried there.

On the 30th of last May the G. A. R. invited the Father Ryan Chapter to join them in their memorial services and in decorating the graves, which invitation we accepted. This was the first time since our organization that they had extended us an invitation.

Living in Mexico are several veterans who went there at the close of the War Between the States with General Beauregard when he went to offer his services and his followers' to the French to fight against the Mexicans. Many of these men remained in Mexico and as a rule have done well. We have also living there a niece of General Beauregard and a son of Admiral Semmes.

Madam President, the principal reason why I was sent to this convention was to get information as to how to run a chapter successfully. We are too far away to attend any of the state conventions and we have never had a representative at the general convention, so we are all at sea as to how other chapters are run. I will appreciate any information or advice that any member of this convention can and will give me. I have come here to learn. We are not connected with any state organization and prefer to remain independent. We hope in a few years to have chapters in other cities of Mexico.

JOSE STANFORD,
1st Vice-President.

MISSISSIPPI DIVISION.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy of the Fourteenth Annual Convention:

Actuated by an honest, upright, honorable, conscientious ambition to be foremost in all things born of love for the good of the cause bequeathed to us to memorialize, the Mississippi Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, bearing to you whole soul expressions of greeting and good will, renders to you its report, leaving you to judge what place she has attained to in your ranks. The Mississippi Division boasts seventy-seven chapters with a membership of two thousand eight hundred and ten daughters, seven of these chapters having been organized since the last General convention. It has been my pleasure to approve two of these chapters since my election as president of the Division last May, and to sign one hundred and twenty-three certificates of membership. Not alone have we progressed in members, but especially in an educational and memorial way have we advanced. At our last annual convention we established two free scholarships—one for a girl, the lineal descendant of a Confederate soldier, sailor or statesman, at the I. I. & C., Columbus, Miss., and one for a boy, the lineal descendant of a Confederate soldier, sailor or statesman, at Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss. Three chapters are each maintaining a scholarship, showing to you we daughters of Mississippi carve monuments in minds and souls as well as stone and marble. The resolutions I shall read to you later, at the same time asking your co-operation, further shows our educational strides. Most of the public schools in our State are named for Confederate Generals. Twenty chapters have either built or are building monuments to the Confederate dead of as many counties. Our Soldiers' Home at Beauvoir, our pride, is in a most flourishing and satisfactory condition. Our great work at present is building a chapel there. This under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Hunter Southworth Kimbrought assures us a most successful undertaking. The Division purchased the flag of the First Mississippi Regiment in the war with Mexico, paying $250.00 for it. The official organ, "Our Heritage," and I believe my Division the only one with its own official paper, an instrument in a sphere far above a "sordid commercialism" has reached "the promise of better things to come" and its influence for good is felt throughout the state.

I am glad to stand today in your midst on Virginia soil, in whose bosom lie sleeping the remains of more Confederate dead than any other state of the Union, the burial place of our lone and only president of the Confederacy, its mother and its daughter, in the shadow of the Jefferson Davis monument, in the commonwealth that gave birth to one of the purest and greatest men the world has ever known, Robert Edward Lee, a man of whom Lord Wolseley said "I have met many of the great men of my time, but Lee alone impressed me with the feeling that I was in the presence of a man who was cast in a grander mould, and made of different and finer metal than all other men. He was a Caesar without his ambitions, Frederick without his tyranny, Napoleon without his selfishness and Washington without his reward"—gentle as a woman in life, pure and modest as a virgin in thought. Under such inspiration, I am sure this will be the most successful of the fourteen annual conventions, U. D. C.

DAISY McLaurin Stevens,
President Mississippi Division, U. D. C.

MISSOURI DIVISION.

Fresh from a most enthusiastic, harmonious and altogether delightful State Convention, the two thousand United Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri send greetings to all their sister states in convention assembled, wishing them a profitable and pleasant time together in Norfolk, one of the most beautiful cities of historic and hospitable Virginia. In a state like Missouri, where Confederate colors and flags are seldom seen, we were proud of the privilege at our convention, of displaying the "stars and bars," in the beautiful silken folds of four large, handsome Confederate flags. While numerous smaller ones decorated the walls of our hall, representing the battle flag and others. One real flag was held up on the platform that every one might behold a confederate flag that had seen service in battle. This flag, while intensely interesting in itself, was shown by a more interesting living representative of the Confederacy of Missouri, a sweet, little, elderly lady, Mrs. General Joe Shelby. The tears of joy and sorrow both stood in her eyes as she held it, and it was a question which was most cheered the flag or the dear little lady.

At this Convention which met at the State Capitol, we had the honor of using for the first time, in our State, as an opening service, the beautiful U. D. C. ritual, which we recommend to all State Divisions as an impressive manner in which to open their Conventions.

The Missouri Division is increasing both in numbers and the loyalty, patriotism and enthusiasm of its members. Almost all chapters throughout the division are wide awake to every Confederate interest. The centennial of the birth of our peerless leader, Gen. Robert E. Lee, was celebrated in many chapters, by impressive and appropriate ceremonies. The chapter of Kansas City held a handsome banquet in honor of the occasion. We hope this year, to give the celebration of the centennial of the birth of President Davis, the attention, which the dignity and greatness of the subject demands. Our women are ready for every good work. A small chapter at West Plains, rode many miles in wagons to bestow thirty-three crosses of honor on as many veterans, who lived off the railroad in adjoining counties. By this act they made happy many a brave soldier and displayed some of the heroism of their mothers during the sixties. In this day and age, a tiresome wagon ride over rough roads, is not sought after by many. The St. Louis Chapters have undertaken to build a fifty thousand dollar monument in that city to Confederate soldiers and sailors. They have the sum of $10,000 to represent their first year's work. A young chapter at Keytesville has started a fund for a monument to Gen. Sterling Price and his gallant Missouri men. Annually we offer a prize of a handsome silk Confederate flag for the best paper on a confederate subject, to be selected by the State Historian, Mrs. G. W. Hyde, of Lexington, Mo., carried off the flag this year. The subject of her most excellent paper was, "The Causes of the War, and the Part Missouri Played in the Conflict." The division will publish one thousand copies of this paper for distribution. Thus we disseminate true and impartial history. The generosity of Mrs. W. D. Johnson of Kansas City, furnished the prize. We find this annual contest a great impetus to serious study of facts about the war between the states.

An interesting feature of our Conventions is the Historical Program, presided over by the State Historian, Chairman of the historical committee and chairman of reminiscence committee. We set aside an afternoon or evening for this program, and always have read many valuable papers. We have in prospect, a book entitled "Women of the Sixties." It promises to be a work of which the Missouri division will be proud. When it is completed we will take pleasure in furnishing a copy to each daughter of the Confederacy, in our sister states. It will contain reminiscences of great value and interest from the women of the sixties, who are rapidly passing away. We also propose publishing a history of the Missouri Division, U. D. C. to date. The Kansas City Chapters are doing good work on this line. So much for history.

Many chapters are turning their attention to education. Two chapters of St. Joseph are actively engaged in this work. They are sending to school unfortunate descendants of confederate soldiers enabling them to obtain an education, so necessary in our day to respectability, good citizenship and success in life. After all the greatest charity is helping the living. It cannot be practiced too much, or too highly recommended. Such deeds will last when monuments have crumbled into dust, and their influence will go down the ages, telling to children's children the story of the benevolent work of the Daughters of the Confederacy. No needy Confederate soldier ever presents an appeal to us and is turned away empty handed. Our State cares for him in life in a comfortable and beautiful Home at Higginville, complete in all its appointments, with cottages, hospital, church, gardens, flowers and fruits. It is presided over by a gallant Confederate soldier, who treats the infirm old veterans as veterans of the greatest struggle the world ever saw, giving them the courtesy and consideration accorded to friends and worn out soldiers who served, long and well, their country. When they pass from this earthly home to their reward, we lay them tenderly away, marking their graves with a modest stone bearing name, date of birth and death. There they rest in peace under the shadow of a splendid Confederate monument erected by the Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri. Could any work excel this?

The Missouri Division has given liberally to Arlington and Shiloh monuments and is always ready to do her part in every Confederate cause claiming the attention and the united efforts of the daughters of the Confederacy. With many good wishes for your future prosperity, this report is respectfully submitted.

MRS. JAMES B. GANTT,
November, 1907. President Missouri Division, U. D. C.

REPORT OF OMAHA CHAPTER.

The Omaha Chapter, U. D. C., is like a southern flower, planted in an uncongenial soil. It does not flourish as we would like to see it do in this northern climate. We have twenty members and are trying to do a little, or rather what we can, with so few members and so little money. We send flowers to our sick members. February 14th, last, we sent two dollars ($2) for the Shiloh monument. We sent a quilt to the Confederate soldiers' home in Mississippi, and have comfortables ready to send to the Confederate Home at Higginsville, Missouri. We sent a Nebraska tree to be planted in the Confederate cemetery. We gave two of our members U. D. C. pins. We gave two dollars ($2) for the Camp Chase Memorial. We also sent three dollars ($3) to the Boys' Industrial School, at Rome, Georgia.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH M. COVELL, President.

NEW MEXICO.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

Joe Wheeler Chapter of Roswell, New Mexico, sends cordial greetings to the Daughters assembled in convention, in Norfolk, Va.

We sent a delegate to Gulfport last year, but being unable to have a member present this year, Mrs. Valery Edward Austin, of Texas, has kindly consented to represent us and read our report.

Our membership is not quite as large as in 1906 because of the removal of several of our Daughters, but our ardor has not been dampened and we are still enthusiastic workers in the cause we represent.

Very earnest effort has been put forth to establish a Division and this we will have as soon as another chapter can be organized. We have had several successful entertainments for raising funds for the various objects to which we have contributed: rendered aid to an aged veteran, and to the family of another who died suddenly, and sent flowers to the funeral; sent $5.00 to the Arlington and $10.00 to the Wirz monument funds; observed Gen. Lee's centennial anniversary in an appropriate manner and much enthusiasm was evinced; had a life-size copy of a steel engraving of Gen. Lee made for this occasion; in June joined the Sons in giving the Valverde Camp of Veterans a picnic.

Next year we expect to study Confederate history and after our business meetings, will have an historical and musical program. We have had several of these programs lately and they have added much to the enjoyment of our meetings.

We are planning to put Southern literature in the Carnegie library here, and expect to have a Christmas sale early in December to help this cause. Those of you living in the heart of the Southland have no idea of the difficulties under which those chapters work who are really "in the camp of the enemy."

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. B. F. HARLOW,

President Joe Wheeler Chapter.

NEW YORK.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy in convention assembled:

During the year since November, 1906, our Chapter has held its five regular meetings in December, January, March, May, October, and two special meetings, one for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of General Lee, and the other in honor of our President-General, Mrs. Henderson, who was in our city last June, and to whom we tendered an afternoon of music and recitation, followed by a reception. The celebration in honor of General Lee was held in the ball room of the Hotel Astor, which was crowded to the doors. The services were simple, beautiful and impressive, following the order suggested by our President-General. I am sure you will enjoy hearing these lines to General Lee written by Julia Ward Howe, beautiful enough to include in this report, and valued especially as coming from the pen of a Northern woman. It was read by Thomas Nelson Page at the Richmond celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the birth of the great Virginia citizen and soldier, January 19th, 1907.

A gallant foeman in the fight,
A brother when the fight was o'er,
The hand that led the host with might
The blessed torch of learning bore.

No shriek of shells nor roll of drums,
 No challenge fierce, resounding far,
 When reconciling Wisdom comes
 To heal the cruel wounds of war.

Thought may the minds of men divide,
 Loke makes the heart of nations one,
 And so, thy soldier grave beside,
 We honor thee, Virginia's son.

At the request of the President-General a committee to represent the U. D. C. was appointed from the New York Chapter to attend the National Arbitration and Peace Congress held in Carnegie Hall from the 14th to the 17th of April. The occasion was one not to be forgotten, and one of the beautiful things to be remembered was a statement made by Senorita Huidobro of Chile concerning the peace compact between Chile and Argentina. She stated that on one of the highest peaks of the Andes at an elevation of 14,000 feet between the two countries a colossal statue of Christ had been erected called the Christ of the Andes and bearing on its pedestal this inscription:

"These mountains shall crumble to dust ere Argentines and Chillians shall break the peace which at the feet of Christ the Redeemer they have sworn to maintain."

The statute is unique, being the only one in the world to occupy such a position, and the majestic Christ of the Andes, standing with uplifted hand on the mountain top far above the turmoil of the world below seems to exclaim again, as long ago did the Christ of Nazareth, "My peace I give unto you." The flag of the Congress was a beautiful one, representing the national banner surrounded by a wide border of white satin, on the upper side of which was inscribed "Peace for all Nations," and a dove with an olive branch resting upon the top of the staff. One of the most interesting sessions was that devoted to the school children, five thousand of whom were present, and they listened to addresses treating of the horrors and barbarity of war rather than dwelling upon its pomp and ceremony. Large audiences and great enthusiasm and interest marked the Peace Congress, but its practical results can only be determined by time.

Our contributions have been numerous and unusually large this year, our Chapter attending to, not only the relief cases within her gates, but responding also to appeals which come to us from sister chapters all over the South. We have contributed $100 for the monument at Arlington, $100 for the monument to the Women of the Confederacy, $25 to the monument to Major Wirz, $25 to the monument to General Morgan, $100 to a Texas home for wives and widows of veterans, $100 to subscription for portrait of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, $10 for the monument to General Forest, $10 for a monument to General Jackson, $10 to the Solid South room at Richmond, $25 for the monument at Shiloh, $5 for a scholarship at Winston-Salem, North Carolina, $5 for flowers to Camp Chase, $10 for flowers for our Memorial Day, $25 for soldiers home at Charlottesville, Virginia, $5 for monument to General Beauregard, $10 for repairing Confederate Cemetery at Alton, Illinois, $100 to the Confederate Veteran Camp for enlarging the plot at Mount Hope Cemetery, $10 as a Christmas gift to one of our relief cases, $10 to a bedridden girl, $20 to one in need in Brooklyn, $40 to one of our own Daughters in trouble, and have paid the rent for the winter of another of our appeal cases, so that you will realize that we have not been backward in good works.

We number about 500 at present, but I am sorry to state that some of that number will shortly be dropped for non-payment of dues. Our associates number 178, so that we have a full membership of 678. We have transferred a few members to other chapters, and welcomed 15 Daughters as transfers to our own chapter. Four Crosses of Honor have been conferred upon veterans and two crosses upon descendants.

At the unvelling of the Davis Monument in Richmond it was a source of keen regret to the writer not to be able to be present, but her chapter was ably represented by a Committee composed of Madams Hayes, Bateson, Beale, Schuyler, Hale and Emanuel.

At the second unvelling of tablets in the Hall of Fame at New York University on May 30th, the Chapter was also represented by a Committee and wreaths from the United Daughters of the Confederacy and flowers from a member of the New York Chapter were placed on General Lee's tablet, and of the eighteen tablets there, our tablet was the only one thrice decorated, as it were. General Grant's tablet is not far distant from that of General Lee, and, observing that no flowers had been placed upon it, the Daughters of the Confederacy laid upon the bronze some of their fragrant blossoms, and thus the tablets of the two great generals of the Blue and the Gray were decorated by the tender hands of the Daughters of the Southland.

In conclusion it is a joy in the present, as it has been in the past, to report the splendid Chapter the writer has the honor to represent, prosperous, harmonious, steadily increasing in influence and numbers, and ever excelling in good works.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. JAMES HENRY PARKER, President.

Norfolk, November 13th, 1907.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

I deem it a great honor and privilege to be the one to extend greetings from the United Daughters of the Confederacy of North Carolina to all our officers, delegates, visiting members and visitors, and feel that to learn of your work in other States, and to know the members thereof personally, might almost be called a "liberal education."

Today we, the women of the South, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, meet here to renew our vows of loyalty to the sacred memories of the past and as an organization whose declared purpose is to commemorate the heroic deeds of our dead, and hand down true history to our children. The way for us to do is to impress the facts of history upon the minds of our young people and they can then recognize the errors that are made by Northern historians. Although historical facts are distorted and the truth is not told, we propose to teach our own children, of our own Southland, the facts about our own war in our own way. For this is the only way we can rescue from infamy the memory of our fallen heroes. Only thus can we blot out the brand of "traitor" from the brow of President Jefferson Davis, Robt. E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson. In all history, never have the women of any defeated people been banded together for the great purpose of proving the rightfulness of the cause for which their fathers, husbands, sons and brothers fought and women endured, and in caring for the wounded and afflicted who survived. In all history of other countries there exist no monuments erected by the women to secure the record of the truth in history about a lost but sacred cause. We have met here united in our work for a grand purpose, grand in its origin, patriotic in its undertakings and faithful in its ministrations. We intend making the education of veterans' children our main work the coming year. The Educational Committee of the western section of North Carolina has two girls at the State Normal College in Greensboro, and the Stonewall Jackson Chapter, Charlotte keep a veteran's daughter at the Presbyterian College every year. When one graduates another is selected to fill her place. Many veterans and widows of veterans are unable to educate their children as they should be, and I know of no greater work that can be done by every single chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in the United States. Let us do this in connection with our other work and in the days and years to come, we will see the fruit of our good work and feel proud of it.

Three events of great moment to us, the U. D. C.'s have occurred within the last twelve months. The death of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Robt. E. Lee, and the unveiling of the monument to our beloved Confederate President Jefferson Davis. Every chapter in the State was asked to observe with suitable exercises this anniversary of General Lee's birth and it was complied with by all. After all, we love him best this "foe without hate, friend without reproach, Christian without hypocrisy, man without guile." Hill calls him "A Caesar without his ambition, a Frederick without his tyranny, a Napoleon without his selfishness, a Washington without his reward." Our soldiers' home is in a fine condition and we do all we can to make his last days comfortable, bright and happy. We have given over six hundred dollars ($600) to this cause. The home is supported by the State. There has been given (945) nine hundred and forty-five crosses of honor by thirty-nine chapters in the State in the past year, and more could have been bestowed but could not be gotten from the Custodian. We have eighty (80) chapters in the State and over three thousand (3,000) members and twenty-one children's chapters. Six were chartered during the past year and there would have been more but our beloved President, Mrs. W. S. Parker, was prevented from further work by the illness of a young daughter—and later her death. She was a faithful and diligent worker and could have done much good but for this sorrow. I, as her successor, shall endeavor to keep up the standard of our work.

The following chapters have been chartered during the past year: Clayton Chapter, Clayton; Emaline J. Piggott Chapter, Morehead City; Holt-Saunders Chapter, Smithfield; Mary Lee Chapter, Painter, Jackson county; Frank M. Parker Chapter, Enfield. We have 21 children's chapters. The following have been organized this year, eight in number. One at Greensboro, Durham, Tarboro, Wadesboro, Littleton, Selma, Wendson and Albermarle. We have fine reports from most of them but some will not report to us.

The saying that a "Land without monuments is a land without memories," is no longer true of North Carolina and our hearts are gladdened that so many monuments are being and have been built all over the State. The history of how one monument was paid for would be a revelation to most of you and inspire the weakest one among you. The hard work, (both physical and brain), and the energy put forth by this woman was marvellous to be told and to hear her tell it was rich. She is among you today and I might whisper her name to you if you desire to take lessons. Plans for the proposed monument to Henry L. Wyatt of North Carolina, the first soldier killed in the battle of Bethel, are perfected and will soon be erected. A drinking fountain is to be placed on the Capitol Square in Raleigh in his memory. At our State convention in Greensboro a month ago we unveiled a portrait of Julian S. Carr, which will be placed in the North Carolina room in Richmond, Va. He is noted for for being the best friend of the living veterans. We also have funds on hand for portraits of Gen. Robt. Ransom and of Capt. Randolph Thortwell, who made himself famous during the Reconstruction of the Ku Klux days.

A movement was inaugurated to erect a monument on the campus of the University at Chapel Hill to the boys who put aside their books, doffed a uniform, shouldered their guns and went to the front in defense of a cause their fathers knew to be right. Our State Treasurer reports that we have received two thousand two hundred and ninety-three dollars, ($2,293) and paid out over twelve hundred dollars ($1,200). We have seven hundred dollars ($700) on hand at interest for our Memorial Arch at Confederate cemetery in Raleigh; to commemorate the services of the 1,000 dead soldiers who lie buried there, representing every Southern State; also contributions for Arlington and Wirz monuments: and we have given $50.00 to Shiloh and intend giving more. These three monuments ought to be erected at once and by the help of all States. Our historians have collected valuable papers and do good work for their State. We instructed our chapters hereafter to send all per capita tax, State and general to State Treasurer and she would forward the general tax to General Treasurer, thus saving a great deal of trouble.

We are splendidly organized and have had a very prosperous year and our work is going forward triumphantly. We propose to do our duty and that duty is a pleasure, and not be laggards in the U. D. C. work. History shows that North Carolina stands first in whatever she undertakes. Right here, may I digress for a minute and remind you of some facts in history. North Carolina has many historic facts for which she has never been given credit by some. Situated between Virginia on the one hand and South Carolina on the other, and always a very modest state, did not proclaim these facts as the other two states, who have made the welkin ring, as it were—of their deeds of valor. For every fact that they can give, we can give one better.

The first settlement of America was made in 1785 on Roanoke Island, N. C. The first white child born on American soil was on this island. North Carolina had the first "tea party" at Edenton and Wilmington, sometime before the noted one in Boston, Mass., and were not disguised as Indians as they were, but boldly proclaimed that they would not be taxed unjustly and threw the tea overboard. She declared her independence of the British crown in Charlotte, Mecklenberg County, N. C., May 20, 1775, more than a year before it was declared in Philadelphia, Pa.

But the grandest of all, North Carolina was "first at Bethel, farthest at Chickamauga and Gettysburg and last at Appomattox. Look what our own State of North Carolina did during the war.

Out of a voting population of 115,000, we sent 125,000 men on the field; more than one-fifth of the men furnished by the Southern States. It was in the hour of the last march of our troops Gen. Lee said, "God bless North Carolina."

In the late Cuban war, the first man killed in the army was Lieut. Wm. Ship, of Charlotte, N. C.; in the navy the first man killed was Worth Bagley, of Raleigh, N. C. And North Carolina troops placed the first American flag on Morro Castle, Cuba.

Arlington Cemetery, as we now know it, was formally established in May, 1864, and it is stated that the first interment therein was that of George L. Rhinehart, a Confederate soldier of the 26th and 23rd North Carolina Infantry.

North Carolina was the first State to break ground for a building at Jamestown Exposition and had the "biggest day" of any State during the whole time of the Exposition; also was the first State to endorse the building of Beauvoir, the U. D. C. building of Virginia. During the summer before this, Mrs. Waike, of Virginia, was visiting at Morehead, N. C., and 17 chapters promised their support and gave contributions to the building.

North Carolina's Governor, R. B. Glenn, and Judge Long have the distinction of being the first ones to discuss the much wanted question, the rate law, declaring again for States rights.

With such a glorious past and grand history we cannot go backward, but must push forward, and as old David Crockett said, "After you get there, keep on going." So, standing here today, I realize what North Carolina has done and promise to endeavor to keep her up to the standard in our work.

This work of the Confederacy is what we do with all our hearts, "down home," in the Old North State.

Respectfully submitted by the North Carolina Division,

MRS. I. W. FAISON, President, Charlotte, N. C.

OHIO DIVISION.

(Read by Mrs. Thomas M. Worcester, newly elected Ohio State President, U. D. C.)

Madam President, Officers of the U. D. C., and Daughters:

In coming before you today, the position I occupy is rather peculiar. I come as the delegate from the Stonewall Jackson Chapter, and while I am Ohio's State President, still I do not read my own report, but that of the outgoing President, who holds over until after the General Convention.

I was Ohio's first chapter President, and first State President and now after this Convention, I take up the State work again, and although we are so far removed from the mother body, yet I am as sure of your love and your anxiety, as I ever was, of the other mother love—for, do we not know, when a daughter marries and is far removed, that the love and anxiety is rather intensified than otherwise, for the distant one who is deprived of so many home pleasures, home consultations, home gatherings?—so I look to you, so I always work, KNOWING your thoughts go out to us, in the Ohio homes. I will now read you Mrs. Hosea's report.

In October, the Daughters of Ohio held their 5th Annual State Convention in the Woman's Club Rooms, Cincinnati. It was a glorious meeting, and much enthusiasm prevailed—and the good work prospers.

Rev. Tinsley, a chaplain in the Northern Army of Virginia, and a leading Episcopal Minister in Cincinnati, having had charge of our church for over thirty years, opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Thomas Worcester, our Honorary President, delivered an eloquent address of welcome, and the Rev. Dr. Henderson, I think, the brother-in-law of Jefferson Davis—and the only survivor of the exchange bureau, followed; his address was soul stirring, as he told us important facts we had never heard before: then a song by the celebrated Mrs. Collard, and one from the sweet tenor voice of Calvin Voss, followed by an address from Rev. Dr. Mitchell of Kentucky, who paid high tribute to the women of the South: this, was what he said—"Ladies, you represent an ancestry, greater than any that ever existed"—and also, "that two-thirds of the national orators and statesmen came from below Mason and Dixon's Line; and that, whenever they had a Webster in the North, we had a Calhoun and a Clay in the South."

The Convention transacted business, and elected officers, in the morning, for the ensuing year. Mrs. Thos. Worcester was unanimously elected our State President.

A hot dinner was served to delegates and members of the chapters; and in the afternoon, all Southerners in Covington, Cincinnati and Newport who cared to come, were invited to meet with us. Another interesting program was prepared, among other things some eloquent speeches made by prominent veterans—there was a social hour, without which no Southern gathering would be complete, and again, dainty refreshments served to all. There were guests from several States, who expressed surprise and delight, that such a successful Confederate meeting could be held in Ohio. In the North, we count our best work the recognition we are receiving by other organizations in our State and city. Thanksgiving week, there will be held in Cincinnati, The Central Ohio Valley History Conference. One afternoon will be given to the hereditary patriotic societies. The Stonewall Jackson Chapter has been invited to take part with the Colonial Dames, Daughters of the American Revolution, Descendants of the Mayflower, Sons of the Colonial Wars and several others of prominence. We never doubted our right to this recognition, but others did not always think just as we did. A member of the Stonewall Jackson Chapter will represent the Daughters at this meeting, and give a brief history of the U. D. C. and of our Ohio Division.

At the unvelling of the Monument to our Chieftain, Jefferson Davis, the State Division sent a magnificent floral wreath and some kind hand gave it a prominent place on the monument. The Daughters are investigating reports of unknown graves, of Southern soldiers up the Ohio, perhaps where Morgan crossed over into Ohio. We hear they have never been cared for, or in any way marked. If we find it so, we will ourselves turn them over to Col. Elliott, to be marked by the government, or else, we will ourselves put up a modest tombstone. Mrs. Worcester feels confident new material can be found in that section, but will canvas the entire state the coming year. The Judah P. Benjamin Oxford Chapter, I am sorry to say, must be dropped from our roster this year; not from lack of good work or enthusiasm on its part, but because it was made up of teachers and pupils of the colleges there: the members have become scattered; Mrs. Wilson, the president, having lived there until her two lovely daughters graduated, and Miss Calhoun, vice-president, having gone with Miss Mason's school, on the Hudson—called "The Castle," and others the same way. We can only say, it was a jewel in Ohio's crown, but like many another valued thing, served its purpose, and the scene changes. Thanks to Louisiana for passing the resolution, that once a Division is formed, whatever bad luck may come to it, to diminish its number of chapters, it is still a division.

The Stonewall Chapter, like the gallant soldier, has never known defeat; we feel like a fine steel wedge, give the seemingly impossible task of penetrating the heart of some gigantic oak—yet we know, if the strokes be true and well timed, that the great heart will be reached: the heart at which we aim is "public opinion"—we will reap our reward, when we know that our principles and work have gained sympathetic recognition. A short time ago the Stonewall Jackson Chapter had the use of the parlors of the largest hotel in our city; donated for an all day whist and euchre party; the chapter cleared over one hundred dollars. Fifty dollars of it was set aside for a scholarship in an Industrial School, for the descendant of a Confederate Veteran. Then we have the care of a widow of a veteran throughout the year. Money was sent to the Danville, Ky., Chapter for the Perryville Monument fund and ten dollars was donated to the Shiloh Monument fund, etc. A rummage sale is now in progress—and the chapter expects to realize quite a neat sum. Our chapter has decided to study the History of the Southern States during the coming winter—and will hold their regular monthly meetings in the Woman's Club Rooms, quite the most elegant place to meet in our city, outside of private homes, but the distances have become so great, as our city grows larger, it seems necessary to meet in a more central place. Our Springfield Chapter is hard to get to telling work—but we hope for good results later on.

For the benefit of Miss Rutherford, I will say, we are educating a boy at Miss Berry's school in Georgia: and I made a plea to the Chicago people for the poor boys of the mountains of that State. The children of the clouds.

The Robert E. Lee Chapter, at Camp Chase, Columbus, Ohio, is doing finely: this has been a successful year with them, from a financial standpoint as well. The president, Mrs. M. A. Carroll, says—"In November, Col. Elliott, the Commissioner appointed by the War Department, made some improvements in Camp Chase, and we hope the making of the graves will be finished before the "New Year." Our Camp Chase Memorial services, June 8th, was largely attended, the weather being ideally beautiful; we were disappointed in not being able to secure a Southern speaker. But we secured several local orators, and the band which was sent by Col. Glenn from the barracks, furnished fine music, and a firing squad, too, was in attendance—there were flowers—generous donations of flowers and of money, and many beautiful words spoken for which the Columbus Chapter and Col. Knauss wish to thank most heartily all who contributed to the day's success. In December, we held our usual Christmas sale for two days, and met with such wonderful success, that we have determined to make it a much larger affair this year: that netted us over forty dollars—then we had a measuring party and a literary programme, and there were about one hundred and fifty people attended—netting us another fifty dollars. The literary programme, for the winter, will be a sketch of some Southern hero at each meeting.

During the year we have helped Confederate Veterans who have needed our assistance and in great distress, giving money and provisions. We have contributed to several Southern Monuments, and flowers to our sick ones; but above all we feel we are moulding public opinion and making so many friends for our beloved cause, North of the Mason and Dixon Line. Situated, as we are, in the most prejudiced part of Ohio, we grow discouraged sometimes. We have a membership of sixty taking in five new members this year, yet we must own that we cannot at all times get them cut together, but we hope by the interesting program for the winter, we may be brought closer together.

We close with best wishes for the success and prosperity of the great U. D. C. organization, and ask continued thoughtfulness and care for the small ones, during their many struggles.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY M. HOSEA,

State President.

OREGON CHAPTER.

The Oregon Chapter, U. D. C., has just closed a prosperous year; the interest in the work is meeting with much enthusiasm and many are making application for membership, who have heretofore taken little or no interest in the work.

The Chapter observes all days set apart by the national constitution with appropriate exercises. The Chapter prides itself upon the beautiful ceremonies upon the centennial of our immortal chieftain, General Robert E. Lee.

The Chapter has contributed $5.00 towards the Shiloh Monument fund. During the year seven crosses have been conferred upon the veterans living in Portland.

We hope ere another year has come and gone that several other chapters may be formed in other towns in the State of Oregon: this object shall be one for which we shall labor this current year.

We have done charitable work when the occasion has arisen; at present the Chapter cares for one lady from the South.

The year just beginning, we commenced the study of the causes leading up to the great conflict.

We are far from home, but a more faithful band of women could scarcely be found; we shall keep alive the names of those who wore the grey, and so teach others coming after us.

MRS. EMMA JONES STOVALL, President.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN.

REPORT OF THE PHILADELPHIA CHAPTER, U. D. C.

For the second time the Philadelphia Chapter sends its representatives—laden with affectionate greetings and most cordial good wishes for you all—to a convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy. When we stood before you at Gulfport last fall we were only a few months old, and though many of you can testify that even then we were “a lusty infant and like to live,” our strength has increased from month to month. We have now safely passed our second summer, our eye teeth are through, and though in the interval we may have caused you pain and sleepless nights, we trust the vigorous, enthusiastic, loving child we now present may be considered compensation for the care and solicitude lavished upon it.

At our annual meeting on January, 19th, 1907, we had a membership of seventy-one, since that time twenty-four new members have been received. Several of these were elected after our credential certificate had been forwarded, hence the discrepancy in that and these figures. At present there are ninety-five full and three associate members and 15 applications pending. We confidently expect, before our next annual meeting, to pass well beyond the one hundred mark. There have been no withdrawals from the Chapter. From January to November, inclusive, six meetings have been held—total attendance 168, average attendance 28. In this connection I should like to say that while a chapter on the other side of Mason and Dixon's line has a struggle in working versus public opinion, it also has one advantage of those otherwise more fortunate chapters of the Southland. It is this, while the chapters of the State divisions have the traditions of that State to inspire them, we, with a representation from every Southern State, have the traditions of the entire South behind us, which makes of us a very, very small, but still in a way—U. D. C.!

In the spring the Philadelphia Chapter gave a dramatic entertainment at the Bellevue-Stratford. Some wise maxim maker has said "money talks," so perhaps if I mention the dollars and cents you can best understand what was accomplished that evening. More than a thousand dollars was made, over eight hundred cleared. Those of you who have labored along these lines—and which of us has not?—can realize what an output of time and energy this must have meant for every member of the Chapter. Figures, however, give no conception of the success of the evening dramatically and socially. It was really quite a brilliant affair, and one of which we were justly proud.

The financial condition of the Chapter has improved wonderfully during the past year. All debts have been met, appropriations of various kinds have been made for charitable objects and for families of Confederate veterans in the city. Regularly at Thanksgiving and Christmas these families are remembered with well filled baskets.

On the 19th of January we had the pleasure of hearing the Rev. Thompson Coles of Philadelphia speak in a wonderfully tender, sympathetic and appreciative way of our hero of heroes, the centenary anniversary of whose birth we were then celebrating, Gen Robert E. Lee. At a later meeting Col. Julian S. Carr of North Carolina addressed the Chapter. Still later, we commenced what it is our wish to continue in the future, the reading by our members of papers bearing on persons or events connected with the war between the States.

On Memorial Day several members of the Chapter assembled at Pittville National Cemetery to lay a wreath, tied with red and white, on the stone that marks the graves of our dead—224 unknown Confederates. A touching little incident was told of one of our veterans who meets every year with the G. A. R. at the Pittville Cemetery. When the flowers are distributed to the soldiers to decorate the graves, our veteran receives his and marches proudly to the spot where the Confederates rest and places there his little tribute.

On the third of June we had the pleasure of giving a Cross of Honor to one of our veterans living in Wilkesbarre. His deeply appreciative letter of thanks made us value more highly than ever our privilege of decorating the old soldiers.

Perhaps you are wondering—as Charles Lamb said on passing through a graveyard “Where are the bad people buried?”—what may our faults be? Now those of us who assisted, no matter in how humble a capacity, at the birth of this Chapter, may be afflicted with parental astigmatism; for, as you know, it takes a very discerning mother to tell the difference between her first born and a genius. If we have “bragged too much of what we did, being young,” we are at any rate “Happy in this, we are not yet so old

But we may learn; happier than this,
We are not bred so dull but we can learn;
Happiest of all in that we commit ourselves to you to be directed.”

Our U. D. C. Mother, and our sister chapters, older than we, not in actual years, but in U. D. C. aspirations and inspirations, we ask your help and encouragement and forbearance.

Respectfully submitted,
FANNIE MONCURE MARBURG.

REPORT SOUTH CAROLINA DIVISION.

Madam President and Members of the Fourteenth Annual Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

The South Carolina Division presents through its President the following report:

Since our last report made at Gulfport, Miss., four new chapters, aggregating a charter membership of 110 have been added to our Division roll, giving us now a roster of sixty chapters with a total membership of twenty-six hundred. That the older chapters have increased in membership is evidenced by the fact that the Division President has signed three hundred certificates of membership for them, two chapters just one year old, having more than doubled their membership in that year.

The Division has been much occupied this past year in putting its records into a proper shape. Feeling the need of a State Registrar, (a most important office which might well be added to the corps of General U. D. C. officers), this office was created at our State convention last December and right busy have our chapters been in copying application papers, correcting those that were deficient in some respects and filing with our Registrar. This has been an arduous task covering the records in this direction for the past ten years but it has been cheerfully undertaken and up to Nov. 1st thirty chapters have made complete rosters, filing in all 1240 individual records. The Registrar reports that the other chapters are all working hard and that at our State convention next month she hopes to have this important task completed up to date.

The Division has also provided itself with a Recorder of Crosses and the records of this office as well as those of the Registrar have been overhauled, books suitably ruled and printed for these records have been provided and this Division reports 708 crosses properly recorded bestowed in South Carolina this past year, and back lists from chapters showing records of recipients from past bestowals amounts to two thousand crosses.

Memorial Day and the birthdays of President Davis and General Lee have been observed with suitable ceremonies in every town in the State where a chapter of the Daughters exists, dinners have been served to the veterans on these occasions in all the small towns where the crowds had to come from some distance and the decoration of the local Confederate monument and graves has always been an important exercise on these occasions in which the school children invariably are given a part, inculcating into their respective minds respect and love for those spots where "valor proudly sleeps."

The co-operative work of the Division in charge of committees has been as follows:

The historical work has been faithfully pursued; seven chapters having as a regular feature of their meetings the study of Southern history and literature. The collections of manuscript on file with our committee is carefully catalogued with a card catalogue kept in a large tin box for safety, and these papers are for loan among our chapters whenever desired. The Historian is now preparing for our fifth literary-historical session at our State convention next month and she reports good collections of manuscript and a continued interest in the question of rolls of honor.

Under this head would come the two volumes "South Carolina Women in the Confederacy," 400 pages each which this Division has collected and printed in book form in the last eight years. A large part of the material in these two volumes was furnished from the History Committee's work in collecting.

The care of our veterans is ever on our hearts and the Division keeps itself on record ready to see that the veterans have an annual State reunion. With this end in view a Committee looks after this matter. Last year they raised $125 to help the local chapter extend hospitality for the reunion; but this year they were relieved from any financial responsibility by a generous act on the part of the South Carolina General Assembly, whereby $3,000 for the entertainment of the Confederate veterans at their annual reunion, was appropriated. This secured them good provision for the occasion and if it is continued our committee will find its work an easy task in the future.

This Division has also raised and pledged itself to keep up for three years a scholarship worth $104 a year in our State Normal and Industrial School for girls, Winthrop College. The collections for this fund this year amounted to $138 which amount came through donations from fourteen chapters and two individual Daughters. This fund was ready for the 1907 session and we had twenty-nine applicants for the position. Only girls of honorable lineal Confederate descent are eligible to compete for this scholarship.

Educational work is also promoted by the individual chapters through the presentation of gold medals for prize essays on Confederate history. Eleven chapters in South Carolina give gold medals annually in their graded schools for these prizes; one chapter giving its for competition in the State University.

Another point illustrating South Carolina chapters' interest in education is the fact that two chapters report sending donations to mountain school work in North Carolina.

Children's chapters have not taken a very strong hold on our Division but several chapters have provided for the admission of children to their membership with certain age limitations as to voting and fees and thus provide an excellent method for interest in the children in the U. D. C. work.

The Division also co-operated with the Veterans and Sons of Veterans through a Committee in petitioning the General Assembly to provide for the publication of the rosters and records of the South Carolina regiments in the War Between the States; this Committee did faithful work in going to the capitol, meeting the Committee from the Sons and Veterans, and together appearing with them before the Committee on appropriations, but this matter failed to come before the legislature and so no material results can be reported from their work.

The Division, through a Committee, has also undertaken to place life-sized portraits of Generals Hagood and Conner in the Senate Chamber of the Capitol of Columbia. The funds for General Hagood's portrait were raised by the Wade Hampton Chapter, Columbia, while the portrait of General Conner was given the Committee by his widow. The chairman of this Committee, the Division's First Vice President, reports this work as completed and that the portraits will be unveiled in the Senate Chamber on January 19th.

The question of monuments has ever been an interesting one to this Division as was shown by their faithful work for the Davis monument. Many South Carolina daughters were in Richmond at the unveiling of that monument and eleven chapters and the Division as a whole sent floral tributes for that auspicious occasion.

The Division also sent a wreath for the unveiling of the Stuart monument on May 30th. The custom of sending a laurel wreath, tied with the Confederate colors, to local veterans, is carried out by ten chapters in South Carolina.

One chapter in our State remembered to send flowers to Camp Chase and the Drayton Rutherford Chapter, Newberry, requests the State President to suggest here that instead of sending flowers annually to Alton, I., that the cost of the same with expressage added be sent in cash each year until a sufficient sum be raised to place simple markers on unmarked graves. Flowers could follow later.

Again the Shiloh Monument holds our attention. Up to date, twenty-seven chapters have pledged $143 for this monument and twenty have already paid their pledges for this year.

Arlington Monument received $50 from our Division at our last convention and three chapters report additional individual contributions to this cause.

Then again the Division and two chapters sent contributions to the Wirz Monument.

Local monuments in our State, those keystones in our arch of Confederate endeavor, silent sentinels, object lessons to our children, appeals to patriotism which influence the humble and poor as well as the rich and educated, are ever being faithfully cared for. When already erected, acting as head stones to draw the crowds for Confederate ceremonies and with this war of civic endeavor that is sweeping the South, being surrounded by grass, trees and shrubs and being made spots of beauty in small towns and hamlets.

South Carolina reports three local monuments costing over two thousand dollars each unveiled this year—one by the Winnie Davis Chapter, Yorkville, one by the John Hames Chapter, Jonesville and one by the William Wallace Chapter, Union. These occasions were marked by excellent orations and large crowds. One chapter, the S. D. Barron, Old Point, has completed its fund and let the contract for its monument this year and eight chapters are patiently toiling for and faithfully hoarding a fund for a local monument. This work keeps alive U. D. C. work and spirit in a community, and gives the stay-at-homes a chance to enjoy a Confederate celebration.

The placing of headstones at the graves of Confederate soldiers is connected with local monument work, and fifteen chapters re port this work as accomplished, all graves in their town limits marked and their pushing out into the outlying country to see that each unmarked veteran grave is provided with a headstone. They also report in each case that the work is being kept up to date.

The South Carolina room at the Confederate Museum in Richmond has been remembered by three chapters sending pictures of their local monuments with accounts of their erection and copy of address at unveiling, making a complete record as requested by the South Carolina regent.

Reports sent the Division president on Nov. 1st, show that seven chapters responded to the request for contributions for a U. D. C. bazaar. Three chapters support each a Confederate veteran while several report help and comfort sent needy veterans from time to time.

Many chapters subscribe to the Journal of American History the Veteran, and the Keystone, the official organ of the South Carolina Division, which prints each month official notices from division officers and reports of special work done by chapters.

Two chapters rejoice in a chapter room, Charleston and Secessionville, James Island. While the Columbia Chapter has charge of a relic room in the State Capitol, where among other valued relics they keep the battle flags returned to South Carolina and confided to their care by the General Assembly of the State. This chapter is also working for a mural tablet to be erected at the State University to the student body who left its walls to enshrine in the war.

This Division takes great pride in its one "college chapter" at the Girls' State Normal and Industrial College, which is a seed bed for many efficient U. D. C.'s, all over the State. This chapter is eight years old, has sixty-four active members today and hundreds of graduate members. They have placed portraits of Lee and Jackson in the college, are working to buy Confederate flags for the college, have literary exercises at their meetings and this year have erected a bulletin board in the college to post U. D. C. notes on from time to time.

To get an idea of the financial ability of the chapters in South Carolina the Division President polled her chapters in the last three weeks to find out what their average individual membership fee was; forty-one chapters answered this request and from these dues the President finds that the average membership fee in South Carolina is fifty-one cents per member so one can judge how much work has been done on such a small membership fee. and as a Division we feel that we have wrought what we could.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY B. POPPENHEIM,

President South Carolina Division, U. D. C.

REPORT OF THE TENNESSEE DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Tennessee Division is glad to be here today, to answer to the roll call of chapters, and to bring to you "A God bless you every one."

There is much of progress, of successful work as well as largely augmented members to report, but there is a time limit and I can only touch briefly upon the work accomplished, and that contemplated.

Since the meeting at Gulfport thirteen new chapters have been added to the Tennessee Division, swelling the total number of chapters to 71 and the total membership to 4,025. I should like to speak of each new chapter separately but my time limit forbids. There are two however, that began under such notable auspices, especially as to the numbers, that I feel my report would be incomplete were I not to specially designate them. The 46th, Tennessee of Paris was organized a little less than a year ago, and is already one of the largest and most prosperous chapters in the State. It went to its first State convention with delegates representing 183 members.

The First Tennessee Regiment Chapter of Nashville is another new chapter which has had phenomenal growth. It is composed for the most part of young matrons. They have exhibited pluck and zeal worthy of emulation. Their first venture in money-making was a benefit entertainment for the old soldiers of the Confederate Home, at which over $840.00, clear of all expenses, was netted.

Most of the new chapters were organized by former State President, Mrs. A. B. White, who has been wonderfully successful in this work.

Four chapters were dropped from the roll at the last convention. One of these—the John H. Morgan, at Tracy City—has gone to work with the John W. Thomas Chapter at Monteagle, nearby. These two little chapters consolidated, make a fine strong combination, and I will predict, accomplish much good work.

There is a great and growing interest in children's auxiliaries, and new chapters are reported every little while. The educational work is in the hands of competent committees, and is being pushed with energy.

The U. D. C. of Nashville are seizing every point of vantage to further their cherished project of erecting a chapter house, worthy of the name.

Tennessee has done more this year than ever before for the Tennessee Room in the Museum at Richmond. I trust that each year may bring more and more from Tennessee to this lovely treasure-house of the Confederacy.

This leads me to the great reunion, at which Tennessee was largely represented. I never hope to see, this side of heaven, anything so soul-stirring, so grand, as that gathering and those parades. It was a week of pageants, with the fine old historic city, brave with flying banners, for a setting. Superb decorations and all the crimson ramblers flowering to welcome the veterans. The floral emblem sent by the Tennessee Division was one of the most effective and beautiful of all of those, laid with loving hands, on the tomb of our great chieftain.

I wish there was time to tell of the new monuments. If the good work goes on as it has begun, the day is not far distant when almost every town in the State will have a monument to commemorate the glorious history of our heroes.

In September of this year the State President was the guest of the Bigby Gray Chapter, at the unveiling of the Monument at Mt. Pleasant, raised in memory of the Bigby Gray Company for which the chapter is named. This is one of the handsomest in the State.

Covington and Pulaski have noble shafts in enduring stone, to the boys in gray. The Sam Davis monument is something very near our hearts; and Shiloh—that you so generously helped and are helping—perhaps makes the strongest appeal of all, because of the patient and unremitting work of the Shiloh Chapter. Keep a warm place in your hearts for Shiloh, and help to hasten the completion of this work, begun so long ago.

I make grateful mention of the pleasure given our loved Founder upon receiving your gift of a lovely pin, at the hands of Mrs. Stone, of Texas, who designed it, and faithfully carried out your instructions of Gulfport convention. The pin reached Mrs. Goodlett when she was ill, and I shall never forget the pleasure depicted on her wan countenance when she received this token of your loving remembrance, and Mrs. Stone's beautiful letter couched in tender and appropriate phrase.

Monteagle holds an interstate U. D. C. Congress, every summer, to which all of you are cordially invited. This year I requested our President General to preside, and she came and set her high official stamp upon the meeting, and it goes without saying that it was a signal success. The President General returned to Tennessee the last of September, and visited us for a day or two in Nashville, where she made many new friends. We took her to the Soldiers' Home, and lunched with the old soldiers, and the efficient Home Committee. We took her to the "Hermitage"—the home of Andrew Jackson, where the regent and committee from the Hermitage Association received and welcomed us.

Mrs. Henderson was tendered a reception by the local chapters, in the parlors of the Maxwell House, and here she made her address to the Tennessee Division. Many out-of-town officers and Daughters were present. Among the state officers, Mrs. J. W. Clapp, State Recording Secretary; Mrs. E. E. Adams, Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. Dobbins, First Vice-President.

The following day Mrs. Henderson was invited at 5 o'clock to the home of the State President, to say goodbye to all of the U. D. C. over a cup of tea.

I brought with me to Norfolk a modest little Tennessee tree to plant in the Confederate grove at Jamestown. The tree is a distinctive Tennessee tree—the hackberry—and ordered from a local nurseryman, with instructions to get it on the old Hermitage farm, which added historical value, a great favorite with us. Mrs. Voorhees, of California wrote, requesting this at the hands of the State President.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. W. B. PILCHER, President.

REPORT OF THE TEXAS DIVISION.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy in Convention assembled:

Texas comes with the same old story of loyalty and fidelity to this parent organization, and the principles for which our southern ancestors fought. Her work has been harmonious and extremely successful. Last year we reported seventeen new chapters chartered, today we come to you with the same goodly number, seventeen new chapters and three amended charters for this past year. In reorganizing one chapter a dear old mother of the Confederacy rode sixty-one miles over the country. Our increased in membership has been marked.

Our beloved Mrs. Winkler organized the R. E. Lee Chapter at El Paso, this year on January 18th with 148 charter members, a record unparalleled in the Division history.

$100.00 was pledged by the President of the Division at the Gulfport convention for the Arlington Monument. A committee was appointed with Mrs. J. B. Roberdeau of Austin, chairman. The entire pledge has been remitted to the Treasurer General of the U. D. C. Mrs. Dalery Edward Austin, of Galveston, Texas member of Shiloh Monument Committee has exceeded the pledge of $25.00 in her remittance to that Committee, which was made for Texas, likewise at Gulfport.

Mrs. Winkler, the regent of Texas Room in the Confederate Museum at Richmond, Virginia, reports $91.00 sent her by Texas Division chapters, forwarded to Mrs. Harris, the vice regent. Likewise the completion of the Dick Dowling Window and the placing upon the wall the portrait of Dick Dowling and General Ben Mc-Cullough. At the December convention of the Texas Division, the constitution will be so amended as to require all chapters to pay a fee of $1.00 to the Confederate Museum in Richmond. Texas was the first State to raise this voluntary tax and she hopes the other states will follow her suit in this constitutional requirement, thereby placing this grand monument to the Confederacy, this museum in the White House of the Confederacy on a substantial financial basis. Texas has not been idle in her State work. Our entire body has labored with a new zeal and energy in raising the fund for the Confederate Womens' Home, which the Division has erected in the city of Austin. Two years ago the Division had raised $3,570.00. Since that time she has contracted for a building which cost almost $12,000.00, nearly the entire sum of which has been raised in the past two years. The convention to be held in Austin the first week in December will witness the dedication of this Home to the service of our dear, aged women. The Division will have to maintain this Home until such time as the State may amend her constitution and take charge. The past legislature, without a dissenting voice submitted an amendment to be voted upon by the people, providing for constitutional changes to this effect, but there were many other amendments submitted by the legislature at the same time, which caused considerable antagonism among the voters and by virtue of their defeat, our amendment was lost by a mere scratch. So close was the contest that for months it was supposed we had carried the day, but the final count proved our defeat by less than a thousand votes. As it now stands the Division will have to raise the entire fund for the maintenance of this home; but she will do so to her credit, for Texas is the land where liberty, loyalty and devotion to her heroes and heroines of war time days stands as a sacred privilege and she feels she is only discharging her duty in dispensing happiness to the women who suffered as the home guard in the perilous days of the sixties.

Our monumental work will not suffer, only it will be slightly hampered by the drain upon the chapters for the maintenance of the home. Many monuments, the erection of which have been in contemplation by chapters in the State will soon be unveiled. The R. E. Lee Chapter of Houston has the money on hand to unveil a most costly monument to the Confederacy in their city. The Veuve Jefferson Davis Chapter of Galveston, the Navarro Chapter of Corsicana and the Gonzales Chapter will closely follow the Houston unveiling. The John H. Reagan Chapter of Palestine has accepted the model for a monument to our grand old man of Texas, and the Confederacy, Judge John H. Reagan. The Rusk Chapter recently held unveiling ceremonies over their U. D. C. monument at which the veterans and citizens far and near assisted them in celebrating. The Veuve Jefferson Davis Chapter has taken stock in the sea wall of Galveston to the amount of seven hundred and fifty dollars.

The President is glad to note that the women of Texas are not afraid of business propositions and they no longer stand appalled at their Division being incorporated and having to conform to the laws of the State. They are developing a faculty for handling their own affairs in a business like way, which shows that the women of the Southland, although they prefer the shielding and protecting arm of the sterner sex, when responsibilities fall upon them, do not shirk them in any sense of the word, but grasp them with courage and handle them with business like dispatch.

It has been a privilege to work for and with the Daughters of the Confederacy, both State and General, and as their President I have tried to heed their cause for encouragement and respond to their courteous invitations whenever it was in my power. The appeal for the Wirz Monument made at Gulfport touched my heart deeply and individually and I sent them a contribution of five dollars. Mrs. Mollie R. McGill Rosenberg, twenty-five dollars, Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, five dollars, and Mrs. Armstrong and the members of her Navarro Chapter sent five dollars. Whereas, this is not large within itself, owing to the great work that Texas has upon her, it seemed a good deal. Before this year closes, we will have raised ten thousand dollars in money for our Confederate woman's home, secured the furnishings of twenty-one rooms at a cost of fifty to one hundred dollars each, paid insurance, taxes, and incidental expenses which amount to more than fifteen thousand dollars. It has always been deemed a privilege and pleasure to officiate in the name of the Division at U. D. C. and U. C. V. affairs. Whenever the opportunity presented itself, all respect was paid the veterans and daughters. As the President of the Texas Division it was my pleasure to send a telegram of greetings from Texas to Col. James Ryder Randall, the composer of our grand Southern anthem, "Maryland, My Maryland," upon the day which he was entertained at the Jamestown Exposition, as the honored guest of Maryland. This attention seemed to be highly appreciated by our poet and the thought frequently comes to me how much better to do these little things for the living than to send flowers to be scattered over the bier and fade and wither with the dawn of another day.

As State President and personal friend, I have mingled with the veterans in Texas on their reunion days and felt pleased to tell these knights of Southern chivalry and courage, of the love and veneration we bear them, for they gave us this right of our proud order, the Daughters of the Confederacy. At the great State reunion recently held in Dallas by invitation of my old friend, Gen. Cabell, I addressed the veterans upon our work and theirs and pledged them not only the love and fidelity of the Daughters, but that it would be my endeavor to have our Texas Division during their convention to be held in December to go on record as establishing a scholarship in the University of Texas in the name of the Confederacy, where some student would study to perfect themselves in historical lines and take up the work of writing Southern history from a Southern standpoint. True, in every detail, and unbiased, for we feel that the South can stand the limelight of investigation.

We rejoiced with the veterans at their grand reunion in Richmond, the Capitol of the Confederacy, and Texas lovingly laid her tribute at the feet of the statute of our one and only President of the Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, upon that great day when veterans and daughters were joined by the militia, the citizens and statesmen in paying tribute to the grandest hero of the South. The little token from Texas was a floral star, an insignia won by the valor and bravery of the heroes of the Republic of Texas, later affixed to the stars and stripes of Washington and then to the stars and bars of the Confederacy. The Richmond Blues struck the key note of all our hearts when they played that sweet old tune, "We Shall Weep, But We Shall Miss Him; There Will Be One Vacant Chair." One vacant chair in the Presidential annals of our nation, but it stands as a deified throne in the hearts of the Southerners.

Too much cannot be said of the Richmond Chapter, U. D. C., with our Mrs. N. V. Randolph at their head, for the beautiful manner in which they entertained the Veterans and Daughters. Texas feels constrained to add here quote of thanks for Richmond courtesies.

The centenary birthday of General R. E. Lee was unanimously celebrated by the Daughters in Texas and this year will see the Division paying tribute to the centennial year of our President Jefferson Davis.

Last, but not least, I bear you an invitation from the R. E. Lee Chapter of Texas and our Division, to come to Texas and hold your convention in the city of Houston for the year 1908. Later I will give you their messages and read you the gracious invitations which they have so lavishly extended to you.

Texas comes with love and veneration to Virginia, the birthplace of Southern Anglo-Saxon civilization, the seat of government of our short lived, but glorious and noble Confederacy and when we part, may it be only "Adios," till we meet in Texas.

Yours respectfully,

MRS. JOSEPH B. DIBRELL,
President Texas Division U. D. C.

VIRGINIA DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Virginia Division has the honor and the pleasure of being able to report one of the most useful and prosperous years in its history. It has grown not only in numbers but in strength and vigor and usefulness.

New chapters have been formed, and many of those already in existence seem to have awakened to new life and usefulness. We have now 106 chapters as against 99 reported last year, and a total membership of 5,050 as against 4,725 reported to the last general convention.

The Virginia Division counts no members but those active members, whose application blanks, properly filled out, have been duly filed, and those whose dues have been fully paid up.

We have raised, and expended in many proper and useful ways, about $15,000, exclusive of money spent in the erection and furnishing of "Beauvoir."

The R. E. Lee Memorial exercises on January 19th, 1907, were held by all of our chapters, while special and elaborate services were held by the Richmond chapter in St. Paul's Church, Richmond, and by the Lexington chapter, in General Lee's old home at Lexington.

The Stuart monument was unveiled at Richmond, May 31st, 1907, and what took place then was a fitting tribute to that gallant spirit who died without fear and without reproach, while the ceremonies which attended the unveiling of the splendid monument, erected through your efforts, to President Davis, were a credit to our precious Southland and in every way worthy of the splendid character of the first and only President of the Southern Confederacy.

As to the actual number of Crosses of Honor conferred in Virginia since the last general convention, I cannot speak positively, but the Recorder of Cross for Virginia reports 1,500 blanks signed by her.

The work of the chapters in contributions to the Soldiers' Home at Richmond, and the Home for Needy Confederate Women, also at Richmond. Several chapters support rooms in the latter institution. Many chapters bestow prizes to High School pupils for essays on subjects of Confederate history.

All chapters support and care for, nurse and bury Confederate veterans. Since the Jefferson Davis monument has been completed the Richmond chapter devotes its great energies and resources to the Soldiers' Home.

The following will show what has been done in the way of monuments, memorials, etc.

Agnes Lee, Franklin. Report progress being made on monument.

Albemarle, Charlottesville. Have given contract for a monument to cost $3,000.

Anna Stonewall Jackson, Abingdon. Have made contributions to a monument, and enclosed cemetery lot.

Bethel, Newport News. Have placed headstones at graves of eleven soldiers.

Gen. Dabney H. Maury, Philadelphia. Has erected a tablet in the Nurses' Home at Fredericksburg.

Mary Custis Lee, Lexington. Has finished work on the Jackson Memorial Hospital, and the same is now being occupied.

Shenandoah, Woodstock. Has placed headstones at eight soldiers' graves.

Pickett-Buchanan, Norfolk. Has completed monument.

Wythe Grey, Wytheville. Has marked thirty-four graves.

William R. Terry, Bedford City. Hope to unveil their monument next May.

Loudon, Leesburg. Report progress on monument.

Other chapters report contributions to memorial work.

The Virginia Division feels proud to be able to say that "Beauvoir," the D. of C. building at the Jamestown Exposition, has been a distinct and positive success, and has proven in every way worthy of your generous patronage and liberal support. We trust that it has proven, and will prove, a pleasure and a comfort to each one of you, since it has been to us all, a labor of love. You are welcome to visit there and realize that there is to be found at least one enterprise, conceived, planned and managed by women which has proven a success, financially and otherwise.

Virginia takes great pleasure in announcing that she has succeeded in conducting to a successful final termination the troubles of her much loved and appreciated Gen. Dabney H. Maury Chapter, and that she has been satisfactorily assured that the charter, with all its privileges and rights, will be restored to them immediately.

The Virginia Division gives you hearty welcome, and trusts that your stay in our midst may prove useful, pleasant and profitable.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. WM. R. MCKENNEY,
President Virginia Division, U. D. C.

WASHINGTON.

Madam President-General and U. D. C. of the Confederacy in Convention:

The Mildred Lee Chapter of Spokane, Wash., feels that no apology is necessary for its weakness in members, for in loyalty and interest it is strong, and self-assertive. It early learned in this far away west that its numbers would be few, and our situation inspired us with great earnestness, notwithstanding our many drawbacks and disappointments, we have adopted and kept in view the motto "never give up," and as we lost out in our report last year, it gives us much pleasure to send our report accompanied with many greetings to the convention.

Social entertainments of our chapter have consisted of the yearly celebrations of President Davis' and General Lee's birth days, the chief feature being papers on these illustrious men with some appropriate musical numbers.

We were twice entertained at a box party at the Spokane theatre by Miss Galatin, a prominent actress from Virginia, and on both occasions we recognized her with an informal reception. The crowning event of the past year, for us, was a luncheon our chapter gave Mrs. Ben. Tillman, of South Carolina, at the Spokane Silver Grill. It was a red-letter day for us, and we would advise any Southern woman to take advantage of meeting her should an opportunity present itself.

We are not growing in membership very rapidly, one member transferred from Kentucky. We had the genuine pleasure of conferring Crosses of Honor on two old Confederate Veterans. Dr. Van Osdel, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave us a fine talk. He having been on the other side during the war made it very touching to see him assist one of our veterans in adjusting the cross. We also had a warm and patriotic address from Rev. R. K. Triplett, pastor of the South Methodist Church of Spokane, and a typical Southern man. A paper from Mrs. G. W. Darby on the Cross of Honor. Mrs. R. K. Triplett in a pleasing and charming manner added greatly to our program with recitations, but after all, the eloquent addresses and studied papers, the best and most appreciated part of the program was when the children recited their little patriotic speeches, they being Mary and Jimmie Maclin, grandchildren of the President of Mildred Lee Chapter, also piano music furnished for the occasion by Mary McClintock, a young Southern girl of Arkansas, gave the old soldiers and tender-hearted Daughters ample time to mix and mingle the tears which flowed freely that day.

Carefully prepared papers on Confederate Generals are a part of our monthly programs. Our finances have not been much trouble to us, but the little mite has been successfully managed by our terasurer, who has served in that capacity since we organized. With every bill paid and every appeal responded to as generously as we could afford, we have a creditable balance for our little chapter in the bank, which we increased very nicely recently by a cake sale.

We contributed $10.00 to the Shiloh fund, and $5.00 to Arlington, and anticipate doing so each year. Made two quilts and sent to the Texas Confederate Widows' Home, also a box of fancy work for the bazaar valued at $15.00. We certainly endorse these bazaars at the conventions, and have promised ourselves to do better next year.

The success which has marked our last year's record is a promise to us for still better achievements in the future. We feel encouraged, but you women of the Southland cannot appreciate our situation in this far-away West, but we believe in the principles of our work with the kind of belief that means integrity and sincerity, and loyalty to the memories of the Confederate soldier, and we hope to grow stronger as the years go by.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. N. F. BROOKS,

President of Mildred Lee Chapter, Spokane, Wash.

WEST VIRGINIA DIVISION.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

On behalf of the West Virginia Division of the U. D. C., I have the honor and pleasure to bring best wishes to this convention. Last year West Virginia was first called to give an account of the work in her State; this year, she is where she belongs, the last in the column, which represents the Southern States, and she is not less appreciative of the consideration her State has always received at the hands of this body of women.

The Division representative brings you glad tidings. We are progressing well, and while there are yet many who have neglected the great privilege of joining in the work, it is not that their hearts are less true to the cause, but have allowed obstacles to interfere. We feel these barriers will be torn down, and before many years, every Southern woman in West Virginia will be clamoring to work in the organization of the U. D. C.

Several chapters have not been heard from. It isn't that the members are not true to us, but living in communities where you can count the Southern people upon your fingers, they become discouraged and desire to transfer their membership to other chapters in the State, where congeniality reigns, and where they can express the true sentiment of their hearts. Monuments have been and are being erected over the State to the memory of our brave dead. The memorial work is worthily exemplified in the annual strewing of flowers upon the graves with appropriate ceremonies. The social features of our work receive every attention, and it greatly increases our capacity for doing good. The benevolent work is the essence of our being, and as long as there is a needy Confederate veteran in our State, we will not weary of well doing, but see to it that his needs are administered to, and that he is not forgotten in his declining years.

The 100th anniversary of the birth of the gallant Lee (as proposed by our worthy President) was most appropriately and enthusiastically celebrated. Flowers were sent from the division to the unveiling of the Jefferson Davis monument. Our annual State meeting was held September 20th at Lewisburg, near the scene of many a conflict during the War Between the States. Much interest was shown. The Division President was absent on account of sickness in her family. The 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Kate W. Reynolds, presided with tact and marked ability.

We are constantly being reminded of the old veterans who live in remote parts of the State and who have just heard of the Cross of Honor. Our work will be to see that every one will wear the emblem of honor who can give a clear and clean record of their war life; they, and they alone, should hold that Cross.

The historical work is all that we can desire, in the hands of one of the brightest and cleverest women in the State. She leaves nothing undone to accomplish her purpose, which is to perpetuate the true history, the touching incidents and interesting traditions of the past. Her report read at the last State convention will appear in The Veteran, and will be enjoyed by all who read it. I must say with what pleasure we would introduce into our State schools, the Southern histories. At present that is impossible. Ours is a Northern State; the principals and teachers are usually selected from the North; they would think it treason to the government to accept the Southern version of the war story. But all Southern families have them in their homes, study, read and recommend them to others. The time may come, and I trust in my life, when we will be able to use the histories we know to be true.

One thing I propose for our next year's work will be taken from Virginia. All counties of Virginia are having the names of the soldiers born therein recorded in the clerk's office of the respective counties. It is a law enacted by the General Assembly. We have no such law in West Virginia on the subject, but the Confederates in various counties, with the aid of the U. D. C., will apply to the court to have the record made, a book kept in the clerk's office of the county or city, which record shall have the same value as the records here. I feel sure we can get the consent of the judges to enter the necessary orders because of its historic value, and in the far-off years will be referred to with great interest.

Our financial condition is good. We have raised the per capita tax to 25 cents.

In conclusion, I tell you we have 22 working chapters, 1,135 members. As their President, I am proud to stand at the helm and direct their work.

Respectfully submitted,

VIRGINIA FAULKNER McSHERRY.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF MRS. SHELDON STRINGER, PRESIDENT OF FLORIDA DIVISION.

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

It becomes the sad duty of your President to announce to you the death of Mrs. Sheldon Stringer, the President of the Florida Division, U. D. C., which occurred at Columbia, South Carolina, November the 25th, 1907, as she was returning to her home from the General Convention, U. D. C., held in Norfolk, Virginia.

A great loss has been sustained by our sister State Division, and the Daughters of the Confederacy mourn a co-worker and friend, whose interest and zeal for the cause we love was faithful and untiring.

The loving sympathy of our Association goes out to her family in this hour of affliction.

CORNELIA BRANCH STONE.

RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF MRS. J. JEFFERSON THOMAS.

Whereas, Mrs. J. Jefferson Thomas, who on May 11th, 1907 passed through the gates of death into the Great Beyond, and

Whereas, She faithfully served the United Daughters of the Confederacy, first as Secretary, and for several years as Treasurer; and

Whereas, Full of years and earnest in her love for Confederate work, she represented a type of woman, Daughters of the Confederacy hold in tenderest regard; be it resolved,

That we, The United Daughters of the Confederacy, lament the loss of this departed member, sorrowing to know that the places that knew her sunshiny presence will know her no more.

Resolved, second, That we tender our earnest sympathy to the family, whose home circle has been thus sadly broken, and point them for solace and strength to the God whose she was, and whom she served, and who has promised His own, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end."

Resolved, third, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, and a copy be sent to the family.

MRS. SHELDON STRINGER,
MISS MARY B. POPPENHEIM,
MISS ALICE BAXTER,

Committee.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF SENATORS MORGAN AND PETTUS.

Senators John Tyler Morgan and Edmund Winston Pettus were true representatives of the noble civilization of our Southland before the War Between the States, and of the valor, courage and devotion of the citizen soldier during the war, and of the endurance, fortitude, wisdom and patriotism required by the agonizing process of reconstruction.

The highest and best type of the South before, during and after the war were embodied and expressed in their lives and characters. And this "grand combination of excellencies" made them high exemplars of American patriotism, integrity, statesmanship and civic virtue. Their lives and characters constitute a rich heritage not only and especially to the South, but to the whole American people.

It is one of the first and highest duties of the Daughters of the Confederacy to preserve the memories and emphasize the great leading typical characters of the South's noblest and best for the instruction and emulation of coming generations.

Therefore be it resolved, That the Daughters of the Confederacy, in general convention assembled at Norfolk, Virginia, commend to the youth not only of the South, but of the whole country, for their study and emulation the lives and characters of John Tyler Morgan and Edmund Winston Pettus, as gentlemen, soldiers, jurists, patriots and statesmen.

MARY BILLINGSLEY BROWN,
President Alabama Division, U. D. C.
Chairman Committee.

RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF MRS. N. C. BLANCHARD.

Death is sad at all times, but when it claimed the beautiful spirit of Mrs. Emily Barrett Blanchard, the beloved wife of the Governor of Louisiana, it was particularly to be deplored. When the news flashed over the wires that Mrs. Blanchard had passed away at Mineral Springs, Texas, where she had gone in search of health, not only did the Capital City bow her head in grief, but the whole State mourned the death of this lovely woman.

Mrs. Blanchard was beloved by all who knew her; so sweet and gracious was she in social life that she became one of the most popular women in the South. She was a source of comfort to those in need of sympathy, dispensing the same with such sweetness that made the recipient aglow with appreciation and gratitude. She was ready at all times to lend a helping hand to the unfortunate, and she was loved by the poor for her sweet charity.

Her presence was like the blessed sunshine, and as a wife, mother and friend, she was the true type of Southern womanhood.

But in Confederate circles she was best known. She loved the cause and was an earnest worker in the Daughters of the Confederacy. She always came to the aid of the old veterans, whom she loved with a deep and lasting affection. She attended the convention last November at Gulfport, and was deeply interested in its proceedings, and was the center of attraction at all social functions. Those who met her casually were impressed with her genial spirit and gracious bearing. Texas mourns with its sister State over its loss. All veterans in Louisiana, as well as the Daughters of the Confederacy, are bowed in grief at her untimely death. She was buried with the flag she loved so well draped about her casket.

In the death of Mrs. Blanchard the United Daughters of the Confederacy have lost a valued member.

Therefore, be it resolved, That we, the United Daughters of the Confederacy in convention assembled, give expression to the sorrow that has befallen us, and the sympathy which goes out from our hearts to her bereaved family.

Therefore, be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved husband, son and daughter, and that they also be spread upon our minutes.

Respectfully submitted,

MATTIE B. McGRATH,

President Louisiana Division,

DAISY McCLAURIN STEVENS,

President Mississippi Division,

ELLA PEYTON DANCY DIBRELL,

President Texas Division,

Committee.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF MRS. JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.

Whilst shadowed by sorrow, Kentucky is proud to submit for your approval the following resolutions to honor the memory of Mrs. John C. Breckinridge, who passed to her heavenly home in October, 1907. She now rests by the side of her adored, illustrious and distinguished husband, Gen. John C. Breckinridge, C. S. A., in the Lexington cemetery.

Be it resolved, first, Whereas, the United Daughters of the Confederacy in convention assembled at Norfolk, Va., November 13 1907, do humbly bow submissively to the decree of our Almighty Father, but with sorrow at losing one whose long life had evidenced the perfection to which human beings can attain. A woman of rare strength of mind, charming personality, of great simplicity of character; one whom none knew but to love her. Possessing all the attributes that characterizes the true Southern gentle woman.

Therefore, be it resolved, That this convention spread these resolutions in their minute book, also a copy be sent to the surviving members of her family, with the sincere sympathy of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

RESOLUTIONS ON MRS. KIRBY SMITH.

In God's own acre peaceful sleep
 Souls our South reveres,
 With each new mound we freshly weep
 And wet it with our tears,
 Enfolding all with garlands sweet,
 That waste not with the years.

Once again in the midst of our sacred and loved memorial functions we find another charge given to our cherished keeping—a new-made grave—that of one who was recently of us, a Daughter of the Confederacy—aye, more than that, a bride of the Confederacy; one whose name and personality were associated with stirring historic achievements of the Confederate cause.

In the beautiful Tennessee Cumberland Mountains, at Sewanee, the home of the University of the South, in the community in which she for so long had been an ornament and a blessing, surrounded by her children, to whom her life had been a benediction, Mrs. Cassie Selden Kirby-Smith, on Sunday the 3rd of this November, peacefully breathed her last.

She was the wife of General Edmund Kirby-Smith, the last full General of the Confederate Army, whose death preceded her's by fourteen years.

Mrs. Kirby-Smith was the daughter of Caroline Hare and John Armistead Selden, of Lynchburg, Virginia, whose father was Marshall Selden, of colonial fame.

She met General Kirby-Smith soon after the battle of Manassas, in which the General received a severe wound. She nursed and entertained him during the days of his convalescence. She was married in Lynchburg, Virginia, at the Episcopal Church with a military wedding, September 24th, 1861.

After General Kirby-Smith's brilliant campaign in Kentucky he was ordered by President Davis to take charge of the Trans-Mississippi Department, with headquarters just out of Shreveport.

Here, practically cut off from all the amenities of life, Mrs. Kirby-Smith shared with her husband the rough quarters and hardships of the west, accompanying him much against his wish, and in spite of his most earnest protests, in some of the hardest campaigns in that period of his history.

After the surrender, when the General was compelled to flee to Mexico, Mrs. Kirby-Smith with her two babies and black mammy, made their way under great difficulties to Virginia.

Mrs. Kirby-Smith visited President Johnson and General Grant to obtain permission for the General's return. Her few words with General Grant have become famed in Confederate annals. General Grant said to her:

"Cannot your husband trust his country?" and she immediately replied:

"That is the question, General, 'Can his country trust him?'"

It was on the strength of these words that the General returned to this country, though he did not take the oath of allegiance till a few years before his death.

For the last thirty years she made her home at Sewanee, and endeared herself to all the community of every rank.

For years the old Confederate soldiers have gathered for their annual picnic on the large lawn of the Kirby-Smith home. One of the old veterans said at her funeral:

"This will end our picnics at Sewanee."

To the poor at Sewanee she was a most generous friend. Many a little mountain boy owes his first steps in learning to her kindness and aid in giving him the necessary books, etc. The sick and the needy never came to her in vain.

She lived a life of gentleness and beauty and unselfishness. She sowed the seeds of piety, of duty, of loving kindness, and rich shall be the sheaves that she will garner in the golden harvest time of the great hereafter. So,

Whereas, In the fulness of time it has pleased a loving and all-wise Providence to take from us our beloved fellow Daughter, Mrs. Cassie Selden Kirby-Smith,

Therefore, be it resolved, That we, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in convention assembled, express our sorrow at the death of this noble and distinguished Daughter of the Confederacy; and

That we shall ever cherish her memory as a representative of the women of the Confederacy; and,

312 MINUTES OF FOURTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION,

SOCIAL

The social side of the convention holds intense interest for the "Daughters," and the delightful pleasure of the reunion of these friends from the north, east, south and west in the annual conventions is anticipated with greatest delight; therefore the social functions are always most enjoyable.

After the beautiful opening exercises of the convention in the magnificent Auditorium Building in the exposition grounds, each delegate was equipped with badges and presented with a complimentary ticket to visit the grand spectacular production of the battle between the Virginia, the iron-clad vessel of the Confederacy, and the Monitor, on the "warpath."

In the afternoon, the ladies of the Virginia Division were "at home" in their beautiful building, "Beauvoir" a splendid replica of President Davis' home on the Gulf coast. The charming women who received so graciously, made the visiting Daughters realize at once that they were in the hands of friends, to enjoy Virginia's far famed hospitality. Sweet music and a delicious luncheon made the hours pass all too quickly at the headquarters of the Virginia Division.

The noon lunches served in Odd Fellows Hall, by the ladies of the hostess chapter, each day between the morning and the afternoon meetings, added pleasure and comfort to the delegates and visitors. These lunches were delightful features of the social side of the convention. A beautiful reception was held at the Woman's Club, on Thursday evening, when the Pickett-Buchanan Chapter entertained in honor of the U. D. C. In the receiving party of this pretty reception, were the officers of the hostess chapter and the general and honorary officers of the U. D. C.

SOUTHERN CROSS OF HONOR

The idea of the Southern Cross of Honor to be given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy to the veterans and descendants of deceased Confederate soldiers and sailors originated with Mrs. Mary Ann Cobb Erwin, Athens, Ga.

The design offered by Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the committee appointed by Mrs. Katie Cabell Currie, President U. D. C., at Hot Springs, Ark., November, 1898, to procure designs, was accepted at Richmond, Va., November, 1899. The members of the committee were Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, chairman, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. C. Helen Plane, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Mary Ann Cobb Erwin, Athens, Ga. Upon the resignation of Mrs. Erwin, Miss Mildred Lewis Rutherford, Athens, Ga., was appointed in her place.

The rules formulated by this committee were found insufficient to meet the many questions that arose regarding the bestowal of the Cross, so at the request of Mrs. Gabbett, who had been appointed Custodian of the Cross at Richmond, 1899, Mrs. Edwin G. Weed, president of U. D. C., enlarged the committee at Montgomery, Ala., November, 1900.

The members of this committee are: Mrs. Cornella Branch Stone, Galveston, Texas, chairman; Mrs. Virginia Faulkner McSherry, West Va.; Mrs. J. W. Tench, Florida; Mrs. J. N. Thompson, Alabama; Mrs. Beede, California; Mrs. Poe, Maryland; Mrs. L. H. Raines, Georgia.

RULES FOR BESTOWAL OF CROSS OF HONOR.

Rule. 1.

Section 1. Each State and Territorial Division shall elect, or appoint a recorder of Cross of Honor, to whom chapters shall apply for blank certificates of eligibility to be filled out by the veterans, and blank forms for alphabetical lists, to be filled out with data from the certificates, by the president of the chapter ordering Crosses. When so filled out, these shall be sent to the recorder of said division, for approval or correction, and forwarded by her to the Custodian of the Cross, who will forward the Crosses to the chapter, provided the rules have been complied with, and the decision of the Custodian shall be final.

The recorders shall apply to the Custodian of Cross of Honor U. D. C., for the blank forms of certificates, and blank forms of alphabetical lists, supplying these, on demand, to the chapters, accompanied by an order to the Custodian, signed by the President General and Recording Secretary General, U. D. C.

Sec. 2. The oldest living lineal descendant of Veterans, who has not received a Cross, may secure it in any county, provided that notices, for three consecutive months, be published in the city and county newspapers, calling upon veterans, to send in certificates for Crosses.

If, at the expiration of three months no veterans have applied, upon voucher from the State recorder, that such publication has been made, the bestowal of Crosses upon descendants and widows may begin, the same to be governed by the rules for bestowal of the Cross upon veterans.

If there is no lineal descendant of a veteran, or, in case, that the oldest lineal descendant does not desire the Cross, the widow of a veteran may receive the Cross, by presenting with her application, written avowal of such descendant, that he or she waives the right to the Cross, provided said widow be a Confederate woman, who has endured the hardships and privations of the period from "Sixty-one to Sixty-five."

No descendant, or widow can receive a second Cross, such privilege being granted to veterans alone, nor can such descendant or widow wear the Cross.

The Custodian General will supply to the recorders of Cross of Honor of such State and Territorial division, special blank forms, of certificates for descendants and widows, which must be filled with data of eligibility, such blank forms in use should conform with the headings used in the record book of the Custodian General.

Section 3. After waiting one month, chapters shall send to the division recorder and Custodian, names of veterans for whom Crosses have been received and not claimed, and these Crosses, if not engraved, may be used at the next bestowal, provided, other certificates in due form have been sent to the Custodian.

Rule II.

Section 1. No Crosses will be furnished by the Custodian unless the order is accompanied by certificates of eligibility, properly filled out, by the veterans, and certified to, by two, or more, members of a camp of United Confederate Veterans, and alphabetical list from president.

Section 2. Presidents of chapters shall fill out blank alphabetical lists from the certificates with all data contained therein to forward with certificates to their State Recorder of Cross of Honor, with money order, for the number of Crosses desired.

The Custodian of the Cross of Honor shall keep a book, or books, in which shall be kept, alphabetically arranged, the names and data of all veterans, descendants of veterans, and widows to whom Crosses have been issued.

Section 3. The certificates shall be returned by the Custodian to the presidents of chapters who have ordered Crosses, and the same be placed on file by the said chapter, that data may be furnished when needed for historical, or other purposes.

Section 4. Each chapter shall keep a book, alphabetically arranged, in which is recorded the name and service of every veteran, and ancestor of descendant, and widow, of a veteran, who receives a Cross. Each State or Territorial recorder shall keep a similar record book of all Crosses issued.

Rule III.

Section 1. Crosses may be granted by the muster roll of the nearest camp, U. C. V., and to Confederate veterans who are not members of a camp, who can give the required proof of eligibility, attested by two veterans who are members of a camp.

Section 2. The oldest living lineal descendant may secure the Cross, by giving the same proof of eligibility as that required of his veteran ancestor—and Confederate widows of veterans, applying for Cross, must fill blank form of certificate, giving service of veteran, whose widow she is—such widows must have endured the hardships of the war period from 1861 to 1865.

Section 3. Upon the certificate of a reputable physician that a veteran is dying, if desired, he may receive the Cross immediately.

Rule IV.

Section 1. The Crosses may be bestowed on the Memorial Day, selected by each State or Territorial Division, U. D. C.; the birthdays of President Jefferson Davis and General Robert E. Lee—June 3rd and January 19th; and one commemorative day, between July 1st and January 19th, to be selected by each State or Territorial division, in convention assembled. The presentation shall be accompanied with such ceremonies as will give proper dignity to the occasion.

Rule V.

Section 1. A veteran, in good standing, having lost his Cross may have it replaced once, only, by applying to the president of the chapter from which he received the Cross, and he must furnish copy of the certificate upon which the Cross was first bestowed. If a second Cross is lost, a certificate may be given in testimony that such veteran has been awarded a Cross. No descendant, or widow of a veteran, can have a second Cross.

Section 2. Chapter Presidents are urged to advise veterans to have their names engraved on the bar of Cross, for the purpose of identification, if lost.

Section 3. A veteran having been awarded a Cross, and dying before it is received, the president of the chapter bestowing it may give it to the oldest lineal descendant, or widow, under provisions of Rule 1, Sec. 2. A veteran, having received a Cross, may bequeath it to any lineal descendant that he may select.

Section 4. On, and after November 1st, 1915, no more Crosses shall be issued.

Rule VI.

The Cross cannot be worn, in any case, or on any occasion, except by the veteran upon whom it was bestowed—no descendant or widow can wear it.

Rule VII.

Section 1. Where counties have no local organization of U. D. C., a veteran may receive the Cross through the president of the nearest local chapter, or the President of chapter in the country from which he entered the Confederate service, if so desired.

Section 2. When chapters are not able to bear the expense of purchasing Crosses for other counties than their own, these may be furnished at the expense of the general association, upon the authority of the President General, U. D. C.

Rule VIII.

All orders for Crosses shall be filed in the custodian's office three weeks before the day intended for bestowal.

Rule IX.

Any chapter departing from these rules will not be entitled to Crosses for presentation.

Preceding the presentation of the Crosses, Rules V., VI., VII., VIII., and IX., shall be read upon every occasion of the bestowal.

The president of each chapter shall see that the camps of Confederate Veterans and Sons of Confederate Veterans in her county shall receive a copy of these rules for continual reference.

The objects of this association are historical, educational, memorial, benevolent, and social; to fulfill the duties of charity to the survivors of the War Between the States and those dependent upon them; to collect and preserve the material for a truthful history of the war; to protect historic places of the Confederacy; to record the part taken by Southern women, as well in untiring effort after the war in the reconstruction of the South as in patient endurance of hardship and patriotic devotion during the struggle; to honor the memory of those who served and those who fell in the service of the Confederate States; and to cherish the ties of friendship among the members of the society.

ARTICLE III.

Organization of Chapters.

Section 1. Those women entitled to membership are the widows, wives, mothers, sisters, nieces, and lineal descendants of such men as served honorably in the Confederate army, navy, or civil service; or of those men, unfit for active duty, who loyally gave aid to the cause; also women and their lineal descendants, wherever living, who can give proof of personal service and loyal aid to the Southern cause during the war.

Sec. 2. Seven or more eligible women in any State or Territory, in which no division exists, may organize a chapter, and be chartered on application to the United Daughters of the Confederacy. All chapters subsequently formed in that State or Territory shall apply through the first chapter to the United Daughters of the Confederacy for their charters, until a State division shall have been formed. No chapter shall be chartered in any incorporated city or town in which a chapter already exists, except by and with the consent of a majority of the officers of the State or Territorial division in which said city or town may be situated. A fee of $3 shall be paid to the United Daughters of the Confederacy for each charter.

Sec. 3. Nothing in this Constitution contained shall be construed as preventing any division or chapter from becoming legally incorporated under the laws of the State or Territory in which it is located, should it desire to do so.

Sec. 4. Each chapter shall, on the first day of each succeeding October, pay into the treasury of the United Daughters of the Confederacy the sum of 10 cents for each and every member who may at such date be in good standing on the roll call of such chapter.

Sec. 5. No person shall vote or hold office in more than one chapter at the same time; and every person who may at any time be enrolled as a member of more than one chapter shall, within thirty days thereafter, file with the Recording Secretary of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and with the secretary of each chapter of which at that time she may be a member, a statement in writing, setting forth the name of the chapter in which she desires to vote and hold office; and until such statement shall have been filed, such person shall not be entitled to vote or hold office in any chapter of which she may be a member.

Sec. 6. Auxilliary or junior chapters may be organized by any chapter, and under such restrictions and limitations as may be prescribed by each State or Territorial division on reference thereto. The members of such junior chapters shall not be entitled to representation in, nor be required to pay any fees to the General Association of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Each State or Territorial division shall embrace in its annual report a statement of the number of junior chapters, with all necessary particulars in reference thereto. Chapters shall have the right, at discretion, to dissolve such auxiliary or junior chapters. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent regular chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy from receiving young girls as members.

ARTICLE IV.

Organization of State Divisions.

Section 1. When three or more chapters shall be organized in any State or Territory, it shall be the duty of the first or charter chapter, to call a convention for the purpose of organizing a state or Territorial division. Sec. 2. In case a charter chapter shall allow six months to expire, after the receipt of a request from two other chapters of the same State or Territory to call a convention for the purpose of organizing a State or Territorial division, the next chapter in order of organization shall be empowered to call such convention.

Sec. 3. When a State or Territorial Division has been formed by the required number of chapters as set forth for that purpose in Section 1 of Article 4, should a chapter withdraw, the division shall still exist, with all rights and privileges of other divisions of our order. The chapter withdrawing shall not be recognized by our order until it comes to us through the division from which it withdrew.

It shall be the duty of the President of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, upon receiving written notice from a State division through its president that any chapter has withdrawn therefrom, to have the charter of such chapter cancelled by the Recording Secretary of the U. D. C. Notice of this cancellation shall be sent to the recording secretary of such chapter, to the recording secretary of each State division, to the members of the Executive Committee, and shall be included in the next annual report of the Recording Secretary of the U. D. C.

Sec. 4. A state or territorial division shall be organized by the adoption of a Constitution and By-Laws, none of which shall be inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Constitution, and by the election of a president and other proper officers. Any one or more representatives from any chapter shall be authorized to cast the full vote to which such chapter may be entitled. In case a chapter is unable to send a delegate, its vote may or may not be cast by proxy, at the discretion of each state or territorial division.

Sec. 5. From and after the organization of a State or Territorial division, all chapters in such state or territory shall be organized upon proper application for their charters to the United Daughters of the Confederacy through the division, paying to the division such additional charter fee as it may fix.

Sec. 6. Each state or territorial division shall furnish blank applications for membership, to be used throughout that division. These blanks may differ in form, but must not conflict with the qualifications for membership as set forth in this Constitution. TO THE UNITED DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY

The fifteenth year of our organization was completed at the General Convention, held in Atlanta, Georgia, and was celebrated there with all the pomp and splendor befitting this "crystal anniversary."

The reports all showed gratifying progress along all lines of work, both in the General Association and in the State divisions. The entire corps of general officers were re-elected and three new offices were created. These were: Third Vice-President, Mrs. L. C. Hall, Dardanelle, Arkansas, elected; Historian General, Mrs. J. Enders Robinson, Richmond, Virginia, elected; Registrar General, Mrs. James Britton Gantt, Jefferson City Missouri, elected.

"The Revision of the Constitution and By-Laws" which came by inheritance from the last to the present administration, was carefully reconsidered by the Committee on Revision, to which membership Mrs. Alexander B. White, of Tennessee, had been appointed, Mrs. Nelson Poe, Jr., having resigned. This was again printed and sent out in the requisite time before the General Convention, and was acted upon by that body, in detail and adopted in the form recently sent out to you.

Much misconstruction has arisen in regard to the clause touching the eligibility of "wives of veterans." This remains unchanged, and just as it has been since the organization of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. An amendment was offered on the floor of the convention, restricting the eligibility of "wives" to "women of Southern parentage." but this was lost by more than a two-thirds majority. But the clause giving eligibility to nieces of veterans was amended so as to greatly enlarge the membership by giving it to nieces and grand-nieces, of every degree, not only of veterans, but of "women of the sixties," whose personal service and material aid to the Confederate cause can be proven.

Change was made in the date for payment of annual dues to the General Association U. D. C., fixing this on March 1st, instead of October. Therefore, the dues for 1908 having been paid October, 1908, the dues for 1909 will be paid on the first of next March, and on that date for each succeeding year.

The union of the Indian Territory and Oklahoma Divisions was harmoniously accomplished during the year, and this married couple now takes the name of the "Oklahoma Division." A division was formed in the State of Washington, where the requisite number of chapters had existed for some time. A new State was entered by the organization of a chapter in Minneapolis, Minnesota, by Mrs. Joseph Johnson, of St. Louis.

Reports were made of the widespread observance of the centennial year of the birth of President Jefferson Davis, and the splendid ceremonies had by the chapters, on June 3rd, the chieftain's birthday, together with the earnest study in the public and private schools, and by the people at large of his life, service and character, all giving expression of the love, honor and confidence of the people of the South. Portraits of Jefferson Davis and Robert E. Lee were placed in the schools throughout the year, and it is again urged that the work of so placing the pictures of Southern heroes shall be continued during the coming year, as a stimulus for the youth of the South, to nobility of character and patriotic citizenship.

The Shiloh and Arlington monument funds were increased greatly, notwithstanding the panic in financial circles, and it is hoped and believed that during the coming year these amounts will grow into much larger proportions.

Portraits of General Robert E. Lee, "Lee and His Generals," and a beautifully illustrated booklet, a "History of the Confederate Banners," by Mary Lynn Conrad, can be ordered through the State Directors of the Shiloh Monument Association, and 50 per cent. of the amount of sales will be given to the Shiloh Monument fund.

A standing Committee on Education was provided by the convention, of which, it is needless to say, it will be the duty to foster all educational interests. Your President would urge that such effort shall take practical course such as influencing manual and industrial training—whereby the children of our land may be equipped with the knowledge of right living and the means of making an honest living. State Divisions not having a Committee on Education will provide for this by appointment so as to co-operate with the General Committee in this work.

A great impetus and interest has marked the year 1908, in the organization of the Children of the Confederacy, and this work should be earnestly pushed, for the perpetuity and progress of the Daughters of the Confederacy is largely dependent on the success of such effort. In this connection, it is well to call attention to a booklet by Mrs. C. M. Tardy, of Birmingham, Historian of the Alabama Division, "Programs for Children of the Confederacy," which also contains selections of patriotic songs and verse. This is sold at thirty cents, each copy, and the proceeds will aid in placing Alabama's window in Blandford Church, Petersburg, Va. Mrs. Tardy is an active worker in the organization of children.

In direct line with the objects and purposes of our organization, we heartily endorse the efforts of the United Confederate Veterans in their determination to preserve the truth of the history of the Confederate Navy and its commanders, this work having been inaugurated by Commander A. O. Wright, Confederate Navy Veterans.

It is recommended that every Daughter of the Confederacy shall promptly become a member of the "Jefferson Davis Home Association," which is formed for the purpose of purchasing the birthplace of President Davis, in Fairview, Kentucky. Such membership will cost but one dollar. Send this at once to Mr. S. A. Cunningham, and this will be a fitting close of the Davis centennial year. The property will be used for some philanthropic purpose, connected with the Confederate cause. In view of the value of the historic work already accomplished, and being done by Mr. Cunningham through the "Confederate Veteran," your President asks that you will give this publication your support, by annual subscription.

Trusting that each of my "Daughters" will realize the great value of individual responsibility, in the zealous advancement of our endeavor, remembering that it is the unit that makes up the whole, bringing to the coming year fruitful and glorious results.

8 MINUTES OF FIFTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION,

And now, a loving greeting for one and all, with earnest wishes for your happiness throughout the year, and with deepest appreciation of your loyalty and ready response to service, and with clasp of hand in fervent fellowship, as friend and co-worker,

CORNELIA BRANCH STONE,

President-General, U. D. C.

MINUTES
OF THE
FIFTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION
OF THE
United Daughters of the Confederacy
HELD IN
Atlanta, Georgia, November 11-14, 1908

FIRST DAY—MORNING SESSION.

Wednesday, November 11, 1908.

In this city, that will forever be historic in the annals of the Southern Confederacy, which although metropolitan in tendencies, is yet keenly allied and loyal to all that pertains to the Old South, the fifteenth annual convention this day assembled.

It was indeed an inspiring picture that the beautifully decorated hall presented, from the rear of the platform to the rear of the gallery where the Confederate veterans of Atlanta sat, as these representative women of the South met to honor Southern heroes.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 10 o'clock by Mrs. Edward Greig Warner, President of the Atlanta Chapter, and she introduced Bishop C. K. Nelson, who invoked a blessing upon the Daughters of the Confederacy and their work.

Dudley Buck's arrangement of "Annie Laurie" was delightfully rendered by a quartette.

At this point Mrs. Stone, the President-General, recognizing in the audience Mrs. Virginia Clay-Clopton, asked that she be escorted to the platform, which was done amid enthusiastic applause.

In a few appropriate words, in which she referred more to his connection by family and otherwise with the Old South than the fact that he was the chief magistrate of Georgia, Mrs. Warner presented Governor Hoke Smith to the audience, concluding her remarks amid a tumult of applause.

Governor Smith's address was eloquent and beautiful, replete with interest from the beginning to the close.

The Mayor of Atlanta was introduced by Mrs. Warner in complimentary terms.

The Mayor was in his happiest mood, and made the Daughters feel entirely at home. He designated the President-General as Mayor in his stead. The Mayor's address of welcome was productive of much applause and laughter, which was drowned by a burst of patriotic music.

General Clement A. Evans, the distinguished Commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, having been presented in fitting words, was given an ovation as he added his greeting on the part of the old soldiers, as follows:

You have more than honored Georgia by assembling in its Capital City. Many conventions of great worth have recently met in this State whose delegates came from all States of the South and all sections of the Union, but none came with that peculiar patriotic history which you have made, and with the grand mission to which you are devoted. You have been welcomed by the State of Georgia through the earnest eloquence of its Governor. The great State takes you indeed into its warm heart today. You have been greeted by the gallant mayor of the masterful city of Atlanta with warm expressions of hospitable intent which will be fulfilled by fact. It is my privilege to represent that brave body of men who give you their greeting such as no other class of people can extend.

I represent an invisible, a departed—but not a forgotten—Confederacy. I represent the grand old armies and navies of that Confederacy—the sons of revolutionary sires, reared in the counsels of Christian patriotism, ardent lovers of their beautiful Southland; true to the truths of our constitutional government, and ready to die in their defense. They fought because the land they loved was invaded, and the civic principles they cherished were threatened. They plead for equality and fairness in administration of the general government, and they fought for homeland and honor until they could fight with arms no longer.

Such are the men whose examples of righteous valor will forever inspire all generations to defend the land they love. The truth they contended for is still the civic truth for all America, and their brave insistence on its preservation will inspire the true lovers of our free constitutional government to promote it forever.

These are the men whom the United Daughters of the Confederacy delight to honor. I know the Confederate soldiers' gratitude toward you. I know the pride he feels when he calls to mind your beautiful graces, your gentle spirit, your unflinching fortitude, your intelligence and womanly ways. But human language was not invented to express the thought and feeling of the soul in man. If each true Confederate heartbeat could be interpreted in words you would hear it repeating today, "I love, I love the women of the South." There are two facts of his life for which no true Confederate soldier will ever apologize:—One is that he fought the battle of the South to the finish; and the other is his pride, his love, his idolatry as to the women of the South.

Daughters of the Confederacy, you endured more of the real anguish of war than the gallant soldier boys whom you waved to the battle field. You shed the blood which is in the tears that fall when woman weeps. You worked with gentle fingers and wove the gray jackets which covered your soldiers; you went with them in your suffering spirit until the warfare ended, and then you welcomed home these defeated patriots as heroes. The flowers on the graves, the crosses on their breasts, the soldiers' homes, the monuments to their valor, besides the numberless acts of your good are altogether the noblest memorial that can and will forever be told of you. Welcome, Daughters of the Confederacy! You are ours; we are yours! We can never forget, and you never will.

Mrs. C. Helen Plane was eloquently introduced by Mrs. J. K. Ottley, as a mother of the Confederacy in Georgia, and Honorary President of the Atlanta Chapter and of the Georgia Division.

In concluding, Mrs. Plane presented a beautiful banner to the association in behalf of the Atlanta Chapter.

Madame President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

It gives me great pleasure to welcome to our city a body of Southern women, some of whom belong to the old regime, and of which I am sure they are justly proud, because the women of what is now designated as the "Old South" were recognized wherever known as the finest types of true womanhood; refined, cultivated, gentle; devoted wives, good mothers, kind mistresses, and splendid home-makers.

The women of the North looked upon Southern women because attended by slaves, as spoiled, lazy, and self-indulgent. But these same women were the women of the Confederacy, who buckled on the armor of fathers, husbands, brothers, sons, and sent them forth to battle, while they remained in lonely homes, and worked for four years by day and into the small hours, to clothe and feed their families, and to keep the army supplied. Who gave their services in hospitals and on battle fields; who buried the dead, and in some instances performed the burial services, because even our ministers of the gospel were at the front. Who has not heard of the cheerful and wonderful sacrifices made by these Southern women? The patriotism of the Spartan women who cut off their beautiful tresses for bow strings, pales before the story of the Southern women, who had it been necessary for the defense of their soil from the invading foe, would have plucked out their hair by the roots and laid it upon the altar of their country.

Some of these same women, and scores of the daughters of such women, are here today as delegates of the U. D. C. And what is the object of the organization they represent?

We were asked a few days ago if the building of monuments was the only object of the U. D. C. In one sense it is, but our monuments partake of many forms. We rear marble and bronze monuments as an inspiration to future generations; we have helped largely to build all over the South monuments in the form of Soldiers' Homes; and it is our purpose to build similar monuments for aged women.

We are building monuments in the mountains in the form of dormitories at schools, where the ignorant children of the purest Anglo-Saxon blood are to be educated into splendid men and women; building monuments in the shape of beautiful and comfortable dormitories for young women who are preparing to teach; and last, though not least, we are sending into every Southern home a small bronze cross as a rich legacy to future generations. We

We are preparing now to erect the grandest monument we have yet built of marble or bronze, not alone to commemorate the deeds of our fallen heroes who lie in humble graves, but to testify our undying love for Robert E. Lee, and the spot made sacred as the home of himself and his ancestors.

This shaft is to rise—we wish we could truthfully say, to the skies—at Arlington, the home of Robert E. Lee, which, as you know, still stands in lofty grandeur on the Virginia heights across the Potomac in full view from Washington. It was seized by the United States Government during the war and converted into a national cemetery, in a remote and rugged corner of which were buried the Confederate prisoners who died in Washington, and over these graves which so long presented a sad contrast to those of the Union soldiers, this shaft is to be erected.

Some of you have perhaps heard the story of how these neglected graves received an almost miraculous decoration. Mrs. Logan, wife of Gen. John A. Logan, of the Union Army, while on a visit to Richmond witnessed the touching exercises of our Memorial Day, and returning to Washington, inaugurated a similar custom at the North, calling it Decoration Day. The first observance of the day was at Arlington. A great crowd was present, and to the strains of martial music the entire section occupied by the Union dead was elaborately decorated, every grave profusely covered with the choicest flowers.

Two Southern women who were in the crowd quietly wended their way to the neglected Confederate section, and there with weeping eyes scattered a few flowers over the graves—a heart tribute worth more than all the lavish display on the other side. Their action had been watched; an officer was sent to drive them from the cemetery, and it was said removed the flowers from the graves.

That night a fierce wind storm came from the east, and on the next morning a glorious sun sent his smiling rays across great banks of flowers which literally obscured the humble graves of the Confederates, while the Union section was stripped almost bare! Was the spirit of Lee in that wind?

Conditions have changed since then. A few years ago the government took charge of the Confederate section, and it is now as carefully kept as any part of the cemetery, and we have been granted the privilege of erecting a monument in the center of the plat. It seems to us that every son and daughter of the South should come to our aid in erecting such a monument at the home of Lee, that the millions of visitors who go to Washington annually from every part of the world may gaze in wonder at its grandeur, and be moved to admiration for a people who followed the white-plumed Lee of Arlington.

We are working, especially in Tennessee, for a monument to be erected on the bloody field of Shiloh, for which, I think, something like $5,000 has been already secured.

Let monuments to our dead continue to rise till on every spot made richer by their blood shall be written the story of their valor and devotion—now for four years a poorly clad and almost starving army of 600,000 men of the South fought and kept back from our soil an army of 2,864,272 men, recruited from every nation on earth—including Africa!

Added to this great odds were 600 blockade vessels manned by 35,000 sailors, preventing our obtaining supplies from anywhere, except within the narrow confines of the Confederacy. Our army did not lay down its arms until it was completely overpowered, all our arsenals captured, supplies of every kind exhausted, and less than 100,000 effective men left for duty of the army of 600,- 000, and not until they had placed on the death roll of the enemy 59,528 men—more than half the number of our entire army.

In all the annals of history there is no such record as this.

We have been somewhat busy of late, here in Georgia, searching for graves of soldiers of the Revolution, and have found a few. Imagine a search for Confederate graves! The whole Southland is a sepulchre of the Confederate dead—they lie singly and in battalions in our cemeteries, on every hill side, on mountain tops and in our valleys, awaiting the sound of the last reveille, and when they come forth from their long slumber on that resurrection morning, may they receive the glad welcome, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

During the International Cotton States Exposition in this city in 1895, the Atlanta Chapter, then in its infancy, had the pleasure of entertaining the second general convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy, the first one having been held the year previous in Nashville. At that time the order was represented in five States only, Virginia not having come into the federation. We were too young and too weak for minutes of our deliberations, and I have to trust to memory as to the number and names of delegates. I recall only Mrs. Goodlett and Mrs. Hickman, of Tennessee, Mrs. Smythe, of South Carolina, Mrs. Parsley, of North Carolina, Mrs. Marchant, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Clay Clopton, of Alabama, Mrs. Raines, Mrs. Conyers, Mrs. Ottley, and Mrs. Plane, of Georgia, and representatives from Augusta, in all.

What a change since then! We are now represented in almost every State and Territory in the Union, not excepting Alaska, with one foreign chapter in the City of Mexico. May every year add hundreds to the number already engaged in the noble work of our order, a work in which every Southern woman with pride of birth and a spark of genuine patriotism should wish to engage.

With the whole City of Atlanta we join in extending to this distinguished body of women a heart-welcome, in testimony of which we desire to present to them through their beloved and honored President a banner, the design of which combines the name, colors, emblem, motto, and flower of this organization.

Madame President, will you accept this banner? And long after I shall have "crossed over the river" may it be with you all to attest my devotion to the U. D. C.

The President-General accepted this token in behalf of the convention, returning, in words full of feeling and eloquence, her cordial thanks. At her request the delegates arose and received the banner. She laid upon the members the duty of living for those hallowed memories and preserving them by loving effort, at the same time praying for peace and harmony. "First," she said, "find out what is right, as near as human wisdom can attain to it, and then dare to do it and do it well." She said the cotton plant was the emblem of the convention, for cotton, which has always been king in the Southland, furnished our only resources to maintain the armies in the field and the people in their homes. She paid a glowing tribute to the bravery of the "blockade runners," who dared risk life and limb that the fleecy staple might reach foreign markets, and thus aid the Southern cause. The banner, she said, would always be a reminder to the Daughters of the great work of Mrs. Plane, and the fact that she was one of the first to take up the work of organization.

Miss Baxter, of Atlanta, President of the Georgia Division, was then presented most happily by Mrs. Warner.

Miss Baxter's address was as follows:

Georgia takes up the harp of welcome, and strikes on all its chords. Clear and high come the notes. On the northwest, Rome, our seven-hilled city, strikes a strong, full welcome; and, from the shadows of the northeast come plaintive, child-struck chords, a minor strain crying the need of development. Down and through Georgia stretch her harp strings, even over the once flame-lighted, blood-stained path of Sherman's march to the sea. And, reaching our beautiful Savannah, Georgia's harp is proudly held and bravely struck in tones that ring with music colonial, revolutionary and Confederate. Sister cities take up the notes. On the east, fair Augusta sounds the aria in a melody breathing the stateliness of the Old South, and singing of Walton and Meadow Garden, as well as Randall and "Maryland, My Maryland." On the west, with the whirring sound of cotton mills and manual educational development, Columbus lifts her note of welcome. Foremost city of the South in the effort to equip men and women with that education so needed for Georgia's industrial development, loyal to her splendid past, yet looking bravely forward with wide vision—Columbus sings a welcome whose strains sound a clarion call to education of head, hand and heart, the world's greatest.

From Georgia's very heart, Macon strikes a note exquisitely fine and glorious in compass—a note reaching skyward, Godward—a world-note not to be claimed alone for Georgia, but to be given in all its fullness to the whole South, to the entire nation, to the great world—for it is Sidney Lanier's voice that sounds above the harp-chords now struck, and from that poet-soul comes the high note which we may take as our key-note today and all days: "Let our height be the height of great resolution and love, and faith and beauty, and knowledge; let our heads be forever above the stars."

Many times welcome from these, our larger cities. And welcome, and welcome again, from city and village that lie between. Welcome, sweet and loyal welcome, does this harp of Georgia give to her sister States—a welcome in which the Atlanta note rings with martial chords that speak of Gordon, of Evans, of our well beloved men in gray, rings for the world a song of poet love immortalized by Joel Chandler Harris, and will happily ring again when the Atlanta Chapter's president greets you, not only as hostess for visiting States, but of the Georgia Division as well.

And now, Georgia's chords lose themselves in the magnificent harp of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Away stretch those powerful strings, from the lakes to the gulf, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Daughters of the South, we, Georgia Daughters, add our smaller strain to your large harmony.

And you, Daughters, who have left Southern homes and carried our Southern melody to far-distant States, all hail! Your work is unique and far-reaching. In California, Mexico, Nebraska, New York, Oregon, Indiana, Oklahoma, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania—over all this great nation, rings the harp of the Confederacy under your loyal touch. Great indeed is our national organization. Scarcely is there a State in the Union but has its chapter of Confederate women, eager in the work of collecting and preserving the story of the war, educating the coming South in the truths of Confederate history, building in stone and marble their memorials to valor—aye, and building in very flesh and blood, living memorials that reach out uplifting arms to war-scarred veterans and their war-impooverished families—grand memorials looking to the development of our section, and thus becoming builders of the future.

God bless our United Daughters of the Confederacy! May we as states, as chapters, as individuals, be half worthy of our glorious order. May our chords ever blend harmoniously and happily; may our aims ring true; may our work prove good; and may all this welcome that fills the air today bring the full realization that we in very truth are welcome together!

This address was followed by a chorus of young ladies singing "Georgia's Welcome" to the air of the "Bonnie Blue Flag." In response to a prolonged applause, they sang "Dixie."

As President of the Atlanta Chapter, Mrs. Warner then read her address welcoming on behalf of the chapter the convention to the Gate City of the South. The address follows:

It is my very great privilege and pleasure, as president of the Atlanta Chapter, to bid you, Daughters of the Confederacy, welcome to the Gate City of the South.

It seems very meet and right that we should assemble at this time on such historic ground; for here and throughout the vicinity raged for days one of the great battles of the war, and around these grand old hills and over the beautiful valleys the flower of the Southern Army held in check, contesting every inch of ground, the hordes of the enemy. We are told: They stood a living wall around what is now our Capital City from July to September, '64. There was not an hour, day or night, but what the boom of cannon or the report of musket was heard; a patriot fell and a hero's blood stained the sacred soil around Atlanta.

Through this gateway passed the cruel march to the sea, so horrible to think of; so sad to remember; with its devastating blight and withering fire, leaving in its path the hearts of the Southern women, torn, bleeding and prostrate—aye, well nigh crushed.

The visible scars of battle have almost disappeared, but there yet remain many historic points, which possess for us Southerners more than passing interest. 'Twas here one of the great cruelties of the war was perpetrated—a cruelty which tried as never before the hearts and souls of the women of the Confederacy, and I say again, "It is very meet and right" that we gather together around these temples, these hallowed temples, of ours.

We are grown enthusiastic in our welcome; we have provided, as best we can, for your comfort and entertainment, and we wish you to enjoy to the fullest our humble offerings. They come from the heart, imbued with true "Atlanta Spirit," which means an honest, loyal, and generous welcome within our gates.

The glorious city, which rose Phoenix-like from the ashes of strife and stands before you unafraid; the country which rose in like manner, now fruited abundantly with the fruits and flowers of an honest, resurrected and sturdy industry, and the women of the Empire State of the South, all with one acclaim bid you welcome.

May your stay within our gates be one continual feast of good things, intellectual and material, and in leaving—but why leave? We offer you the best we have; enter and take possession.

A gavel, made by Mr. C. W. Killen, a veteran of the Soldier's Home of Georgia, was then presented to the Association.

Mrs. Stone, on the part of the Association, accepted this emblem of her authority with words full of feeling and appreciation. She said that while the General Association had many gavel of costly material and exquisite workmanship, the handiwork of this veteran who served so faithfully for four years was more precious than gold or silver. She took it, promising to guard it and turn it over to her successor as one of the most precious relics of the Association.

Miss Etta Putnam Johnson, representing the Julia Jackson Chapter, Children of the Confederacy, of Atlanta, presented to the President-General a beautiful emblem, a reproduction in flowers, of the badge worn by the organization. Her address was as follows:

MISS ETTA PUTNAM JOHNSON.

Madame President: The Julia Jackson Chapter, Children of the Confederacy, have delegated to me the honor and the pleasure of presenting to you in their name this floral offering as a token of their esteem for you and their love for the cause you represent.

In form it is the much prized badge of the Julia Jackson Chapter, which now has become the State badge of Georgia and also of Alabama. May we add that it is our ardent hope and desire that it may in time become the national badge of the young U. D. C.

These roses, red, white and red, are the bars of the much-loved flag of the South, and these violets make our field of blue decked with the thirteen stars of the solid and united South! In this little emblem of our cause we take the deepest pride. Our organization is the youngest of the patriotic orders, but it alone will be handed down unchanged to future generations.

The ranks of gray are thinning fast, and the faithful Daughters, too, in time must pass to the great beyond.

To the Children of the Confederacy you must consign your work, and it must be their task to keep the fires of patriotism burning bright upon our country's altars.

We fully appreciate, Madame President, the importance of our work, and let me assure you that no hearts beat more truly for the South than those of the Julia Jackson Chapter; no hands are more willing to minister to our cause; no minds more ready to receive and to retain its lessons.

You in your noble efforts to preserve and perpetuate the glorious principles of the South and the deeds of the men in gray, have dotted our Southland with monuments which stand as a protest against our wrongs and an appeal to heaven for the justice of our cause. But the greatest and the most enduring monument which you can raise is a patriotic Southern boy or girl, well grounded in the principles which made the South great and equipped to do battle for its cause by a thorough knowledge of its history and its literature.

We will wear this little shield, Madame President, as did the knights of old their shields. The days are past when men must die for this cause; but we will live to honor and defend it.

Madame President, we commend our children's chapter to your special care and to the special care of this convention, and we welcome you from our hearts to the beautiful city of Atlanta.

Mrs. Stone accepted this tribute in a few eloquent remarks, and told the girls of the Confederacy that as she looked in their faces she saw that the South was in good hands. She advised the girls to allow no young man to smile upon them who was not a son of the Confederacy, and felt sure the ranks of the Sons of the Confederacy would soon be full.

Mrs. McDowell Wolf, who has a deep interest in the organization known as the "Children of the Confederacy" was invited to the platform, and she urged active co-operation in this work.

Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, the President-General of the Association, responded to the address of welcome as follows:

MRS. STONE'S RESPONSE TO ADDRESSES OF WELCOME.

Daughters of the Confederacy, and Citizens of Atlanta:

The royal welcome extended us here today is but the fulfilling of the invitation given at Norfolk, Virginia, one year ago—the echoes of which have been ringing through the intervening days like sweet bells, attuned to sweeter thoughts of the gracious hospitality awaiting us.

It is well to be here in this city, teeming with historic memories, for out of its portals went forth that desolating "march to the sea," one of the great tragedies of "the sixties." From that sad past this great gateway of the progressive South—Atlanta-like—has arisen a young giant in growth and greatness, and stands today unrivalled by her sister cities of Dixieland, in educational facilities, commercial advantages, and in the artistic beauty and grandeur of her public buildings and private homes, affording an example and inspiration of that progress which is the sure reward of energy and enterprise.

This has been largely wrought by the same men and their descendants who, in ante-bellum days, were the refined and cultured gentlemen of leisure, and with open house and hand dispensed a hospitality the like of which was found in no other part of this country. Men of chivalry and honor, like the knights of old, with a devotion and protecting reference for woman, that ennobled and adorned their high character.

When the war clouds came and darkly hovered over their homes and land they became, in an instant, the warriors brave and courageous, enduring and self-sacrificing, and for four long years they made a record so glorious, that the pages of American history are the richer for the names written there of Davis, Lee, Jackson, Gordon, Forest, Morgan and other deathless ones, together with the countless host of the "bravest of the brave," who followed the great commanders of the Southern Army.

This is no "New South," but the blood of the Old South, risen, Phoenix-like, from the ashes of ruined homes and desolated land, and, like true gold, out of the fiery furnace, from disaster rich results have come revivifying and developing our beloved South, and crowning her men and women with enviable fame.

We come to you today a body of earnest, patriotic women, broad enough to love and honor our reunited country, to rejoice in its greatness and power, with all true loyalty, and to deplore, as well, any signs of weakness or decay—such weakness as in ages past resulted in the downfall of republics.

From the sons of such sires as yours we look for that devotion to the interests of State and country—that individual sense of responsibility—which goes to the building of the highest type of citizenship.

Men and women of the South, let us help to make this land of ours a nation of truth and justice, ever "growing in stature and wisdom." By this, we cherish and honor the memory of those matchless heroes—the men and women of the Confederacy—and forever perpetuate the virtues and principles that gave them immortal renown.

Daughters of the Confederacy, we will guard their unsullied name and build monuments—for these are tablets of history, that all future generations may pause and see what these men have wrought, and know the courage, honor and patriotism for which they stand, in the records of this American republic.

In doing this, let us not forget the living veterans and aged women of the Confederacy who still abide with us, for we should provide homes and lend a warm heart and attention ear, with open hand, to supply their needs and ever pay to them, that reverence and courtesy which is their due.

Remember that the best years of their lives were given to our service in the defense of the rights so dear to us, for which our revolutionary forefathers fought and fell, and finally established as our inalienable birthright.

We should train our children—not in bitterness toward those who differed with us—but in the knowledge of the true attitude of the people of the South in the war between the States, the causes that led up to it, and the ready acceptance of results in good faith at its close, that they may stand, as we do, preservers and defenders of the truth.

To you, dear friends of Atlanta, who have bidden us enter your gates and partake of your lavish hospitality, proffered in loving words of welcome, we are deeply grateful, and we trust that our coming and stay with you may leave some impress for good—some renewal of that fraternal feeling which should bind us, as one people, in all that ennobles, endows and elevates the national character.

May peace, prosperity and progress ever be with you, that the sunshine of happiness may abide in your hearts and homes.

As the orchestra played "Maryland, My Maryland," the audience was aroused to great enthusiasm and flags were waved on every side, especially the Maryland flag.

Mrs. Seabrook, who was the widow of General Francis Bartow, was escorted to the platform and introduced to the audience.

Mrs. Virginia Clay Clopton, who as the Hon. President-General stated, was well known to readers of history of the South, was then presented to the audience. Clement Clay, her first husband, was captured with President Davis and imprisoned with him in Fortress Monroe. Together they suffered the indignities heaped upon them there. Mrs. Clay, now, Mrs. Clopton, visited Mr. Clay, from time to time until she secured his release from prison. She is the author of a beautiful book entitled, "The Belle of the Fifties," and was introduced herself as the "belle of the fifties."

Mrs. Clopton's response in appreciation of the honor conferred was most gracious.

Before Mrs. Clopton took her seat Miss Lida C. Moore, of Tennessee, on behalf of the Sarah Law Chapter, of Memphis, presented to her some beautiful flowers.

Mrs. Swanson, wife of the Governor of Virginia, was also presented to the audience and received with applause.

The former Presidents-General who were in attendance, were in turn presented by the Chair. These were: Mrs. John C. Brown, of Tennessee; Mrs. L. H. Raines, of Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. Jas. A. Rounsaville, of Rome, Ga.; Mrs. Augustine T. Smythe, of South Carolina; Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson, of Mississippi.

Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, for many years the Custodian of the Cross of Honor, and now filling the position of Honorary Custodian, was presented and enthusiastically received, especially by the veterans.

Mrs. Mollie R. Macgill Rosenberg, of Texas, was seen in the audience and upon the request of the President, escorted to the platform and introduced by the Chair as ex-Vice-President-General, and patron saint of the Texas Division.

Mrs. George S. Holmes was introduced as President of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, and gracefully accorded the honor of the completion of the monument to the Central Committee and twenty-five directors of this great work.

Mrs. Burton Smith, the daughter of the late General John B. Gordon, was escorted to the platform, the President-General stating that the meetings of the Veterans and of the Daughters were always inspired and enthused by his great patriotism and eloquence while he was living. Though his voice is now hushed his glorious deeds and his stirring words will never be forgotten. In responding, Mrs. Burton Smith said:

“Women of the Confederacy, my heart is too full to say anything except that I greet you in the spirit of my father.”

Mrs. Andrew L. Dowdell, Recording Secretary-General, then read telegrams and letters of greeting to the Convention.

Mrs. Buford, of Nashville, Tenn., was presented, and read a message of greeting from Mrs. M. C. Goodlett, the founder of the organization, as follows:

“Loving greetings to my Daughters of the Confederacy now in session at Atlanta, Ga., and sincere regrets that I am not there in person to enjoy this large family reunion and to meet with so many of my former co-workers in this noble work, and to confer with them on some matters of vital importance to the life and growth of our organization, and more especially to the upbuilding of our dear old Southland. There is one matter that we have not given the attention we should have done—that is, educating the descendants of our old soldiers. While there have been spasmodic efforts in that direction, there has been no systematic effort to stamp out the illiteracy that is filling our jails, penitentiaries and poor houses with the descendants of the men who once wore the gray.

“The longer I live, the more I realize that education and Christianity are the ground work of all good civilization, and when we build on any other foundation, we are like the man who built his house upon the sand. I blame myself that I have not pressed this matter on our national conventions. I have sat by and have seen thousands of dollars given away to build monuments and other things that might have waited till our dear old South was able to educate the rising generation and remove the stain of illiteracy that hangs over her as a pall today. I waited, thinking that the monument fever would abate, and that the most thoughtful and best educated women in our organization would realize that the grandest monument we could build in the South would be an educated motherhood, and I now believe that the time has come when our national convention will create an educational fund to be divided between the Southern States, where it is most needed. Hundreds of splendid Southern girls, whose parents are only able to give them a very limited education, are begging for assistance from the Daughters to complete their educations, so as to be able to make their living, and assist their parents in taking care of the younger children in the families. Shall we turn a deaf ear to their cry, and go on in the stone and mortar monument business, gratifying our own vanity by erecting monuments to our pet idols? Or shall we spend our money in a nobler cause—in raising the standard of Southern women? Daughters, which shall we do? I leave it to you to decide. In conclusion, I must thank the Daughters for the splendid work they have done. I hope to meet with you next year. I will then be 76 years old. I have a great deal to be thankful for. I keep house, attend to my own business, need no agents.

“My address is No. 1005 Fourteenth street and Grand avenue Nashville, Tenn. Will be glad to see or hear from any of you.

“CAROLINE DOUGLAS MERRIWETHER GOODLETT.”

At close of Mrs. Goodlett's letter, Mrs. T. J. Lathram, of Tennessee, offered the following resolution:

“That this U. D. C. Convention, assembled, give our dear founder and mother a standing vote of appreciation for her words of wisdom and love, in begging the “Daughters” to continue their zeal and liberality towards the education of the sons and daughters of Confederate Veterans.” Carried.

Miss West, of Texas, moved that a telegram of loving greeting be sent to Mrs. Goodlett. Carried by unanimous standing vote.

Meeting adjourned until 9:30 p. m.

FIRST DAY—EVENING MEETING

Wednesday, Nov. 11, 1908.

The meeting was called to order by the President-General, Mrs. Stone, who announced that the Fifteenth Annual Convention of the U. D. C. was formally opened. This was done by the reading of the Ritual.

The roll of general officers was called by the Secretary, followed by the roll call of State Division Presidents, who responded by presenting their respective State flags. These were received by the Custodian of Flags, Mrs. Frank Anthony Walke, who originated this beautiful ceremonial.

The flags were presented to the Atlanta Chapter as a souvenir of this convention, and were graciously received by its president, Mrs. Warner.

The report of the Committee on Credentials was called. On motion of Mrs. Faison, of North Carolina, the chairman of this committee was directed to read only a summary of this report. The chairman, Miss Anna Benning, of Georgia, read the summary.

Miss Poppenheim, of South Carolina, moved, seconded by Mrs. McKinney, of Kentucky, that this be accepted as a partial report, in order that business might proceed. Carried.

Mrs. White, of Tennessee, seconded by Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, moved that the regular order of business, as printed in the program, be strictly adhered to.

The question was debated, Mrs. Vaught, of New Orleans, and Mrs. Halliburton, of Arkansas, opposing. The motion was adopted.

The Committee on Rules and Regulations, Mrs. Plane, Chairman, made the following report, which having been amended was adopted, as follows:

Rule 1.—No delegate will be recognized until she rises and addresses the Chair, giving her name, and State.

Rule 2.—No member shall speak more than twice on the same question.

Rule 3.—Debate shall be limited to three minutes, for each speaker, and no question may be debated longer than twenty minutes.

Rule 4.—No extension of time can be granted without unanimous consent.

Rule 5.—Reports of State Divisions will be limited to ten minutes.

Rule 6.—Reports of Committees will be limited to ten minutes, except those on Monuments.

Rule 7.—All motions shall be written, and sent to the Chair.

Rule 8.—When there is more than one candidate for an office, the election shall be had by a roll call of the State Divisions, and of chapters where no division has been formed.

Rule 9.—A majority of all votes cast, shall be necessary for a choice.

Mrs. McClurg, of Mississippi, seconded by Mrs. Hausman, of Alabama, moved that all motions be written and sent to the Chair. Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, amended that all main motions and resolutions be written and sent to the Chair.

Mrs. Leigh, of Virginia, moved to amend Mrs. Schuyler's amendment by substituting "original" for "main" motions.

On motion of Mrs. Vaught this amendment was tabled.

The amendment offered by Mrs. Schuyler was adopted by a majority vote and the rule as amended was accepted.

The report of the Recording Secretary-General, Mrs. Dowdell, was then read. At its conclusion a rising vote of thanks was, on motion of Mrs. Hickman, of Tennessee, seconded by a number of States, extended to Mrs. Dowdell. The voting was enthusiastic and unanimous.

The report of the Corresponding Secretary-General, Mrs. Roselle C. Cooley, of Florida, was read. On motion of Miss Benning, of Georgia, the report was accepted and a rising vote of thanks was accorded to Mrs. Cooley.

The report of the Treasurer-General, Mrs. L. Eustace Williams, of Kentucky, was read. On motion of Mrs. Baird, of Tennessee, seconded by Mrs. Denny, of Tennessee, it was received with a rising vote of thanks and applause.

The order of the day having been completed Miss West, of Texas, moved to adjourn until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Carried.

SECOND DAY—MORNING MEETING

Thursday, Nov. 12, 1908.

The convention met and was called to order by the President-General at 9 a. m.

Rev. W. W. Landrum, D. D., Pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Atlanta, delivered the invocation, after which the minutes of the previous day were read, corrected, and approved.

The Chair invited Mrs. W. J. Behan, of New Orleans, the President of the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, to a seat on the platform.

Mr. S. A. Cunningham, editor of the Confederate Veteran the official organ of the Association, was also accorded this honor. The Chair stated that these two distinguished workers in the Confederate cause needed no introduction.

Mrs. Cantrill, of Kentucky, rose to a question of personal privilege, and asked that Miss Barbee, of Kentucky, a talented reader of Southern sketches, be permitted to give a reading.

This was seconded by Mrs. Kline, of Missouri, and carried. Miss Barbee responded, giving a selection that was warmly received.

Mrs. Tench, of Florida, rose to a question of personal privilege, and moved that the Corresponding Secretary-General be instructed to send a telegram of condolence and sympathy on the part of the Association to the State President of Florida, Mrs. L. P. Lawrence, who had recently lost her husband. This motion was seconded by Sister Esther Carlotta, of St. Augustine, and carried.

Mrs. John P. Hickman, of Tennessee, rose to a question of personal privilege, and read the following communication:

Madam President:

Since severing my official position with the General Association, I have often been called upon for copies of the minutes. Some of these I have been able to furnish, but in a number of instances, I did not have the copy desired. Moreover, our Association held three meetings, that were never published.

Appreciating and knowing that all minutes of the Association should be kept in the office of the Recording Secretary, I have copied the three minutes that were not published—in manuscript, and have had them bound, in book form, together with all minutes that were published, while I was your Recording Secretary. I now present them, in two volumes, to the Association.

These proceedings are from 1894 to 1905, inclusive. Unanimous vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Hickman.

Miss Mary B. Poppenheim moved, that the Minutes of the first meetings now bound in the volume in manuscript form, be printed and incorporated with the minutes of this convention. Seconded. Discussion followed. Mrs. McKinney opposed the motion on the ground of economy.

Mrs. Cory offered to amend Miss Poppenheim's motion by asking that the minutes be printed this year, but under separate cover, in order that they might be placed where they belong consecutively. The amendment was accepted.

Mrs. Raines stated, that she had a printed copy of the minutes of the first meeting which she thinks is the only copy in existence. Miss Poppenheim suggested that Mrs.

Raines would furnish that copy to be embodied with the manuscript minutes. Mrs. Raines stated that the little book would have to be copied, as it was very precious to her, and was now in a bank vault. Mrs. Hickman stated, that she could furnish a printed record of the first meeting, making it unnecessary for Mrs. Raines to make the copy referred to. A recommendation was made that the record in the hands of Mrs. Raines, together with any other records of value, bearing upon the early organization of the U. D. C., be embodied in the proposed pamphlet.

Miss Poppenheim offered her amended motion.

"That the records of the first convention that were never printed but held in manuscript form by Mrs. Hickman and Mrs. Raines, be printed in a separate cover and offered for sale at a small price."

This motion was unanimously adopted.

Sister Esther Carlotta, of St. Augustine, Florida, moved, seconded by Mrs. Nolan, of Jacksonville, Fla.,

"That when the book of minutes and information of the early work and conventions of the U. D. C. be published, a copy of it shall be sent to the Historian of each division for preservation in the historical archives of her division."

The point of order was raised by Mrs. Vaught, of Louisiana, that, as tablets and pencils are provided for the convention use, much talk would be saved by employing the pencils and tablets.

The President-General announced the Committees for service during the convention, as follows:

Committee on Jurisprudence—Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson, Mississippi; Mrs. Annie Rapley Washington, Missouri; Mrs. Albert M. Stephens, California; Mrs. J. H. Parker, New York.

Committee on Recommendations of President-General—Mrs. Alexander B. White, Tennessee; Mrs. Edgar Marburg, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Basil Duke, Kentucky.

Committee on Revision of Minutes—Mrs. Edward G. Warner, Georgia; Mrs. A. L. Dowdell, Alabama; Mrs. Rosalie Rocock, Maryland; Mrs. W. T. Culberson, Oklahoma; Mrs. J. Enders Robinson, Virginia.

Committee on Rules and Regulations—Mrs. C. Helen Plane, Georgia; Mrs. R. D. Wright, South Carolina; Mrs. James Y. Leigh, Virginia.

Committee on Resolutions of Thanks—Mrs. J. H. Limberlake, Virginia; Mrs. Roy N. McKinney, Kentucky; Mrs. George S. Holmes, South Carolina.

Press Committee—Mrs. A. McD. Wilson.

In returning to the regular order of business, the report of Custodian of the Cross of Honor, was read by Mrs. L. H. Raines, the Custodian.

In making this report, Mrs. Raines gave an account of a case, in which a Confederate veteran had given his Cross of Honor to a veteran of the Union Army. This man is now being cared for in the Maryland Confederate Soldier's Home. Mrs. Odenheimer, State President of the Maryland Division, stated that he is a Virginian, and the chapter which conferred the Cross is known, and had advised the managers of the Home, to deal with him as they saw fit, but he still remains in the Maryland Home. Mrs. Odenheimer thought Virginia should be requested to secure the return of the Cross.

The President condemned in no uncertain tones a Confederate soldier who would give his cross to a Union soldier, or any one else during his life, and that such a person should be compelled to return the cross. The remarks of the President-General were greeted with warm approval.

Mrs. Alexander, of Virginia, affirmed that Virginia was willing to do her very best to enforce proper observance of the Association's rules and was very sorry to come to the convention and hear that one of Virginia's sons had been guilty of such a misdemeanor.

Mrs. Gabbett, the Honorary Custodian of the Cross of Honor, spoke on this subject in favor of protecting the Cross.

After further discussion, it was moved by Mrs. Vaught that all matters in connection with the improper use of the Cross of Honor be referred to the Committee on Rules for the Bestowal of the Cross.

Miss West, of Texas, called for the previous question, which was sustained, and Mrs. Vaught's motion carried.

Mrs. Faison moved, seconded by Mrs. Gnatt, of Missouri, that the report of Mrs. Raines, the Custodian, be accepted with a rising vote of thanks for her laborious efforts in this work.

Mrs. Waring, of South Carolina, offered the amendment that the report of Mrs. Raines be accepted with its recommendations. The motion as amended was unanimously carried.

Mrs. Buford, of Buford College, Nashville, Tennessee, was granted the privilege of the floor, to speak of a scholarship given by herself, in her college, to a descendant of a Confederate Veteran. Mrs. Buford stated, that her faculty was composed of Southern women; the college was built upon a battle ground; the college uniform was of Confederate gray and gold. The institution stands for Christian education. Shakespeare and Milton, but above all the Bible forms a large part of the training of the young women under her care, as future wives and mothers.

Mrs. Latham moved a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Buford for her generous gift of this scholarship.

Miss Baxter, of Georgia, referred to the initiative which Georgia had taken in the matter of education and especially to the Winnie Davis Memorial Institute.

As a question of personal privilege Mrs. J. K. Ottley moved the creation of an Educational Committee of the U. D. C.

Mrs. Vaught made the point that Mrs. Ottley was out of order, that being new business.

The Chair sustained Mrs. Vaught's point of order, but stated, that Mrs. Ottley's resolution would be considered at the proper time.

The report of Mrs. Frank Anthony Walke, Custodian of Flags, was called.

Mrs. Walke's report was, upon motion of Mrs. Stockbridge, of Florida, seconded by Mrs. Schuyler, accepted with a rising vote of thanks.

Mrs. McGuire, of Oregon, asked, that as her State had received no information of such presentation of flags, could the State flag of Oregon be sent later. In reply, the Chair advised that the flag could be sent at any time to the president of the Atlanta Chapter.

The question was asked, "What are memorial flags, and why these could not be used for decoration?" Mrs. Walke explained that memorial flags were presented in honor of some distinguished person, as one of these, presented by Mrs. Rosenberg, is a memorial to Mrs. Jefferson Davis, and cannot be fittingly used as a mural decoration.

The Chair stated that all Confederate flags, are in one sense memorial, and gave a most interesting description of the flags which were present on the platform and on the walls.

Mrs. Mollie R. Macgill Rosenberg then came to the platform and presented a beautiful flag to the General Association in memory of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis. This presentation was a surprise to all, and created great enthusiasm.

General C. A. Evans, being a platform guest, was requested by Mrs. Rosenberg to present the flag to the President-General. This gallant old chieftan declaring that it was one of the brightest hours of his life, made an address of characteristic eloquence. He traced the career of Jefferson Davis from his boyhood, through his service upon the battle fields of Mexico; in the United States Senate; as a Chief Executive of the Confederate Government; and later, as prisoner, suffering for his people. He feelingly alluded to his triumphant death and burial in Southern soil.

The Chair, in accepting this beautiful flag, responded no less eloquently. This was, "The Bonnie Blue Flag That Bears a Single Star," she said, "she would hold it as a sacred trust. Texas tried in vain to claim it alone; but each State as it came out of the Union was entitled to a flag that bore a single star, taking it from the galaxy of stars and placing it upon a flag of her own, only exercising her birth-right, and her individual liberty in withdrawing from a compact that had ceased to longer serve the purposes of that compact."

The Chair, in conclusion, cordially thanked Mrs. Rosenberg for this, the fourth flag, she had presented to the General Association of the U. D. C.

The enthusiasm came to a climax in the singing of "The Bonnie Blue Flag," ending in a burst of applause.

Mr. Cunningham, Editor of the "Veteran," who was upon the stage, was, on the request of Mrs. Schuyler, presented to the convention. He stated in appreciation of the honor, that he had been on the platform of every convention of the U. D. C., and this was the most splendid delegation ever present at any meeting.

The following letter was read:

My Dear Mrs. Stone:

The composer of the Jacket of Gray, Mr. S. B. Woodberry, of Savannah, Ga., begs that you accept these copies of the song for yourself and associated officers, with his compliments and warmest sympathy in your work and ideals.

The composer is a Charleston Confederate Veteran, and published this war song there in the sixties. It has been recently re-published in compliment to the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mr. Woodberry would be pleased to have it sung at one of the meetings of your Convention.

Very truly yours,
ROSA WOODBERRY,
(His daughter.)

Copies of the song were brought to the platform for distribution among the officers.

Mrs. Dowdell moved that the songs be accepted with thanks, and that a letter of appreciation be sent to Mr. Woodberry for his patriotic thought.

Mrs. McKinney, of Kentucky, moved that the regular order of business be resumed.

The President-General then read her annual report which had been distributed in the audience, in printed form, in order that the delegates might follow her.

At the conclusion of the address Miss West moved that some one be appointed to take the chair.

The gavel was given to Mrs. Dowdell.

Many delegates clamored to gain recognition.

Mrs. Ross, of Alabama, moved the acceptance of the report, with a rising vote of thanks.

Mrs. Cantrell, of Kentucky, and other delegates offered the same motion simultaneously and numerous floral designs were carried to the platform. The motion received many seconds and a rising vote was given.

Mrs. Stone responded graciously to these evidences of affection for her, and resumed the gavel.

Mrs. Ross, of Alabama, announced the receipt of a telegram conveying the sad news of the death of Miss Sallie Jones, the organizer of the Alabama Division, and its first President, thus bringing to the Alabama Division a double breavement, as the death of Mrs. F. S. Wood, an ex-State President, occurred only a few months ago.

On motion of Mrs. Tench, the morning meeting was adjourned to reconvene at 2 p. m.

SECOND DAY—AFTERNOON MEETING

Thursday, Nov. 12, 1908.

The convention was called to order by the President-General at 2 p. m.

The invocation was made by Rev. A. R. Holderby, D. D., Pastor Moore Memorial Church.

The minutes were read, corrected, and approved.

One hundred copies of the Atlanta Georgian containing a report of the proceedings, were sent to the hall for distribution, and a vote of thanks passed for same.

The hour having arrived for the memorial services, tribute was paid Mrs. Edwin Gardner Weed, by Mrs. Cooley, of Florida, chairman.

Whereas, Death has removed from our ranks Mrs. Edwin Gardner Weed, who departed this life on July 20th, 1908, at the diocesan residence at Jacksonville, Florida, and,

Whereas, Mrs. Weed was for two years President-General of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, from November, 1899, to November, 1901, presiding with dignity, grace, wisdom, justice, and with that rare courtesy which marked her path through life, and,

Whereas, This organization has suffered in the death of Mrs. Weed our first great loss, Mrs. Weed having for so many years occupied posts of honor in the workings of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, with great credit to the association and to herself in the manner in which she conducted the affairs entrusted to her, placing before us a lasting example of courage, fortitude, wisdom, patience, and Christian virtue, which we all hope to emulate; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we deeply deplore our loss in the death of our guide and friend, our leader and wise counselor, and that we will endeavor to profit in our deliberations by her example, so that though she has departed from amongst us, she shall ever be with us as an admonition, and that all our dealings and deliberations shall be marked by that high sense of honor and tempered with that courtesy and friendliness, that we have so long seen and admired in her.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and a copy sent to her husband, Rt. Rev. Edwin Gardner Weed, Bishop of Florida, and to the Confederate Veteran, which is the organ of this organization.

FLORENCE MURPHY COOLEY,
Chairman, Florida;

MOLLY R. MACGILL ROSENBERG,
Texas;

MARY B. POPPENHEIM,
South Carolina.

Committee.

Mrs. Henry A. Loudon, of North Carolina, wrote of the character of Mrs. Sheldon S. Stringer, President of the Florida Division, which was read by Mrs. Lillie F. Worthington, of Mississippi, as follows:

It becomes our sad duty to pay this tribute of respect to the memory of Mrs. Sheldon Stringer, who passed away on the 25th of November, 1907, at Columbia, South Carolina, while returning from the general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, held at Norfolk, Virginia.

She was by birth a South Carolinian, but in her youth her family moved to Spring Hill, Florida, where she resided until her marriage in 1874 to Dr. Sheldon Stringer. They made their permanent home at Brooksville, Florida.

Mrs. Stringer was one of the charter members of the Brooksville Chapter, U. D. C., and was a most earnest and indefatigable worker in it and in the State Division. Besides being president of her home chapter for many years, she held for two terms the offices of vice-president and treasurer of the Florida Division. She was elected president of the Florida Division in 1906, although she was not attending the convention, and her nomination was a most gratifying surprise to her. Her second term of this office had hardly half expired when the general convention at Norfolk was held. Those of us who met her on that occasion remember with pleasure her genial personality and her devotion to the U. D. C. Therefore, be it Resolved, That in the death of Mrs. Stringer the United Daughters of the Confederacy have lost a most devoted and zealous member and a most untiring and enthusiastic worker. Her wise counsel and genial presence will be sadly missed not only in her own division, but among the many friends whom she won at the general conventions of the U. D. C.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family, and a copy be spread on the minutes of our order.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. HENRY A. LONDON,
North Carolina, Chairman;

MRS. JOHN WILLIS HEATFIELD,
Illinois,

MRS. MARY BESANT,
Florida,

MRS. LILLIE F. WORTHINGTON,
Mississippi, Committee.

To the memory of Mrs. Braxton Bragg, Honorary President, U. D. C., Mrs. Vaught, of Louisiana paid the following beautiful tribute:

Madame President, Daughters of the Confederacy:

To this committee has been entrusted the sad duty of expressing the sense of loss sustained by the United Daughters of the Confederacy in the death, at the age of eighty-three years, of its beloved and venerable member, Mrs. Eliza Ellis Bragg, widow of General Braxton Bragg, Confederate States Army.

On September 25th, 1908, Almighty God in His infinite wisdom recalled to Himself the spirit of our Honorary President. All her life she had been a faithful and consistent Christian, affectionate in her family relations, a devoted wife to her distinguished husband, and a type of Southern womanhood ever faithful to the cause of the South, during the war, and to its memories, afterwards.

In 1849 Miss Eliza Ellis became the wife of Colonel Bragg, who had already won distinction in the wars of the United States with Mexico, and with the Seminole Indians. When in 1861 he joined the Confederacy his wife prepared cheerfully to follow his fortunes, and by her tenderness, self-sacrifice and lofty patriotism, became her husband's greatest support and comfort.

Part of their lives were spent in Alabama, and after the death of General Bragg many summers were spent by Mrs. Bragg in Virginia. Her home, however, was in Louisiana. Upon the formation of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Louisiana, New Orleans Chapter hastened to confer upon Mrs. Bragg honorary membership, and later the entire Association placed her name upon the list of Honorary Presidents, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Preferring to lead a quiet and retired life, yet always ready to take part in any event which honored and recalled the beloved cause, she was a noted figure in that galaxy of noble women of the South of the three periods of preparation, of stress and combat, of peace and honor.

In her taking away the people of the South lose a shining example, her family and associates a dear and loving friend, and this body a beloved and lamented member.

Now, therefore, Be it Resolved, That this body does hereby voice its sense of bereavement, in the death of Mrs. Braxton Bragg, and its sympathy with her family.

Further be it Resolved, That a copy of the above preamble and resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, to General Clement Evans, commanding United Confederate Veterans, and to the New Orleans Chapter of United Daughters of the Confederacy, and that they be spread upon the minutes of this convention.

MRS. D. A. S. VAUGHT.

Chairman, Louisiana;

MRS. VIRGINIA CLAY CLOPTON,

Hon. Pres. U. D. C., Alabama;

(MISS) WILLIE C. WITHERS,

Virginia, Committee.

To General Stephen D. Lee, Commander-in-Chief, United

Confederate Veterans, Mrs. Stephens, of Mississippi, offered resolutions of respect as follows:

General Stephen Dill Lee was a South Carolinian by birth, having been born at Charleston, S. C., September 22, 1833, of patriotic lineage. He sprang from a race of men who had shown in a world famous struggle all of the virtues of a people capable of independent rule. His great-grandfather, Mr. Lee, was one of forty citizens whose devotion to continental causes was punished by imprisonment. Inheriting from these revolutionary forefathers a military spirit, it was but natural that he should elect to finish his education at West Point, where a more than ordinary military genius was developed. From this school he was graduated in 1854, and was made quartermaster in the United States Artillery. He resigned this position in 1861 because of secession, believing that his first allegiance, like Robert Edward Lee, was due his State. Showing himself every inch a soldier and a true man, he was promoted from position to position until, gaining distinction at the battle of Seven Pines, he was promoted to Colonel. His conduct at Manassas was such that President Davis said: "I have reason to believe he served to turn the tide of battle and consummate the victory." His last promotion was to Lieutenant-General. In 1865 he married Miss Regina Harrison, of Columbus, Miss., where he made his home. He served our great commonwealth in many capacities, and the South, as head of the U. C. V., after General John B. Gordon's death. Not only, then, does Mississippi, but this whole loved Southland, mourn his death, which occurred last May. In person, General Lee was a man of pleasing appearance, of refined, rather handsome features, and of well proportional stature. His character was grand in its completeness—he was a man of the tenderest heart and the largest sympathies. If we review the history of the whole world we will find "the character of the ideal commander is the grandest manifestation in which man can show himself to man." In the four years of his command in the most fiercely contested battles the world has ever known, all of the elements needed to perfect a great commander showed themselves in General Lee. His influence over his men was wonderful, and no wonder today those who wore the gray with him mingle their tears with yours, with ours, my dear Daughters, in giving vent to their grief.

In everything that tended to the uplifting and good of the Veterans, his great heart shed forth its love and tender sympathy. I need not cite you to his Christian living, for his ideals were such that to reach them he must live upon a plane far above that of passive, listless goodness. In his embodiment of these virtues and goodnesses that make a truly great man, we find nothing wanting. There crept into his mighty character no flaw to mar it, and it is with a feeling of our great loss we bow with his loved comrades in this sorrow. At Columbus, with every expression of honor and love, he found his last resting place. Every flower upon his bier told of his living in our memory, and every voice breathed a silent anthem of praise for the gift of such a man.

DAISY McLAURIN STEVENS, Chairman;
LOUISA McC. SMYTHE.

After reading these resolutions, a letter of sympathy was ordered sent to Miss Mary A. Harrison, a sister-in-law, of General Lee.

Memorial to General Alexander P. Stewart, Lieut. General, C. S. A., was given by Mrs. Pilcher, of Tennessee as follows:

On August 31st, 1908, the ranking officer, the last but one of the Lieutenant-Generals of the matchless Army of the Confederacy, passed away.

General A. P. Stuart received the final summons at Biloxi, Mississippi, lulled to rest where blue waters of the Mexican Gulf lap the white shore—and with the eternal anthem, hymned by wind and surge, sounding his requiem.

His was an unusually long, useful and brilliant life, rounded out without flaw; his death should not cause sadness or lamentation; rather exultation, that he has gone to his reward.

The story of his life has been printed and told so often, recently, that, even a brief mention of his career is unnecessary here. A long life like his, spent in the service of his God, and unselfishly for the benefit of his people, needs no high sounding phrases to impress its worth upon the minds of coming generations. A devoted people will keep his memory green, along with those of the immortal host, of which he was one of the most distinguished leaders.

He needs no praise, but we, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in convention assembled, desire to formally take cognizance of his passing.

We, therefore, resolve,

That we, the U. D. C., herewith express our sorrow at the death of this distinguished Confederate leader;

That we are proud of and cherish his memory, considering him, as we do, one of the South's greatest men. And,

That his death removes one who cannot be replaced.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished his bereaved family, and

That these presents be spread upon the minutes of this convention.

JUDITH WINSTON PILCHER, Chairman;
CAROLINE MERIWETHER GOODLETT,
BLANCHE HINDMAN.

Nashville, Tenn., November 6th, 1908.

Mrs. Alexander presented the names of Mrs. George Lyons, of Richmond, and Miss Gordan, of Norfolk, ex-Presidents of the Virginia Division, who had passed away since the last convention.

Mrs. R. D. Wright, of South Carolina, asked to add the names of the following Ex-State Presidents, of the South Carolina, Division: Mrs. Harriet Shannon Burnett, Mrs. Ellison Capers, wife of Gen. Ellison Capers, and Mrs. Jas. H. White; also General Ellison Capers, Brigadier-General, C. S. A., Bishop of the Diocese of South Carolina, and author of the prayer used in the Ritual of the U. D. C., all of whom have died during the year.

Mrs. Ross proposed the names of Miss Sallie Jones, of Camden, Alabama's first State President, and of Mrs. F. S. Wood, of Troy, also an Ex-President of the Alabama Division.

Mrs. Stockbridge announced the death of Jas. R. Randall, author of "Maryland, My Maryland," and presented the following appropriate resolutions:

In all ages there has mingled with clash of arms the sound of the minstrel's harp; and, in rearing memorials to the warriors, the South should not forget the singers whose strains glorified the hour of victory and soothed the anguish of defeat.

Particularly let us remember the gentle poet, who, bursting the bonds of reserve, gave to us that ecstasy of entreaty,

"Maryland! My Maryland!"

This poem, epitomizing the long, long story of valor's deeds, is the finest example of minstrelsy in the language, and stirred the blood of patriotism in the early days of the great struggle. No words of ours can add to the fame of James R. Randall, but we cannot let him pass from us without a tribute to his memory. Therefore,

Be it resolved, That we, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in convention assembled, express by these thoughts and words our debt to the poet, and our loving appreciation of the author of "Maryland! My Maryland!"

BELLE LAMAR STOCKBRIDGE.

After these resolutions, on motion of Sister Esther Carlotta, the convention stood in silent prayer for one moment in memory of all veterans and women of the Confederacy who have passed away since the last annual meeting.

The Chair requested that the memorial services should be closed by the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee."

Returning to business, the completed report of the Committee on Credentials was made by Miss Benning, the Chairman.

Mrs. Tench moved to accept the report with a rising vote of thanks to the committee.

Mrs. Nesbitt, of Georgia, moved to amend by thanking the chairman. The amendment was accepted, and the motion carried.

Miss West, of Waco, read report of the Texas Division, in the absence of Miss Daffan, the president. The report of Tennessee was read by Mrs. M. B. Pilcher, the President.

On motion, the meeting adjourned to meet at 9 a. m. Friday morning.

THIRD DAY—MORNING MEETING

Friday, Nov. 13, 1908.

The meeting was called to order at 9 a. m., by the President-General.

The invocation was offered by Rev. R. O. Flinn, Pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian Church, of Atlanta.

On motion of Mrs. Rosenberg, the Corresponding Secretary General was directed to send a telegram to Mrs. Jefferson Davis Hayes, the daughter of President Jefferson Davis, regretting her absence.

Many greetings to the Convention were read by the Recording Secretary-General.

Mrs. Latham, of Tennessee, moved, that a telegram be sent Miss Katie Daffin, stating that she was missed at the convention. Carried.

Mrs. Alexander, of Virginia, moved that a letter of sympathy be sent to Mrs. Thomas Worchester, of Ohio, whose absence was caused by her illness. Carried.

On motion of Mrs. Thompson, of Alabama, a letter of sympathy was directed to be sent to Mrs. Chas. G. Brown, President of the Alabama Division, on account of the illness of her husband, with regrets at her enforced absence from the convention.

The reading of the reports of State divisions was resumed.

The report of South Carolina was read by Mrs. R. D. Wright, the Division President, and that of the Philadelphia Chapter, by Mrs. Edgar Marburg, the President.

At the close of the latter report, Sister Esther Carlotta, of Florida, related a touching incident, which came under her observation of the charitable work of this chapter.

Mrs. McGuire, of Portland, Oregon, read the report of her chapter, the only one in that State. This message came with touching effect to the Convention, from the far off shores of the Pacific and as the first delegate from her chapter, Mrs. McGuire's welcome was very cordial.

Mrs. Shearer, of Cincinnati, reported the work of the Ohio Division.

A pleasing incident occurred at this point, in the introduction of Mrs. Mary Ann Lipscomb, the niece of General Howell Cobb, who was a member of the cabinet of President Jefferson Davis. She acknowledged the honor in a few graceful remarks.

Mrs. W. J. Behan, President of the Southern Confederate Memorial Association, was invited to the platform and presented to the convention, to which she made appropriate response.

The State reports were then resumed, Mrs. Faison, President, reading that of North Carolina.

New York Chapter report was presented by Mrs. James Henry Parker, the President.

The proceedings were again pleasantly interrupted by the introduction of Mrs. Mary Fairfax Childs, author and reader, who gave one of her own dialect stories, "Mandy and Ole Miss."

Apropos to this, Miss Baxter, of Georgia, mentioned the organization in Georgia, of 125 ex-slaves, calling themselves the "Old Plantation Association," the object of which is the perpetuation of the memories of the old regime, and the instilling into the rising colored generation a desire to live uprightly and in harmony with the superior race.

Resuming State reports, that of New Mexico was next in order, and in the absence of a delegate, was read by the Secretary-General.

The report of Missouri was presented by Mrs. W. L. Kline, President. It contained a recommendation that the name of Jefferson Davis be replaced on "Cabin John Bridge."

In this connection, the President-General spoke of having had an interview with President Roosevelt, requesting that this should be done. The President asked her to refer this matter to General Luke Wright, Secretary of War, who promised to take up this matter for consideration.

Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, President, gave the report of Mississippi, in a brilliant manner.

The report of the Father Ryan Chapter, Republic of Mexico, was given by Mrs. Warner, (proxy); Mrs. Odenheimer, President, gave the report of the Maryland Division.

Mrs. Gabbett asked the President to occupy an easy chair, which was formerly the property of Jefferson Davis, and is now owned by herself, and placed on the platform for the President's use.

Mrs. Stone thanked Mrs. Gabbett for the honor and kind thought.

The Minnesota report was read by Mrs. James B. Gantt of Jefferson City, Mo., (proxy). This is the first chapter organized in that State, and was received by the convention with open arms.

Louisiana report was read by Miss McGrath, President.

Mrs. Mattie Bruce Reynolds, Vice-President, read the report of the Kentucky Division.

Miss Alice Baxter, President of the Georgia Division, gave the report of her work.

Florida report was read by Mrs. H. H. McCreary.

Announcements were made by Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Ottley, and the Recording Secretary, after which the convention adjourned until 2 p. m.

THIRD DAY—AFTERNOON MEETING.

Friday, November 13th, 1908.

The convention was called to order by the President-General at 2:00 p. m.

The minutes were read, corrected, and approved.

District of Columbia, by Mrs. Ludlow, Recording Secretary, Arlington Monument Association, and that of California by Mrs. Annie Pratt, and the report of Arkansas, by Mrs. Haliburton, President, and the report of Alabama was made by Mrs. C. M. Tardy, proxy.

Mrs. Tench, of Florida, asked that the seven minutes not consumed in the reading of the Florida report be allowed for a supplemental report.

The Chair ruled that, owing to limited time, this request could not be granted, but full report would be allowed on the minutes.

On motion of Mrs. Waring, seconded by Mrs. Voorhies, of California, the State reports were accepted as a whole.

The Finance Committee made report. Mrs. Oehmig, of Tennessee, moved that it be adopted.

Mrs. Vaught moved to amend, by adopting with the recommendations. Carried.

The report of the Committee on Bestowal of Cross of Honor was read by Mrs. McSherry, chairman.

Mrs. Schuyler moved, seconded by Mrs. Voorhies, the adoption of the report.

Discussion followed.

Mrs. Thompson, of Alabama, moved, seconded by Mrs. Cooley, "As we have three general days of observance for bestowal of crosses, and each division having an extra day, between June 3rd and January 19th, I move, that veterans' crosses be bestowed on the three general days and the descendants' on the special day selected by the State."

Mrs. James Henry Parker, of New York, moved, seconded by Miss West, to amend by bestowing the crosses to both descendants and veterans, on all days for bestowal. Considerable discussion followed.

Miss West called for the previous question.

The Chair announced that the previous question was called and debate was closed.

On the call of the ayes and noes, the Chair was in doubt as to the result of the vote.

A vote by States was called, which resulted in carrying the amendment by the requisite two-thirds vote.

The amended motion was then put and carried.

Mrs. McKinney moved that the action of the Norfolk convention, as to time limit for bestowal of Cross of Honor be rescinded, in order that the recommendation of the Committee on Bestowal of Cross may be acted upon. Carried by requisite vote.

Miss West rose to a point of order and stated that the discussion had consumed forty minutes. The Chair ruled the point of order well taken.

Miss West moved the previous question on the adoption of the report of the committee.

Previous question carried, and the report was adopted.

Mrs. Gabbett made these remarks:

"I assure you this has deeply pained me. I have but one regret, and that is that I ever originated the Cross of Honor. By removing the restriction for the bestowal upon descendants, you have taken away from it all honor to the veterans."

The History Committee was called, but the chairman being absent, the report was passed and the Stationery Committee report was called, and read by the Secretary.

An amendment to the by-laws was proposed in this report, but on motion, was deferred until the regular order for new business.

On motion of Mrs. Henderson, the report was accepted with thanks by the committee.

The report of the Committee on Memorial Window to Mrs. Jefferson Davis was read by Miss West, and in courtesy to this work, additional time was granted.

At its conclusion the convention arose and paid the tribute of silence to the memory of Mrs. Davis.

On motion it was decided to hold a short business meeting at 7:30 p. m., and adjourn at 9:30.

Miss Baxter, chairman, made report for the Committee on Transportation, citing the rates given by the railroads.

On motion, the meeting adjourned to meet at 7:30 p. m.

THIRD DAY—EVENING MEETING.

Friday, November 13th, 1908.

The convention met and was called to order by the President-General at 7:30 p. m.

The report of the Shiloh Monument Committee was then read by Mrs. Alexander B. White, chairman, after a complimentary introduction by the Chair.

In the absence of the treasurer of the committee, the report of the treasurer was also read by Mrs. White.

The time limit having expired, Mrs. White thanked the convention for its generous subscription to this fund.

Mrs. Vaught asked for five minutes for contributions for the Beauregard monument fund. The Chair ruled this out of order at this time, because not on the regular order of business.

The report of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association was called. While waiting for the reading of this report, Mrs. Henderson, of Mississippi, moved that subscriptions be now taken for the Arlington Confederate Monument.

The Chair made a stirring appeal for funds, showing the necessity for the speedy erection of a handsome monument on this historic soil, the home of Robert E. Lee.

The report of the Arlington Monument Association was then read by Mrs. Butler, vice-chairman, as written by the chairman, Col. Hilary A. Herbert.

Mrs. Butler also read the treasurer's report, which showed most gratifying results in securing funds for this purpose.

Mrs. Leigh, of Norfolk, Va., stated that years ago the First Virginia Division visited the Confederate graves in Arlington and unanimously resolved that as soon as the Jefferson Davis Monument should be completed, a monument to the Confederate dead should be erected there.

Mrs. Cory moved the adoption of the report of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association.

Mrs. White, chairman of the Shiloh Monument Association, asked if the $500.00 heretofore pledged as "annual donation" to that fund, was available.

The Chair called attention to the fact that this was not given at the last convention, as the Finance Committee found the treasury depleted, and pro-rated this amount to $300.00 each, for Shiloh and Arlington Monuments, and further stated, that in making the liberal donations of the last few years, a system of "robbing Peter to pay Paul" had been adopted, and the necessity now arises, that such expenditures must be justified, only, when a surplus exists. The hour having arrived, the convention adjourned until 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

FOURTH DAY—MORNING MEETING.

Saturday, November 14th, 1908.

The President-General called the convention to order at 9 a. m.

The invocation was by Rev. J. W. Lee, pastor Trinity Methodist Church.

The minutes of the two previous meetings were read, corrected, and approved.

The report of the History Committee was made by its chairman, Mrs. Roy W. McKinney, of Kentucky.

On motion of Mrs. Henderson, seconded by Mrs. Mollie R. Macgill Rosenberg, the report of the committee was received with thanks.

Mrs. Henderson complimented Mrs. McKinney upon the able work which she and her committee had performed, and said, if every Daughter of the Confederacy would keep her eyes and ears open for valuable historical information, great good would be accomplished.

The Chair also commended the work of the Committee.

The report of the Committee on Scholarship in Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York, was called and read by Mrs. Schuyler, of New York.

Mrs. Schuyler moved the adoption of the report, which carried.

The report of the Committee on Revision of the Constitution and By-Laws was next in order, and this was made by Mrs. James E. Alexander, of Virginia, and Mrs. Alexander B. White, of Tennessee, in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Lilian Pike Roome, of the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Parker, of New York, seconded by Mrs. Tench, of Florida, moved that the report be considered section by section. Motion adopted.

ARTICLE I.

Section 1, was read by Mrs. Alexander, and on motion was adopted.

Section 2, was read. Mrs. Hall, of Arkansas, moved, seconded by Mrs. Halliburton, that this be adopted.

On motion of Miss West, seconded by Mrs. Denny, it was decided, that roll call by States should not be had, except when there was doubt as to the result of the vote cast.

ARTICLE II.—OBJECTS.

Section 1, was read and its adoption moved. Mrs. Cory moved as an amendment, that the word "preserve" be inserted to make the clause read "protect and preserve historic places." The committee accepted this amendment.

Miss West asked if she could offer an amendment.

The Chair ruled that this was out of order, as an amendment could be but once amended.

Miss West moved that this section be divided into two sections, and read as Sections 1 and 2, in order that provision for a literary evening may be made.

The Chair ruled this motion out of order, at this time.

Mrs. Shearer, of Ohio, moved to strike out the word "truthful" and insert the word "true" before the word "history."

The committee accepted this amendment.

Article II was read as amended, and on motion of Mrs. Hall, of Arkansas, seconded by Mrs. Halliburton, of Arkansas, Article II was adopted as amended.

The Chair explained that the leaflets presented, are additional amendments to the constitution previously sent out, as required, and which would be considered together with the revision.

ARTICLE III.—Organization of Chapters.

Section 1 was read, and motion made and seconded to adopt.

Mrs. Smythe obtained the floor and asked that careful consideration be given to the amendment, as it affected the younger soldiers, "the Benjamins of our homes," who were killed in battle and left no lineal descendants.

Mrs. Kate E. Perry-Mosher's amendment to this section was read and considered.

Mrs. Vaught moved that Article III, Section 1, be received, as recommended by the Revision Committee, instead of the amendment of Mrs. Perry-Mosher.

Mrs. Cantrill moved to table the amendment.

The Chair asked Mrs. Cantrill to withdraw her motion to table the amendment, as it should be considered. Mrs. Cantrill accordingly withdrew her motion.

Mrs. Schuyler moved, seconded by Mrs. Dowdell, the adoption of the amendment.

Miss Baxter spoke to the subject.

The previous question was called and sustained.

On the vote the amendment of Mrs. Perry-Mosher was lost.

An amendment offered by the M. A. E. McClure Chapter was read, substituting "who" for the word "as" in the clause, "such men as served."

The committee refused to accept this amendment.

In the same article and section, this chapter proposed to amend by striking out the word "lineal."

On motion of Mrs. Henderson, seconded by Mrs. Denny, of Tennessee, and Mrs. Cooley, of Florida, these amendments to Section I, Article III, were tabled.

Mrs. Baird, of Tennessee, moved to amend Section I, Article III, by inserting after the word "wives" the words "when of Southern parentage".

Mrs. Baird spoke to her motion.

Considerable discussion followed, Mrs. Schuyler, Mrs. Cantrill, and Mrs. Baird taking part. Mrs. Parker, of New York, strongly opposed this amendment.

The previous question was called.

Mrs. Corey raised the point of order that the discussion had not lasted twenty minutes, and that it should be continued.

The Chair ruled that Mrs. Cory was out of order, and explained that while a question may be discussed as long as twenty minutes, delegates were not required to so discuss it.

The vote on the previous question was then had, and carried.

The vote being taken on Mrs. Baird's amendment, it was lost.

It was moved by Mrs. White, seconded and carried, that the chairman of each delegation be directed to preserve order in her membership.

Article III, Section I, was read, and its adoption was moved by Mrs. Schuyler, seconded by Mrs. Duke, of New York.

Mrs. M. R. Macgill Rosenberg, of Texas, moved, seconded by Mrs. Odenheimer, to amend by striking out the words "of the first degree" in the second line of Article III, Section I, and inserting "grandnieces and their lineal descendants", and, further inserting in line six of the same article and section, after the words, "those women and their lineal descendants", so that, as amended Article III, Section I, shall read: "Those women entitled to memberships, are the widows, wives, mothers, sisters, nieces, and their lineal descendants, grand-nieces and their lineal descendants, and lineal descendants of such men as served honorably in the Confederate Army, Navy, or Civil Service, or of those men unfit for active duty who loyally gave aid to the cause, also those women, and their lineal descendants wherever living, who can give proof of personal service and loyal aid to the Confederate cause during the war, such service being certified to by the affidavit of the applicant, stating specific service rendered."

Mrs. Rosenberg declined to accept the substitute offered by Mrs. Henderson. Mrs. Henderson moved the adoption of her substitute, which was seconded. Mrs. Henderson spoke to her motion.

Miss West, for Mrs. Rosenberg, spoke to Mrs. Rosenberg's amendment. The subject was warmly discussed until Mrs. Nesbitt, of Georgia, asked the convention if they were perpetuating liberty or perpetuating merely matters of personal pride.

Mrs. Cooley spoke to Section I, of Article III, now under discussion. The previous question was called. Mrs. Henderson's amendment was then put to vote. Doubt as to the vote.

The roll call of States was asked, and resulted in 696 for, and 796 against the amendment. The substitute of Mrs. Henderson was declared lost.

The Chair announced that the question was now upon Mrs. Rosenberg's amendment.

Miss Bennings spoke to this amendment, highly commending the services of the women in nursing sick soldiers, and denying themselves all save the bare necessities of life.

The previous question was called. Mrs. Rosenberg's amendment was then adopted by requisite vote, and Section I, Article III, as amended, was adopted.

Section 2, Article III, was read, and motion was made and seconded that this be adopted, whereupon Mrs. McClurg moved to amend by striking out the words, "by the consent of that chapter". This was accepted by the Committee on Revision, and Section 2, as amended, was adopted.

Section 3 was read and on motion, adopted.

Section 4 was read. Mrs. Bohmer, of Virginia, offered an amendment, that after the word "chapter" the following be added: "Provided, that all applications for such changes be accompanied by official record showing that there were not seven (7) votes against such change".

The amendment was accepted by the committee.

Section 4 was read and adopted as amended.

On motion, the convention adjourned until 1:30 p. m.

FOURTH DAY—AFTERNOON MEETING.

Saturday, November 14th, 1908.

The convention was called to order by the President-General at 1:30 p. m.

The report of the Committee on the Revision of the Constitution was resumed.

Section 5 was read. Mrs. Hickman, seconded by Mrs. Halliburton, moved the adoption of the section as read. Miss Baxter moved to amend by striking out the entire Section 5, and Mrs. Hickman further amended, by motion, to strike out only the last clause. Miss Baxter accepted this amendment, and after much discussion, the call for the previous question brought the debate to a close, and the amendment was lost. Mrs. Stevens offered an amendment, seconded by Mrs. Vaught, to strike out the word "locality" and to substitute therefor the word "section." Adopted. Miss Poppenheim moved to amend the last line of that section by substituting the word "voting," for "active," member. Section 5, thus amended, was adopted.

Section 6 was read, and on motion of Mrs. Kline, of Missouri, duly seconded, was adopted.

Section 7 was read and its adoption moved by Mrs. Baird, seconded by Mrs. Stockbridge, of Florida. The committee asked permission to withdraw Section 7, on account of repetition contained therein, which, on motion, was granted.

ARTICLE IV.—Organization of State Divisions.

Section 1. Mrs. McKinney, seconded by Mrs. Cantrill, on the reading of Section 1, moved its adoption. The previous question was called, and this section was adopted without debate.

Section 2 was read, and on motion of Mrs. Cantrill, seconded by Mrs. Halliburton, was adopted.

Section 3 was read. Its adoption was moved by Mrs. Schuyler, seconded by Mrs. Henderson. Mrs. Faison moved to strike out the last sentence, seconded by Mrs. Cooley, amended, and was adopted.

Section 4 was read and adoption moved by Mrs. Faison.

The Chair objected to such adoption, and ruled that a State Division has no right to charge an additional charter fee, as the charter is furnished by the General Association for a stated cost, and no additional fee can be asked. Mrs. Thompson moved to sustain the decision of the Chair. The motion was seconded and carried and the Chair sustained. Mrs. Cooley moved, seconded by Mrs. McKinney, to amend the article by striking out the word "charter." The committee accepted the amendment. Mrs. Henderson suggested that the manufacturers of the insignia be notified of such cancellation of charter. This suggestion having been agreed to, the section was adopted.

Section 5 was read and upon motion of Mrs. Cantrill, seconded by Mrs. Halliburton, was adopted.

Section 6 after being read, upon motion of Mrs. Halliburton, seconded by Mrs. Gray, was adopted.

Section 7 was, upon motion of Mrs. Schuyler, and duly seconded, adopted.

Section 8 was read. Mrs. McKinney moved its adoption, seconded by Mrs. Halliburton. Mrs. Parker, in discussing the matter, stated that the State Federation and many other similar organizations in New York were purely for civic improvement purposes, the betterment of the city and the reform of child labor, and in no way conflicted with the work of the U. D. C. Mrs. Raoul, of Georgia, spoke to the subject, favoring the co-operation of the General Association with other organizations. The section was then adopted, without change.

ARTICLE V.—Conventions of the U. D. C.

Section 1, of Article V was read, and adoption moved by Mrs. Schuyler, seconded by Mrs. Duke, of New York. Mrs. Tench, spoke against the motion. Miss West, of Texas, spoke to the motion. Mrs. McGuire, of Oregon, favored an earlier time for the meeting of the Association on account of cheap rates being in effect during the summer months. Mrs. Tench, of Florida, rose to speak. Mrs. Cory rose to a point of order, claiming that Mrs. Tench had spoken twice to the same subject. The President overruled this point of order. Mrs. Tench then spoke to her amendment. The previous question was called and the call sustained. The vote was then taken upon this section, by the roll call of States. Adopted by a vote of 1,153 to 371.

After the reading of Section 2, Mrs. Vaught offered the following substitute for Sections 2 to 6, inclusive:

Article 2, Section 5: "Conventions of the U. D. C. shall be composed of the general officers of the Association, and Presidents of the Divisions, and Chairman of Standing Committees with one vote each when present, and of delegates from chapters in good standing in the general order and in their respective divisions, at the rate of one delegate for every twenty-five members, or fraction thereof not less than seven. Any one or more delegates shall be entitled to cast the full vote of the chapter. Chapters may give their proxies to other representatives, provided no member of the Executive Committee carry a proxy except for her own State when it has no other representative present.

Section 5. No general officer of this Association shall become a President of a division.

Much discussion followed the reading of this substitute, upon which the previous question was called, and on motion of Mrs. Cooley, Mrs. Vaught's substitute was laid on the table, and the sections acted upon separately, and adopted.

Section 2 of Article 5 was read, and on motion of Mrs. Gray, of Georgia, was adopted.

Section 3 was adopted on motion of Mrs. Halliburton, seconded by Mrs. Nolan, of Florida.

Motion was made by Mrs. Powell, of Florida, seconded by Mrs. Halliburton, to adopt Section 4, to which Miss Poppenheim offered amendment, "that the chairman of Standing Committees be given a vote in all conventions of the General Association U. D. C.," and this section, as amended, was adopted.

Section 5 was, upon motion of Mrs. Gantt, of Missouri, duly seconded and adopted, as presented.

Section 6, on motion of Mrs. Henderson, was adopted without amendment.

ARTICLE VI.—Officers.

Section 1 was read, and adoption moved by Mrs. Voorheis, and seconded by Mrs. Hall.

Miss Poppenheim, of South Carolina, offered an amendment to enlarge the Executive Board by placing thereon the Custodian of Cross of Honor, and adding the office of Registrar-General. This amendment was accepted by the committee.

Miss West further amended by creating the office of Historian-General, which was also accepted by the committee.

Mrs. Williams moved to amend by adding two more Vice-Presidents, making the number four. Mrs. Schuyler moved to amend by striking out "four" and substituting "three", which amendment was accepted by the committee.

Miss McMckinney moved to adopt this completed list of officers. Discussion arose upon the adoption of a section, in part.

Mrs. Halliburton moved, that that part containing the list of officers be voted on first. Mrs. Parker requested information on the duties of Registrar-General, to which Miss Poppenheim replied. Considerable discussion followed, cut off by call of Mrs. Tench for the previous question. The clause relating to officers was then voted upon and adopted. The latter part of the section was discussed.

Mrs. Baird moved to strike out "two years" and substitute "one year". Mrs. Baird spoke to her amendment. Mrs. Robinson, of Richmond, favored a two years' term of office. Mrs. Schuyler moved the adoption of Mrs. Baird's amendment.

Mrs. Thompson favored annual elections, with two years' term of office, such term of office of a portion of the board expiring each year—that the organization may have the benefit of having some officers of experience continually on the board. Miss West spoke to the question, as did Mrs. Schuyler, of New York.

Mrs. Cory moved to amend by striking out the words "served two years," and substituting the words "one year." The Chair ruled Mrs. Cory's motion out of order, as Mrs. Baird's amendment to that effect was still pending. Miss Baxter opposed the annual election of officers. Mrs. Baird's amendment was put to the vote and accepted. The vote was then taken, and resulted in the adoption of the second clause, as amended. Mrs. Cantrill, of Kentucky, moved that the affix "General" be abolished in connection with the officers of the General Association, and spoke to her motion. There was no second, and the motion was withdrawn.

Mrs. Hickman raised a point of order, stating that the first part of the section just adopted designated the Executive Board as "Officers-General."

Section 2, Article 6, was read, and motion made and seconded, for adoption. An amendment was offered by Miss West, of Texas, as follows: "No woman shall be eligible to this office of Honorary President, who is not the wife, widow, mother, sister, or daughter of one distinguished in the Military, Naval, or Civil Service of the Confederate States of America; or, a woman who has rendered especially noted service in the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

FOURTH DAY—EVENING MEETING.

Saturday, November 14, 1908.

The meeting was called to order at 7 o'clock p. m. by the President-General.

Mrs. Pilcher read the following tribute to Mrs. Goodlett:

We would pay tribute to one who herself has paid tribute that came from love's inspiration, lasting and beautiful, to the memories of a sacred cause, around which a proud people's hopes once clung; memories that shall continue undiminished as long as Southern manhood and Southern womanhood shall last; as long as acts of heroes live in story; as long as mankind holds in reverence deeds of valor.

It was in the early nineties that Mrs. M. C. Goodlett, under the exaltation of the tender recollections of a noble people's noble past, conceived the idea of having the women of the South banded together in an organization, dedicated to the perpetuation of these memories, and keeping them forever fresh.

As the inauguration of this beautiful purpose a small company of women were banded together at Tennessee's Capital City, and from this, the conception of the founder unfolded into the United Daughters of the Confederacy," whose jurisdiction and membership extend today wherever Southern sentiment finds a home, to pay a tribute of love and homage to so worthy a founder, while yet she lives, is a privilege to those who are proud to call themselves her "Daughters."

The name of Caroline Meriwether Goodlett is engraven upon our hearts as the first, the most distinguished Daughter, as the mother of all the Confederate Daughters. To her we have looked as a guiding star, as a wise counselor, as an exemplar. In our gratitude and love we are moved to expression of appreciation for her great and lasting work.

She erected, in founding this organization, a monument to the South; we would erect a monument of loving homage to her. Therefore,

Be it resolved by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in convention assembled, That the tenth day of September of each and every year, be set apart, as a memorial day, to be known as "Founder's Day," in honor of Caroline Meriwether Goodlett, the founder of this organization; that this shall be embodied in our by-laws, and further,

That each chapter of each State Division be given notice of this memorial day, to the end that each may observe it by appropriate ceremonies, setting forth the cause of its observance.

Be it further resolved, That this resolution and preamble be spread upon the minutes of this convention; that it continue in perpetual effect as one of the decrees of this convention.

Be it further resolved, That a copy be sent to Mrs. Goodlett as to the press.

Respectfully submitted,

JUDITH WINSTON PILCHER,

President Tennessee Division, U. D. C.

Miss West offered the following amendment, defining the duties of Historian-General: "The Historian-General shall, with the assistance of the Historical Committee, arrange a literary and historical program, on Southern sketches or topics by writers belonging to this Association, such program to be given on one evening during the Annual Convention. She shall perform any other duties pertaining to her office."

Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson offered the following substitute, which was adopted and became Section 7:

"Members requiring stationery bearing the U. D. C. emblem shall order it stamped from the die used by the Committee on Stationery, or from one exactly similar."

Reason:

"This by-law will not conflict with the use of division or chapter emblems, but will simply insure a uniform representation of the U. D. C. badge whenever it appears on stationery."

This was discussed by Mrs. McClurg, Mrs. Henderson, and Mrs. Cooley. Put to vote, Mrs. McDowell's amendment was lost.

Section 6, without amendment, was adopted.

On the reading of this section, its adoption was moved by Mrs. McKinney and seconded.

The report of the Committee on Jurisprudence was made by the chairman, Mrs. Henderson, as follows:

Madame President and Ladies:

Your Committee on Jurisprudence beg to submit the following recommendations rendered by the President-General during the past year:

1. "That as the Central or Executive Committee of the Arlington Monument Association is composed of men and women, either may be elected to the offices of the Monument Association, as the committee may desire."

We recommend that this decision stand approved, as there can be no justice in discriminating against either.

2. "That a State Division officer must reside and be registered in the State in which she holds office, and if she is registered in another state she must place a copy of her membership papers with the Registrar of the State in which she holds office."

The justice of this decision appears to be so perfectly clear that your committee will only recommend that it be approved.

3. "That the general constitution of the United Daughters of the Confederacy does not provide for the admission to membership of grand-nieces as it does not read 'nieces and their descendants,' and when further defining what 'lineal descendants' are entitled to membership plainly states 'lineal descendants of such men as served honorably in the Confederate Army, Navy, or Civil Service or lineal descendants of those men unfit for active duty who loyally gave aid to the cause; also women and their lineal descendants wherever living, who can give proof of personal service and loyal aid to the Southern cause during the war.'"

Your committee finds that this decision is in accord with the letter of the law, the meaning of "niece" being "a daughter of a mother or sister."

We therefore recommend that you amend Article III, Section I, of the constitution, by writing after the word "nieces" the following: "And grand-nieces, their lineal descendants."

4. "That grand-nieces who may have been admitted to membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy under a misinterpretation of the constitution of the U. D. C., who have faithfully served therein, are now bona fide members of the Association, for in such cases no retroactive legislation can be had, and it is quite certain that members admitted on the service of a great-uncle are also eligible under the clause of "material aid," having been given by lineal ancestors.

Your committee recommends the approval of this, as it is quite plain that no retroactive legislation can be taken with regard to those who have come into our order upon a Constitution interpreted by those whose business it was to interpret the Constitution, and by the majority of the Association as making them eligible to membership.

5. "That a member of a chapter who assists in the organization of another chapter has no authority thereby to sign membership certificates for members of that chapter, or in any manner to interfere with the action of such chapter, as each chapter is governed by the will of the majority of its own membership, provided none of its acts are in conflict with the State or General Constitution."

Your committee finds that in an organization whose first duty would be to emphasize the importance of States' rights, this decision is eminently proper, and we therefore urge its approval.

6. "That it is not in line with the objects of the United Daughters of the Confederacy for chapters to take active part in political contests."

The underlying significance of this decision is so apparent that your committee recommends for it your hearty approval and loyal support. We feel that we can not impress this on your hearts and minds too strongly, believing that taking any part in politics, except in cases concerning the welfare of our veterans, would sound the death knell of our usefulness as an organization.

On motion of Mrs. Henderson, the decisions were voted upon separately.

Decision 1 was, on motion, adopted.

Decision 2 was adopted.

Decision 3 was adopted.

Decision 4 was adopted.

Decision 5 was adopted.

Decision 6 was adopted.

On motion, the report was adopted as a whole.

The report of the Executive Board, by the Secretary-General, was read as follows:

The Executive Committee begs leave to report the following:

By a resolution offered at the Norfolk Convention, 1907, the question of the advisability of the United Daughters of the Confederacy becoming a chartered organization was referred to this Committee for consideration and investigation, a report to be made at this convention. After a careful study and free discussion of the subject, the Committee voted unanimously against incorporation.

Your Committee favored making Dean Russell, of Columbia University, N. Y., an associate member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The President-General, Mrs. Stone, read a communication from the official jewelers, Theus & Company, of Savannah, in regard to the patent for the U. D. C. badge. Mr. Theus refused emphatically to relinquish his patent, but stated that he would leave the patent to his son as a legacy, and in the event of his son's not continuing in the jewelry business, the patent would revert to the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Executive Committee recommends a change in the wording of a portion of the inscription on the memorial window to Mrs. Jefferson Davis, so that the words "President of the Confederate States of America" will be substituted for the words "President of the Southern Confederacy."

The "Committee on Recommendations of the President-General," Mrs. Alexander B. White, chairman, made the following report:

Madame President:

Your committee begs to report the following:

The committee endorses the action of the Executive Committee, first, That in recognition of his valuable gift of a scholarship in Teacher's College, Columbia University, to the descendants of Confederate veterans, that Dean Russell be made an "Honorary Associate Member" of the U. D. C., and recommend that the Corresponding Secretary-General notify him of the action of this convention.

In recommending that the names of Col. Knauss and Dean Russell be placed under the lists of Honorary Presidents U. D. C., our Honorary President-General asks that this be done only after careful consideration. Since your committee has given this serious thought, and have concluded, that in view of no Confederate veteran being, or ever having been, an Honorary or Associate member of this organization at large, or their names appearing on our minutes, that Confederate veterans will not understand this action by the U. D. C. without voluminous and repeated explanations, and that this action will be unwise, and we do not recommend placing these names among our officers.

Second, we endorse the recommendation that the Custodian of Cross of Honor be reimbursed for her expenditures in pursuit of her work.

Third, The question of salary or payment for clerical work in the office of the Recording Secretary and her duties, having been settled by the convention does not require consideration by this committee.

We agree with the President-General that chapters should if possible hold their election of officers in October, so that their roster of officers printed in the minutes may place their chapters in prompt communication with all U. D. C. officials during the entire year.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. ALEXANDER B. WHITE, Chairman;
MRS. EDGAR MARBURG.

On motion of Mrs. Schuyler, duly seconded, the report was adopted.

Mrs. J. R. Nolan, of Jacksonville, Fla., reported that badges are being sold to outsiders without proper orders, and she gave the names and address of the persons engaged in this practice. She succeeded in stopping the sale, and the offender promised not to repeat the offense.

On motion of Mrs. McKinney, this matter was referred to a special committee to be appointed subsequently by the President.

On motion, the same committee was continued for another year on scholarship.

On motion of Mrs. Voorhies, seconded by many delegates, the financial reports of the Treasurer-General, Recording Secretary General, and Custodian of Cross of Honor were adopted.

In the absence of the treasurer of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association, the President-General reported the full amount collected, up to date, for that fund.

Miss West arose to a point of order and asked if under the resolution passed during the morning meeting the persons named were eligible.

On motion the nominations for Honorary Presidents were referred to the Executive Committee.

Mrs. Behan moved that portraits of President Jefferson Davis be placed in public and private schools on the 7th of December, in honor of the anniversary of the death of Jefferson Davis. The motion was seconded and carried.

The Chair announced that invitations for a place of meeting were then in order. Mrs. Taylor, of Jacksonville, Fla., submitted the following official invitations to hold the next meeting in the city of Jacksonville, Florida. Sister Esther Carlotta made the statement that the delegates could be shown the oldest white settlement on the shores of America if they held their convention in Jacksonville, and added a strong personal invitation. Mrs. Tench, representing the Florida Division, also extended the invitation.

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in Session at Atlanta, Georgia, this November 11th, 1908.

The city of Jacksonville, ever appreciating and realizing the heroic devotion of the Daughters of the South to the cause in which her chivalric sons gave battle in the defense of fireside and home and loved ones, and realizing the great amount of good that these noble Spartan mothers and daughters did during the war in relieving the suffering of the brave men in the field, and fully appreciating the vast amount of work that has been done by the United Daughters of the Confederacy since the war in helping to heal the wounds that were made in that great struggle of '61 and '65, and the vast number of monuments that you have reared to the memory of the departed heroes, and the history that you are writing every day, the people of Jacksonville, through its chief executive, extend to you a cordial invitation to hold your next meeting in this city, assuring you that there will not be a single heart that will not throb in unison with yours, and so great will be our pleasure, that we will not say to you "the latchstring is hanging upon the outside," but we will take the windows out and unhinge the doors, and assure you that our city will be open to receive you, and the hearts of this people will extend to you a warm greeting, should you see fit to meet in this beautiful city.

Again, the Queen City of the South, the city of Jacksonville, extends to you, noble Spartan mothers and daughters, an invitation to be our guest.

Very respectfully,

W. H. SEBRING, Mayor.

Jacksonville, Fla.

Martha Reid Chapter No. 19, U. D. C., sends greetings to the United Daughters of the Confederacy, now assembled in Atlanta, Georgia, and also extends to them a most cordial invitation to hold their next annual convention in Jacksonville, Florida. This invitation has also been endorsed by the State convention of the Florida Division, U. D. C., which held its session in Tallahassee, Fla., May 6th, 1908. The anticipation of this great pleasure will begin from the acceptance of this invitation. Our hearts will thrill with pride, and our city will be proud of this sacred honor; yes, the greatest honor that could ever be conferred upon her—entertaining this glorious band of noble women, the Daughters of the Confederacy. With best wishes for the convention,

Most cordially your friend and co-worker,

SALLIE L. HOLMES,
President Martha Reid Chapter, U. D. C.

Miss West extended an invitation to hold the convention in Houston, Texas, and presented invitations from various officials, as follows:

INVITATIONS FROM HOUSTON, TEXAS.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 9, 1908.

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Convention Assembled, Atlanta, Ga.

In behalf of the city of Houston, I take great pleasure in inviting you to hold your annual convention in our city in 1909.

Hoping that you will confer this honor upon us, and assuring you of sincere hospitality, I am,

Yours respectfully,

H. B. RICE, Mayor.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 10th, 1908.

My Dear Mrs. Stone: I sincerely hope you will succeed in bringing to Houston for the session of 1909 the members of that glorious guild, the Daughters of the Confederacy. They will receive such a welcome as no city in the South or elsewhere can excel. All our people will extend to them a heartfelt greeting, and as you know, Houston never failed to rise to the demands of hospitality and generous and gracious courtesy.

The U. D. C.'s are the most unselfish devotees to conviction and duty on earth today. They are the sleepless sentinels by the grave of a buried nation, and guardians of the memories and names of the defenders of the holiest cause that ever claimed service or demanded sacrifice. Bring them here, and we will gladden their hearts with a greeting the memory of which will fade not away while life lasts.

NORMAN G. KITTRELL.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 10, 1908.

Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, Piedmont Hotel, Atlanta, Ga.

The Chronicle is glad to join with every interest of Houston in the most cordial and urgent invitation for the 1909 meeting of the Daughters.

C. B. GILLESPIE.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 12, 1908.

Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, President-General, U. D. C. Convention, Atlanta, Ga.

The great Empire State of Texas begs the Daughters to meet at her metropolitan Houston once again while her veterans yet live. Come, come, come, to Houston.

PHILIP H. FALL,
Commander Dick Dowling Camp.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 9th, 1908.

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in Convention Assembled, Atlanta, Ga.

The Business League of Houston cordially invites you to hold your next convention in the city of Houston.

We can assure you a most hearty welcome.

Respectfully,

GEO. P. BROWN,
Secretary Houston Business League.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 9th, 1908.

Dear Mrs. Stone: I send by same mail invitation from the mayor of Houston, and one from the Houston Business League to the United Daughters of the Confederacy in convention to meet in Houston next year, 1909.

Others will follow, but I fear will not reach you in time.

Among these are the large social organizations of the city, the Z Z Club, and the Thalian Club. In fact, all of the prominent organizations endorse our invitation.

Hoping that these will suffice to bring an acceptance of our proffered hospitality,

I am, sincerely,

MARY E. BRYAN,
President R. E. Lee Chapter, U. D. C.

After reading the foregoing invitations, Miss West added the following:

So, come to Texas—fair Texas—the land of our birth,
Whose products embrace all that's good on the earth.
From high rolling plain to wave-washed beach,
Is the perfume of rose, and the blush of the peach;
No corn is so golden—no cotton so fine;
The grapes are the rarest that grow on the vine.

No fruit with such flavor—plum, berry or fig—
 No peaches so luscious, no melons so big.
 The grass is the greenest, the sky is the bluest,
 The men are the finest, the women the truest.
 The Gulf breeze so pure, the sun's golden light
 Combined make a climate that was just about right.
 Nowhere in the world does the moon shine so bright—
 Not Italy's clime shall produce such a night—
 We glory in Texas, land of our birth,
 If you'll just come to Houston,
 They'll give you the earth!

The vote was then taken upon the invitations, and while it was being counted Mrs. Schuyler placed in nomination the name of Dean Russell, as an honorary associate member, seconded by Mrs. Henderson, of Mississippi. Dean Russell was unanimously elected.

The President then declared nominations in order for the office of President. The chair was relinquished to Mrs. Dowdell. Nominations came from a dozen delegates at one time, for Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, and were seconded by many more. She was unanimously elected.

Mrs. Stone resumed the chair and called for nominations for First Vice-President. Mrs. Virginia Faulkner McSherry, of West Virginia, was nominated for this position, which was seconded by many States. Mrs. McSherry graciously withdrew her name, and Mrs. Tench nominated as First Vice-President, Mrs. Martin S. Willard, of North Carolina. The nomination was seconded by Mrs. McKinney, of Kentucky. Mrs. Willard was unanimously elected.

Mrs. Poe, of Maryland, was nominated and unanimously elected Second Vice-President.

Miss Baxter, of Georgia, was nominated for Third Vice-President by Mrs. Tench, but withdrew her name stating as a reason that she is President of the Georgia Division, and owes her first duty there.

Mrs. L. C. Hall of Dardanelle, Arkansas, was nominated for Third Vice-President, and on motion, the vote was made unanimous, and the Recording Secretary was instructed to cast the ballot for Mrs. Hall, who was elected. The election of the Recording Secretary-General being next in order, Mrs. Gantt, of Missouri, seconded by many States, nominated Mrs. Andrew L. Dowdell, of Opelika, Alabama, for re-election to that office. On motion, nominations were closed, and this was made unanimous, and the Chair declared the ballot cast for Mrs. Dowdell.

Mrs. R. C. Cooley, of Jacksonville, Florida, was unanimously re-elected to the office of Corresponding Secretary-General.

On motion, the vote was made unanimous, and the Recording Secretary was instructed to cast the ballot for Mrs. Cooley, whose election was announced by the Chair. A beautiful offering of golden chrysanthemums was presented by Mrs. Joseph F. Burroughs, representing the Florida delegation, as a testimonial of appreciation of Mrs. Cooley's service by her State.

Mrs. L. Eustace Williams, of Anchorage, Kentucky, being the only nominee for Treasurer-General, in like manner her re-election was made unanimous, and the Secretary was instructed to cast the ballot for Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. James B. Gantt, of Jefferson City, Missouri, being the only nominee for the newly created office of Registrar-General, on motion, her nomination was made unanimous, and the Recording Secretary was instructed to cast the ballot, which declared her elected.

Nominations for Historian-General being in order, Miss Mary B. Poppenheim, of South Carolina, was nominated by Miss West, of Texas, seconded by many States. Miss Poppenheim declined to allow her name to be presented.

The name of Mrs. J. Enders Robinson, of Richmond, Virginia, was put in nomination by Mrs. Frank Anthony Walke, seconded by many States, and on motion, this was made unanimous, and the ballot was cast for Mrs. Robinson by the Recording Secretary.

Mrs. Tench, of Florida, claimed the privilege of nominating Mrs. L. H. Raines, of Savannah, Georgia, to succeed herself in the office of Custodian of the Cross of Honor. There being no other nomination, on motion, the ballot was cast by the Recording Secretary for Mrs. Raines.

Mrs. Frank Anthony Walke, of Norfolk, Virginia, was elected to the office of Custodian of Flags and Banners.

Mrs. T. J. Latham, of Memphis, Tennessee, brought an invitation from the two chapters of that city, to meet with them in 1909, but said, that in recognition of the claims of her sister cities, she would withdraw that invitation, temporarily, and extend for 1910 the following:

INVITATIONS FROM MEMPHIS.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 9th, 1908.

Dear Madame President: The Sarah Law and Mary Latham chapters of Memphis, Tenn., send love and greetings to the beloved Daughters in convention assembled in Atlanta. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the presidents of these chapters, we are represented by Mrs. T. J. Latham, the honorary president of both chapters, and through and by her extend this most cordial invitation to the convention to meet in Memphis in 1910.

The five hundred (and more) members of these chapters will be joined by a host of loyal Confederates, and the hospitality of the city extended you.

We cordially beg you to come to Tennessee, the hospitable Memphis.

With hearts full of love and interest,

MRS. J. W. CLAPP,
President of Sarah Law Chapter No. 110, Memphis.

MRS. W. H. BARKER.
President Mary Latham Chapter No. 474, Memphis.

The vote was then taken on Jacksonville and Houston, resulting in the selection of Houston, Texas, the vote being 736 and 742 in favor of Houston.

Mrs. Timberlake, of Virginia, chairman of "Committee on Resolutions," expressed the thanks of the convention for the splendid hospitality and numerous courtesies extended by the organizations and citizens of Atlanta, making the following report:

Madame President, Daughters of the Confederacy, the Atlanta Chapter and Southern Friends:

It gives me great pleasure to come before you again, in the enviable role of "Resolutor General" for this fine body of representative Southern women. Two years since at Gulfport, Miss., I had the same pleasure, and there I failed in adjectives, to express the session's gratitude; what shall I do in Atlanta? "Ossa on Pelion piled". Here we are in Great Big Georgia and enjoying the hospitalities of, may I say the New York of the South? But no comparison, as topography places us this side of Mason & Dixon's line and of Yankee land. We are guests of glorious Georgia, the native heath of Alexander H. Stephens, the peerless vindicator of our Southland, the aegis of our cause; we are upon the soil of Toombs, of Cobb, and of Sidney Lanier, the heart poet, the young Keats of the South.

We return thanks

First, for the addresses of welcome. The eloquent words of Governor Hoke Smith thrilled the heart of each Daughter. The mayor, W. R. Joyner, in his sincere words of welcome made each one feel at home in Atlanta. And then the address of our dear commander-in-Chief, U. C. V., Gen. Clement A. Evans. How much his words were appreciated!

Second, time forbids me to thank in detail every one who has added to our enjoyment.

Third, we owe thanks, to Bishop Rt. Rev. Kinlock Nelson; to Dr. W. W. Landrum; to Rev. A. R. Holderby; to Rev. James W. Lee, for their fervent prayers for our Association.

Fourth, to the quartette who furnished us such sweet music.

Fifth, to Mrs. C. Helen Plane, Honorary State Division President, who arranged all of the beautiful decorations of the hall; to Miss Baxter, State President; to Mrs. Edward Grier Warner, President Atlanta Chapter, for their loving words of welcome.

Sixth, to Mrs. J. K. Ottley, chairman of the program committee, for the tender of the splendidly provided barbecue given by the city council—such a decided novelty to so many of the Daughters.

Seventh, for the visit to the Soldiers' Home, which we particularly emphasize as so enjoyable. The sight of the dear old veterans thrilled our hearts. For the warm words of welcome by the commandant of the home.

Eighth, for the bountiful, delicious luncheons given each day by the Atlanta chapter.

Ninth, for the exquisite reception given by Mrs. Bolling Jones, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Tenth, for the beautiful tea given by Mrs. S. W. Foster, regent of Atlanta chapter, D. A. R.

Eleventh, for the magnificent reception given by Atlanta chapter at the Capital City Club.

Twelfth, for the admirably rendered concert given by the faculty of the Atlanta Conservatory of Music.

Thirteenth, for the kind invitations to the Industrial School, at Rome, Georgia.

Fourteenth, to the Agnes Scott and Miss Woodberry's schools, of Atlanta.

Fifteenth, to the Atlanta Georgian for the 100 copies of the paper.

Sixteenth, to the Constitution, the Journal, and the Georgian for their publicity of the convention's proceedings and their admirable reports.

To the Cable Piano Company for its many attentions.

To the Piedmont Hotel for its kind courtesies afforded the delegates.

Seventeenth, for the dear little pages of the Julia Jackson chapter, of Atlanta, who so gracefully and untiringly have served us.

Eighteenth, to each officer of our Association for all of their services.

Nineteenth, and lastly, but above all, to our dear President-General, Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, who has been so long suffering, so patient, so gentle, in her rulings, thereby endearing herself more and more to each individual Daughter. God bless and keep her to us for many years. If any omission from this list has been made, a bona fide apology is ready to be offered by a Virginia woman.

Motion to adopt, was made and seconded, and unanimously carried.

Mrs. Cooley moved, seconded by Mrs. Williams, "that the minutes of the last meeting of this Convention, and any other minutes, which have not been approved by the Convention may be approved for this body by the President-General and Recording Secretary-General.

Motion carried, without dissent.

The Chair announced that the "Committee on Revision and condensing Minutes" would meet at the Piedmont Hotel, at nine o'clock, Monday morning, "the earliest time, at which the Committee can meet."

The President-General, then declared that the Fifteenth Annual Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was adjourned, sine die.

In accordance with the established custom, the Doxology—"Praise God from whom all blessings flow," was sung, and the session held, in Atlanta, was closed.

ROBERT GRAHAM WARNER,

Chairman.

FLORENCE C. COOLEY,

MOLLIE R. MACGILL ROSENBERG,

Committee on Revision.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT GENERAL, 1908.

United Daughters of the Confederacy, Comrades and Co-Workers:

One year ago you placed in my keeping the highest honor at your disposal—a sacred trust—which was received in good faith, with deep and tender appreciation, and a determination to give you the best service at my command. If my report brings you “nothing but leaves,” you will know that the storms of life have beaten too fiercely and the fair flowers of promise came not to fruition; and know, too, that in the darkest hour of trial my heart turned to you, and to the cause you represent. Having previously notified the President of the District of Columbia Division to call a meeting of the Confederate organizations in her division, my first official act was to go to Washington, D. C., to address the members of the five chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the two Camps of United Confederate veterans, and one Camp of United Sons of Confederate Veterans, that instruction might be given on the organization of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association under the direction of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the former organization having been dissolved by the transfer of this work to the General Association, U. D. C., and the acceptance thereof, by that body. This meeting was held at the Arlington Hotel, with representatives present from each of the Confederate organizations, except one, the Charles Broadway Rouss Camp, U. C. V.

Much interest was manifested, and the chapters and camps were notified to take immediate steps to organize a Central or Executive Committee by electing three delegates from each chapter and camp in the district to meet at the Arlington Hotel, on December 12th. Formal notices to this effect were sent out by myself to the five chapters, U. D. C., the two camps, U. C. V., and the one camp, U. S. C. V., before leaving Washington.

After two attempts, complete organization was effected and this Committee has been doing excellent work, a full report of which will be made to this body. This work was accepted by the Norfolk Convention so late in its session that only brief opportunity was had for the forming of a plan, in detail, by the Committee on Organization appointed by my predecessor, Mrs. Henderson. It, therefore, became necessary to formulate with the excellent outline presented by the committee, certain rules for the guidance of the Executive Committee located in Washington, D. C. These, together with the By-laws written by the chairman of the committee, Col. Hilary A. Herbert, and submitted to the President for approval and adopted by the committee, with the election of the necessary officers, completed the organization of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association. Under this Central, or Executive Committee, the work has progressed with order and harmony and it is my pleasure to commend the efficiency and faithfulness of each officer and member of this committee, which have brought about gratifying results during this year, and gives promise of greater realization in the future. The State Directors of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association have in some cases made good collections, notably in Virginia, South Carolina, California, Arkansas and Montana, and final report may show that other States have kept pace with these. Two factors, however, have retarded their work. First, stringency in the money market, and the local State work, which is in operation in nearly all of the organized chapters. Your President would remind you that the work of the General Association has equal claims and asks that the Shiloh and the Arlington Monuments will not have secondary consideration, as the necessity for a speedy completion of this work is too evident for argument. After putting the machinery of the new Administration in running order, the unveiling ceremonies of the Memorial Window to Mrs. Varina Jefferson Davis in the Church of the Redeemer at Biloxi, Mississippi, next claimed my attention and service.

An appropriate and beautiful program had been arranged by Miss Decca Lamar West, Chairman of the Memorial Window Committee, and Mr. C. B. Crawford, Rector of the Biloxi church, which was conducted in most effective manner. The choir of the church, assisted by members of the Gulfport choir, gave the thrilling inspiration of divine harmony in the rendering of the beautiful numbers selected for the day. New Orleans and all of the intervening and neighboring towns contributed to the large audience that filled to overflowing the sacred Temple which has now become a historic shrine. The Confederate veterans from the Mississippi Home Memorial "Beauvoir," attended in a body; and, above all, the presence of Margaret Jefferson Davis Hayes, sole living daughter and child of President and Mrs. Jefferson Davis, fitting and gracious representative of that illustrious house, gave an added interest and tender grace to the day, linking with it a past, the glories of which shall illumine all future ages. Mrs. Hayes drew the veil that concealed the beautiful and artistic window erected by the United Daughters of the Confederacy to the memory of her mother. This window was formally presented to the Church and Parish in an address by your President and accepted in beautiful and appropriate words by the Rector, Rev. C. B. Crawford. This was followed by an eloquent and touching address by the Right Rev. T. D. Bratton, Bishop of Mississippi. On the same day a beautiful window, erected by Mrs. Hayes to the memory of her four brothers and her infant son, was unveiled by Mr. William Hayes, who accompanied his mother to Biloxi to take part in these ceremonies.

Our organization is greatly indebted to Miss Decca Lamar West and her associates of the committee for the successful consummation of our plan to pay this tribute of love to the memory of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, who shared alike the triumphs and trials of her distinguished husband.

It is gratifying to announce to you that, in August last, at a convention called at Sulphur, Oklahoma, the union of the Indian Territory Division with the Oklahoma Division was accomplished with perfect harmony and unanimity of action, in conformation with the General Constitution, U. D. C., which provides that each State shall have one division.

This action was made necessary by the admission of these two Territories into the federation of State under one statehood. The Norfolk Convention acted wisely in giving an extension of time for this accomplishment, as requested by the two divisions, that each might adjust itself to the changed conditions before uniting. As you know, the Memorial to our great Chieftain, Jefferson Davis, erected in Richmond, Virginia, was unveiled with great pomp and ceremony on June 3d, 1907, but was not turned over to the city, as the Jefferson Davis Monument Association had not quite completed all of the details. Mrs. Geo. S. Holmes, President of this Association notified me that the formal presentation of the Monument to the city of Richmond would take place on June 3, 1908, and would, therefore, become a part of the ceremony of observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis. In the absence of Mr. Joseph Bryan, chairman of the Building Committee, Judge George L. Christian presented the monument to Mrs. Holmes, President of the Monument Association. By a distressing accident Mrs. Holmes was prevented from taking part in this ceremony after having come to Richmond from Charleston for this purpose; this circumstance having been the one discordant note in a program which was executed with all due pageantry. Mrs. Norman Randolph, second Vice-President and Chairman of the Central Committee of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, acted for Mrs. Holmes, and received the Monument, and in turn presented it to the President General, U. D. C., who turned the Monument over to the faithful keeping of the City of Richmond, the beloved Capital of the Confederate States of America, as the completed and joint work of the Confederate Veterans and Daughters of the Confederacy, through the splendid efforts of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, where it shall speak to all future generations of the love, loyalty and faith of the people of the South toward their great President and Chieftain, distinguished statesman, soldier and scholar.

Through the resolutions introduced at the last General Convention, U. D. C., by the Mississippi Division a great interest and impetus was given to the observance of the centennial birthday of Jefferson Davis, and induced an earnest and wide-spread study, by the people at large and in the public and private schools, of his life and character, which gave a fuller knowledge of his great service to the United States in Indian wars; on the battlefields of Mexico; in the National Councils, and in the Cabinet of President Pierce where, as Secretary of War, his wise reforms and improvements brought about a new era into this department of our government. To create and inspire such interest, and to further all work under the direction of our organization, your President issued four circular letters during the year, sending these to the Presidents of State Divisions and Chapter Presidents, where no State Division had been formed, asking that they would secure the publication of the circulars in the leading newspapers of their States. It is a pleasure to say that divisions and chapters have nobly responded to this work, many division and chapter Presidents and individual members of the U. D. C. having offered prizes to the schools for the best essay on the life and character of Jefferson Davis, the details of which you will doubtless hear from the State reports. By a mistake made in one of my circular letters, written in the midst of great trial, the offer was made of "a gavel of Beauvoir wood, with silver name plate" to chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy which might "organize during this Centennial year and be named for any member of the family of President Davis, or for either of his three homes, Rosemont, his birthplace, Brierfield or Beauvoir."

In the resolution presented by the Mississippi Division, and adopted by the Norfolk Convention, U. D. C. this offer was made "to each literary club or society," which should be organized in 1908, and be so named. My attention was called to this, and correction was sent to the "Confederate Veteran" for publication. No "literary club or society" has been so named, as far as known, but three chapters were organized, the "Rosemont," Chauncey, Georgia, the "Margaret Davis Hayes," De Witt, Arkansas, and the "Jefferson Davis," Accomac, Va.

Realizing that there was no authority vested in myself to give these gavels at the expense of the Association, but also feeling that the chapters must not be disappointed, it was determined to present them myself. A letter was written to Mrs. M. R. Wallace, the patriot and gentlewoman who guards the comfort of the Veterans of Mississippi in the "Jefferson Davis Beauvoir Soldiers' Home," making inquiry as to the manufacture of gavels from "Beauvoir wood." She sent to me, as a gift to the cause and to myself, six gavels made of that precious wood by the Veterans of the Home, which greatly added to the value. Upon three of these the silver name plate was placed and the gavels were expressed to the chapters, with the history of the same, and thus, out of my mistake, was wrought a triple pleasure, with no expense to the association. Greatly to the regret of the administration, the Custodian of the Cross of Honor has had serious trouble in securing crosses for delivery on orders from the chapters, causing much dissatisfaction, but entirely beyond our power to control.

Mr. Charles Crankshaw, of Atlanta, Georgia, who has had the contract with our Association to furnish the crosses, and holds the patent in his own name, when remonstrated with on account of non-delivery, stated that the compensation is so small for making the cross that the manufacturers will only do this work for him when not rushed with other engagements.

In accordance with the instructions of the last General Convention a committee was appointed to make proposal to Mr. Crankshaw for the purchase of the patent, but without result. Miss Alice Baxter, of Atlanta, was made chairman of this committee, and after seeing Mr. Crankshaw and receiving his refusal to sell the patent, asked him to put it in writing, to the President General, U. D. C., on what terms, if any, he would convey the patent to the United Daughters of the Confederacy. On February 22 he sent a letter to me in which he says: "I am willing to make over the patent, at my death, to the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and also willing to give an instrument, in writing, to that effect."

In this letter he gave assurance that no more delays should occur in the prompt delivery of crosses if he could prevent it. But no crosses could be had for bestowal on June 3, nor were any received from early in February until about the 1st of September. Complaint has come to me that orders for crosses for descendants have not been filled, and this leads me to think that such orders were accompanied by orders for crosses for veterans. Read Rule I, Section 2, and you will find this provision: "If at the expiration of three months (referring to the requirement of three months' publication, calling upon veterans to apply for crosses), no veterans have applied, the bestowal upon descendants and widows may begin," thus stating clearly, it seems to me, that if application is had from a veteran before the day set apart for bestowal, no crosses can be issued to descendants or widows for bestowal on that day. These rules, when presented by the Committee on Rules for the bestowal of the Cross of Honor, have been ratified by your own action in convention, and it is the Custodian's duty to strictly observe them. Mrs. Raines has been conscientious in her decisions as to the compliance with the rules, by the chapters and the "final decision" on this point was given her by the convention.

It is true that decisions were given contrary to this interpretation of the rules, and that such interpretation was approved by the convention, but such approval was not acted upon or stated as an amendment to the rules, but simply as an interpretation; hence, the rule stands as heretofore. Many suggestions have been presented as to what the rules should be, but your President can only be governed by the written law.

The Shiloh Monument work is in excellent hands, and the Chairman of that Committee has been zealous in her endeavor to accomplish good results, which her reports will show. It is humiliating to a Southern woman to visit one of these battlefields, which are now made so beautiful as "National Parks," and see the many monumental tributes paid to the great armies of the North and the few that commemorate the valor of the Southern soldiers who fought and fell there. One of these, Albert Sidney Johnston, alone, would immortalize any field of battle. Let us not be recreant to the trust of such a memory as he bequeathed to us, for his great name and fame were won under three governments—that of the Republic of Texas, the United States, and the Confederate States. For the latter, he laid down his life.

In conformity with the action of the Norfolk Convention, U. D. C., a committee was appointed by the President to confer with Theus Bros., of Savannah, Georgia, manufacturers of the insignia or badge of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, to propose the purchase of the patent on this badge, which is now held in their name. Mrs. A. B. Hull, of Savannah, was made chairman, with power to select two associate members. She reports that Mr. Theus declines to sell the patent, but promises that if at his death, his son does not continue in the jewelry business he will make bequest of the patent to this Association.

The Scholarship in Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, presented by Dean Russell, of that Institution, which was drawn by South Carolina, was finally awarded to Miss Moses, of Sumter, of that State. Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, Chairman of the committee on this work, having been absent in Europe, Miss Mary Poppenheim, of Charleston, S. C., associate member of the committee, ably conducted the delicate and difficult matter of making selection of a beneficiary, the full report of which will be given you.

The long debated question of the incorporation of the General Association, United Daughters of the Confederacy, which was by the action of the last Convention referred to the Executive Committee, has been considered in part only, as no quorum was present at the meeting called of that committee, to be held during the Reunion of the United Confederate Veterans at Birmingham, Alabama, where, it was hoped, that the very low rates given by the railroads would enable the General Officers to meet at this central point.

Before going to Birmingham, as a precaution against the possible failure to secure a meeting of the Board, a letter was written to each member asking for a well considered expression of opinion on the advisability of incorporation, its advantages and disadvantages. A majority of the General Officers which constitute the Executive Committee expressed themselves as opposed to incorporation, believing that such action would afford no advantage except that of having the power to hold property, and the copyrights of the Cross of Honor and insignia or badge, and would probably result in a discordant condition in the selection of some one State in which to be chartered. With our small per capita tax, we are in no prospective need of providing for property ownership. as the building of monuments and other demands made to carry out the objects and purposes of the organization of the United Daughters of the Confederacy leaves us no overflowing treasury seeking investment. If some large-hearted, patriotic multi-millionaire should leave us a bequest with which to prosecute our designs, the question of incorporation could then be decided. As to the ownership of the patents on the Cross of Honor and the insignia this, if once secured, could be made in the name of the President General, U. D. C., and by her transferred to her successor in office. This opinion is sustained by lawyers and jurists of distinction.

Another question referred by the Convention to the Executive Committee, on which opinion was given in writing, was a proposal to confer the title of "Honorary Associate Member, U. D. C." upon Dean Russell, of Teachers' College, Columbia University, in recognition of his valuable gift of a scholarship to be awarded to a descendant of a Confederate Veteran. The majority of the Executive Committee approved of this, and your President would recommend that if the honor be conferred on Dean Russell, that the names of Col. Wm. E. Knauss and Dean Russell be printed as "Honorary Associate Members, U. D. C." in the Annual Proceedings of this Association, on the same page and under the list of "Honorary Presidents." U. D. C. It is further advised that this honor should not be conferred without deep consideration, else its value may be depreciated.

Promise having been given in November last to Mrs. M. B. Pilcher, Chairman of the Woman's Congress, a feature of the Mont-eagle Chautauqua, to attend that Congress and preside on "U. D. C. Day," the journey, from Blue Ridge Springs, Virginia, to Mont-eagle, was made by your President in August last, for that purpose. The program arranged by Mrs. Pilcher for the day set apart for the U. D. C. was broad and far-reaching in scope while the keynote and central thought was fittingly, of Jefferson Davis. The different organizations represented in the Congress gave programs of great interest, which were educational and inspiring—all tending toward the uplifting of humanity.

The September number of the Confederate Veteran gave an account of this congress, together with the address made by your President, to which reference was made, because it was for your service and that of the cause we cherish.

It is my duty to call your attention to the generous aid given our organization by the Confederate Veteran, the pages of which have been ever open to us during the year for the reception of material of interest and importance to the U. D. C. This valuable periodical should be in the home of every Daughter of the Confederacy, as its contents each month, give much historical data, not previously written. Your President takes pleasure in making acknowledgement to Mr. Cunningham for many courtesies in behalf of the promotion of our work. The "Keystone," published in Charleston, S. C., has been equally courteous and generous in service, and deserves our grateful appreciation.

The financial condition of this Association has at times been embarrassed, and obligations could not always be promptly met; for, while the appropriations made by the Norfolk Convention were reduced and prorated by the Finance Committee, to which this matter was referred, none of these, with one exception, could be paid until after October 1, 1908.

In the apportionment of the balance on hand November, 1907, no allowance was made for payment of the cost of the memorial window to Mrs. Jefferson Davis, which, in accordance with the provision of the Gulfport Convention, should have had first consideration.

Some slight defects in the window had to be corrected, and according to the contract made by the Window Committee with Mayer & Co., of New York, payment of this bill was withheld until corrections were made and the window was pronounced perfectly satisfactory by Mrs. Weatherby, of the committee, and by the Rev. C. B. Crawford, Rector of the Biloxi Church. It is my pleasure to state that Messrs. Mayer & Company have acted with the greatest courtesy and fairness in this matter and have not only made all corrections and changes asked, but have added other improvements with which Mr. Crawford is enthusiastic in his expression of satisfaction. Had payment been necessary when the window was unveiled, there was not a sufficient balance in the treasury to meet this demand. Your President, however, would not have allowed the credit of our organization to be endangered in such an emergency. Increased expenditures have come to this year's administration in the additional cost of printing the Annual and in the provision of the Norfolk Convention to send two copies, free, of the Annual Proceedings, U. D. C., to each chapter and to officers of the organization, for which the postage on this innocent resolution was $175.00.

The expense, too, of conducting the business of the office of the Custodian of the Cross of Honor was greatly increased by the additional work given her in the recording of the back data of the bestowal of the Cross of Honor, and by the larger demand for crosses; three orders of 2,500 each were filled during the year, necessitating extra assistance in the packing and sending out. You will recall that under the custodianship of Mrs. Gabbett appropriations were made at each Annual Convention for the expense of this office. This has not been done during the incumbency of Mrs. Raines hence she has not been enabled to return to the treasury the entire receipts for crosses sent out. We would recommend that the large and reckless appropriation of the funds of the Association for various objects in the past three years shall be discontinued, as the dues of the General Association are not paid in advance, and the new administration is forced to begin the year with a depleted treasury, drawn upon to pay the appropriations of the previous year. For example, the Gulfport pledges were paid after October 1, 1907, leaving a balance of $2,000.00 to meet the heaviest expenditures during the first three months of the current year, 1908, with little income until the next October, except from some chapters, tardy in the payment of dues. In corroboration of this statement your careful attention and consideration is asked to the reports of the Treasurer, Recording Secretary and Custodian of Cross of Honor.

These officers and others of the administration have faithfully and continuously labored to fulfill the duties of each department with the strictest economy.

At the Norfolk Convention an amendment was made to the By-Laws, Article I, Sections 4 and 5, defining the duties of the Recording and Corresponding Secretaries, and which transferred from the office of the Recording Secretary to the Corresponding Secretary certain duties. For reasons of economy and to expedite the business, it is recommended that all of such duties formerly assigned to the Recording Secretary shall be returned to her office, that she alone may be responsible for the safe delivery of printed matter issued by herself and for the securing and compiling of the rosters.

All chapters throughout the organization are requested to elect their officers in October, and a full list of those elected must be promptly sent to the Recording Secretary General, U. D. C., in order that the rosters printed in the annual proceedings may contain the names of officers in service for the ensuing year.

State Division Secretaries are urged to send full lists of all State Officers to the President General and Recording Secretary General immediately after each annual election.

State Division Presidents are requested to notify the President General of the date of their State Conventions at least one month in advance of the meeting.

As the duties of the Recording Secretary General are continual, arduous and exacting, for she is the "right arm" of the administration, and no woman should be asked to give her entire time to your service to the neglect of home and family, it is recommended, that as compensation, a fixed amount, monthly, shall be allowed her.

It is important that authentic portraits of General Robert E. Lee and President Davis should be placed in the schools, and this work by the chapters should not end until every school in the South is supplied with these. An excellent portrait can be had of General Lee by addressing your State Director on the Shiloh Monument Committee, by the sale of which the Shiloh Monument fund is increased.

The portrait of Mr. Davis, which has been approved by his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Jefferson Davis Hayes, can be had of the Art Publishing Company, 85 Broad St., Charleston, S. C. This depicts him as he looked when he assumed the administration of the Government of the Confederate States, and not when worn with defeat, disappointment, imprisonment and sorrow.

The information has come to me that one of the most influential Camps, U. C. V., has adopted resolutions strongly disapproving of the wearing of Confederate uniforms, and the assumption of military titles by individuals or bodies of Southern women.

Such disapproval is sufficient to prevent this, as no loyal woman of the South desires to usurp the prerogatives of our dear old Veterans or to incur their displeasure. Let the uniforms be white—emblematic of the purity and truth of Southern womanhood.

In the year's service your President has been called upon to interpret certain parts of the Constitution and By-Laws, and the rules for bestowal of Cross of Honor and to decide upon the proper course of action when no written rules were had. Many of these interpretations were not noted, but the following are submitted:

1st. That, as the Central or Executive Committee of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association is composed of men and women, either may be elected to the offices of the Monument Association as the committee may desire.

2nd. That a State Division officer must reside and be registered in the State in which she holds office, and if she is registered in another State she must place copy of her membership application papers with the Registrar of the State in which she holds office.

3rd. That the General Constitution, U. D. C., does not provide for the admission to membership of grand-nieces, as it does not read "nieces," and their descendants; and when further defining what "lineal" descendants are entitled to membership, plainly states: "Lineal descendants of such men as served honorably in the Confederate Army, Navy or Civil Service, or (lineal descendants) of those men unfit for active duty who loyally gave aid to the cause; also women and their lineal descendants, wherever living, who can give proof of personal service and loyal aid to the Southern cause during the war."

4th. That grand-nieces who may have been admitted to membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy under a misinterpretation of the Constitution, U. D. C., who have faithfully served therein are now bona fide members of this Association, for in such cases no retroactive legislation can be had, and it is quite certain that members admitted on the service of a great-uncle are also eligible under the clause of "material aid" having been given by lineal ancestry.

5th. That a member of a chapter who assists in the organization of another chapter has no authority thereby to sign membership certificates for members of that chapter, or in any manner to interfere with the action of such chapter, as each chapter is governed by the will of the majority of its own membership, provided none of its acts are in conflict with the State or General Constitutions.

6th. That it is not in line with the objects of the United Daughters of the Confederacy for Chapters to take active part in political contests.

Since our last meeting one year ago many of our most useful and valuable members have "crossed over the river" and gone to that dreamless sleep of rest eternal. Many of us will recall the sweet, gentle-mannered woman who was with us at Norfolk, Virginia, Mrs. Sheldon Stringer, so earnest, zealous and active in the work, who before reaching her home and loved ones answered her last earthly summons, leaving our sister State Division of Florida bereft of a President. Later that State and our entire Association was called to mourn the loss of one who had served as the first President of the Florida Division and President General of this Association, Mrs. Edwin Gardiner Weed, who, with all of the highest qualities of head and heart, had adorned the social and official life in which she moved. Her death marks the first loss in chain of our ex-Presidents. Recent information tells us of the death of Mrs. Braxton Bragg, Honorary President of this Association, and widow of the great commander, General Braxton Bragg, of the Confederate States army. For these and all of our members who have passed away we deeply mourn, but not without hope, for having faithfully met the duties of this life, they have gone to reap their reward in a better land.

That "Death loves a shining mark" was verified in the great loss sustained by our dear Veterans in the death of General Stephen D. Lee, their Commander-in-Chief. This severe blow came to them, too, when their Annual Reunion was very near at hand, casting a shadow on this occasion usually so full of happiness to these old heroes.

General Lee's sympathy and commendation of the work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy makes this a personal loss, and his great worth and valuable service in the Confederate army, together with his immeasurable service along educational lines, had endeared him to the people of the South and won for him the esteem of all with whom he came in contact.

Following close upon the death of General Lee was the passing into the other life of General Alexander P. Stewart, with one exception the last of the Lieutenant-Generals in the army of the Confederate States. Thus one by one these grand old warriors of deathless fame are dropping out of the ranks to answer "roll call" in that glorious army gone before—that phantom host who followed Lee and other great commanders of the Confederate States army.

Let us gird on our armor and pledge ourselves anew, forgetting self in our service and sacrifice, to preserve the memories of their great deeds, the record of which is pure and stainless. In bringing to you now the trust placed in my hands one year ago it is fitting to report that in your service an average of six letters per day have been written with my own hand, aggregating nearly two thousand; three public addresses have been made, and one article written on the life and character of Mrs. Jefferson Davis for a voluminous work, "The Library of Southern Literature," now being edited by Dr. Kent, of the Chair of English Literature of the University of Virginia, assisted by a corps of professors from other universities. Have sent out four circular letters to the Division Presidents, and attended the Annual Meeting of the Texas Division last December, and the meeting of the Virginia Division at historic Manassas on October 14, and, as before stated, presided at Monteagle on "U. D. C. Day," and attended the meeting of the United Confederate Veterans and Sons of Confederate Veterans at Birmingham.

Telegrams and letters of sympathy and flowers were sent on the occasion of the death of Mrs. Weed and General Stephen D. Lee, and others who have passed away.

Two beautiful wreaths were ordered for the unveiling ceremonies of the Memorial Window to Mrs. Jefferson Davis—one from the General Association, U. D. C., and one from the "Window Committee." A wreath of laurel was placed on the monument in Richmond, Virginia, erected to President Davis on June 3, 1908, the one hundredth anniversary of his birth.

Telegrams and letters of greeting have been sent to the Annual Convention of all State Divisions, when informed of such meeting.

A telegram was sent to President Roosevelt asking that he would order all flags of this country at half mast on the day of the burial of General Stephen D. Lee.

After many letters written to induce the organization of a Division in the State of Washington—three chapters having been formed there some time ago—the gratifying announcement has recently come to me that such organization has been accomplished, and it is my pleasure to introduce to you the Washington Division, U. D. C., Mrs. Bushrod W. Bell, President—our baby Division.

Many courtesies have been extended me as your representative, and the highest honors have been paid to the office of President General of the Daughters of the Confederacy, receptions having been given by the Division of the District of Columbia, and the Chapters of New Orleans, Biloxi and Monteaule. The ovation given me by the Veterans at their Reunion in Birmingham was accepted as their tribute to our Association, and was most gratifying as an evidence that they recognize our service in their behalf.

It gives me pleasure to acknowledge the faithful and efficient service of the officers of this Association, and their prompt and ready response to all requirements.

Accept my deep appreciation of your loyalty, sympathy and support, and loving greeting to one and all.

CORNELIA BRANCH STONE,
President General, U. D. C.

REPORT OF THE RECORDING SECRETARY-GENERAL.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

It is a pleasure and privilege for me to present to you my second report as Recording Secretary General.

Before going into dull facts and figures that make the daily work of your secretary a mass of arduous routine duty, I must thank each one of you for the variety and spice which you have thrown into these otherwise monotonous days by your cordial support, which seemed to be the underlying sentiment of your encouraging letters; and more, each letter seemed to be from a warm, personal friend, love of the cause we represent seemed to be the tie of loyal fellowship.

My one desire has been to serve you promptly, answering all letters and filling all orders immediately when possible to do so. The failure along any line of duty was not from a lack of strong purpose to hew to the line. In reviewing the work of the year and recalling the numerous duties performed, it seems that twice as many months have crowded themselves into the year.

The determined purpose of your secretary, after the close of the last convention, was that the report of the convention, both in the advanced "business proceedings" and in the full minutes later, might be issued from the press promptly in accordance with the time prescribed by the constitution. Before leaving Norfolk, the minutes were carefully gone over by the Committee on Revision of Minutes, then after being recopied in typewritten form, the same were presented to this committee for a second reading, after which they were signed by each member of the committee and by your President and Secretary of that convention. The actual proceedings of the convention were thus ready to be given into the hands of the selected publishers four days after the convention closed. From Norfolk letters were written to six different publishers, which your secretary hoped would hasten matters; but a second letter was necessary in several cases before their bids were presented. Finally all bids were submitted to Mrs. Stone, our President General, and we found that the bid of the Post Publishing Company, of Opelika, Ala., was as low in price as the cheapest of the other bids and presented other inducements which led to the selection of that firm as the publishers.

The advanced "Business Proceedings" was issued from the press and mailed, one to each of the general and honorary officers, the chairman of each committee and to the president of each division and chapter, on December —. All copy for the full minutes was then prepared, except the rosters of the chapters of each division, which as prescribed by the constitution we must await until January 1. The copy was turned over to the Post Publishing Company on January 10, and four weeks afterwards, on February 7, the work of distributing these books began. They were sent out as rapidly as possible, one to each of the general officers, chairmen of the various committees and to the president of each division; two copies were sent to the president of each chapter according to a resolution of the last convention.

Fifty-five chapters sent amounts from 8 cents to $2.00 for the purpose of having extra copies of the minutes sent to them. In each instance the amount was spent in sending by mail or express, as many copies of these books as could be forwarded for the amount sent. The cost of mailing each book was 9 cents, an increase of one cent over mailing cost of previous years, owing to increased size of the books.

Three thousand copies of the Minutes of the Norfolk Convention were printed, besides eleven hundred and fifty copies of the advanced Business Proceedings. The former were more generally distributed among the chapters this year than last, as the two copies were mailed at once to the president of each chapter. From the Treasurer's Report, you will find this item of expense in mailing these books a very large one, but we hope a profitable expenditure, by the information gained from this literature issued to the chapters in general. The date of mailing these books was eighteen days earlier than the minutes were issued last year.

As you know, the rosters were arranged for publication by your Corresponding Secretary General, and of this she will probably speak to you later. This division of work between these two officers has at least brought your secretaries into closer touch and more frequent correspondence.

When sending the printed convention notices and credential blanks in bulk to your Corresponding Secretary for distribution, a large number were reserved which I distributed among the Division Presidents, with a letter asking that these be supplied to those chapters in each division falling, by loss in the mail or other cause, to receive these important papers. This was done in the hope of having each chapter supplied with the credential blanks. Many letters have been received in my office complaining that no credential blanks have been received, but I am sure you will agree that the failure to receive these is due to no fault of your secretaries.

The transfer of all Cross of Honor material from the office of the Recording Secretary General to that of the Custodian of Cross of Honor was a great help in relieving the arduous duties of the Recording Secretary. I have had the certificates of eligibility, rules, record sheets, etc., printed and forwarded to Mrs. Raines, the Custodian.

In July your Secretary received from the postmaster of her city a communication enclosing a letter from the Postmaster General, saying that the tubes containing the certificates of membership with the signatures of President and Secretary has been wrongly classed, and in the future must be first-class mail matter, requiring letter postage; their attention having been called to this through the Nashville post office. This of course meant an additional expense to the Secretary's office. One certificate or charter had been previously mailed at a cost of 3 cents and now, the same costs 8 cents. Since that notification, I have used the express, this having a rate of half a cent an ounce on printed matter, but with a minimum of 10 cents east of the Mississippi and 20 cents west, where the matter passes into the hands of a second express company. Your secretary has forwarded these certificates by express when even two cents might be saved. I have given you this detailed explanation, because several times the query has come, "Why do you send these per express instead of by mail as before?"

Your secretary has spent but few, if any, idle moments during the year since she reported to you last, as you will perhaps agree, if in hearing the record read, you will comprehend the magnitude of the work.

I have written thirty-one hundred and eighty (3180) letters and postals, and have received and properly filed four thousand, two hundred and fifty letters and cards.

Not so many charters have been issued as last year, and a larger number of certificates have been ordered.

The receipts and disbursements of my office for the past year have been as follows :

By 2510 certificates of membership issued	$251.00
By 53 charters issued	159.00
By membership blanks	25.35
	<hr/>
Total	$435.35

DISBURSEMENTS.

To general expense account, including help	$181.58
To Express and Freight Acct.	42.77
To stamps bought cash	65.00
To stamps received as cash and used	58.56

Total	$358.50—$359.59

DISBURSEMENTS.

April 23, to Mrs. Williams, Treas. Genl.	$15.00
June 8, to Mrs. Williams, Treas. Genl.	50.00
Nov. 9, to Mrs. Williams, Treas. Genl.	11.76
Total	$76.76—$76.76

I have turned over to the Auditing Committee my accounts with a receipt for each item of expenditures. I have turned over to the Treasurer General the balance of $11.76, and hold her receipts for same.

The bills for printing have been sent from time to time to the President General for her endorsement and then to the Treasurer General, and the same will be rendered in her accounts.

I have had the charter records from Chapter No. 1 to the last chapter chartered, No. 1174, transcribed in a large, strong, and well bound ledger, from small books, in one of which the pages are already loosened. These records are very important in the secretary's office—a need to refer to them occurs frequently. This work was endorsed when you accepted my report with the recommendation for it last year. And I am glad to report that it has been done.

To our dear President General, I want to pour out abundant thanks for her numerous courtesies, for the bond of sympathy and unison that has existed between us during the entire year's work.

In conclusion, my dear friends and co-workers, as I am about to lay down the official duties, responsibilities, and honors which you have bestowed upon me for two years, I ask you to accept my sincere and true and most cordial thanks for the many kindnesses shown me, for all the love, trust and confidence given me, and for your gentle consideration for every failure.

MRS. ANDREW L. DOWDELL,
Recording Secretary General U. D. C.

REPORT OF CORRESPONDING SECRETARY GENERAL.

Madam President, Ladies of the Executive Board, Delegates and Visitors:

It is with pleasure and pride that I make this, my first report, to you as Corresponding Secretary of our grand organization. Pleasure, in that it is a pleasure for me to work for the restoration of the place in history which properly belongs to our ancestors, who for a time seemed to be forgotten in the annals of our great country, and who were too dispirited and too proud to speak for their rightful places.

Pride, in that I hold a position on the executive board of a band of 55,000 women, upholding with dignity and firmness, the annals and history of the only part of the United States, to quote from a Connecticut friend, where the real American is found. Startling as this statement may seem, the reason of it may be readily understood, when we think that the North and West have been invaded for years past by foreign settlers, while in the South until very recently, we were all "cousin John" and "cousin Sallie" and "aunt Mary," having married among our own people, and preserved in its purity, the Irish-English American strain, and the Scotch, sturdy pioneers in nearly all of the Southern States.

In charity towards all men, and with malice toward none, the women of the South have quietly and faithfully reclaimed for the men of the South, the place in history and literature which has always been, by virtue of their achievements, theirs.

As many of you know, the office of Corresponding Secretary General is no longer an office of mere letter writing, as at the Norfolk Convention the duties of the Recording Secretary General, made so arduous by reason of the rapid growth of the organization of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, were divided so as to place some of the clerical work with the office of Corresponding Secretary General.

My first official duty was to prepare for the Recording Secretary General a mailing list containing the names of all State and chapter presidents. This I did at her request, and I sent a carbon copy to the President General for her immediate use.

The compiling of the rosters, in itself an enormous piece of clerical work, I accomplished as well as I could for the Norfolk minute book, but these rosters can never be as useful as they should be, until they are compiled by the State Presidents and their Secretaries, and sent to the General Secretary for publication. It is impossible for any person outside of the State to know the chapters not in good standing, or of the proper rosters for chapters that fail to reply to my cards asking for up-to-date rosters. Last December I sent out over 1,000 postal cards asking for correct rosters, not half of them received replies. Where women had moved away they did not take the trouble to return the card to the proper party, the result was that we had in many cases to use the old rosters, some of which have not been changed in years.

It was not an unusual occurrence for me to receive letters several months afterward, telling me that the lady to whom I wrote had not been chapter president for several years, and that the card had just come to hand. Of course the rosters then sent were too late for the year book, and my copy of the minutes is full of these belated rosters and corrections to be used for the minute book of this convention. One lady wrote in a rather reproachful manner, that the reason that I had received no reply from the chapter president to whom I sent the card, was because the lady had been dead for two years. Now I am a very careful and zealous worker, but I am not a clairvoyant. So when your chapter presidents die, or are relieved from office for some other good cause, please at once notify all the general officers so that you may be in communication with them, and also, so that they may not waste their time and strength in sending letters, often written at midnight, to find their way to the dead letter office, and to come back to the sender unclaimed.

One lady wrote "the lady to whom you sent the card has not been chapter president for two years. She takes no interest in the work, and so the card was not sent to me until to-day." I have not the date of this letter, but it was far too late for the proper roster to get to the printer. So, ladies, you must see the necessity, and let me impress it upon you again, of having the State Presidents with the State Secretaries, prepare the correct rosters of chapters in their divisions. West Virginia alone wrote me that I would notice chapters dropped from the list of rosters, and that it was because they were not in good standing, having failed to pay their dues.

The rosters are the very foundation of the entire work of the year. They must and should be correct, and should be sent as they are used in the general minute book. Alphabetically arranged, and with the surname first, to save your general secretary the arduous and unnecessary duty of copying every one of the 1,100 or more rosters.

Just one of all these rosters came to me ready to be pasted in my manuscript, and that came from a chapter in South Carolina. After days and nights of copying, I can assure South Carolina that I had a very soft place in my heart for that one very thoughtful woman. I say to each one of you here present, especially to the State Presidents and Secretaries, please help me. Let us work together this year, to have a perfect set of State and chapter rosters, something that we have not had, since the early years of the organization, although it has been through no fault of your secretaries, just a lack of co-operation.

During the past year I have written 260 letters and sent out in all 2,346 communications. Have received 401 letters and postal cards. Have written to every chapter asking for correct rosters, have sent out 1,086 convention notices with credential blanks, some of them being duplicates, the first set having miscarried or gone to a former chapter president.

I have replied to every official communication within forty-eight hours of its receipt, except when I had serious illness in my family.

I have worked with a hearty good will, and trust that my efforts find favor with you who honored me by giving me a place on your executive board.

In closing let me read to you a letter from the Librarian of Congress, and I ask that any of you who have copies of the desired minutes, will send them to me to forward to Washington, as it is very desirable that our archives be preserved.

Respectfully submitted,

FLORENCE MURPHY COOLEY.

Corresponding Secretary General U. D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 6, 1908.

Dear Madam:

The Library of Congress has an incomplete file of the "Minutes of Annual Meetings of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

We have the—

3rd, 1896	7th, 1900	10th, 1903
11th, 1904	12th, 1905

We need all the others that may have been issued. If any of these are still available will you be good enough to send them to the Library of Congress under the enclosed franks? We would also ask that the Library of Congress be placed on your mailing list for all future issues in order that a complete file of your publications may be available in the National Library.

Your courtesies will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,

HERBERT PUTNAM,

Librarian of Congress.

FLORENCE M. COOLEY.

November 11, 1908.

REPORT OF CUSTODIAN OF CROSS OF HONOR.

Madam President, Daughters of the Confederacy:

The year just closing has passed very quickly and pleasantly, with every wheel in the machinery of my office turning in perfect harmony, and in a most satisfactory condition—notwithstanding the severe jolt we received by the non-arrival of crosses in time for June delivery, but your custodian is pleased to report with this exception, and the occasional changing of State recorders, everything moving smoothly.

Some chapters still fail to understand the rules, but, I think this is due to the fact that those chapters who constantly change officers and recorders, can not expect, or be expected, to understand rules; as the distribution of these crosses will be but a few years longer, I would earnestly ask that you allow those now in office of Chapter and State recorders to hold same to the end. It stands to reason that a new officer, who in many cases has never seen a copy of the rules, can not do the efficient work of one who has been two years in the office.

To the chapter recorders I would ask that they would not write between the lines on the record sheet—give each name a line to itself, and see that all are alphabetically arranged. The rules plainly call for this. In writing the Presidents order be sure and give the address, name, number of house and city, to whom you wish your Crosses sent, as in many cases names of Presidents were given, and the express company notifies me, no such person lives in that town, then after considerable correspondence, and in many cases, the chapter is disappointed by not receiving the Crosses. I find the chapter is in one place and the President lives in another. Give the name of your town as well as your chapter; name—as “R. E. Lee Chapter” does not convey to your Custodian any particular location, there being at least seven R. E. Lee Chapters, four N. B. Forest, and countless “Mildred Lee’s”, “Winnie Davis,” and so on.

Before leaving the chapter recorders, let me most earnestly beg you to acknowledge the arrival or non-arrival on a postal of your crosses. Some wait four or five months, then comes word crosses have never arrived; now without further words you see just how impossible it is to start to trace this shipment.

I would suggest that at the proper time a motion be made to invest the President General with authority to demand and secure the return of a Cross of Honor if upon proper evidence she finds the privilege of wearing this cross is being abused.

I have the honor to submit the following statements of receipts and disbursements of the office of custodian.

Crosses received, 6500; value	$812.50
Crosses distributed, 5702; value	$712.75
Office expenses—
Secretary, postage and Crosses	438.11
Check sent President	200.00
Cash on hand	74.64
	<hr/>
	$712.75
Crosses on hand, 798	99.75—$812.50

Respectfully,

MRS. L. H. RAINES,
Custodian General Southern Cross of Honor.

REPORT OF CUSTODIAN OF FLAGS AND PENNANTS.

Madam President General and United Daughters of the Confederacy :

I had sent me by your former Custodian three (3) flags, or rather two flags and one banner, of which I have taken the best care. The box which contained the flags was so broken that it could be no longer used. I had a secure box made with hinges and lock. I wrote the President of each State division asking her to present at the Atlanta Convention her State flag, when the roll of State Presidents was called.

The size of these flags to be 12 by 18 inches, and to be left as a gift to the hostess chapter, Atlanta. I stated size as it was well to have them uniform and inexpensive. I heard from many Presidents saying it would be their pleasure to do so, and the idea was a beautiful one. I hope this ceremony will be kept up at each annual convention.

As your Custodian I present the first flag of the Confederate States of America, the "Stars and Bars."

I thank you for the honor you conferred on me and hope as Custodian of those sacred "memorial flags," the work has been satisfactory.

Cost of box, $5.50 plus expressage to Atlanta.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. FRANK ANTHONY WALKE,
Custodian Flags and Pennants U. D. C.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CROSS OF HONOR.

Madame President-General and Members of the Fifteenth Annual Convention:

The chairman has received many letters, answering them as best she could, referring all recommendations made in these communications to the Committee, which has given them every consideration.

Rule 1, Section 2:—We have endeavored to put a clearer construction upon this rule, as it seems to be frequently misunderstood. It is the sense of the Committee that Crosses for veterans and descendants cannot be bestowed on one and the same day. If application has been made for both, the bestowal upon descendants will have to be deferred until another day of bestowal, at which time no Crosses can be bestowed upon veterans.

We recommend that Rule 2, Section 1, referring to the application papers; that they shall be signed by two or more ex-Confederates who know of their personal knowledge that the record presented is correct.

The Committee also recommends that the convention rescind the rule made at Norfolk of conferring Crosses until 1915; 1910 is sufficiently long for those to get Crosses who deserve them, and it means a great expense. Sufficient money is not realized from the sale of Crosses to support the office of Custodian and to keep large supplies of Crosses on hand, which is demanded by the chapters. We do not ask the manufacturers to supply Crosses until the money is forthcoming. It suggests itself to me, that it would be best to give less generously to many objects presented to this convention, retaining money in the treasury to meet this demand.

Let me recommend to the chapters, to take their grievances to their State Recorders, and not to the Custodian; she must sustain her recorders, and is frequently very much embarrassed by letters received.

Chapter Presidents must be more careful in regard to the marking of Crosses. 15 Crosses were sent back to the Custodian, that had been improperly marked, requesting the Custodian to replace them.

She can't be responsible for the carelessness of presidents or veterans. She has no authority to replace them because they are improperly marked. After they are paid for by chapters and expressed to them, her duty is finished.

We request that all chapters be very strict in carrying out the rules.

MRS. VIRGINIA F. McSHERRY, Chairman
 MRS. J. W. THOMPSON,
 MRS. J. W. TENCH,

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON HISTORY.

Madam President and Ladies:

It is my privilege to present to you the report of your History Committee. The lines of work undertaken by the committee have been the outcome of questions asked, for the most part, by our more recently organized chapters, and a desire on the part of the committee to have this data in concrete form available for chapter use. Many younger members have written your chairman for a History of the U. D. C. That this may in the future be supplied upon request, the following facts have been collected and arranged by Mrs. John P. Hickman, a woman who did valuable service in making this history; and Mrs. Margaret L. Watson, whose work has made the historical department of the Texas Division overreach its wide borders into other fields of labor.

HISTORY OF THE UNITED DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY.

In 1889 the Legislature of the State of Tennessee gave four hundred and seventy five acres of the Hermitage farm (the home of Andrew Jackson) to the Frank Cheatham Bivouac, the first chartered organization of Confederate Soldiers in the South, for a Soldiers Home. The ladies of Nashville organized and chartered what was known as the "Ladies Auxiliary to the Confederate Soldiers Home." At the last dinner given by this Auxiliary in May 1892, our Founder and Honorary President, Mrs. M. C. Goodlet, suggested the uniting of all organizations of Southern women into one grand body, to be known as Daughters of the Confederacy, which doubtless would exert a powerful influence for good. This suggestion was taken up by the newspapers and brought prominently before the public.

In the meantime Mrs. Goodlet wrote letters to every organization, of which she could hear, and to a number of prominent women in the South, inviting them to meet in the city of Nashville, Sept. 10th, 1894, for the purpose of organization.

At this meeting only three States were represented, Georgia, Texas and Tennessee. However they organized an Association known as the "National Daughters of the Confederacy," adopted a constitution and elected officers. Mrs. M. C. Goodlet, Nashville, Tenn., President; Mrs. L. H. Raines, Savannah, Ga., Vice President; Mrs. Katie Cabell Currie, Dallas, Texas, Vice President; Miss White May, Nashville, Tenn., Vice President; (The Vice President for the other Southern States to be appointed temporarily by the President, after corresponding with the respective States.)

Mrs. John P. Hickman, Nashville, Tenn., Recording Secretary.

Mrs. J. B. Lindsley, Nashville, Tenn., Corresponding Secretary.

Mrs. W. B. Maney, Nashville, Tenn., Treasurer.

This meeting adjourned to meet in Nashville, Nov. 1895, but on March 30th, 1895, by call of the President, the Association met in extraordinary session to amend the article of the Constitution referring to membership. At this meeting there were delegates from the Nashville Chapter No. 1, Nashville, Tenn., Savannah Chapter No. 2, Savannah, Ga.; Wilmington Chapter No. 3, Wilmington, N. C.; Charleston Chapter No. 4, Charleston, S. C.; Jackson Chapter No. 5, Jackson, Tenn.

After this meeting the Atlanta Chapter was organized and invited the Association to meet in their city in November, in place of Nashville. At this meeting the Constitution was revised and the name of the Association changed to "United Daughters of the Confederacy." Mrs. Jno. C. Brown, of Nashville, Tenn., was elected President; Mrs. L. H. Raines, of Savannah, Ga., Vice President. Mrs. J. Jefferson, Thomas, of Atlanta, Ga., Recording Secretary; Mrs. I. M. The Association had no By-Laws until the convention in Baltimore in 1897, when By-Laws were adopted.

The badge was adopted at the first convention in Nashville, Tenn. An effort was made later on to change the badge, but in 1899 at the Richmond Convention the Committe on Badges recommended that in justice to those persons who had already procured badges no change should be made.

The first work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was the erecting of a monument to Winnie Davis, the daughter of the Confeedracy, in Hollywood cemetery, in Richmond, Va.

At the Richmond Convention Hon. J. Taylor Ellyson, as chairman of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, stated that he was commissioned to ask the U. D. C. to assume the responsibility of erecting this monument, as they found the veterans had promised more than they could accomplish. Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone offered the resolution that the Daughters assume the responsibility of erecting a monument to President Davis. Mrs. S. T.

McCullough was made chairman, and in the short space of eight years the beautiful monument was unveiled in Richmond, Virginia, June 3rd, 1907.

The Association is now endeavoring to erect monuments at Shiloh and at Arlington.

The Association has had nine Presidents, seventeen Vice-Presidents, three Recording Secretaries, eight Corresponding Secretaries, five Treasurers, and two Custodians for the Cross of Honor.

To Georgia belongs the honor of originating the idea of bestowing the Southern Cross of Honor on the veterans. Mrs. Gabbett was made chairman of a committee to decide upon a design, etc.

At the Richmond Convention in 1899 the design, etc., offered by the committee was adopted by the convention, and Mrs. Gabbett was made Custodian.

The "Confederate Veteran," published in Nashville, Tenn., was recognized as the official organ of the Association in 1899.

The first minutes published were of the Nashville Convention in 1896, the motion having been made by Mrs. C. A. Forney, of Hope, Arkansas.

Confederate Bazaar Record.

Mrs. J. Enders Robinson suggested as a line of work she deemed most essential, the collection of records of all bazaars held since 1861 for Confederate purposes. Mrs. Robinson, in charge of the Department of the East, and Mrs. James B. Gantt, in charge of the Department of the West, have reported the following:

Alabama:—Nothing heard from division.

District of Columbia:—Reports one oazaar held in 1906 for the Arlington Confederate Monument.

Florida:—Reports one bazaar held in 1898 for monumental purposes.

Georgia:—The President of the Division will place the matter before her division.

Illinois:—Nothing heard from this State.

Indiana:—President of the Fitzhugh Lee Chapter reports four small bazaars in the respective years 1904, 1905, 1907, 1908.

Maryland:—President of the division reports four bazaars in the respective years 1865, 1885, 1898, 1901.

Kentucky:—Nothing heard from this State.

Louisiana:—Nothing heard from this State.

Mississippi:—In September, 1908, the President writes that she received no blanks for Confederate bazaar data.

New York:—Reports that bazaars are not held in New York.

North Carolina:—Reports no record of bazaars.

Ohio:—Nothing heard from this State.

Tennessee:—Reports a great deal of work of the bazaar of fair kind. It is not systematized in our blanks, however. There is additional information on Confederate relief work which is of much value.

South Carolina:—Reports five bazaars in the respective years, 1862, 1865, 1868, 1876, 1880.

Virginia:—Will submit the matter to the Virginia Convention, October, 1908.

West Virginia:—Reports in September, 1908, no blanks received.

Arkansas:—Reports three bazaars for monumental purposes.

California:—Reports no bazaars having been held in that State.

Missouri:—Reports two bazaars held in the respective years 1904, 1907.

New Mexico:—Reports one Christmas bazaar in the year 1907.

Correction of Mr. Davis' Speech.

A collection of volumes entitled "The World's Famous Orations," came to the notice of your chairman last winter. Mr. William Jennings Bryan's name appeared thereon as editor-in-chief; Frances W. Halsey, associate editor, Funk & Wagnalls Co., publishers.

On page 203, volume 9, occurs the following:

"Jefferson Davis."

"On Withdrawing From the Union," and a foot-note saying: "Delivered in the United States Senate to a crowded audience on Jan. 21st, 1861. Amnestied in 1868."

This speech, a masterpiece of American patriotic zeal, is given, shorn of every outpouring of honest love of American institutions, a simple, unadorned statement of intention to withdraw from the Union, without dot or dash to indicate the omission of a word. Robbed even of those masterly words, "This is done not in hostility to others, not to injure any section of the country, not even for our own pecuniary benefit, but from the high and solemn motive of defending and protecting the rights we inherited and which is our duty to transmit unshorn to our children."

Deeming it a duty to correct this, your chairman called on Miss Nannie Bird Washington to look up the records and call attention to the objections raised. Miss Washington worked faithfully to correct the error, and as a result we present you the following letters. The first, from Lincoln, Neb., dated Aug. 8th, 1908, saying:

"I am in receipt of your favor, and thank you for calling my attention to the omission. While I am editor of the book, I did not personally compare the printed speeches with the originals, and had not noticed the omission of the passage of which you speak. I take it for granted that that follows immediately after what is printed in the book, and I will write at once to the publishers and ask them to make the correction in the next edition. Appreciating very much your kindness in bringing the matter to my attention, I am,

Very truly yours,

(Signed)

"W. J. BRYAN."

A few days later the following letter from New York, dated Aug. 25th, came:

"Dear Madame:—Mr. Bryan has sent us your letter of July 31st as to an omission in Jefferson Davis' speech on leaving the Senate in 1861, and requested us to insert it at the proper place. We beg to inform you that a correction has been made for the next edition of the work. We have been unable to discover just how the omission occurred. The books were prepared for press about two years ago, and none of our records show whether this omission was due to the printers or defective manuscript.

"With thanks for your having called our attention to the matter, we beg to remain,

Yours respectfully,
 FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY,

(Signed)

"F. W. Halsey."

Division Reports.

The historical work in the divisions is growing in strength and value. Many interesting reports have been submitted to the chairman, a brief summary of which is given here:

"Alabama having ever in mind the need of securing reliable historical data, has each year tried to collect such material." The historian, Mrs. Harvey Jones, devoted the past year to the study of the work of the women from '61-65. The Alabama Division edits an historical column, each week, in the Montgomery Advertiser, in which appears every article sent by the chapters to the Historian.

Arkansas, through the Historian, Mrs. Richard B. Willis, has acquired some valuable documents as a result of earnest appeals sent to all Confederate organizations.

California reports the formation of a circulating library of both history and fiction and a careful study of the South in making American history is being encouraged throughout the division. The Joseph L. Brent Chapter succeeded in placing a Confederate flag in the corner stone of the new Carnegie library at Pacific Grove.

The District of Columbia, under the direction of the Historian, Miss Nannie Bird Washington, has worked with good result. Robert L. Taylor, John Sharp Williams, Col. Frederick Beall and others known to the nation as brilliant orators, have assisted in the celebration of Confederate historical days. For future publication, the historian of the Stonewall Chapter is collecting reminiscences of "Personal Experiences" of the women of the sixties. The Stonewall Jackson Chapter reports a conference with the Francis Scott Key Memorial Association in regard to verses, objectionable to Southern people, added to "The Star Spangled Banner."

Georgia, under Acting Historian Mrs. H. M. Franklin, is in the front rank of historical work. A systematic course of history study with programmes published in leaflet form and sent to the chapters, has been adopted. During the past year the questions are taken from "The South in History and Literature," by Miss Rutherford, State Historian. The Georgia Division is seeking to interest the children in the study of history by the annual offer of a composition medal.

Florida:—Sister Esther Carlotta, the Historian of the Florida Division, upon her accession to office last May, received two original papers, one by a veteran and one by a woman of the war period, and a small collection of newspaper clippings. Since then she has secured three papers by Miss Brevard, a former official. The energetic Historian is forming plans for future work in the division. She expects to visit each chapter during the year, "and talk history to them," and in addition is offering a banner to be known as "The Jefferson Davis Banner," to the chapter doing the best historical work this year.

Illinois:—Mrs. Grommet, of the Sam Davis Chapter at Alton, writes with pardonable pride of a recent achievement of her chapter. A U. M. C. A. building costing $52,000 has recently been dedicated in Alton. Various churches and societies having contributed to the furnishing. The Sam Davis Chapter has secured permission to place in the library a case filled with books by Southern authors. This work should receive the commendation of every Southern heart.

The Chicago Chapter through Mrs. Brantley, the historian, reports the reading of historical papers at meetings and interesting recitals of experiences by chapter members.

Oklahoma:—Mrs. J. K. Bass, historian of the new division, has with zeal and care planned for the work of the division. A course of study has been sent to the twenty-six chapters, and the outlook for historical research is most favorable.

Kentucky:—Mrs. Swan, the efficient Historian of the Kentucky Division, has conducted among the chapters the work of collecting "Reminiscences of the Women of the '60s." Many valuable papers have been received and printed in the year book. The Historian sent out letters requesting the chapters to especially study the life and character of Mr. Davis. Mrs. Swan has read and criticised seven school histories for a leading publishing company, and has been always alert to the interests of the division. The office of Historian has been strengthened by the Educational Committee, that works in harmony with the historical department.

Louisiana:—Mrs. J. S. Alison furnished the committee two chapter reports that indicate interest in the history of the State. The Joanna Waddell Chapter, Baton Rouge, has by its labors established a fine library containing many valuable volumes—also mementoes and relics of the war. This chapter collects all Southern history, poems, and fiction, and preserves the same. Literary meetings are held once a month, during which different Southern men and women are discussed. Each public school of the city has been presented by the chapter a handsomely framed picture of Jefferson Davis.

Maryland:—Mrs. Mary Hall, Historian, sends the following report: In April, 1908, Mrs. A. J. Emmerson, of Denver, Colorado, was furnished information regarding the various monuments, tablets and memorials erected by the U. D. C. of Maryland in memory of Confederate soldiers and sailors.

In April, 1908, in reply to questions sent by Mrs. J. Enders Robinson, of Richmond, a full account of the various bazaars held by the Maryland Division to raise money for Confederate causes, was given. Mrs. Hall reports the Maryland chapters enthusiastic, and always eager to undertake any work for the cause.

Mississippi:—Mrs. Yeager has sent out the subject for the next year's prize essay; has completed three year book of study for 1908 and 1909; has forwarded to every school superintendent in the State a copy of the song, "The Veteran's Cross of Honor," asking that it shall be sung in the public schools. At the last convention in her State Mrs. Yeager presented an account of noble work, well done.

Missouri:—The Historian, Mrs. Phelps, writes: "The chapters have made progress this year. Many have year books with programs prepared for each meeting. They have been studying Southern writers and poets, and especially the life of President Davis. Some will study Miss Rutherford's "The South in History and Literature." The subject for the historical contest is, "The Life and Character of Mr. Davis," the prize being a copy of "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate States of America." A committee is preparing a history of the U. D. C. of Missouri to date—this to be revised every five years. Another committee is collecting "Reminiscences of Missouri Women During the Sixties." The Historian has material for a biography of Mrs. J. O. Shelby, wife of the gallant General.

New Mexico:—Mrs. Annette H. Barlow, of the Joe Wheeler Chapter, Roswell, replied to the Committee's letter, but has no historical work to report.

New York:—Mrs. James H. Parker writes that her chapter does not find this line of work practicable, hence no report.

North Carolina:—The Historian, Mrs. Rebecca Cameron, has issued yearly requests for historical data. Has secured a place in the State Capitol for the preservation of such material, and has placed therein about forty-five records. The Historian is spending much energy in securing legislation to strengthen the Department of Archives and History, and is thereby making the historical work of the North Carolina Division, U. D. C., stronger and better.

South Carolina:—The department of history emphasizes the following three points: "First, literary sessions held once a month at chapter meetings. The Historian, Miss Harriet Lynch, publishes in the Keystone every month a program that is most beneficial to the chapters. Besides the study of history, the members are urged to write papers to be kept on file by the department, and attention is given the importance of having veterans write their war records.

Second: The introduction of Southern books into schools and libraries. Each chapter has been furnished with a list of Southern books and they are urged to co-operate in this work. An annual historical circular is published to arouse interest in Confederate subjects. The circular suggests, as incentive, the presentation of Confederate pictures, flags, prizes, etc., to chapters or individuals who excell in various localities.

Third: The collection of rolls of honor. Each chapter is requested to see that every old soldier, in its environment, has his record on these rolls—and this work has been done well."

Tennessee:—Under the direction of Mrs. Jennie Pinkerton Dozier, for two years, Tennessee has added to her historical report. At regular meetings the chapters follow the program in the year book. Many excellent papers have been read before the chapters, and filed with the department of history. Impartial school histories adorn the public school course, and medals are offered throughout the State for essays of Southern subjects. In many schools are hanging pictures of the South's great sons, Washington, Jefferson, Lee, Henry, Davis, and Jackson. Four hundred rolls of honor have been sent to the Confederate Museum, and the war reminiscences of twenty Tennessee women placed in the State archives for safe keeping. Forty historical papers, sent by the chapters to the Historian, are now in the historical building in Nashville, Tennessee. Tennessee will this year begin to collect her muster rolls. The recently elected Historian, Mrs. Eleanor M Gillespie, has a capable committee, and with its members, is working to bring out the new year book in a short time.

Texas adds to the office of Historian a committee of four, and these five women direct the historical and literary study of the division. Printed programs are sent out quarterly to chapter historians and directors of Children's Auxiliaries. A literary contest forms one evening's entertainment at the division convention. Reports are sent to the Historian, Mrs. Margaret L. Watson, from time to time, keeping her in touch with all the work being done by the chapters. The study for 1908 is devoted chiefly to the disputed, or misrepresented, points of history, leading up to the war between the States. The year 1908 reports increased interest in all lines of work. The State programs are followed as far as is possible. Text books are being collected by chapters, libraries are begun, and many chapters have scrap-books for the preservation of newspapers and magazine articles.

"Texas has the honor, by request, of furnishing programs for chapters in New Mexico and Oklahoma, thereby reaching out the hand of good fellowship over a vast territory of wonderful possibilities; the gleam of the 'Glorious Lone Star' is reaching for the Pacific Ocean."

Virginia:—Miss Ruth Early, Historian, gives the following report of her division: "In the early spring letters were sent to the various chapters asking for reports. In return several chapters sent original papers, and others promised to send later. The History Committee selected subjects bearing on the Battle of Manassas for the historical evening, as the meeting of the Virginia Convention will take place at Manassas. Many of the chapters have been engaged in the study of the life of Mr. Davis, as urged by the Division President. An effort has been made, also, to direct attention to the life and work of Commander Maury. Attention has been given to the historical publications through several publishing houses, Neale, Putnam Sons, Harper, and Lippincott. The first firm circulates a long list of Southern publications. Much interest is felt in the proposed revival of the 'Southern Literary Messenger;' the editors desire especially to secure the interest and patronage of the U. D. C., to whom they offer special rates."

West Virginia: Miss Mary Calvert Stribling, Historian presents the following splendid account of West Virginia's Work: "Though on the picket line and largely peopled today by non-Southern sympathizers, yet West Virginia has done and is doing good work along Historical lines. In the matter of Histories, however, our position geographically keeps us from accomplishing what we desire. Namely—the use in our public schools of textbooks fair to the South. Special attention has been called to this matter and one chapter has succeeded in banishing "Montgomery's Leading Facts of American History" from an entire County (Jefferson) and in substituting a history that is impartial. The recommendation of Mrs. Benson, to make a study of the lives and works of our Southern authors, past and present, was heartily endorsed. West Virginia has not a few names to add to the roll of Southern Writers. One chapter, at Martinsburg sent the name of one of her sons, a brother of Jno. Eastern Cook, a writer of "graceful verses" as worthy of record.

The chapter at Morgantown, where the State University is situated has inaugurated the work of educational development among the chapters.

Original papers, on local history, have been reported by several chapters, and the Lee Town Chapter has begun a "Circulating Chapter Library."

One monument where seventy-five soldiers lie buried, has been unveiled during the year, (at Elkins) and in the near future a shaft will be placed in our Capitol City to our great Virginian Thos. J. Jackson.

With the hope of having fulfilled this commission satisfactorily to you this report is,

Respectfully submitted,
 MARY M. FARIS McKINNEY,
 Chairman Committee on History.

REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

We, your Finance Committee, would respectfully report that we have examined the books and vouchers of the Treasurer, Recording Secretary and Custodian Cross of Honor, have gone carefully over the entire year's work of each officer, and found them to be strictly in accordance with the statement made in their respective reports, and vouchers were found for every amount expended.

We recommend that the splendid work of collecting old data and making complete rolls of the veterans to whom Crosses of Honor have been given be kept up, regardless of the expense incurred thereby. We also request you to reimburse Mrs. Raines, amount she has expended in this work, as given in the following statement:

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON MOTTOS, EMBLEMS AND HISTORICAL SOUVENIRS.

Madam President, Our Colleagues and Friends:

Once more comes before you, here and now, your seeming errant committee with no apology but simple direct explanation, which must appeal to your justice and sane judgment. Feeling this, we come with newly consecrated zeal and with new ideals of beauty and good to come through this committee to our beloved organization. Give attentive ear, our faith in you as individuals and as a body gives us assurance that your final enthusiasm and adoption must reinforce and strengthen us, and enable us to speedily perfect our progressive work. We are more than pleased that, by the clearance of the work of older Standing Committees, especially that of the Jefferson Davis Monument whose importance as well as age left us in its wake, we should be decidedly advanced on the official program by right, and not left to the ever fretting bustle and weariness of the last night.

We briefly recapitulate, in order that you should know fully all we have heretofore presented you. A review of the Minutes of the United Daughters of the Confederacy from the formation of this once two, but now coalesced committee you will read the story. Begin with Richmond when the resolutions were first offered, see Wilmington, Montgomery, New Orleans, Charleston, St. Louis San Francisco, Gulfport, and you will know the broader lines of its field of work. From your not being conversant with these we have been often called the Committee on Historical China. While this was intended to be our first output after the adoption of our beautiful general emblem and insignia, it was never designed as our whole complete and final work. We shall show you still more when our dreams of this China become realization; we shall ask you again to voice your approval and honor us with your trust as you have heretofore.

For this Historic China you loaned from your treasury generously a little while ago for the Jefferson Davis and the Winnie Davis platters, memorials that could be carried into the home, and become a part of every domestic fireside, of the only Daughter of the Confederacy and its first and only President. For this work you set apart $600.00, later for competitive designs for the same honorariums each $50.00, making the sum total at our discretion $700.00. Your Treasurer and financial committees will bear out the statement that not one penny of this trust fund has ever been touched, that it lies today in your strong box we hope, with accumulating interest for the day of our urgent need. Although this chairman has made two trips to Philadelphia, one to New York, two to Richmond, Va., largely in the interest of the especial output of this historical protrait china, not a postage stamp has been used to further its ends at the cost of your treasury. Why has the work not been completed and the money set aside long ago been appropriated? you ask. Many letters come from all quarters, asking these questions. This long-suffering Committee, to whom there has been so little to tell were they not most forbearing might especially make this query then. In the beginning there were two independent committees useless one without the other. One for some mysterious, we hope, no sinister motive for a considerable period of time, by the reigning powers was obliterated from the minutes. Before this appropriation was spent, there were submitted designs to one of the most reliable China houses we could find in the East willing and capable of giving us efficient and reasonable figures that would leave us after the most satisfactory manufactory the hope of substantial profit to the General Convention, each division and each chapter of this Convention. This further knowledge emboldened us to ask this loan from your treasury.

I hold in my possession all corroborative correspondence from this house—Wright, Tyndall & Van Rhoden, Chestnut Street Philadelphia. This and all other correspondence will be filed with the official matter in your records. The delay in re-instatement of the Committee of Mottos and Emblems was fatal to the speedy perfection and sale of this historical china.

Once we again applied to this firm, after this enforced inaction, fully equipped with munitions in authority to support our orders. then it was our courteous Mr. Tyndall, whose especial care is such orders as these, deeply regretted that the firm was no longer in position to manufacture for us at anything like the favorable terms they had first offered. In fact, they had become somewhat discouraged at the discontent, the imperfect Stuart's Washington in the portrait plates which had been manufactured by them by order of the Valley Forge Chapter of the D. A. R." But by far the greatest obstacle that had arisen was the syndicating of all English, China and pottery factories and the instalment of a joint agent, who represented them in America. This firm could no longer go to the Ridaways, the Minturns and the Wedge-woods, but needs must treat with the middle man, who was all powerful and sole powerful in this trust. This made prices assuredly higher to the firm and proportionately higher to us, too dear indeed to offer the public for popular sale with no profit at all. Scarcely crediting this our next move was to New York City, where we carried letters of introduction from other large China firms in the Middle West to their metropolitan correspondence. In this quest we had the efficient, zealous and enthusiastic co-operation of one of our resident committee, Mrs. Lawrence Alexander, of the New York Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. After diligent quest in our rounds, we found the final authority, this most undesirable middle man, whom it was said the syndicate expected to make his large salary from the increased charges to the consumer. One interesting fact was developed. Memorial plates exhibited in gay autumnal colors suitable possibly for state plates, but not at all in accord with your instructions as to coloring given this Committee at the St. Louis Convention. But when it came to the Davis platters, their offer was simply prohibitive. We interpreted your generous loan to us as an inviolate trust under no circumstances to be used unless sanctioned by our best common and business sense, then again when Wright, Tyndall & Van Rhoden had first submitted their satisfactory prices to us, the orders were to be in blocks of 25 dozen, but this grand potentate of the China trust was adamant unless all orders were made first and last in blocks of 100 dozen. From this there seemed no appeal. Having grown graver and wiser as well from all this experience we next found another firm within our ranks—we trust—in the person of Mr. McRhea, of the firm of Taylor & Company, Richmond, Va., said to be the largest manufacturer of china and pottery in the South. Here another member of this Committee became active, by our appointment, Mrs. Geo. A. Lyons, of the Richmond Chapter of the U. D. C. She was in this work, all that enthusiasm and zeal could ask, together we sought this Mr. G. S. McRhea, of this great Southland china house. By special appointment, we met. From the beginning he seemed interested in the outlook for this memorial china; and at once took the question up for his house with the manufacturers. Leaving him to the tender mercies of our Mrs. Lyons, who was left in full possession of the field for consultation and reference as to the details of issuing this china, sending out a circular letter full of data to each of this Committee with an appeal for immediate work, we retired knowing it was in good hands. It was agreed that the most dignified procedure was to issue in this series of memorial china the two Davis platters first, then seriatum as they were ordered the State plates for each Division or others desired. Then another question arose in which Mr. McRhea, Mrs.

Lyons and her Chapter in Richmond, seemed of one accord, that our china should have the coloring of Confederate grey. We had hoped until today to submit to you several colors and a specimen in detail for your action before the unrevokable order has been issued, mulberry blue, old English blue and this Confederate grey. We, of all things, desire to honor our cause, but not at the sacrifice of beauty, and acceptability. We frankly admit that up to this time we have no memory of anything sufficiently effective in grey to convince us that it need be the most satisfactory color to use in the manufacture of our historical china. Until you revoke your action at St. Louis by your authority it must be old English blue. Our doubts were expressed to Mrs. Lyons and there came a characteristic note from her in protest early last spring. "The Confederate grey is simply beautiful." I have everything well in hand, all the data and will, in a few days, submit it to you and send you a sample that must convince you of the effectiveness as well as suitability of grey china." Days passed, no letter, no china. Then there came one day in one mail in divers handwritings, notes and clippings: Our beloved comrade amid the scenes of her love and work had received her last call, and had entered the land where unselfish love and enthusiasm must know its full fruition. Then there came a lapse in all outside world; later the threads were gathered up and the loom put in motion once more. We urged Mr. McRhea to tell us everything. In a letter dated in early June, he writes: "I found a clear beautiful cut of Fortress Monroe for the Jefferson Davis platter. I have submitted this, with others, to the manufacturers; I hope to hear soon and will write you later." No reply came. We wrote again and again, hoping to have substantial and definite information to give you here and now. In a letter just received, dated November 10th, inst. he writes, "Not a word from the manufacturers yet. Prices submitted in former letters." What these prices were, what other matter this correspondence may have contained is only conjecture. There would seem to have been evident miscarriage of the postal service. There are others of our name in active public life, an initial wrongly given may have tossed this valuable correspondence as an advertisement in the waste basket.

In presenting these facts, we thus make known to you all that we ourselves know concerning this Historic China. We have the utmost faith that Mr. McRhea is doing his best and that we shall know at his early convenience; and we can but feel a little comfort that the head of a great china house has come between us and the heartless adamant of a trust.

Extend this faith a little further, won't you? We ask in faith. As early as may be in a circular letter to each member of this committee, and through her to each individual and chapter, you shall know all that we know and almost as early. In the meantime, we must find at this Confederate Capitol at Richmond, Va., another capable and willing to assume the work for us, left unfinished by our lamented Mrs. George A. Lyon. Such a member would be of necessity chairman of the sub-committee on sales.

While we needs must wait on the slow delay of sordid commerce, we ask you to give heed to other purposes and plans which this committee hopes to perfect in the early future. One of these, the compilation of all the best that has been said in song and story on the subjects of our insignia and floral emblem—cotton—and those adopted by each sister State or division, all into one brochure, beautiful and salable, at popular prices, this to be called our "Emblem and Emblems."

1. Mrs. Pugh, of Napoleonsville La., sub-chairman.
2. Adaptation of Our Motto and Emblem to Our Badges—Mrs. Hull, of Savannah, Ga., sub-chairman.
3. The Industries and Handicrafts of the Women of the South Before the War—Mrs. Tinnie Alexander, sub-chairman.
4. The Domestic Subterfuges During the Trying Times of 1860-1864—Mrs. Tate, of Virginia, sub-chairman.
5. The Southern Women in Literature and the Arts—Miss Mildred Rutherford, Athens, Ga.
6. What is Opened to the Industrial Women of the South Today—Miss Killey, of Charleston, S. C. (Expert in Agricultural Department, Washington, D. C.)
7. Our Domestic Hand Book—Mrs. McKinney, of Knoxville, Tenn., chairman sub-committee.
8. Flags, Banners, Pennants—Mrs. Mollie Macgill Rosenburg, Galveston, Texas, sub-chairman.
- 9 Our _____ of the United Daughters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

And what can you do, Madame President, to help us, and assist this committee as individuals and as a whole to perfect its work.

1. Preserve its integrity inviolable as other standing committees have been preserved.

2. - Allow us to confer with you in filling up vacancies with sympathetic workers from each division. It is only the dreamer, you know, that can see visions and interpret dreams. From your wide experience you will instruct us as to what our rights and limitations are as to the privilege of expenditures legitimately needful for successful conduct of its affairs. Each sub-committee will need to know this. We ask unhesitatingly in that we know that small costs must accrue before comforting sales can be made this organization as a whole for each division and each chapter. We know that you know, that we ask only for the legitimate.

Reconsider, if you like, your color scheme for your historic china; help us to be your true mouthpiece, for a fuller wisdom in all things useful and beautiful, we attempt and give back to you.

Before the presentation of this report, we sent up to our Secretary a resolution to be referred to this committee on a suitable sub-committee of the same. This resolution asks you to confirm the expression of your symphony, your creed, the best name to be chosen at the next convention. You are each invited to write this Chairman of just what you think it should voice or embody. Once perfected it should have perpetual placement immediately after the title page in all of our subsequent minutes.

Later it may have other uses. Its need lies in the frailty and limitations of humanity; its purpose to voice our higher selves to the end that we become more closely knit in the bonds of a more perfect sisterhood. Its plea that often contemplation of the highest thoughts and feelings inevitably leads to the higher ideal living.

Our committee has sometimes, not always kindly, we fear, been called the "Committee of Sentiment," we believe ourselves the committee of both sense and sentiment and can put it later on. We are glad to know the fragrance of the newly furrowed earth in the spring time, of the violet and the lily in the dell refreshed by baptismal showers, the wild crab in its glowing beauty and the celestial odor of the grape in the wild wood.

When we thus touch upon nature in her most subtle mood, we think of another of this committee who has gone and left it and you poorer for her going. Memory vividly pictures a rare evening in her home in the land of the orange and the citron, more than a year ago. Reclining with uplifted eye and tender voice she recited stanza after stanza from her favorite poem of Timrod, "Do the Flowers Feel and Know?" Her place may be supplied, but can never be filled, to those who in pulsing flesh knew her as she was here and always. The Gates Beautiful opened not long ago to her, who as a woman we knew as Ellen Gardner Weed, and her attuned heart and sensitive soul entered where amid bloom and fragrance and music she awaits in that Summer Land of Souls with our hearts' most cherished beloveds. She knows fully now that not only the flowers, but all fine things are essentially sentient, that as Christianity and civilization advance we will know more and more that there is no death, that life sleeps in the dust, dreams in the animal and awakes in man. What we call death is but a gloaming at the portals of Life Eternal.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON STATIONERY.

Madame President: I beg to submit the following report for the Committee on Stationery.

During the past year your Committee has supplied such stationery to the general officers as was ordered by them. The amounts paid on bills for this stationery are stated in the Treasurer's report. One of these bills ($18.70) properly belongs to last year's account, it being for stationery furnished just prior to the convention, and too late for the bill to be included in the year's report. The stationery sent to the Corresponding Secretary was more than sufficient for the year's work, and will nearly supply that officer during the coming term. While this order increased the expenditure about $30.00, it will of course lessen the bill for stationery next year.

Your Committee has urged the divisions and chapters (as in the two previous years) to adopt for official purposes paper stamped with the approved die in use by the general officers, but regrets to report very little success in these efforts. It would seem that some action on the part of the convention would be necessary in order to prohibit the varied representations of the badge now appearing on stationery, and to make obligatory the use of the one die whenever paper is required stamped with the emblem. In the desire to accomplish this end, your Committee would submit an amendment to Article X, of the By-Laws, making it Section 1, Article X, and adding Section 2, and ask adoption of the same.

This By-Law would not conflict with the use of division and chapter emblems on stationery, and should any division prefer supplying stationery to its members through its own committee, a die could be obtained at the small cost of about $5.00, which would be a duplicate of the one used by your Committee. Duplicate dies could be furnished either for embossing, or for the less expensive printing of the emblem.

Respectfully submitted,

LILY McDOWELL,
Chairman Committee on Stationery.

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES

REPORT OF SHILOH MONUMENT COMMITTEE.

Madame President and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Shiloh Monument Committee is composed of a Director from each State, the Directors of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and Tennessee forming a central committee, according to the instructions of the Norfolk Convention. Subsequent to the action of that convention, a meeting of the Committee was held, and the following officers elected:

Chairman, Mrs. Alexander B. White, Paris, Tenn.

Vice-Chairman, Mrs. Jennie G. Henderson, Corinth, Miss.

Secretary, Mrs. Harvey E. Jones, Montgomery, Ala.

Treasurer, Mrs. Roy W. McKinney, Paducah, Ky.

These, with Mrs. John K. Ottley, of Atlanta, Ga., form the central committee.

The committee met twice during the Norfolk Convention, and has met twice in Atlanta. At these full meetings it was decided to ask that the President-General of the U. D. C. shall be ex-officio chairman of this Committee, and the present chairman shall be the Director-General. The office of vice-chairman was abolished.

Mrs. Jennie G. Henderson, of Mississippi, was elected Secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation on account of ill health of Mrs. Harvey E. Jones, of Alabama, who has filled the office so capably, and whom we lose with regret.

The committee asks that five minutes be granted for the making of pledges and donations to Shiloh.

The Treasurer's report will show how the fund stands, and what has been accomplished by each Director in the way of raising money.

While all have done good work, I want to make special mention of the fine work done by the directors and chapters that are not in the South, and that must work in an unsympathetic atmosphere. A chapter in far-away Seattle, Robert E. Lee, is giving $10.00 yearly; from Portland, Oregon, has come $10.00, and Mrs. Duff hopes to send $50.00 next year; California has sent $141.00 this year, almost double what they sent last year; the Stonewall Jackson Chapter, of Chicago, sent $40.00; the Philadelphia Chapter sent $55.00, and the Dabney Maury Chapter, of Philadelphia, sent $15.00; from Ohio came $30.80, and New York Chapter gave $50.00; the Dixie Club, of New York, $10.00, and the Father Ryan Chapter, of Mexico, sent $5.00 and promises more.

Environments and associations in the South encourage and urge us on with our U. D. C. work, so when I compare what we in the South have done with what those out of the South have accomplished, I feel we should accomplish much more than we do, and that they should be commended for doing so well, and their work should be a stimulus to us.

The committee has tried to raise money by selling lithographs of the painting "Lee and His Generals," and with Miss Conrad's history of Confederate Flags, but there have been few sales, and again with engravings of Gen. Robert E. Lee. In these we have offered a handsome picture and a most excellent and satisfactory likeness of our beloved leader. To place them before the chapter, I, as chairman, sent to every State Director circulars and small specimen pictures to be sent out by them to every chapter in their respective States.

The circulars, envelopes, specimen pictures and printed contracts were furnished to the committee free by the John A. Lowell Bank Note Co., of Boston, the makers of the engravings. The large pictures are sent well packed and express prepaid by the Lowell Co. Thus the Shiloh Committee have no expense, and sell the engravings on 50 per cent. commission. Our sales have not reached our expectations, for we hoped in view of the effort and desire of the U. D. C. organization to place a picture of General Lee in every school in the South, that chapters buying pictures of General Lee would purchase them of the Shiloh Committee, thereby achieving by one act two results desired by the U. D. C., viz: Getting a very superior picture of the great General for the schools, and at the same time helping another branch of the U. D. C. work, the Shiloh monument. I want to insist on your telling your chapters and friends that we have these pictures to sell, and beg them to buy from the committee. If you in doing your work can help us do our work, or we can help you, pray let us do so; co-operation should be the watchword of our entire organization.

The South Carolina U. D. C. strikes the key note of the situation in stating they "realize that Shiloh is one of our first obligations as a united work," and this is their position, although they understand there were no South Carolina troops in the battle of Shiloh. Shiloh has the first claim upon our organization, as an organization work, for at the San Francisco Convention it was agreed and voted that since the work for the Jefferson Davis monument was completed, that the work for a monument at Shiloh should be the next work undertaken by the U. D. C., and that they take up this work. We wish all would bear this in mind, and turn our united forces upon this work and complete it, so that then as a whole we can take up other work and do that. To unite our efforts on one work and do it in its order is better than to divide the strength of the organization among too many objects at one time.

Most of the pledges made at Norfolk have been redeemed. We thank you and every chapter and individual for every contribution, great or small, that has been made to Shiloh. We only wish we could multiply them by ten so we could speedily erect this sorely needed monument at Shiloh, where the long line of Gray, strong and masterful, drove the Federal line back to the very brink of the Tennessee river; at Shiloh where more than 10,000 Confederates were killed, and where in one single trench sleep 4,000.

On Decoration Day, when the Federal graves are covered with flowers, 'tis not the South, but a Federal officer, Major Ashcraft, of Paducah, Ky., who places a few flowers on these Confederate trenches.

Thousands and thousands of visitors go to Shiloh each year, and so forgotten, so forsaken, seem the Confederate graves, so appealing, that a woman of the North has offered to a Shiloh Director money to help place a monument to Confederates at Shiloh, where poet's lines and sculptors' chisels commemorate Federal valor, but where neither marble nor bronze speaks for Confederate bravery and devotion. None loved their country more, no truer hearts gave better service, none more noble colors bore than these same Confederates. Every little group of veterans you hear talking of the war, speak of Shiloh. Every orator talking to the South of the South, mentions Shiloh, for "Shiloh" is a synonym for all that is fearful in war and all that is brave and true and constant.

Respectfully,

REPORT OF COMMITTEE FOR MEMORIAL WINDOW TO MRS. VARINA JEFFERSON DAVIS.

At the risk of being tedious, I shall begin my report with a quotation from the one of last year, that is, the paragraph of recommendations. As they were unanimously adopted by the convention of 1907, they formed the basis of work for the present year. To those of you who have not read the report submitted last year, and who care to know more of the subject chosen for the window, I beg to refer you to pages 219-223 of the Annual for 1907. The paragraph referred to above reads as follows, and I would ask your careful attention for a few moments: "It is suggested that invitations to unveiling ceremonies be sent to General and State Divisions, U. C. V., and to General and State Divisions, U. S. C. V., General Officers of U. D. C., State Divisions, U. D. C. That all State Presidents be requested to attend, or appoint a representative. Invitations shall be extended to all 'Southern Memorial Associations.' Also that the time for the unveiling be set for February 26. (The anniversary of the marriage of President and Mrs. Davis,) if rates can be arranged for that date."

If you have followed closely, you will see that the invitations to the unveiling ceremonies were to be sent in such manner as to be extended to about one hundred and fifty thousand individuals! Rating the U. C. V. Association, the U. D. C. and the U. S. C. V. each at a membership of 50,000, makes a conservative estimate as it pre-supposes the members of all other "Confederate Associations" to belong to one of the above.

You will kindly note the plan for fixing the date of the unveiling. It was proposed in accordance with a letter received several weeks before the last convention. It was our hope that the convention would set the date for the unveiling, but when this letter stated explicitly that it was entirely too early to ask for rates to be fixed, saying it would be necessary to wait until the first of the year before the railroad authorities would consider the matter, we made the suggestion quoted above, that the date be left to the committee to arrange as best they could in connection with Mardi Gras raes. The courteous letter of the railroad official was carefully filed. To be sure that I complied with his instructions to wait until "after the first of the year," and yet knowing the importance of allowing sufficient time for the consultation of the various "powers that be" in railroad circles, I wrote on January 2, 1908, asking for Mardi Gras rates to be put on three or four days earlier than usual to enable the U. D. C. and others to take advantage of them to attend the unveiling ceremonies, which we were most anxious to hold on February 26th. I felt so confident of success, as I was going so precisely by his own instructions, that you may imagine my surprise and chagrin when the gentleman wrote me that he regretted exceedingly that I had not made the request sooner, as it was now entirely "too late," all railroads having made their arrangements for tickets to be placed on sale at a certain date. I leave it with you as to whether when one is told he must wait until after the first of the year to write a letter, and he writes it on January 2, he is delinquent? Much animated correspondence ensued, in which your President-General took considerable part. It was to no avail, however.

As to invitations, we were warned as to the state of the treasury. If you ever wish to make 300 invitations do the work of 100-000, you take my advice and don't try it. We did, however. I sent to Adjutant-General Mickle for a list of U. C. V. commanders, general departments and State; a similar request to the U. S. C. V. commander. An invitation was sent to every general and staff officer. With the invitations to the State commanders, U. C. V., and U. S. C. V., and State Presidents, U. D. C., were sent also letters requesting that they extend the invitation and issue orders requesting the attendance of members of camps and chapters on the unveiling ceremonies. Every Memorial Association was invited officially. Invitations were sent to all Honorary and ex-Presidents-General and to State Presidents for 1907, to several individuals who have been distinguished in U. D. C. and U. C. V. work. On account of the belief that the attendance would be larger from near-by chapters, invitations were sent to the chapters at New Orleans, Gulfport, and Biloxi, and to all the chapters named for either President or Mrs. Davis. A letter was written to Mrs. Hayes requesting a list of relatives and especial friends of the Davis family. Especial invitations were sent to all surviving Confederate Generals whose addresses could be secured. Several sent lists of names with requests for invitations, and these were sent as long as possible. It took a good deal of correspondence and a great many hours of careful work to accomplish this result. The engraving of the invitations, postage, and incidental expenses in connection with the unveiling ceremony was approximately $30.00. As the Finance Committee and the convention at Gulfport allowed $1,000.00, or as much thereof as was necessary, your committee feel that they have kept well within bounds to have brought their work to a successful completion within two years at an expense to the U. D. C. of $630.00. We would recommend that the traveling expenses of our President-General to the unveiling be paid. We all know her generosity, but we also know the numerous demands made upon her as our official head, which are not provided for in our By-Laws.

I have learned that some invitations were not received at all, and some were delayed. There were some adverse criticisms as to the methods of your chairman, I cannot say committee, for they were so far apart that it was impossible for the other two members to be consulted at the last moments. Your chairman endeavored to carry out her recommendations (which were also your instructions) to the letter, and after careful consideration, believes that she succeeded, though at the time, the criticisms far outweighed the pleasure of success. Allow me to say here that the encouragement and assistance of the President-General, who added much to her already arduous duties, made the labor much lighter.

To those who acknowledged the invitations with cordial words of appreciation, our thanks are due. (They were few.) The committee are also especially indebted to Mrs. D. A. S. Vaught and Mrs. Behan, of New Orleans, for courteous offers of assistance, and it was due to their efforts that there was such a large attendance from New Orleans.

Serious illness prevented the chairman's attendance at the unveiling. Mrs. Schuyler, of New York, who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. John Jay Crawford, was also unable to attend. Mrs. Weatherby, of the committee, assisted the rector of the church in attending to the details of the ceremony, and was foremost in entertaining the visitors to Biloxi. The gifted President of the Mississippi Division, Mrs. Daisy McLaurir Stevens, was asked to send an account of the unveiling ceremonies for this report. At the last moment she, too, was prevented by illness, from going to Biloxi, but she provided a substitute and sent to me the following account, written by Miss Mary C. Kimbrough, a daughter of one of Mrs. Davis' warm personal friends.

"On the morning of Feb. 28, at 11:30 o'clock, the Church of the Redeemer, at Biloxi, Miss., was the scene of a beautiful and touching memorial service.

The occasion was the unveiling of a window presented by the United Daughters of the Confederacy to the memory of Mrs. Varina Jefferson Davis.

Within the sacred walls, the hush of a solemn hour was felt. By the dim, variant light of stained glass windows, I saw a distinguished and reverent throng assembled; the bent forms of grizzled heads of gray-clad Confederate heroes, the manly figures of gallant Sons of Veterans, and the tender faces of Daughters of the Confederacy and Memorial women, who had come from all parts of the country, all bearing in their hearts undying devotion to the great name which was to be honored.

The little red brick church by the sea, where Jefferson Davis and his family used to worship, was hung with the banners of the U. D. C., and perfumed with the fragrance of rich floral offerings.

The ceremonial began with the prayers and hymns of the Episcopal service in which three clergymen and a bishop of the diocese officiated; after which, Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, President-General of the U. D. C., presented to the church the window, which was the gift of the Daughters of the Confederacy. She spoke of the loyal, loving wife, the tender, faithful mother, and the perfect type of womanhood which Mrs. Davis represented—and our hearts were bowed anew with the sense of our great loss. At the conclusion of Mrs. Stone's address, Rev. C. B. Crawford, rector of the Biloxi church, presented a window given by Mrs. Addison Hayes, the only living child of Jefferson and Varina Davis, in memory of her young brothers and her infant son. Mrs.

Hayes, in deep mourning, unveiled the window dedicated to her mother, and at the same moment, her son, William Hayes, withdrew the veil from the memorial to his brother and uncles. Bishop Bratton, with gracious words of exquisite sentiment, accepted both windows in the name of the diocese, Mississippi, and the church, Biloxi. After the benediction, the saddened throng passed quietly out, leaving only those who were nearest and dearest with the bereaved ones in the memory-haunted old church.

Across the lawn, the rectory doors stood open to receive the guests from a distance, and an informal luncheon was served to them there, where Mrs. Hayes and her son soon joined them.

The program now fulfilled, the crowd gradually dispersed in various directions. Mrs. Hayes, with several Daughters of the Confederacy, visited Beauvoir during the afternoon, and that night returned to New Orleans, where she was the guest of friends.

The idea of this beautiful tribute to the memory of Our Mother of the Confederacy was conceived by Miss Decca Lamar West, of Waco, Texas, and presented by her to the United Daughters of the Confederacy. That loyal organization adopted Miss West's suggestion and proceeded at once to carry it into execution.

On account of illness, Miss West was unable to journey to Mississippi to see the fulfillment of the plan. Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, President of the Mississippi Division, U. D. C., also was detained at home because of illness in her family. The following gracefully worded telegram was sent by her to Mrs. Hayes:

"The Mississippi Division, U. D. C., welcomes you to the home of your illustrious father, our great chieftain, Jefferson Davis, and your queenly mother."

While in Biloxi, Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Stone were guests at the rectory, where Mrs. Rosa V. Weatherby presided as hostess. Miss West, chairman of the Memorial Committee, and Mrs. Stevens, President Mississippi Division, U. D. C., had been included in the house party at the rectory. Mesdames Vaught and Denegre were also luncheon hostesses to visiting Daughters at the latter's summer home.

(By request.)

MARY CRAIG KIMBROUGH.

Some defects were noted in the window, but these have now been corrected, and the President-General, in accordance with the contract, which stated the window must be approved by the rector, has now ordered the bill of six hundred dollars, paid. Mr. Crawford, the rector of the Church of the Redeemer, wrote recently: "The window is now beautiful. I do not see how anything could be more perfect. I wish that every Daughter of the Confederacy could come to Biloxi."

Shall we not endeavor to go? In his address Bishop Bratton spoke of this little memorial church as our "Westminster of the South." It is true the ashes of our sacred dead lie in beautiful "Hollywood," in fair Richmond, where the greatest scenes in their eventful lives were enacted. Is it not fitting that the more personal memorials to them should be in the shadow of the old home, "Beauvoir," where still abides that spirit of "the tender grace of a day that is dead," where the sighing pines still mourn them, the softly lapping waves and the Southern mocking birds still sing their requiems—the hearts of their people cherish them!

And so we may write, "It is finished." We have brought our last tribute of love, reverence and tears—

To her, who through the weary years,
Bore with courage all earth's trials—
When she heard the fatal knell
Of her beloved one,
Bravely whispered: "It is well."
When came greater grief,
Saw the seal of death upon
Her dearest treasure,
Softly sighed: "Thy will be done."
At the end; (the long, tempestuous life
So full of sorrow, care and strife)
She laid her down to rest:
As mists before the sunlight flee,
The veil was rent, she saw beyond the clouds,
And gently breathed: "Dear Lord, I trust in Thee."

Respectfully submitted,
DECCA LAMAR WEST, Chairman,
MRS. J. R. WEATHERBY,
MRS. L. R. SCHUYLER,

REPORT OF THE ARLINGTON CONFEDERATE MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

Washington, D. C., November 10, 1908.

To Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, President-General:

Madame President:—In submitting the annual report of the Executive Committee of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association it may be proper to briefly sketch the history of our organization.

All the Confederate organizations of the District of Columbia were duly called on by Mrs. Magnus Thompson, Division President

U. D. C., to meet on November 6th, 1906, at the Confederate Veterans' hall in Washington. As a result of that meeting a joint association was formed, and named the Arlington Confederate Monument Association, to carry on the work which had already been initiated by some of the District chapters, U. D. C., of building a monument to the Confederate dead in Arlington cemetery. Considerable sums of money had already been raised by these District chapters, and the enterprise was sanctioned and subscribed to by the General Convention of the U. D. C. at Gulfport. The idea of a Confederate memorial at Arlington, the home of Lee, appealed strongly to the hearts of patriotic Daughters throughout our entire country. The great work of a monument to the memory of Jefferson Davis had been completed; monuments to our dead had been erected in many towns and in every city of the South, as well as in some of our Northern cities; but here in Washington, the Capital of our country, where monuments to Union soldiers abound on every hand, there was not, and is not a single shaft or sculptured memorial of any kind to honor the graves of our Confederate dead.

Seeing the magnitude of the noble task that had been undertaken by our District organization, Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson, then President-General of the U. D. C., visited Washington, and on June 19, 1907, suggested that we ask the U. D. C. to take the building of this monument in charge. We made the request. The U. D. C. in convention at Norfolk in 1907 took over the work, and in accordance with the plans formulated by your committee and under your superintendence, Madame President-General, the present Executive Committee was formed November 21, 1907.

The name, The Arlington Confederate Monument Association, was retained. The President-General of the U. D. C. is ex officio President of the Association. The Board of Directors representing the several States has been appointed by you, and the present Executive Committee, which elects its own officers, organized and entered at once upon the arduous, though grateful, task assigned to it.

The Committee is composed of representatives from all the District chapters of the U. D. C., from the two District chapters of the Sons of Veterans, and from Camp 171, U. C. V., with seven distinguished gentlemen elected by your Committee, as an Advisory Board, the members of which Board have now no vote in its proceedings.

It is gratifying to be able to report that all the members of the Committee are cooperating harmoniously, and that Mrs. Florence F. Butler, the Vice-President, the Treasurer, Mr. Wallace Streat-er, the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Arthur E. Johnson, and the Recording Secretary, Mrs. Drury Conway Ludlow, are all faithfully and efficiently discharging their several duties.

The Treasurer, who is under a $5,000 bond, not only acknowledges to all senders all receipts of moneys, but sends promptly notices of contributions to the Confederate Veteran, which kindly publishes them without charge.

Last December Senator Taylor, of Tennessee, kindly delivered for the benefit of our fund one of his celebrated lectures, and some $600 was netted by this entertainment. A pleasing and unique incident was that just before Senator Taylor spoke, the undersigned had the pleasure of introducing to the audience General E. Burd Grubb, the gallant commander, during the Civil War, of the 23rd New Jersey Regiment in the Union Army. It was the Survivors' Association of this regiment, with General Grubb at their head, that on the 3rd of May, 1907, erected at Salem Church, Va., a monument dedicated to their brave comrades who fell on that field, placing on the same monument a tablet dedicated, as the inscription ran, "to the memory of the brave Alabama boys who were our opponents on this field, and whose memory we honor." When introduced to the audience at the Taylor lecture General Grubb closed his eloquent and patriotic remarks with a contribution of one hundred dollars from the survivors of the 23rd New Jersey to our monument at Arlington.

Afterwards from his home in New Jersey, acknowledging the resolution of thanks from our Committee for the contribution, this gallant Union General said that if we desired it he would appeal in our behalf to the Loyal Legion of the United States for further contributions to our fund. Advising first with the Committee, the undersigned replied that while we could accept contributions from Union soldiers that came unsolicited, like that from the 23rd New Jersey, we could not consent that such contributions should be solicited in our name.

During the current year we sent out an appeal to all Confederate camps, from numbers of which contributions have been received, as will be shown in the report of our Treasurer. Our Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Arthur E. Johnson, reports that during the year she has sent out 1,400 appeals and 110 letters and posts or communications.

We have now on hand, in the American Security & Trust Company, of Washington, D. C., a fund of——— the chief sources of which will be explained in the report of the Treasurer, and we are now devising means for the raising of further sums during the coming winter.

The amount on hand is not so large as we had hoped, but, obtained, as much of it has been, during this current year of widespread financial distress, we trust the Association will feel encouraged to redouble its efforts to raise a fund that will erect a memorial that will be a source of just pride to the noble organization over which you preside.

There is but one suggestion your Committee has to make, and this came originally from you, Madame President. It is that the members of its Advisory Board be given the right to vote in the proceedings of the Committee. They are all gentlemen of ability and influence, and the Committee believes it would profit by securing their more active participation in its councils.

In conclusion, I trust it will not be considered out of place for me in this official report to express the deep regret I feel in not being able personally to read it to the convention and to speak again to your body on this subject. I had secured my sleeper and made all other arrangements to go, but am at present so ill that I cannot hope to come to the convention.

Respectfully submitted,
HILARY A. HERBERT, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE TREASURER OF THE ARLINGTON MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

Washington, D. C., December 1, 1908.

Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, President-General, U. D. C.:

Madame:—As the Treasurer of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association, I have the honor to submit the following report of the receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year ending November 30, 1908:

Receipts.

United Daughters of the Confederacy	$ 300.00
Alabama	69.00
Arkansas	74.20
California	130.00
District of Columbia	2011.50
Florida	130.82
Georgia	107.00
Illinois	5.00
Indian Territory	20.00
Louisiana	40.25
Maryland	5.00
Mexico	20.00
Minnesota	5.00
Mississippi	152.09
Missouri	30.00

Montana	74.45
Nebraska	15.50
New Mexico	20.00
New York	100.00
North Carolina	361.00
Oklahoma	21.72
Pennsylvania	100.00
South Carolina	201.35
Tennessee	210.00
Texas	100.00
Virginia	472.87
Washington	10.00

$4786.75

From the Children of the Confederacy	$ 83.00
From the United Confederate Veterans	433.65
From the United Sons of Confederate Veterans .	75.00
From miscellaneous sources, personal subscrip- tions, etc	2850.77

Total receipts$8229.17

Expenditures.

American Surety Co. for Treasurer's bond	$ 15.00
Printing and postage	105.50—$ 120.50

Leaving a balance on hand of$8108.67

The balance noted is on deposit with the American Security and Trust Company, of Washington, District of Columbia.

It is proper to say that of the miscellaneous receipts, the sum of $1,457.25 was received from Dr. Randolph H. McKim, Treasurer of the late Arlington Confederate Monument Association, which immediately preceded the present Association, and which ceased to exist when the present Association was formed in accordance with the action taken by the Norfolk Convention. The Treasurer did not receive any moneys until January 18, 1908, when he receipted to Dr. McKim for the amount above stated. Contributions made to the monument fund prior to that date were acknowledged by the Treasurer of the old organization, and were included in the $1,457.25 turned over to the present Treasurer, who has no record of the contributors, or of the several amounts given by them to the old organization. A Treasurer's receipt has been sent for each remittance received since January 18, 1908, except for $25, which was sent direct to the bank by individuals or organizations, and the Treasurer was unable to identify the contributors.

It is also proper to state that the relatively large sum turned over by the Daughters of the District of Columbia represents the accumulations of several years, during which there has been a laudable effort to get enough money to form the nucleus of a fund sufficient to erect a suitable monument in the Confederate section of the Arlington National cemetery.

It is likewise proper to add that the Director for Illinois sent to the convention at Atlanta a money order for $15, which was not collectable by the Treasurer because of the manner in which endorsed. It was forwarded for proper endorsement, but not having been returned prior to the date of this report is not included in the receipts for the year. Also the Alabama Division is not credited with the full amount reported by the Director at the Atlanta Convention, because of technical defects in certain of the checks turned over to the Treasurer after the convention, which necessitated the return of the checks to the depository, and as the defects could not be cured in time for this report, the amount represented by them has been deducted from the sum total previously accredited to that division.

An itemized statement of the receipts and expenditures is published monthly in the "Confederate Veteran," and hence a detailed account, other than as given above, has not been attempted.

Respectfully submitted,

WALLACE STREATER, Treasurer.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ESTABLISHMENT OF DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY.

To the Fifteenth Annual Convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy, in Convention Assembled:

Supplementing the report to the Gulfport Convention, your Committee on Establishment of Department of Archives and History begs to state:

At that time the committees from the several States, except Georgia, had reported. Since then, the Georgia Committee has reported that the Legislature from that State failed to establish a Department of Archives and History. It also reports that an appropriation was made by the Georgia Legislature to have compiled the records of the Revolutionary War and the War Between the States. This work is being done by ex-Governor Candler.

While your Committee has failed in its efforts to have established Departments of Archives and History in the different States, it feels that the efforts of the United Daughters of the Confederacy have awakened a new interest in the preservation of historical records of the Southern States.

Believing that your Committee has now fully discharged the duties required of it, it asks that this report be filed as a supplement of the report of the Gulfport Convention, and that this Committee be now discharged.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

MRS. W. A. COLLIER, Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SCHOLARSHIP GIVEN BY TEACHERS' COLLEGE.

Madame President and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

As chairman of the special committee in charge of the scholarship given by Teachers' College, Columbia University, to the United Daughters of the Confederacy for a descendant of a Confederate Veteran, I wish to report that South Carolina was successful in drawing this scholarship for the academic year 1908-1909, and awarded it to Miss Armida Moses, who is now carrying on post-graduate work at Teachers' College.

It is with great pleasure that I bring to you a renewal of this scholarship for the years 1909-1910.

Your committee would recommend that the scholarship be given to the Confederate States in the order of their secession, and to the other States in the order of their admission as States to the Union.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. LIVINGSTON ROWE SCHUYLER,

Chairman,

MISS MILDRED M. RUTHERFORD,

MRS. JOSEPH B. DIBRELL.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON AWARDING PRIZE AT CO-LUMBIA UNIVERSITY.

The South Carolina Division appreciated the value of this scholarship, and tried to place it to the best advantage.

The scholarship was advertised in the division's official organ, The Keystone, in April, 1907, and in all the county papers in the State in May.

The requirements were, that all applicants should be at least twenty (20) years old, the lineal descendant of a Confederate soldier; should be endorsed by their local U. D. C. chapter president, and be able to enter Teachers' College.

There were twelve applicants for the scholarship who were duly qualified, eight women and four men. The contest was closed June 15th,

From these twelve applicants five (one man and four women) were selected by the committee as the five best, and all their papers were submitted to Mr. First, Secretary of Teachers' College, and his advice asked as to the best of these candidates. On July 15th Mr. First notified us of his choice of Miss Gertrude Foster as best in qualifications for the scholarship. On August 14th she notified us of her pleasure and pride in receiving the scholarship. On August 27th she notified us that complications had arisen which would prevent her from going to New York this winter.

Immediately the committee met to fill the vacancy, offering the scholarship to the second on the list, H. H. McCarley, who could not accept because of a school position accepted in the meantime. We then offered it to the third on the list, Miss Armida Moses, who gratefully accepted, and reached New York on October 7th, and went at once to work.

Her course at Teachers' College is:

1. Graduate history, under the faculty of philosophy.
2. The theory of teaching history.
3. Treating the text book presentation of special questions connected with history.

At Columbia University she is allowed to take also courses on the American Revolution, and with a course on intellectual history of Western Europe from the Roman Empire to Protestant Revolt. She hopes to secure her degree this year.

She is conscientious, in earnest, and a student, and has chosen history as her specialty, which should meet with U. D. C. approval, and South Carolina hopes that she will show our appreciation of your great gift to us by reflecting credit on the U. D. C. in all her scholastic work.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY B. POPPENHEIM,
Chairman Scholastic Committee for South Carolina.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON TEACHERS' COLLEGE PRIZE.

Madame President-General and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

The prize of one hundred dollars offered by the United Daughters of the Confederacy for the best essay written by a student in Teachers' College, Columbia University, on "The South's Part in the War Between the States," was awarded to Miss Christine Boyson, of Asses, Minnesota, the subject being "Robert E. Lee—A Present Estimate." As last year was the centenary of General Lee, your committee thought it well to commemorate the event by confining the students' attention solely to his life and work.

Your chairman regrets that her return to New York from abroad was at too late a date to enable her to arrange for the publication of the essay in the October number of the "Veteran," but is glad to announce that it will appear in the issue for December, and she takes this opportunity of expressing the wish that all loyal, loving Daughters will read the estimate of our greatest chieftain given in this essay by one from the West. You will see how the spirit of union is growing when you read such words as these: "This change in attitude has come about through a new understanding of the Southern cause and of Lee himself—men speak now not so much of the War of the Rebellion, as of the War of the States." Further on she says of Lee: "But to him duty was the sublimest word in the language, and so he threw himself and all he had, his home, his fortune, his chances of personal advancement, into a desperate cause." I must not quote more, though I should like to do so.

Remembering what loyal support my recommendation met with last year, though the Finance Committee was able to appropriate but one hundred dollars, owing to the very depleted condition of the treasury, I shall again recommend that the Association set aside the sum of five hundred dollars annually for five years, until an endowment of twenty-five hundred dollars be raised, and that an annual sum of one hundred dollars be appropriated for the prize until the endowment be completed. I earnestly appeal to you to give this important work heartfelt support. We have generations in which to build monuments, but there is no time to be lost if we would have written and taught by the scholars and educators of our day a correct and unbiased account of the causes and events of the war between the States; and we want to have our prize on a foundation so firm that no accident of death or removal may interfere with its continuance.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. LIVINGSTON ROWE SCHUYLER,

Chairman,

MRS. LIZZIE GEORGE HENDERSON,

MISS SALLIE DOSWELL.

REPORT OF CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL LITERARY SOCIETY.

To the President-General and the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Confederate Memorial Literary Society, in charge of the Confederate Museum of Richmond, Va., sends you greeting, with best wishes for a successful convention.

As a report, this Society presents to you one hundred and fifty (150) copies of its first issue of an annual, known as "Year Book, 1907", and containing the full reports of all the officials of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society for the said year.

The Society takes great pride in announcing the publication of a 621-page volume, entitled "A Calendar of Confederate Papers." This is a list of virtually the whole five thousand (5,000) papers collected by the Society. Further information on the subject can be obtained from Miss Maury, House Regent, Confederate Museum, Richmond, Va.

Another announcement of the greatest interest is that, during the past year, the widely-known Southern Historical Society, of Richmond, Va., has given its invaluable collection of ten thousand (10,000) papers to the Confederate Memorial Literary Society. These papers will be published as soon as the Society has the funds to do so.

During the convention of the Southern Confederated Memorial Association of New Orleans, held in Richmond, Va., June, 1907, the Confederate Museum, through its two delegates, Mrs. Alfred Gray and Mrs. J. Enders Robinson, offered a resolution to restore the name of Jefferson Davis to the Cabin John Bridge. This resolution was unanimously adopted. Mrs. W. J. Behan, the President, opened a correspondence at once with the highest Confederate officials on the subject, and through her Congressional Representative, Mr. Meyer, with the highest Federal authorities. Since June, 1907, this work has progressed with the utmost discretion. Mrs. Behan will give any information on the subject you desire. Mrs. Alfred Gray and Mrs. J. Enders Robinson were appointed by Mrs. Behan to represent Virginia in the work.

Now for the almost unknown work of a Georgia woman:

A few years ago Miss Katherine C. Stiles, of Georgia, and living in Virginia, originated the idea of collecting a little Confederate library in Oxford University, England. Every year, on her trip to Great Britain she takes a small number of books on our cause. She selects them most carefully, aided by the advice of well informed men. She acquires these volumes by gift, or purchase, and always receives a hearty welcome from the Oxford professors. And there students of all countries find the most reliable authorities from whom to learn our people.

All Daughters should bow in reverence to this great Georgia woman, who has taught us and led us to an idealistic plane of educational endeavor. As Vice-Regent of the Georgia Room in our Museum she has done wonders. With Miss Stiles as Vice-Regent and Mrs. R. E. Park as Regent for Georgia, we know that all is well for our museum work.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. J. ENDERS ROBINSON.

Corresponding Secretary and Delegate, Confederate Memorial Literary Society.

REPORT OF THE JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

Madame President-General and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

When one has erected a house the last task is to have it swept and garnished and the windows opened to the air and sunshine. Therefore I would now place before you the last quiet, homely items concerning the Jefferson Davis Monument, once a house of dreams, but now a completed reality, upon which may the sunshine of your approval ever fall.

The lamps now glow upon bronze standards of chaste design; the new State coats of arms are in position, and an iron railing will soon surround a portion of the monument, and our term of service is now ended.

Upon June 3rd, 1908, during the Davis centennial ceremonies, the Jefferson Davis Monument was transferred to the city of Richmond, Virginia. But I was not there, but suffering in a hospital resulting from a fall the preceding day.

Therefore, as my representative, the Second Vice-President, Mrs. N. V. Randolph, received the monument from the Building Committee, and Mrs. C. B. Stone, our President-General, accepted the monument and bestowed it upon the city of Richmond through the hands of Mayor Carlton McCarthy.

It is difficult to express in any adequate terms our loss in the death of Mrs. Edwin Gardiner Weed, the First Vice-President of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association. As a friend, I loved her; as a Director, I always found her a loyal adviser; and for proof of the work she did upon the Inscription Committee as chairman, aided by Mesdames Smythe, Rounsaville and Cooley, I can only point to the monument in tearful pride, asking you and the world, to read, to ponder, and to remember. I would here place the resolutions offered in the session of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, wishing them on record as a slight token of our love, gratitude and appreciation of Mrs. Weed.

RESOLUTIONS.

In the death of Mrs. Edwin G. Weed, the Jefferson Davis Monument Association and the Daughters of the Confederacy, have met with an irreparable loss.

Mrs. Weed was a remarkable woman, and we will not see her like again. As President of the United Daughters of the Confederacy her influence was felt for good through every branch of that society. As Vice-President of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association and chairman of its Inscription Committee, she held a place that perhaps none other could have filled as well; certainly none better. Beloved by all, she inspired by her enthusiasm, conciliated by her personal charm. The beauty of her Christian character, trained as it were by a long life as the wife of so prominent and beloved a man as Bishop Weed, drew to her the affectionate reliance and confidence of all associated with her. Her good judgment, patience, dignity, and unfaltering courage, gave value to her opinions, and strengthened her influence in a remarkable manner. In the face of ill health and suffering that would have daunted almost any other woman, Mrs. Weed was always ready to answer any call on mind, or body. Always cheerful, always brave, always sympathetic, forbearing and just, never losing faith in those around her, or hope for the work on which her heart was so earnestly fixed. To the last her amazing endurance and courage supported her. If she could have prevented, her troubles and suffering would have cast no shadow on those around her; but, unselfish and generous to the end, she tried to lighten for others the burden of sorrow.

Therefore, be it Resolved, That we hereby express our love, admiration, and respect for the memory of Mrs. Edwin G. Weed; our heartfelt regret at her death; and our deepest sympathy with her bereaved family.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, and a copy sent to her family.

FLORENCE MURPHY COOLEY,
MRS. E. D. TAYLOR,
MRS. W. J. BEHAN,
MRS. AUGUSTINE T. SMYTHE.

Chairman.

In closing permit me to say that the Jefferson Davis Monument Association of the United Daughters of the Confederacy must ever remain unique in its formation: The Directors, one chosen from each State in response to the request for the best equipped woman to help erect a grand memorial to honor Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America. Nor is it likely, hardly possible, that any other monument association can ever have three Presidents of the United Daughters of the Confederacy as Directors, each during her term of office, then until the completion of the memorial. So I thank you for the exceeding honor you have given me in presiding over and directing these chosen women for nine years.

When you look upon the Jefferson Davis Monument, know it represents joyful service and loyal rendering of our best in heart and head in your behalf.

Respectfully submitted,
 NELLIE HOTCHKISS HOLMES,
 MRS. GEORGE SMITH HOLMES,
 President Jefferson Davis Monument Association, U. D. C.

DIVISION REPORTS

ALABAMA DIVISION.

Madam President, and Daughters in Convention assembled:

Alabama, the home of Yancey, Pettus and Morgan, sends greeting to the great State of Georgia, the home of Stephens, Gordon and Hill.

The distinguished honor of giving in person the report from Alabama is denied me. Again affliction and sorrow keep me with loved ones. It is a matter of deepest regret that I cannot be with you in person, as I am in heart.

Alabama is teeming with results of a year's work most beautifully, most generously rewarded.

Our Director of the Children of the Confederacy tells me never before has so much interest been manifested. A number of auxiliaries have been organized recently, and so far as I can learn from the minutes of the different divisions, Alabama stands second to Texas in her children's work.

I have been much interested with Mrs. Pickens in her faithful work, realizing that the children of the Confederacy are no small part of our great organization, and on their instruction depends the perpetuating of the "sublimest history ever written by heroism." Our President General has approved the beautiful little pin adopted by the Alabama children, and we hope this Convention will adopt it for all the Children of the Confederacy.

Some two years ago Mrs. Pickens conceived the idea for the children of Alabama to establish a "Lee Memorial," in the form of a scholarship for educating Confederate descendants. Right nobly has she and her band of little workers set about raising this fund of twelve-hundred and fifty ($1250.00) dollars, and within the year, I believe this Memorial will be established. The Alabama Auxiliaries have contributed largely to the Veterans, Soldiers Home, Monuments and Cemeteries.

Just here permit me to call your attention, and commend to you the booklet arranged by Mrs. C. H. Tardy, one of Alabama's most enthusiastic Daughters, for the study of the Children of the Confederacy.

We continue the work of educating a worthy son of a deceased Confederate veteran.

The Jefferson Falkner Soldier's Home is provided for in a general way, but it is woman's work to gather up the ends and minister to these old men fast passing to the Great Beyond.

With the year, six new chapters have been added to our Division, all of which are working with praiseworthy enthusiasm.

Our last Convention assumed the raising of fund for a Monument at Gettysburg. The Chairman of this Committee writes encouragingly.

We will, during this year, place a Memorial window in old Blanford Church, in whose graveyard sleep 25,000 of our dead.

The Alabama Directory of the Arlington Monument Association is working untiringly.

We had the honor of entertaining the United Confederate Veterans at their annual reunion.

On the morning of June the ninth, long before the routine of the busy life of Birmingham's own citizens was in evidence, thousands of our Veterans were greeting each other. The hands, the hearts, the homes of Birmingham were opened wide to the survivors of the bravest army the world has ever known. Generous hearts and liberal purses made it possible to anticipate every desire, and this gathering of the men of the "Old South," in Birmingham, the great center of the New South, left with us a sweet memory never to be effaced.

A distinctive pleasure was accorded me at this Reunion. As President of the Alabama Division, I welcomed these heroes of '65 to our progressive city.

As I looked down the long lines of gray before me, I realized the patience, the courage, the endurance, the devotion to principles, the heroism and the self sacrifice that filled the lives of these grand old men, also the duty and privilege it must ever be to the Daughters of the Confederacy to minister to the wants of the living and honor the memory of the dead.

Death has visited our division and we mourn the loss of our ex-President, Mrs. Malona Park Woods, of Troy, and on Sunday night last, Miss Sallie C. Jones, of Camden, the organizer and Honorable Life President of the Alabama Division passed from a life which has been replete with gentleness and loving kindness. The influence of these two noble women will live as an inspiration in our work.

Alabama has met every obligation and stands ready to assume and execute any worn adopted by this Convention.

MARY BILLINGSLEY BROWN,

President Alabama Division U. D. C.

Read by MRS. C. M. TARDY, Birmingham, Ala., chairman of delegation.

ARKANSAS DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:-

Again it is my pleasure to bring loving greeting from the Arkansas Division. On October 28th, our State convention met in Helena, one of the battlefields of Arkansas,—our hostess being the the Seven Generals Chapter, named in honor of the seven men from Helena who rose to the rank of Brigadier-General, in the service of the Confederacy. We were entertained with true Southern hospitality, and our Convention was one of the most successful in the history of the division, the reports of the chapters showing that the Daughters of Arkansas are not lacking in interest and have not been idle during the past year. All over the State appropriate exercises marked the centennial birthday of President Davis, and the division offered a prize of $25.00 to the student of the University of Arkansas for the best essay on the life and character of President Jefferson Davis. Quite a number of pictures of President Davis and General Lee have been placed in the Public Schools, one chapter alone, the J. M. Keller of Little Rock, having given five pictures of President Davis. A number of Crosses were ordered for the 3rd. of June, but only one chapter reported receiving them on time. Almost every successful chapter has some special object in view. In Little Rock one chapter takes special interest in the comfort of the Veterans at the Soldiers' Home, while the other takes care of the cemetery. Four chapters are collecting funds for local monuments. The marking of Confederate graves is an earnest work of three chapters.

On the 8th of last August in Bentonville, the James H. Berry Chapter unveiled a beautiful monument erected to the memory of the Confederate Soldiers of Benton Co.

Prairie Grove Chapter is bending every effort toward the purchase of the Prairie Grove Battlefield, to be kept as a Confederate Memorial Park. This is a great task for this little band of faithful women, for Prairie Grove is a small town and the resources of the chapter are very limited.

All chapters contribute to the Christmas Tree at the Confederate Home, which is an occasion of great pleasure to the dear old veterans. This year the Arkansas Division will maintain a scholarship in the State University to be given to a boy, the descendant of a Confederate veteran.

The placing of a memorial window in the Arkansas Room of the Richmond Museum will be a work of love in which we are a deeply interested. This window is to be a memorial to David Owen Dodd, the boy hero of Arkansas, who on the 8th. of December 1864, was hanged as a spy in the city of Little Rock by order of General Steele. There on the grounds of old St. Johns College, where but a few short months before he had been a happy student, this brave boy of seventeen years, gave up his life rather than betray a friend. What a lesson to our boys of this day and generation, when a few paltry dollars is so often the price of a man's honor.

The work for our State Shiloh Monument has been so successful the past year that ere another twelve months have passed we hope to have it completed.

Three new chapters have been added to roll, the Margaret Davis Hays of De Witt, Sterling Price of Rogers, and Geo. K. Cracraft of Endora.

Our representative on the Arlington Committee will tell you what the Arkansas Division has done for the Arlington Monument fund. All are becoming more interested in making our monthly meetings a study of Southern Literature and Southern History, and our old-time Southern melodies are being adopted as the music of our chapter meeting. Our Division is growing and another year we hope to report more and better work for 1909.

MRS. O. HALLIBURTON,
President, Arkansas Division U. D. C.

CALIFORNIA DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:-

Bringing greetings from California, I am glad to say, that our interest is undiminished, and our numbers continue on the increase. Almost every chapter in the division has added to its numbers during the year.

The committees have worked with clock like precision, under the able guidance of their chairmen.

The Shiloh Monument Committee was most active, and the Arlington Monument Committee worked faithfully and well. The contributions to these monuments from our large influential chapters were as high as fifty and hundred dollars, while the smaller ones gave according to their resources.

The Committee for the Relief of Confederate Veterans, and aged Southern women, has taken its place among our leading activities, and stands ready, at all times, to supplement the charity work of the various chapters. It gives continuous help to aged veterans and Southern women, and assisted in sending one veteran to a Confederate Home in Virginia. This protegee writes back glowing accounts of the beautiful grounds, comfortable cottages, and excellent fare in his new home; but says "the thunder storms make an earthquake look like thirty cents."

In addition to her regular duties, the Recorder of the Cross, has spent much time and work in collecting material to perfect the record of Crosses, bestowed prior to the creation of the office of Division Recorder. This gives us a reference bureau at home. These records show that 303 crosses have been bestowed upon veterans by the division. Thirty of these were given during the past year.

The traveling library contains many books of educational value, covering a wide range of subjects, that are eagerly sought by the chapters in turn.

The Committee on Organization of new chapters is working in several quarters and we hope to have something substantial to chronicle by next May. We are glad to announce that the Oakland Chapter was formed last April and that a chapter in Sacramento is still in the embryonic stage, just ready to come into the fold.

The chapters have all observed the Commemorative Days. They deem it an honor, to add their voices to the mead of praise so truly merited and so faithfully won.

The centennial of Jefferson Davis was observed with special brilliancy by all; some of the chapters having invited the Veterans and their families to participate in the celebration.

One departure has been made by the division. That of having the President take her office at the close of the convention at which she was elected, instead of waiting six months as formerly. This amendment was presented by my predecessor, who in consequence served but six months.

The various chapters have their own methods of raising funds, which enables them "to help and cheer the poor and honor the gallant dead." Among these I might mention Charity Balls, Southern Evenings, Southern Dinners, Cake Sales, Chrysanthemum Fiesta, Dances, Picnics, Receptions, Vaudeville Tea, Ante Bellum Evening in Costume, Card, Valentine and Theatre Parties. The sociability which attends these entertainments serves to strengthen the sisterly bond which unites all the Daughters in heart and feeling.

The school for white children in Georgia, the Sabine Pass Monument, and the Memorial Hall at Amherst have all been assisted, as well as many other issues undertaken by Southern women in the South, the splendid recital of which in the Annual U. D. C. Report makes interesting reading matter for every Daughter of the Confederacy, and is a stimulus to us all to imitate as well as to originate.

Caring for aged veterans and their families in their homes, constant help to aged Southern women, Thanksgiving and Christmas cheer are among the charities dispensed by some of the chapters. Veterans have been sent to their Southern homes or to Confederate Homes. One chapter placed eleven monuments over the graves of unknown Confederate dead. Some have furnished nurses to the sick, others visit the sick and Southerners in their midst. One chapter has a lot in the cemetery for deceased veterans, which is well kept and in which they expect to place a monument. Many of the chapters have identified themselves with local civic movements, observed Memorial Day, planted trees on Arbor Day, contributed financially to Holy Day celebrations. One chapter took part in laying the Carnegie Library cornerstone, into which they placed a small Confederate Flag. Another gave liberally and worked for the G. A. R. Rally Encampment, which greatly pleased the G. A. R. veterans and which removed all prejudice forever from that district. This seemed to me a wise, far-seeing conciliatory measure, so appropriate in this Western country where the U. D. C. are not yet thoroughly understood, and where in some places the Stars and Bars still suggest dissension and strife.

After the business routine, the monthly meetings are taken up with social hours, reading from Southern history and other literary topics, roll call with historical events, Southern songs and reminiscences, while others indulge in fancy work. One chapter is making the Southern and American flags for their own use in decoration.

The last convention was held in the beautiful city of Los Angeles, where true Southern hospitality was showered from every quarter. Automobile drives to the well stocked ostrich farm, to Venice, the picturesque city on the Pacific, and receptions at the elegant homes of the Daughters, are among the pleasant recollection of that week where profit and pleasure ruled.

The next meeting will be in the new and yet the old city of San Francisco. San Francisco which though a desert waste less than three years ago, stands now a thriving modern city, with her scattered population returning home, her hundred of buildings outlined against the skies and her arms outstretched in welcome just as of old.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. WALTER BAYLOR HILL,
President California Division.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA DIVISION.

Madam President General and Members of the 15th Annual Convention.

The District of Columbia Division sends most cordial greetings. It gives the acting President much pleasure to report a rapid growth, marked progress and prosperous condition in this Division. Each appeal to it has received a ready response, and many contributions have been made.

In April, during the D. A. R. congress, a five days luncheon was served in the historic old Octagon House, which was occupied by President Madison after the destruction of the White House. The luncheon was given for the benefit of the Confederate Home Fund, and the amount realized was most satisfactory. The chapters all worked together in harmony and with a hearty good will, and entertained many prominent Daughters of the Confederacy, who were attending the Congress, as well as the President General of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and other officers.

The most important event during the year was the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of our only President, Jefferson Davis. It was given in one of our largest churches, which was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants for the occasion. After a fine musical program, a stirring and characteristic address was made by the Honorable John Sharp Williams, followed by one by Colonel Fred Beall, of Mississippi.

A unique and somewhat pathetic figure of the evening was the presence of President Davis' faithful old body-servant, James Jones, who was seated by a Confederate Veteran in an arm chair near the flower bedecked portrait of his old master, and where he could be seen by the entire audience.

General Lee's birthday was celebrated as usual with devotion and loyalty to his memory. Representative Heflin, of Alabama, being the orator. Several appropriate vocal selections were given, and then followed the warding of the Crosses of Honor.

Memorial Day services at Arlington were more impressive and the flowers more beautiful and abundant than ever before. The 13th Cavalry band and a quartette of selected voices rendered the music. Orations were delivered by the Hon. Robert B. Glenn, Governor of North Carolina, and Representative Thetus W. Simms, of Tennessee.

The Reports from the Chapters must be condensed and briefly given.

The Stonewall Jackson Chapter, with its two hundred enthusiastic members, continues to increase under the able guidance of its beloved President, Mrs. Magnus S. Thompson. The meetings are unusually well attended and after business the evening is devoted to the reading of interesting papers on our Confederate Leaders and heroes. All appeals have been responded to.

Entertainments have been given for the Confederate Home Fund, and one thousand dollars turned over to the Arlington Monument Committee. The chapter did most efficient work in selling tickets for Senator Taylor's lecture for the Arlington Monument fund, and owing to the congenial condition prevailing in the chapter, it is ever ready for any undertaking.

Robert E. Lee Chapter is second in size and steadily increasing its membership. Not only has the chapter contributed to the Arlington monument fund, but it was the first chapter to raise money for the Confederate Home fund, and it continues to do charity work. Several delightful entertainments were given, and the season closed with a charming reception, which was attended by the officers and many members of the other chapters.

The Southern Cross Chapter, Mrs. Lillian Pike Roome, President, has held its own during the year, having lost two members and gained two; it has done its full share in all work undertaken by the chapters jointly, and has fulfilled all the duties and requirements imposed by the Constitution and By-laws. It gave a series of beautiful lawn parties in the early summer which it was hoped would net a goodly sum for the Confederate Home, but they were not as successful financially as their merit deserved. It will continue its efforts to help the Arlington Monument and the Confederate Home, together with the other chapters whenever occasion demands, and will hope always to justify the claim made by its motto, "Loyal and True."

The Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, Miss Mary Desha, President, is faithfully carrying on a most commendable undertaking, the education of the daughter of the Confederate veteran, and is also doing good in raising money for the Arlington Monument and the Confederate Home Funds.

One year has passed since the Beauregard Chapter, Mrs. William Anthony Wayne, President, was organized. It has done much charity work, and the result is very gratifying. The chapter settled down to business as soon as it was organized, and some of the work accomplished was in rendering aid to the number of Confederate veterans and widows. The most satisfactory work was done in aiding the son of the Confederate Veteran who, on account of the expenses incidental to the illness and burial of two children, had been left with insufficient means to provide clothing for the winter weather. His arms being severely frosted, he was unable to work for weeks and the chapter kept the family of seven provided with food during that time. Through donations and sale of Taylor lecture tickets the chapter has contributed twenty-eight dollars to the Arlington Monument Fund. About four hundred dollars has been expended by the chapter during this first year of its existence.

The Children of the Confederacy, Mrs. Arthur E. Johnson, Director, have contributed eighty dollars to the Arlington Monument Fund, three dollars toward the payment of board for a student at Columbia College, New York, and have five dollars in bank for the Confederate Home Fund.

The entertainments given by the chapters, the celebrations of the birthdays of President Davis and General Lee, and the Memorial Day services at Arlington, have attracted the attention and excited the interest of a large number of people, who heretofore were not in sympathy with us, and during the past few years a marked and gratifying change has taken place in the sentiments of many of these people in respect to our work. This change has, in a great measure, been brought about by the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. ARCHIBALD YOUNG.

1st Vice President and Acting President, Dist. of Columbia Div.

REPORT OF FLORIDA DIVISION.

Madam President and Ladies of the Confederacy :

Florida brings greetings and good wishes to the Daughters of the Confederacy in general convention assembled.

Our division reports a prosperous year, though a very sad one. for death, that ever loves a shining mark, has, since the last general convention, stolen from us two of our noblest and best, Mrs. Sheldon Stringer, fifth President of our division, died soon after the meeting at Norfolk. She was closely followed by Mrs. Edwin Gardner Weed, one of our first to gather the Florida chapters into a recognized head, serving as the first President of the division, as ably as she afterwards served as President of the General Division. It is in memory of these two women, loved and mourned by our entire State, that the Florida delegates have shrouded their badges in crepe.

I have the honor to report four new chapters since the last convention, many new names added to existing chapters and an added and ever increasing enthusiasm shown throughout our entire division for the great and noble cause of our Daughters of the Confederacy.

Of children chapters we have many, all in full and perfect working order. Mrs. Raines, Custodian of the Crosses, has offered to the children chapters a banner to be given for the best work done during the year and the children's enthusiasm is great to win the coveted trophy.

The Martha Reid Chapter, of Jacksonville, conceived the idea of a Memorial Hall to be located in Jacksonville where will be gathered the memorials we prize so highly and where will be held the meetings and entertainments given by the society. Other chapters of Jacksonville together with the veterans and sons of veterans of that city have enthusiastically embraced the idea and are working together to bring the Hall into realization.

Several hundred dollars have been raised already by entertainments. The three chapters are enthusiastic over naming their home and are zealous in the work.

Mrs. H. H. McCreary, our efficient and loyal State Treasurer reports our finances in fairly good shape and hereafter will be in better, as there has been an addition added to our per-capita-tax which will bring up our finances considerably. At the Tallahassee Convention our Constitution and by-laws were revised and we feel it will work out for the good of the division.

With best wishes for a most successful convention and my greetings to each and every member I beg to remain,

Cordially yours,

LULA HAYES LAWRENCE.

Pres. Fla. Div.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT OF FLORIDA DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy,

The Recording Secretary of the Florida Division has been and is in bad health. It was on that account my privilege and honor to discharge some of her duties for the division, especially as acting chairman of Committee on Revision of Minutes to prepare for the press and have published our State minutes for the current year, which contained the accurate data for our beloved State President's report to this Convention. Owing to circumstances, which neither she nor I could control, it was impossible to place a copy of the minutes in her hands until four days before the death of her husband, hence the incompleteness of her report, through no fault of hers. Being perfectly familiar with the minutes, knowing beyond any question that she would approve my action, I beg the privilege of placing the work of the Florida Division now completely and more justly before you than it was possible for her to do, and I ask of you Madam President and of this Convention, that this supplementary report may be printed in the minutes with our State President's brief report that Florida may not be discouraged, nor our sorrow stricken President seem negligent in the eyes of any who do not know all the circumstances.

Florida has 30 chapters and more than 1,400 registered members. The report of our Arlington and Shiloh Directors through the proper committees have shown our interest in these great monuments. Report of historical work has been made to chairman of General History Committee.

Numbers of our chapters are either erecting monuments to our Confederate dead or raising money to erect such. Several of these enduring memorials have been already unveiled. Saint Augustine possesses the second monument ever erected to Confederate dead, a monument possessing an unique history if there was time to tell it. Our chapter at least is supporting a scholarship. Many have contributed during the past year to the Berry School at Rome, Ga. Almost without exception they report many graves of Confederate soldiers marked, other cemetery work done, needy veterans aided, and generous contributions given to our Soldiers' Home in Jacksonville. Scarcely a single chapter fails to report one or more contributions sent in response to appeals for Confederate work outside our State.

Pictures of our matchless patriots, Davis and Lee, have been placed in many of the schools. There is a movement on foot in many chapters to have schools named for Confederate leaders; certainly, in historic Saint Augustine where we are about to build a $50,000 school, a petition with many signatures is being sent in by Anna Dummett Chapter 1089 U. D. C. to name this the Davis-Lee School.

Chapters of C. of C. are being formed in the State division, four are already fully organized, one of which, General Loring Chapter, 47 members, is raising the money to place a suitable monument over the unmarked grave of the distinguished man whose name they perpetuate—this by their own efforts.

A gold medal is awarded annually by the Division for best historical essay submitted by students from our State colleges. Many chapters give similar medals in their local schools, and many also award prizes for best drawn Confederate Flags.

The chapters, each in her turn, send each 6th of June a memorial floral wreath for Florida shaft to Winchester, Va.

Despite the sorrows evidenced by the mourning on our badges and the deeper mourning of our hearts; bereft as we are by the Providence of God of the capable headship of our honored State President at this time, we still feel that Florida has not been wholly idle nor lacking in all her stewardship, though faulty in some of its details. We hope to add to our good deeds and remedy our faults, but we could not increase our love and loyalty for the Confederate hearts of Florida are as sturdy as their live oaks, as pure in sweet patriotism as her magnolias and orange blossoms, and as unchanging as her sweeping moss banners of silvery Confederate gray.

Respectfully submitted,

SISTER ESTHER CARLTON,

Historian of Florida Division.

GEORGIA DIVISION.

Madam President:

My report for Georgia is a string of pearls, each pearl a thought from one of Georgia's chairmen or officers. My thought is only the silken thread holding these jewels together; the whole is meant to give some idea of Georgia's varied lines of endeavor.

Mrs. R. L. NESBITT, Vice-President: "Georgia Daughters, following the example of their lamented Francis Bartow, seek to illustrate the imperishable principles for which he fought and died. May God's blessing rest upon them."

Mrs. WALTER D. LAMAR, Vice-President: "Intelligence and morality go hand in hand, twin graces each guarding the other. Education is essential supremacy. Had I the tongue of men and of angels, had I power to direct and to be obeyed in but one line of duty—I should cry aloud, 'to your school, oh children of the Southland! Mothers and fathers in rural districts, wot ye not the cloud that lowers about your house!'"

Mrs. T. D. CASWELL, Vice-President: "All parts of the Georgia Division make a splendid whole and the whole is not greater than its parts."

MISS MATTIE B. SHEIBLEY, Recording Secretary: "From the vital importance of the office, the Recording Secretary's work is arduous, but the very nature of it brings her in close touch with all chapters and their constant appreciation of her efforts is full sweet recompense for all toil."

MRS. R. G. STEPHENS, Corresponding Secretary: "I have derived great happiness through my correspondence with the devoted officers of our one-hundred chapters, working zealously for the patriotic objects of United Daughters of the Confederacy, for all Georgia chapters are altars on which the fires of loving devotion to Confederate memories, kindled long ago, are kept burning with a steady glow."

MRS. C. C. SANDERS, State Treasurer: "The year's record for the Treasurer's books is most satisfactory, the response of chapters to payment of dues most encouraging, with a marked increase in paid up membership."

MRS. LEE TRAMMELL, State Registrar: "I consider my best work this year the recording of more than five hundred papers of historic value; our women are coming more and more to realize the importance of having their record complete and applications of membership for this year have been unusually fine. I wish some arrangement could be made for the preservation of these valuable papers, many of them bearing signatures of heroes whose signatures ere long we cannot obtain."

MRS. L. H. DUPONT, Recorder for Cross of Honor: "To know how, saves half the time and all the work. Georgia chapters have learned, or are learning, how to apply for Crosses of honor, veterans and descendants are obtaining crosses and the State Division thereby collecting valuable facts for future use."

MRS. B. D. GRAY, State Editor: "We are anxious to make our U. D. C. column in the Atlanta Constitution a medium of communication for all the chapters in the State, through the co-operative aid of our chapters."

MRS. JAMES JACKSON, Chairman of Revision of Constitution: "Our health depends upon our constitution. We made a good one at our recent State convention, and, considering the good of our State, have introduced therein the progressive clause, 'to advance the educational interest of our State.'"

MRS. A. VAN HOOSE, Chairman of Medal Essay Contest: "The Historical Medal Essay Contest is a well organized branch of our division work, important in view of both its purpose and its results, and the past year shows a noticeable growth in general interest, and improvement in the character of the work, and an increase of six hundred and fifty per cent. over the number of essays for 1907."

Mrs. HERBERT M. FRANKLIN, Chairman of Historical Program Committee: "Since the appointment of this committee three years ago, we have worked with greatest zeal to increase interest in the study of history, to familiarize the division with the South's noble part in the great conflict of the Sixties, and above all, to maintain the historic prestige of Georgia."

Mrs. J. R. MOBLEY, Chairman for Portraits of Davis and Lee schools: "We are working for portraits of Davis and Lee in schools and see our way to good results."

Miss ANNA C. BENNING, Chairman of Text Books Committee: "True text-books of history stamp in the mind of the child that faith which makes heroes of men and martyrs of women, which is at once the birth cry and the death knell of nations, that faith which fixes the fate of humanity from generation to generation."

Mrs. A. L. MARMELSTEIN, Organizer of Children of the Confederacy Chapters: "Work for the children of the Confederacy is the cornerstone of truth, love and charity, so we teach them the true history of the War between the States, teach them to love and revere the memory of dead heroes, to care for the living, and to prepare to take our places in the years ahead of us."

Mrs. R. ALEX PEOPLES, Chairman of Free Scholarships: "We are earnestly endeavoring to educate and uplift the girls and boys of Georgia and march onward with our inspiring work, feeling assured of help and progress, remembering that they who are engaged in noble thoughts are never alone."

Mrs. MAX WOLF, Chairman of Program: "Our programs for our State Conventions are full and fully enjoyed."

Mrs. N. B. HARRISON, Treasurer of Francis Bartow Memorial Dormitory at Rabun Gap: "We need a memorial in tangible form for the great Bartow and in this work, the Georgia Division will rear for immortality monuments to our dead in the hearts and lives of scores of our mountain children."

Mrs. R. G. TAYLOR, Chairman of the U. D. C. Traveling Library: "My heart's desire is that our Traveling Library may keep the fires of patriotism burning in the hearts of Georgia boys and girls."

So much for Georgia's State work, and now for our united interest.

Regarding the Museum at Richmond, Mrs. R. E. PARK, Regent for Georgia, says: "I beg you to cherish in your hearts more and more our Confederate Museum, as yet our only battle abbey, the White House of the Confederacy, the silent witness of that greatest tragedy in modern history, the rise and fall of the Confederate States of America, the faithful guardian of precious historic relics of warriors illustrious as any recorded in the annals of time, the home of the only President of the Young Republic, which in the space of four years enacted a drama of war, whose theatre was the heart of the State, whose actors are men and women of heroic mold and whose tragic climax was the downfall of a people whose Spartan courage made defeat nobler than victory."

MRS. JAMES A. ROUNSAVILLE, Director and Treasurer for Arlington: "I give assurance that Georgia fully realizes her sacred responsibility and the South's opportunity in the erection of this monument to our Confederate dead at Arlington, and promises that Georgia will be found among the States leading in the performance of this high duty."

MRS. JOHN K. OTTLEY, Director for Shiloh: "Georgia redeems her pledge for one hundred dollars for Shiloh for 1908, and stands pledged for one hundred dollars for 1909."

Could you know how much is left out in order to come within Georgia's time limit, you would know how meagre seems this report from the Georgia President's point of view.

ALICE BAXTER,
President of Georgia Division.

STONEWALL CHAPTER, CHICAGO.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy.

It is with profound regret I am denied the pleasure of being with this convention of Southern women, but the Stonewall Chapter of Chicago sends greetings and trusts our Southern sisters will give us a few pleasant thoughts in our far away Western city.

The Stonewall Chapter is growing steadily in numbers and interest. We held our annual celebration of General Robert E. Lee's birth, the 19th of January, in the parlors of the Lexington Hotel. This event is looked forward to by our Southern friends and the attendance is large. We were very happy in our selection of the orator for the evening, Judge John Barton Payne, a Virginian. His eulogy upon General Lee, in well chosen words of praise and admiration, we all feel for our noble chieftain, was echoed in the hearts of each one present.

After the address, we held an informal reception, serving refreshments. On the 3rd of June, the centennial of our one and only President of the Confederacy, was celebrated by the chapter, giving a camp-fire to the Veterans of camp S, U. C. V. at the home of Adjutant Smith. On that occasion we presented Mr. Wm. C. Vaughn of Forrest Cavalry with the Cross of Honor. The Hadley Quartette sang, "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Old Folks at Home." Colonel W. E. Paulson, of Camp S, entertained us with a very instructive and interesting address, upon the life and times of Jefferson Davis. I will give an extract from his address. "I have in mind a most beautiful bouquet of American beauties. It is a large pile of roses and I take from the top of the pile, the first half dozen and hold them up to you: Those half dozen American beauties are: Jefferson Davis, Alexander H. Stephens, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, Albert Sidney Johnston and Joseph E. Johnston. I hold them up before the world to-day and ask anyone living, if there can be found in all history, during any age, in any clime, under any government, in any army, the first half dozen men of which were of greater ability, of higher morality, of more exalted private Christian character, or more profound patriotism."

The ladies served refreshments and the evening entertainment was closed with "Dixie." We have held our regular monthly meetings during the entire year at the Lexington Hotel. The summer months we are entertained at the homes of our members, living in the suburbs. We make this a social affair, read the minutes and if there is any important business it is transacted. Then we adjourn to have a social time. At these meetings, we generally have a musical program and refreshments are served.

We are always delighted to have all Southern ladies meet with us, especially visitors to our city. On two occasions we have had the pleasure of having Mrs. Henderson, our ex-President. She gave us an interesting sketch of the Soldiers' Home at Beauvoir, and gave us words of encouragement, which we need in cities beyond Mason and Dixon's line. We also had Mrs. Mary Arrington of Montgomery, Alabama, one of the first ladies of the Memorial Association. She remarked that their members were passing away, and the work was taken up by the younger women of the U. D. C. Rev. E. G. McLean, of Chattanooga, Tenn., met with us and made us a talk. He was very enthusiastic in his praises of the work the U. D. C. women were doing, especially in the Northern and Western cities.

During the year we have added to our fund in the treasury by giving card parties, attended by our Northern as well as Southern friends. We have contributed $40.00 to the Shiloh Monument Fund, $15.00 to the Arlington Fund, $5.00 towards the emergency fund of Camp 8, Chicago, U. C. V., $5.00 in assisting to defray the funeral expenses of a veteran in Chicago, $5.00 to assist in paying rent for a Southern couple, $5.00 towards buying the portrait of Mrs. Jefferson Davis and $5.00 to the scholarship of Columbia College. We hope to add a larger amount to our Arlington contribution next year.

Since the last convention, one of our noble veterans, Commander of Veterans, passed away—General Stephen D. Lee. Our chapter drew up resolutions upon his death and sent copies to Mr. Blewett Lee, of Chicago, and Miss Mary Harrison, of Columbus, Miss.

The place of our chapter meeting has been changed to the parlors of the Great Northern, as it is more central. We will gladly Welcome any of our U. D. C. daughters, when they visit Chicago. We meet the first Friday in each month at 2 p. m.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. JOHN WILLIS HEATFIELD,

President Stonewall Chapter, Chicago.

KENTUCKY DIVISION.

Madam President General, Members of Executive Board, and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Kentucky Division extends cordial greetings to this Convention assembled.

Kentuckians, renowned for gallantry displayed upon almost every battlefield since the Revolution, were ready to defend and protect in 1861. In direct defiance of the authority of the Commonwealth, they fought their way one by one through the Union lines, until forty thousand of Kentucky's sons had joined the Southern army in defense of constitutional liberty. The daughters of these brave men are here to-day to affirm that Kentucky has always done her part in peace or war.

The Kentucky Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy is steadily growing and gaining strength in numbers as well as in good works. Many of the chapters have gained from ten to forty new members during the past year, and we have enrolled two new chapters—Earlington at Earlington, and Robt. E. Lee at Somerset. While we have found it necessary to cancel two chapters—Richmond and Hodgenville, we do not count this a loss to the division as most of those who were members of those two chapters are now members of some other chapter in the division.

The reports from the chairmen of each committee at our State convention showed that we have accomplished wonderful work in many directions. One of vast importance is what the division has done in educational lines. An appeal was made two years ago by the State Federation of Women's Clubs in behalf of the illiteracy of our white population, in the State. We have gone to work to educate the ignorant class of mountain people, a field of labor rich in possibilities. Many of the chapters have co-operated with the School Improvement League of their districts. One district school, has been named, "The Robt. E. Lee School." Pictures of Confederate leaders and quite a good deal of Confederate history has been introduced into these schools. By offering a prize for attendance, we have been enabled to present a book which teaches the justice of the Confederate Cause.

The division has also established a scholarship in the Hindman School, where we have placed a young mountain girl to be educated. The Louisville Chapter has two mountain girls in this same school. All of these girls are daughters of Confederates.

The main work of the Kentucky Division, and that which every chapter is equally interested, is in erecting a monument to the memory of Kentucky's beloved and martyred hero, General John H. Morgan and his men. This monument is to be erected in Lexington.

The first week in December the Daughters of Kentucky will open a mammoth military bazaar in the armory at Louisville. It will be the largest affair of the kind ever held, the proceeds of which will go towards the monument fund. The work of making ready for this bazaar has kept from the National Convention many an interested Daughter of the Kentucky Division. There will be on sale every imaginable article from a horse and pig to a baby sacque. The dolls have proven to be one of the attractive features. Each chapter will furnish a doll named for some woman of the Confederacy and who will have quite a complete wardrobe. A large doll dressed by the State officers, named Miss "Dixie Duke," will be the belle of the occasion: her clothes and other belongings will cost about one hundred dollars. Her wedding gown is being made by Poague & Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio; she will have evening dresses, dinner dresses, home dresses and hats galore, while her underwear is a dream. There will also be attractive social features added to this enterprise

With all of this to work for we have not been unmindful of calls outside of our State. The Kentucky Director for Arlington Monument reports one hundred dollars on hand toward this important work. Since this report was written, the Albert Sidney Johnson Chapter, of Louisville, has added $15.00 to this amount; E. M. Bruce Chapter, $5.00 to Arlington Monument. We have contributed $50 toward the Randall Memorial Fund. The chapters of Kentucky have given $15.00 toward the maintenance of a pupil at Columbia University, and contributed toward the portrait of Mrs. Jefferson Davis. We are collecting funds to build a memorial in a Northern State, where sleep forty of Kentucky's noble Confederate soldiers. The Director for the Shiloh Monument presented this noble work to our last convention.

Mrs. Mattie Bruce Reynolds, who has charge of the children of the Confederacy of Kentucky, has also charge of a fund, to which she is giving her worthy efforts in raising a sufficient amount to care for some widows of Confederate soldiers.

Regretting that I cannot be with the United Daughters of the Confederacy on this happy occasion, but with the assurance that the Kentucky Division is ably represented, I am, with love and best wishes for all,

Yours sincerely,

ANNA THOMAS TALBOT,
President Kentucky Division, U. D. C.

A SUGGESTION.

That the home of Jefferson Davis, Fairview, located in Kentucky, be turned into a home for needy Confederates as a memorial to Jefferson Davis and Mrs. Varina Davis, and that it be made a general home.

MATTIE BRUCE REYNOLDS.

1st Vice President Kentucky Division.

LOUISIANA DIVISION.

It gives me pleasure to bring you greetings from Louisiana. Since my report in Norfolk last November, and Louisiana Division has accomplished much good work and has spent a peaceful and harmonious year. The various chapters are working indefatigably for the good of the noble cause for which we are banded together, to do justice in history, song and story to our sires, who so heroically fought and incomparably suffered.

Jefferson Davis' Centennial was appropriately celebrated, nearly ever chapter in the State holding services and using their efforts to introduce the study of the life and character of our beloved Chieftain into the public and private schools of our State. Gen. Lee's Birthday, January 19, is also generally celebrated with appropriate exercises.

The Soldier's Home, Camp Nichols, in new Orleans, is the object of love and devotion of the chapters of the Division. Mrs. D. A. S. Vaught, Custodian of gifts for the Division, is bending every energy to secure every comfort for the inmates of the home, and the chapters respond liberally to her appeals. The Christmas Feast given at the Home, annually by the Daughters of the Confederacy, is the occasion of much joy and is looked forward to with childish delight by the old soldiers "who wore the gray." The division paid the expenses of two Veterans to the reunion at Birmingham, which calls upon this body for assistance in doing so.

The New Orleans Chapter No. 72 U. D. C. has, during the year nearly brought to completion, the sum to be raised for the Beau-regard Monument. Four thousand dollars have been raised and only the small sum of seven hundred dollars yet to be procured will complete the amount promised by the New Orleans Chapter. The work has been difficult but the result most pleasing.

The chapter prides itself on being the only chapter in the great city of New Orleans doing active charity work, and the calls upon its benevolent fund are numerous indeed. Not only the cases which come to the attention of the chairman of the Benevolent Committee, but the Presidents of the other chapters send those in need to the New Orleans Chapter also:

Widows in need are helped, old veterans who are penniless are cared for until they can be entered in the Soldiers' Home or other institution. One old soldier was injured near Cincinnati and the chapter had him brought home and sent to Beauvoir. So much is done by this chapter, so much distress relieved, that special care is given to their benevolent fund.

The historic work of the chapter comprises the collection of many valuable poems, articles written during the war, and the committee pays special attention to the songs and books taught in the public schools. The work of the Davis Centennial year was specially observed and the superintendent of the public schools, and heads of colleges in this city and State were sent copies of the order from the State President, which called attention to the order of the President General. The chapter donated from its treasury during the year over one hundred and fifty ($150.00) dollars to monuments and other worthy objects.

Joanna Waddill Chapter, of Baton Rouge, prides itself upon the magnificent public library which it established and maintains. On June 3rd appropriate exercises were held, and Crosses of Honor distributed to a camp of veterans in an adjoining parish. On this occasion the program consisted of an essay and recitations concerning the life of Jefferson Davis, and three large portraits, handsomely framed, were presented to the public schools of that city. This chapter is called upon to assist in every public demonstration of the Capital City, to which they always respond.

A prize of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars was awarded the chapter last spring, for the most beautiful vehicle in a flower parade, representing a "Confederate Flag." This chapter will present a gold medal to the student in the history class of the Louisiana State University for the best essay relating to the war between the States.

Edward Sparrow Chapter of Lake Providence, R. J. Hancock of Benton, Plaquemine Chapter, Madison Infantry of Tallulah, Clinton and St. Mary Volunteers of Franklin, are all striving to build local monuments. Shreveport Chapter, after having assisted in building a magnificent monument, are now devoting their efforts in helping veterans in caring for and improving their lots in the two cemeteries of that city.

Camp Moore Chapter, Tangipahoa, is working indefatigably in keeping up the Camp Moore Cemetery, where so many of our Louisiana soldiers are resting.

The Monroe Chapter has just entertained the veterans at their State Reunion, in a magnificent manner, and have expended $650 to mark graves of Confederate veterans, whether in public or private enclosures, and in beautifying the grounds around the Confederate Monument in that city.

Katie Cable Curry Chapter, of Napoleonville, one of the oldest in the State, has interested itself especially in the Soldiers' Home and caring for needy veterans and their families in the Parish of Assumption.

The Jackson Chapter has recently placed a fence around the Soldiers' Cemetery at Jackson, La., and has contributed liberally to Beauregard, Arlington and Wirz Monuments.

Katie Beard Chapter, of Mansfield, is working indefatigably for the Mansfield Battle Park, besides contributing to other Confederate work.

Madison Infantry Chapter, of Tallulah, has donated quite liberally to all charitable causes, principally to the storm sufferers of Amite City, on which occasion 409 garments, besides shoes, socks, hats, etc., were sent. A gold medal was offered by Miss Amy Holmes, one of the members of the chapter, for the best essay on Jefferson Davis, written by a pupil of the public school at the close of the session, which was won by John Reilly, of Omega, Louisiana.

Blue Cross Chapter, Amite, has been particularly busy during the past year. After the cyclone last April, a Relief Committee was appointed to see to the needs of the town and accomplished much good. For the past three years the chapter has educated a little deaf girl at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, at Baton Rouge, La. They give a prize every year for the best essay bearing on the Confederacy, and had the support of one special veteran for several years and since his death has cared for his family.

Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, New Orleans, contributes liberally to all calls for charity, monuments, soldiers' homes, etc.

William Walker, of Winfield, Mouton Garder, of Lafayette, Thos. Overton Moore, of Alexandria, J. M. Craig, of Amite, Henry Gray, of Coushatta, Hubert Trielle, of Donaldsonville, Lake Charles, Sam Hyams, of Natchitoché, and other chapters of the division are doing wonderful work in their way. The division is composed of loyal women, all working for one great end.

Louisiana has added two new chapters to its rolls. Two others have revived, and it is possible that two new chapters will be organized in the near future. Stonewall Jackson Chapter, of New Orleans, with a good membership was established last February, and on October 31st I had the pleasure of organizing a chapter in Ascension Parish, with a number of enthusiastic women at the helm.

New Orleans Chapter No. 72, assisted by Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, will entertain the State Convention in May, and preparations are already being made for this great event.

Assuring you of the great interest we have in the noble cause for which we labor.

Respectfully submitted,

MATTIE B. MCGRATH,

President.

MARYLAND DIVISION.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Maryland Division is pleased to report, through its chapters, steady progress, healthy increase in membership, and liberal dispensing of relief. The historical work, through the Division Historian, Miss Mary Hall, has been faithfully pursued; and the State Recorder, Mrs. Samuel Brown, reports thirty-two crosses properly bestowed during the year.

Our veterans are ever dear to us, and while the Maryland State Legislature generously appropriates $12,000 annually to the Confederate Home at Pikesville, which is under the care of the Association of the Maryland Line, it is the duty and pleasure of the Board of Lady Visitors to care for the sick in the infirmary and add to the comforts of the inmates. In 1905, Miss Elizabeth Murry, sister of the gallant Captain William H. Murry, of the Maryland Line C. S. A., became interested in the religious services at the Home, and with the Misses Dorsey, Mrs. Samuel Brown and a few others, inaugurated a series of services to be held by the Protestant Episcopal Church on the second and fourth Sundays of each month. Rev. William Page Dame, himself a veteran, enthusiastically started the services, and the St. Cecilia Guild of the church has furnished six singers at each of them. The clergy nobly responded to the call, and from this nucleus, the services in the Relic Hall have become quite a feature of the Home, and are eagerly attended not only by the veterans, but also by their relatives and friends from the neighborhood and Baltimore. Recently services on the remaining Sundays have been conducted by clergymen of the Presbyterian and Southern Methodist Churches.

After the services, the clergy visit the hospital and comfort the ill, while the singers soothe many with the old hymns and songs dear to a veteran's heart. From these services and the outside interest in them have come other pleasures for the old men, such as special oyster suppers, with some entertainment, on week days, when the younger generation cook the oysters and wait on the veterans who show their appreciation by polishing up their uniforms and wearing flowers in their coats.

The Home for Confederate Women, in Baltimore, received last winter its first annual appropriation of $1,000 from the State Legislature. Up to that time it had been provided for by the Daughters, who will still have to make up a considerable deficit. A large bazaar will be held in Baltimore this month to augment the fund for this purpose. Recently $400 was paid for a lot at Loudoun Park Cemetery for the final resting place of the remains of the ladies of this Home.

The work of the Baltimore Chapter, No. 8, of which Mrs. John P. Poe is President, has gone steadily forward during the year.

No large work has been undertaken. The Relief Fund, amounting to over $400.00, has been distributed among the aged and suffering women in its midst. The pledges made at Norfolk have been redeemed, as follows: $50.00 to Shiloh, $25.00 to the Stonewall Jackson Hospital, at Lynchburg, Va., $25.00 to the Stonewall Jackson Scholarship Fund, with $10.00 additional collected by Mrs. John Tegmeyer. $10.00 for the Columbia College Scholarship. $15.00 additional being given by division, $10.00 towards the purchase of portrait of Mrs. Davis, $10.00 additional being given by the division, and $15.00 to the Wirz Monument Fund. The regret of the year has been the inability to send a fitting contribution to the Arlington Monument Fund, but next year it is hoped that a better record will be made, as the work is very dear to the chapter's heart. Each year the chapter sends $25.00 to the Vice Regent, and the other chapters make up the $50.00 which it is necessary, for the expenses of the Maryland Room at the Confederate Museum at Richmond, Va. $35.00 has been sent for the proper care of the monument and graves at Point Lookout, all obligations have been paid and several calls from sister States for small amounts from $1.00 to $5.00 have been responded to. The Board of Visitors to the Confederate Veterans Home at Pikesville has been unceasing in its labor of love, carrying joy and gladness to the old men gathered there waiting the last call. Sadly is the number diminishing, and seldom now on entering the hospital does one find the beds untenanted. Besides giving six bountiful dinners, on different anniversaries, to the old men, delicacies of all kinds are taken each month to the sick in the hospital. The linen is replenished as needed, and in every way care and thoughtfulness are shown to the old inmates. An annual fete is held on June 3rd at the Home, and last June, being the centennial anniversary of the birth of President Davis, the services were more elaborate. A beautiful address was delivered by Professor Shepherd and Crosses of Honor were bestowed upon the soldiers. On Memorial Day, June 6th, many members attend the ceremonies at the Confederate lot at Loudoun Park Cemetery where the old Confederate, the work of Frederick Volk, keeps guard over the many mounds profusely decorated with flowers by the Daughters.

Mrs. Walter W. Preston, President of the Harford Chapter, No. 114, reports that all meetings are well attended, the obligations of the Chapter in regard to State and general tax complied with, the graves of Harford's veterans decorated, and the nineteenth of January and third of June appropriately celebrated. Several donations have been made, among them being $5.00 to Shiloh, and $5.00 to the Maryland Room in the Confederate Museum at Richmond. Quite a little sum was added during the year to the fund for the monument which the chapter is endeavoring to build at Belair, in honor of Harford's soldiers and sailors. A donation box was sent to the Confederate Women's Home in Baltimore, where another will be sent in November.

The Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, No. 279, of which Miss Anna B. Floyd is President, as usual sends a report of good and interesting work done during the year. In it is noted the annual donation of $25.00 to the Robert E. Lee Room in the Confederate Veteran's Home at Pikesville. The chapter has taken upon itself the entire charge of this room, completely refurnishing it and keeping it comfortable, for which the soldiers have warmly expressed their gratitude. Five dollars was contributed June 3rd to the annual strawberry fete at the Veteran's Home, $3.00 to Bishop Polk's memorial, and $10.00 towards the maintenance of the Maryland Room in the Confederate Museum. General Lee's birthday was celebrated in a fitting manner. Crosses of Honour were bestowed upon veterans, and the chapter Chaplain, Rev. John Paul Tyler, delivered a stirring address upon the honour and manhood of our great General. President Davis' birthday was celebrated by a literary and social meeting. During the year a number of papers have been written and read by members of the chapter and their friends telling of their own and their relatives experiences during the war. The chapter charity work, which is large, has been faithfully carried on. In aid of it, an entertainment netting quite a large sum was recently held under the management of Mrs. G. H. Worthington and Mrs. Elizabeth McDaniel. The usual exercises were held on Memorial Day in both cemeteries where lie the Confederate dead.

The Frank A. Bond Chapter, No. 370. Mrs. R. Alexander Hammond, President, has complied with all its obligations and is unceasing in its work for the Confederate Women's Home in Baltimore.

The Cecil Chapter, No. 478. Mrs. Mary Emma Willis, President, has contributed $5.00 to Shiloh, $3.00 towards the June fete at the Pikesville Confederate Veterans Home, $2.00 to the Maryland Room in the Confederate Museum at Richmond, a Christmas box to a veteran at the Pikesville Home, Christmas remembrances to two of the ladies at the Confederate Women's Home and a Christmas dinner provided for a Confederate soldier and his wife of Chesapeake City, their own town. The birthdays of General Lee and President Davis were fittingly celebrated. At the celebration of the latter the President of the Division was the guest of the chapter, and although this little band is close to the Pennsylvania border no greater enthusiasm or loyalty to the cause can be found in the heart of the Southland.

Two new chapters are in process of formation, one to be named in honor of James Ryder Randall. Though the time limit prevents my paying a fitting tribute to Mr. Randall, I would like to tell how Maryland honors and esteems his memory. The division sent a handsome wreath, tied with Maryland's colors, to be placed upon his new made grave. Last winter the Maryland State Legislature passed a bill, which was approved by the Governor, appropriating $600.00 a year to be paid Mrs. Randall during her life. At the suggestion of Mrs. Robert Bowle, of Annapolis, and through the efforts of Senator Claggett, an additional appropriation was made by the Legislature for the painting of a portrait of Mr. Randall by Miss McCubbin, and in February it will be unveiled in the old Senate Chamber, at Annapolis, where it will hang. The late United States Senator, William Pinkney Whyte and other of Mr. Randall's Maryland friends paid for the publishing of a book of his poems, the proceeds from the sale of which are to be paid to Mrs. Randall. Maryland, owing to her geographical location and federal military control, was forced from entering the Confederacy; but you all know she was at heart with her sister States of the South, and when we hear these sister States singing "Maryland, My Maryland," we feel that each one understands this and is stretching out loving arms to tell us so. We love the memory of Randall for the warmth and glow that then comes into our hearts.

Respectfully submitted,

CORDELIA POWELL ODENHEIMER,
President Maryland Division, U. D. C.

MEXICO

Report of the Father Ryan Chapter.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy.

Your far away Mexican daughters send loving greetings and best wishes to our sisters assembled in Atlanta through Mrs. Edward Warner, who has kindly consented to represent us in the Convention.

The Father Ryan Chapter of Mexico City has just closed the best year of its existence. Since the sending of our delegate Mrs. J. R. Stanford to Norfolk, Va., we have for the first time in our life as a chapter felt ourselves to be in living touch with the great work of our organization in the homeland. The warm, cheery letters from our President General and other officers and chapter presidents, have kept our hearts aglow with enthusiasm and made us feel that although dwelling under the flag of another country we are still "daughters" and not "orphans."

The year has been marked by a great increase in strength rather than in numbers. New members, however, are coming in from time to time. Our chapter raised the largest amount of money this year than in any previous year of its existence, for Arlington and Shiloh have become vital issues with us. Committees for raising funds for these grand objects are under the able chairmanship of Mrs. John R. Stanford and Mrs. W. W. Mangum.

During the year we have sent $40.00 to the Arlington Fund; $10.00 to Shiloh and $2.00 to the Columbia scholarship, These figures are in Mexican money.

Our monthly meetings have been fraught with great interest and profit, due chiefly to the able work of Mrs. G. W. Johnson, who has been Historian of the Father Ryan Chapter since its inception.

As usual, we united this year with the Ord Post, Grand Army of the Republic, in holding memorial services in the American National Cemetery, where sleep representatives of the armies of both Lee and Grant, but whose bodies now rest under the warm, fraternal folds of the Mexican flag. We were deeply touched when the Commandant of the G. A. R. Post placed a wreath of flowers upon a Confederate grave, and paid loving tribute to the men who wore the gray. Down here we are united in a fraternal friendship which hesitates not to express mutual esteem and admiration for the men who fought for what they believed to be right.

At our October meeting we elected an entirely new corps of officers, with the exception of our Historian, who will serve us another year. The chapter congratulates itself upon the election of Mrs. John R. Stanford, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., to lead us in our work for the coming year. Mrs. Stanford has the energy and executive ability that will make a good President, and under her leadership we expect to attain yet greater things during the coming year.

LOULA MAY N. DE VERA-ESTANOL, Delegate.

MINNESOTA

Robert E. Lee Chapter.

The Robert E. Lee Chapter 1131 U. D. C. of Minneapolis, Minnesota, lovingly christened by our President General, Mrs. Stone, "The Baby Chapter," greets you.

Missouri is our foster mother, as through the assistance of Mrs. Joseph Johnson, of the St. Louis Chapter, we started our existence and Missouri continues her care of us through Mrs. James B. Gantt, ex-President of the Missouri Division, who is today representing us by proxy.

As a chapter, we are too young to have accomplished much, as our organization only dates from June first. Starting with nineteen charter members, we have added seven more, and a number of applications are to be acted upon at our next meeting.

Our organization was completed in time for us to celebrate the birthday of Jefferson Davis, sole President of the Confederate States, by appropriate exercises which were held in the Director's Room of the Public Library, our regular meeting place.

The chapter voted that no regular meetings be held during the months of July and August, owing to the absence from the city of so many members, but several informal meetings of a social nature were held, which served to promote a spirit of unity among the members, who, while true loyal daughters of the South, were strangers to each other.

Since renewing our regular meetings, we have sent five dollars to the Arlington Confederate Monument Association (and we are going to send more) whose object appeals strongly to our hearts and we are grateful for the privilege of helping this grand purpose of erecting a monument to the memory of our beloved dead, in Arlington the old home of our peerless leader, Robert E. Lee, whose name this chapter so proudly bears.

We are studying the history of the Southern Cross of Honor, and expect to confer it upon two veterans, whose daughters are members of this chapter. These veterans are not connected with a Camp, and are greatly interested in our chapter and the work we are planning to do, and have said to us that the dearest wish of their hearts was to wear the Southern Cross of Honor.

We have twelve subscribers to the Confederate Veteran, and are to have more; the commission of which goes into our treasury. To many of us, born since the war, the Veteran is a revelation, and we find it invaluable in our history study of the war between the States, it keeps us in touch with the work that is being done in the Southern States, in which we are so interested. We are also making a study of the Confederate Flags and find Mary Lynn Conrad's book on Confederate Banners a great help, and nearly every member of this chapter owns one of these books.

Since we are so young, our report must needs consist more of prophecy than of history. Our future plans include a project to assist a needy Southern nurse, and the preparation of Christmas boxes for some of the veterans in Southern homes. We are also ambitious to have Minnesota represented at the next convention by a division.

We are full of joy and hope, for with the chapter working in perfect harmony, what may we not expect to accomplish in the future. While this year we can not be with you, another year we hope to come in person with a record of things done, by which the faith our much loved officers have in us will be justified. Our hearts go out in love and loyalty to you all, for no matter how far away the true women of the Southland wander, the love of home and home institutions remains with them while life lasts.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. G. PAUL,

President.

MISSISSIPPI DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy.

Were I before you to-day to render to you a report, embodying a history of Mississippi, I would tell you so many things that would entitle our great commonwealth to stand first in her record for progress, valor, intellect and honor that I would tire you and consume almost infinitely more than the time allotted to me, for at the end of this convention you would still be listening to Mississippi history. This, however, is not my privilege. Bearing to you fraternal greetings and expressing to you an affectionate regard in all things from the more than thirty-one hundred daughters of eighty-six chapters, it is my duty as President of the Mississippi Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to submit her report. I am not unmindful of the honor. While the progress of the commercial world has been somewhat retarded by the money stringency this year we find our division in a more prosperous condition every year than the last. In matter of finance we are upon a substantial basis. During the year we have given one hundred dollars to the Shiloh monument, twenty dollars to the purchase of the portrait of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, ten dollars to the Blanford Memorial Window, five dollars to the support of the Columbia College scholarship, and forty-one dollars and eighty-five cents to the storm sufferers of South Mississippi. Beauvoir, our Soldier's Home, is in excellent condition. Our division work at present is building a chapel at the home. Mrs. Mary Southworth Kimbrough chairman of this chapel committee, hopes to begin work on the building this year. Our last legislature increased the annual pensions of our veterans at Beauvoir to $50,000. In educational advancement we are realizing many hopes. The division maintains three scholarships, one for a girl at I. I. & C., Columbus, one for a boy at Millsaps, Jackson, and another for a boy at Mississippi College, Clinton.

At our last annual convention an Educational Board, consisting of three members, was created, having in charge the management and bestowal of these scholarships. Four chapters are each maintaining a scholarship, making seven in all. Can any other division boast as much! Isn't this carving history in deeds and building monuments in minds! Through the efforts of the different chapters most of the public schools of our State are named for Confederate generals, and upon their chapel walls hang portraits of General Lee and Jefferson Davis, inciting youth to "go on in the road of Truth to the Temple of Virtue where dwell her hand-maids, modesty, temperance, benevolence, fortitude and justice."

The Vicksburg chapter continues its excellent hospital work. This hospital accommodating fourteen or fifteen inmates, they built six years ago and have all the while given it their personal supervision and attention.

During the year three beautiful monuments have been unveiled with elaborate attendant ceremonies; one at Raymond, one at Brandon and one at Cleveland. Another stands ready to be unveiled and other chapters are raising funds to build shafts to our heroic soldiers. February 28, 1908, the memorial window to Mrs. Jefferson Davis was unveiled and presented to the church of the Redeemer at Biloxi, Miss. This was a sadly sweet occasion where the very whiteness of the lilies reflected the divine purity of the soul and the violet breathed in perfumed silence and stillness the solemnity of the service. There were with us, as our guests at that time, many distinguished visitors. Among them Mrs. Hayes, daughter of President and Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, President General U. D. C. and she who is ours always, Mrs. Sarah D. Egleston, Hon. President General, U. D. C., and others. It was our regret not to entertain Miss Decca Lamar West, chairman of the Memorial Window Committee. Much of my time during the summer months was given in assisting to collect data for the Mississippi Supplement, "Our Women in the War." This was a highly creditable publication, narrating the noble deeds of Mississippi Confederate Women during our defense of Southern rights. Twelve (12) chapters have been organized and we hope to finish an hundred before our next annual convention as a memorial this centennial year to Jefferson Davis. June 3rd we honored his beloved memory with fitting exercises held at the same hour by every chapter. Since being with you in Norfolk, 1907, I have signed one hundred and eighty-eight certificates of membership. Again, I believe it is my privilege to boast the only "official organ" maintained by a division. Our Historian, a most wonderful woman in learning, energy and activity, has literally enthused our division with historical work.

We, too, have had our sorrows, having given in death General Stephen D. Lee, but praising an almighty Jehovah that such a life was spent with us, in golden silence we bow our heads submissively to the inevitable. General A. P. Stewart, too, has gone from our ranks to join the innumerable host of the vast beyond.

I am not only glad to-day I live in Dixie, but I am glad I am in Atlanta, a city of historic memories, the home of John B. Gordon, second only to Lee as a general of the Confederate armies. I fancy now I hear his eloquent defense of his State in the Ku-

Klux investigation or his masterful efforts in aiding Lamar save Mississippi from political misrule. Or it may be that, wandering through Georgia's marshes with Sidney Lanier, I take myself back through years and hear Uncle Remus telling Joel Chandler Harris tales that gave to the childhood world to-day Bre'r Fox and Bre'r Rabbit. And now may that peace which passeth understanding be yours forever.

Faithfully,

DAISY McLAURIN STEVENS,
President Miss. Division, U. D. C.

MISSOURI DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The State Convention, October 17th, 1908, at Fayette, Missouri, marked the tenth year of the Missouri Division. This birthday was fittingly celebrated during the program by reading a newspaper clipping, describing the organization at Fayette in 1898. The original welcome address delivered on that occasion by Mrs. H. P. Mason, and the response to that address by Mrs. P. G. Robert.

Missouri now has thirty-three chapters in flourishing condition with nearly two thousand members. Two new chapters have been added, three more are in process of organization, and two hundred and twenty-five membership certificates have been signed in the past year.

The Moberly Chapter bestowed fourteen crosses, the M. A. E. McClure, of St. Louis, eight.

The Wentzville Chapter, who had their first meeting in October, 1907, tried three months before they could get seven members to effect an organization. They now have thirty members, representing six towns and three counties, each neighborhood constituting a separate committee to care for the nearest cemetery, and are—I quote their own report—seeking the best method of eradicating the bitter sectional feeling still smoldering in many homes in that community. They drive many miles through all kinds of weather to attend their meetings. This shows you what Missouri women will do when they are in earnest. This same chapter is teaching loyalty by offering a $5.00 prize to the school child writing the best paper on the Confederate flags.

The Marshall Chapter has placed granitoid markers over the graves of forty veterans and presented the portrait of Robert E. Lee to the Marshall High School.

The Lexington Chapter offers a prize of a gold medal for the best paper on the "Life of President Davis," written by a school child.

The two chapters in St. Joseph are educating grand-daughters of veterans. They pay all expenses and look after their welfare in every way. One of these girls has entered on her second year in the high school.

One Missouri woman, Mrs. Joseph Johnson, was so filled with enthusiasm, she went to Minnesota, and started the Minneapolis U. D. C. Chapter.

One small chapter of twenty-seven members (Caruthersville) has pledged $60.00 to Shiloh, $40.00 to Arlington and $100.0 to the St. Louis monument.

The two chapters in St. Louis, besides their work for the St. Louis monument, have taken care of several veterans. One was cared for five months (until his death) in a private hospital.

Another was assisted in his last illness, and at his death the chapters shipped his body to Louisville, Ky., and paid all funeral expenses. They also paid the expenses of two of Morgan's men to Louisville. They bought and equipped a lunch stand for a veteran's widow. Reports prove that the Centennial of President Davis was celebrated throughout the entire division.

Along historical lines, Missouri is in an active condition. The desire to educate Southern children is fast gaining a foothold. The children must be reached if we are to succeed in perpetuating our history. Mrs. Mercer, of Independence, Missouri, gave two volumes of "The Rise and Fall of the Confederacy" as a prize for the best paper written on the life of Mr. Davis. This was awarded to the Cape Girardeau Chapter. Missouri has started the collection of personal reminiscences, written by those women who saw active service. Some day they will be published in book form. Our historical committee urges that we pay some fitting tribute to our black mammies.

St. Louis has organized a Confederate choir, and plans in very able hands are under way to organize them throughout the division.

One of Missouri's daughters, Mrs. George B. Longan, of Kansas City, undertook to ascertain who erased the name of Jefferson Davis from Cabin John bridge. She did so—it was done by one Caleb Smith, under orders, sometime between 1861 and 1863.

Missouri hopes the U. D. C. will be instrumental in having it replaced.

A prominent veteran and a son of a veteran in St. Louis made a determined effort to have one of their magnificent high schools in course of erection named the "Robert E. Lee." They secured nearly two thousand signatures of bankers, real estate and prominent business men, regardless of politics, and will always believe would have succeeded had not the death of Professor Soldan, superintendent of schools, occurred just as the time approached for the announcement, whereupon the press of the city clamored for his name to be given to this particular building.

All the Confederate organizations in St. Louis, veterans, sons of veterans, U. D. C. chapters and memorial chapters attended the funeral of Gen. Alexander Stewart, in a body, and in spite of a request from the family that no flowers be sent, the Daughters sent floral designs to honor him, and show the appreciation and loyalty felt by the U. D. C.

Missouri is a monument builder. They have pledged to the Arlington Monument $510.50, to Shiloh $585.50, to a monument to be erected to General Sterling Price, begun by the Keytesville Chapter, $302.00, and to the St. Louis monument $11,307.50.

After having spent many thousands of dollars in helping Confederate organizations all over the South, (St. Louis alone giving more than $50,000 since the Daughters of the Confederacy was organized), Missouri is building a monument of her own.

An association has been formed for the purpose of building this monument in St. Louis, at a cost of not less than $35,000.00.

After working two years, they have $11,000.00 on hand and in sight. They have under consideration an offer from Mr. E. G. Lewis, of the Lewis Publishing Company; of University City, an addition to St. Louis, to give them a beautiful site and $15,000, on condition they erect the monument in University City, also that they secure the necessary $20,000 to complete the contemplated cost. Mr. Lewis expects to secure this money through donations from subscribers in the South to his Woman's Magazine and other publications. If any of these calls reach you, ladies, they are legitimate, as all contributions coming from that source will go directly to the Treasurer of the Association, in no way benefiting Mr. Lewis, except in beautifying this most beautiful University City, Mr. Lewis being its originator, promoter and present mayor. This monument is to occupy the crest of a hill plainly to be seen from almost any part of St. Louis. Missouri feels she is on the border of the "Golden West" and in placing a monument in St. Louis to soldiers and sailors of the entire Confederacy, it will be seen by thousands of people, and brought to the attention of many to whom our beautiful cause is either unknown or a byword. This Association still has $9,000 to secure, and if it should enter into the heart of any Confederate woman in all our Confederate land to lend her aid she will earn the everlasting gratitude of the Missouri Division.

MRS. W. L. KLINE,

President Missouri Division, U. D. C.

NEW MEXICO.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Daughters of the Joe Wheeler Chapter of New Mexico send loving greetings to the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Convention assembled. Though we are far from you, and few in numbers, we are a true, loyal band, and our hearts rejoice with you to-day in this reunion. May you have a most successful and harmonious meeting.

While our membership is apparently the same as it was last year, forty, we have not stood still, but have gained new members to take the place of those who have moved away.

We meet regularly the first Friday of every month, and have an interesting program after the business is transacted. We are indebted to Mrs. Watson, Historian of the Texas Division, for the use of her delightful and beneficial programs.

It gives me pleasure to state that we have been able to accomplish some good during the year.

In December we cleared $37.55 on a Christmas sale.

January 19 we celebrated as Lee-Jackson Day.

We contributed $10.00 to a needy veteran; $2.50 for Mrs. Jefferson Davis's portrait fund; $1.00 to Camp Chase cemetery; $20.00 to the Arlington Monument Fund; flowers to the funerals of several old soldiers; and $50.00 in Southern literature to the Carnegie Library of Roswell.

We united with the Sons of Veterans in holding Memorial services to Gen. Stephen D. Lee.

June the third we celebrated with appropriate exercises the one hundredth anniversary of our first and only president, Jefferson Davis.

Memorial Day the pastor of the Southern Methodist Church delivered a splendid address to the Veterans, Sons and Daughters.

In the early summer the Sons and Daughters had a picnic for the Veterans. This has become an annual event, and is looked forward to with much pleasure by the old soldiers, and, in fact, all the Southerners of the town. We always have appropriate music and speeches, and come home with our hearts filled with more love and reverence for those who wore the gray, and greater pride in their brave deeds.

We are delighted with the idea of planting a grove in Atlanta to commemorate the Convention of 1908, and we will try to have New Mexico fittingly represented.

Respectfully submitted,
 MRS. BETTIE MONTGOMERY, President.
 Joe Wheeler Chapter No. 966.

NEW YORK.

Madam President General and United Daughters of the Confederacy, in Convention assembled:

The report of the New York Chapter U. D. C. will be a brief one this year, as nothing of sufficient interest or novelty has transpired to consume the time of the Convention.

I have to report the same happy tale of prosperity, harmony and good will, to others, as well as among ourselves, for it is a matter of pride with us to respond to all appeals whenever it is possible to do so.

The sum of $100 was voted at our December meeting to be contributed annually to the monument at Arlington, and over that sum was given privately by some of our members, so that the donation to the monument was over $200 from the New York Chapter.

Contributions have, also been made to Shiloh, Camp Chase Solid South Room at the Confederate Museum at Richmond; monuments to Major Wirz, General Forest, General John Hunt Morgan, General Beauregard, Leonidas Polk Memorial, Confederate Monument Hall at Amherst, Va., Home for Confederate organizations in Washington, Jefferson Davis Memorial Association at New Orleans, monument at Bay City, Texas; and learning through one of our Virginia Daughters of a faithful little band in Gordonsville, Va., who were striving to erect a small frame hall as a meeting place for their old soldiers, and not thinking of asking any one to assist them, it gave us much pleasure to send them a contribution. Early last month a Northern friend appealed to us to assist in the pitiful case of an old lady from Maryland who was in utter destitution, and whom the Northern woman was trying to locate in a Home. She had raised the sum of $300 and lacked $100 to complete the necessary amount, and we were more than happy to add our quota. We also assisted materially a young daughter of one of our members who has latent musical talent waiting to be cultivated. We hold ourselves in readiness to supply the deficit in the expenses of the student who won the scholarship in Columbia College, and who, I suppose you all know, is a South Carolina girl. This is the work, ladies, which our chapter has to report. It always hurts me when I hear, as I sometimes do, that our chapter is a purely social organization in New York City. Her readiness to respond to every appeal, and her noble work along benevolent lines, disprove the statement without denial being necessary.

Our regular meetings have been regularly held, and one special meeting, June 3d, to celebrate the one hundredth birthday anniversary of Jefferson Davis. It was a notable occasion, solemn, dignified and impressive, as befitted the memory of so great a man. The oration on the life and character of Mr. Davis was given with force and eloquence by the Hon. Charles F. Moore, of Virginia, one of our gifted associates, whose fervent utterances stirred and thrilled us all.

The Confederate Veteran Camp of New York occupied the front seats in the hall and marched in line at the commencement of the exercises, and many an eye was dim, and many a head was bowed, ere the touching program was completed. A fine portrait of Mr. Davis hung above the platform, upon which, as guest of honor, sat Mrs. Charles E. Bateson, the only blood relative of Mr. Davis in New York. She was much impressed with the exercises, and told me afterwards that she could command no words adequate to express her appreciation of the beauty, solemnity and fitness of the occasion.

We number 510 full members and 160 associates, making a total of 670 on our roll. We have sustained some losses, of course, by death and removal, but are acquiring additions constantly, and it is my pleasure to report in closing that our Chapter House is clean and shining. There are no dark corners, and the closets contain no skeletons, her doors are guarded by the twin angels of Love and Harmony, and all her ways are pleasantness, and all her paths are peace.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. JAMES HENRY PARKER, President.

NORTH CAROLINA DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

One year of hard work, or rather of loving service for our Confederacy, has passed away, since we looked into each others' faces, and I feel that we have had our reward for this work. I have just returned from Goldsboro, N. C., where we held the 12th annual meeting of the N. C. Division U. D. C. The year's work was very satisfactory, considering the financial panic that was felt more or less all over the country. We had desired to give larger amounts to some objects for which we worked and hope we can do so the coming year.

We now have eighty-three chapters in the State Division, with over 3,500 members, five having been organized by the President this year and six or eight that may soon become living chapters. One organized being named Brierfield, the childhood home of President Jefferson Davis, at Thomasville, N. C.

Two charters have been returned and will be sent to the President-General.

This division has twenty-seven (27) children's auxiliaries, (7) seven were organized since last year's report. Every chapter in the State was urged to organize one, as on the training of our children in this work will depend the perpetuity of our organization. It was also requested to interest the boys, as they must join the Sons of Veterans in order to fill their fathers' places. Only by this means can we carry on the work of the U. D. C. and teach them the traditions, sacred memories, the history of the Southern Confederacy, and of its heroes and heroines.

I have asked and insisted on every chapter, officer and member, reading our yearly United and State minutes, and studying parliamentary law, for, by so doing, they will be enabled to attend to the business of the order in a more business-like and systematic way. If all the members will do this, we will find a solution to the confusion and mistakes made in our State and general work.

Our State work has been the education of veterans' descendants, aiding the Soldier's Home, completing the monuments to Hon. George Davis, of President Jefferson Davis's Cabinet, and Henry L. Wyatt, the first soldier killed in battle at Bethel, Va., in 1861; and having painted the portraits of Gen. Robert Ransom, and Capt. Randolph Shotwell, of noted Klu Klux fame. This monument to Hon. George Davis ought to appeal to every chapter of the South, as he, at one time, belonged to them. We unveiled the portraits of Gen. Robert Ransom, Col. G. McG. Tate and Capt. John Phifer Young, at Goldsboro, during our Convention, and have sent them to the North Carolina room, in the Richmond Confederate Museum. We educate two girls at the State Normal College, and hope soon to have three there; besides several girls at other colleges supported by chapters. We ask every chapter to pledge $10.00 a year to this educational fund. By establishing these scholarships, we teach every boy and girl in that school, it is a great honor to be descended from Confederate veterans. With love of the work in our hearts, energy, patience and the right spirit, we can do great things along this line. According to the request made by our President General (Mrs. Stone), we are trying to have the schools in our State named for our great Southern leaders.

This division has done good work for the Arlington Monument Fund, sending $300.00. It would have been more, but several chapters were disappointed in not being able to have entertainments which they had planned.

We also contributed to the Shiloh Monument and hope to do better next year. This is not a Tennessee monument, but one from the Daughters of the whole South to those brave soldiers from every State buried there. Another monument we took pleasure in aiding was the one to Capt. Henry Wirz, of Andersonville prison same, a true Southerner who never swerved from his duty and love of the South; although sorely tempted by Federal authorities.

The centennial of the birth of Jefferson Davis, June 3d, 1908, the first and only President of the Confederate States of America, was, according to the request of Mrs. W. J. Behan, President of the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, observed in many of our schools. We endeavored to introduce the study of his public and religious life in our schools, both private and public; also placed many pictures of President Davis, Generals Lee and Jackson in schools. Medals have been offered by chapters and individuals, for papers on the "Life of President Jefferson Davis and the causes that led up to the War between the States."

At our State Convention last month, it was decided that all chapters have the election of officers at first November meeting, so that corrected lists might be sent to the Recording Secretary General.

Our State Historian is making great efforts to collect all historical papers from chapters and have them filed at the capitol in Raleigh. The time is growing short in which we can get original papers from veterans and their families and it is necessary that we preserve our Southern history in this way.

It has been found that the "Keystone," edited by the talented Misses Poppenhelm of Charleston, S. C., has been of great benefit to our members. The President could communicate important information without writing to every chapter, through this paper.

It will soon be that almost every county in the State will have a Confederate monument, dedicated to her vallant war heroes, both privates and officers. Some have been unveiled this year, and seven others are in course of erection. The Graham Chapter is building a hospital, instead of erecting a monument of stone or marble, in memory of their fallen heroes. It is a fine idea and calculated to do much good, and relieve old soldiers and widows.

The Lincolnton Chapter has purchased a building and dedicated it as a Memorial Hall, where will be kept relics and everything pertaining to the Confederacy.

The Treasurer reports having received about $3,000.00.

The Recorder of Crosses has not conferred as many as usual, as most of the veterans have already received them.

We still have under consideration the monument to the boys who went out from the State University (Chapel Hill), to fight for their country.

One by one the surviving Generals of the Southern Confederacy are answering to the last roll call. Two of our noted ones have passed away in the last six months. Gen. Stephen D. Lee, Commander of the United Confederate Veterans, died May 28th, 1908, just before the Reunion at Birmingham, Ala. General A. P. Stewart, of Tennessee, died August 31st, 1908. Only General Buckner remains to represent the Lieutenant Generals.

The President of this division will present a bill to the Legislature which meets in January, praying it to give the North Carolina Room in the Richmond Museum, one hundred dollars a year for its maintenance. Also one to provide a home for the wives and widows of our veterans at the Soldiers' Home in Raleigh.

At our late convention steps were taken by the Daughters to build an annex to the Soldiers' Home for the wives and widows of veterans, and several hundred dollars already was raised for this purpose.

The political discussions of the present day are eloquently vindicating the patriotic views of President Jefferson Davis for the rights of the States. Both political parties are sounding solemn warnings against encroachments of Federal authorities. So you will see: day by day, year by year, our ideas of right are being vindicated by our country and the whole civilized world.

Our organization is unique, and there is no record of such a one in the world. Our women are banded together to do this work, and it is one of duty and love, and we can see results of it every day. Time has no power to obliterate from our minds the memory of the deeds of heroism enacted during those four years of conflict and death; or take from our hearts, the devotion for the heroes of the South, from the immortal Lee and Jackson, to the youngest private in her service.

Much more could be said, but, when I get to talking or writing on the great subject of our Confederate work, I remind myself of the farmer's wife who talked all the time—day and night. Her husband waked up about three o'clock in the morning and she was still talking for dear life.

"Oh, Sal!" he said, "Sal, are you talking yet or again!" So you will think when I say it does not do any harm to repeat often the historic deeds and facts for which North Carolina has become famous, and if you will remember, I told you a few facts last year, and may I add just a few and promise that I will not tell them all? Knowing these facts makes us try to excel in our U. D. C. work.

North Carolina has attained great things along educational and industrial lines; her rank as a manufacturing State is next to Massachusetts in cotton, and second to none in the manufacture of furniture. She has a greater variety of woods, minerals, and gems than any other State in the union. The hiddenite,—more valuable than the diamond—has never been found anywhere else. Tobacco was first found in North Carolina, and Sir Walter Raleigh took it to England. North Carolina held the first peace conference in the world at Raleigh, N. C., in 1820. Joseph Montford, of Halifax, N. C. (born in England, 1724, died 1776) was the first Mason in America. He was appointed Master of the "Royal White Hart Lodge" at Halifax, March 21st, 1767. His Lodge erected the first Masonic Temple in the world. It was built in 1769, and is standing now and still in use by the Royal White Hart Lodge.

North Carolina produces nine-tenths of all the ground peas or peanuts used in America.

The first summer normal school ever held in America with a university or college, was in Chapel Hill, University, N. C., in the summer of 1877-1888 inclusive. Mrs. Cornelia Phillips Spencer, of Chapel Hill, was a potent factor in these schools. She attended and reported all lectures. This movement led to the graded schools of North Carolina.

Out of six universities established before 1830, five were in the South. North Carolina had the first University in the United States. Others had gotten charters, but she began work first.

In 1865, Capt. John Wilkes, of Charlotte, N. C., secured a charter for the First National Bank of Charlotte, the first national bank chartered south of the Potomac. Capt. James Iredell Waddell, one of North Carolina's noted sons, had the unique distinction of being the only man who bore the Confederate flag around the world, being in command of the vessel "Shenandoah" of the Confederate Navy, and kept the flag floating for three months after the surrender at Appomattox:

We are proud of the noble heritage of the Confederacy bequeathed to us by our fathers, and our mothers as well, for the women of the Confederacy, though not on the battlefields, bore their part no less heroically than did the men.

It has always been said that without the women of the Confederacy, there never would have been achieved the glories won by it, and hostilities would have ceased long before they did.

We should be proud to be Americans, and prouder still to be Southerners.

Respectfully submitted,

SALLIE YATES FAISON.

President N. C. Dist. U. D. C.

OHIO DIVISION.

The Ohio State Convention, U. D. C., met in Columbus, Ohio, October 21st, a large delegation coming up from Cincinnati. After the business of the Convention, the delegations were royally entertained with trolley rides, luncheons and dinners.

One of the most enjoyable trips was the visit to the famous Camp Chase Cemetery. There everything was found in beautiful order. The generous donations of Northern and Southern friends, and the care given it by the R. E. Lee Chapter, made all this possible. The Government has completed its work, and each grave is substantially marked.

The State work in Ohio has been very much handicapped during the past year, owing to the long and serious illness of our able and enthusiastic President, Mrs. Thos. M. Worcester. She was always an inspiration to work, and when we knew that the Grim Reaper was hovering near her, it threw a gloom over all Daughters in Ohio.

Mrs. J. C. Hosea, as director of Shiloh Monument Fund, reported that $30.50 had been raised in Ohio for that worthy cause, and hoped to double that amount next year.

The R. E. Lee Chapter, Columbus, O., reported most excellent work; their monthly meetings have been well attended. Memorial services were held on Lee and Jackson Day, January 19, also on June 3, the birthday of President Davis.

June 6th, under the auspices of the R. E. Lee Chapter, beautiful memorial services were held for the dead that sleep in Camp Chase. A large offering from Southern friends, of money and flowers made the most successful memorial yet held, and this permits us to again express our thanks for kind remembrance.

Rev. Dr. Edw. Guerrant, a Confederate Veteran of Wilmore, Ky., delivered the principal address. Judge David F. Pugh, of Columbus, a Union soldier, also made a splendid address, and paid tribute to the bravery of those that wore the gray.

The Daughters of the Columbus Chapter held their annual Christmas sale in the store of C. A. Bond & Co., of that city. As formerly, they were well patronized, and made a nice sum. The chapter has responded to several calls for aid, and gave $5 to the Shiloh Monument Fund; the chapter numbering sixty members.

The Stonewall Jackson Brigade, or rather chapter, are standing their ground like those heroes of old; indeed, as the years go by, they note ground gained in the cause for which they stand. Five new members have been added to their roster. Sickness and absence depleted the ranks during the winter, but the good work went steadily on.

Last year the Stonewall Jackson Chapter gave a scholarship of $50 to Miss Berry's School, at Rome, Ga. It arrived in time to enable a worthy descendant of a Confederate veteran to continue his studies; then the chapter voted to perpetuate the scholarship to be known as the Stonewall Jackson Scholarship; the only condition imposed was, that it always be awarded to the descendant of a Confederate veteran. At Christmas, the chapter sent $5 to the aged widow of a veteran; she lives in Ohio. $5 was sent to Danville, Ky., for the Perryville Monument Fund. $5 for the memorial services at Camp Chase, also $10 to Shiloh Monument Fund. A rummage sale and whist tournament were given by the Chapter, and both received liberal support. A most important point gained as the Daughters have been recognized as a force.

The Daughters of the Confederacy and other patriotic societies took part in what is known as the "Ohio Valley Historical Society." Mrs. John L. Shearer made an able address on behalf of the Daughters; each organization being awarded only ten minutes, of course, she could not tell of all the good things about us in that limited time, but however, acquitted herself with great distinction.

The Stonewall Jackson Chapter has many plans for increasing its finances this winter in order to carry on the work so well begun. The Springfield Chapter still remains inactive, but we have not given up hope.

The Daughters of Ohio send greetings to those assembled in convention at Atlanta.

Respectfully submitted,

M. A. CARROLL.

First Vice-President Ohio Division, U. D. C.

OREGON.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy.

In submitting the annual report of the Oregon Chapter U. D. C. a feeling of pride and gratification fills our hearts, for we know we have made progress in the work. We claim, Honorable President, the distinction of being the most unique chapter in the organization, for ours is the only one in the State. During the closing year we have accomplished some things of which you will be pleased to know. First, we have awakened the dormant love of a number of ladies who had heretofore been indifferent to our work, so that from a small band of loyal women who organized and fostered our chapter, we have grown into quite a large membership, with the social members we have a complete list of forty-five enrolled.

We observed the natal day of our peerless chieftain, General Lee, in an appropriate manner. Mrs. Sylvia W. McGuire gave an evening called "Echoes from Dixie Land," four crosses were given by the President who essayed to set forth the honor accompanying the gift.

On April 6th our annual tea was given for the benefit of Shiloh Monument, a more minute account will be given by the devoted custodian of the Shiloh Fund, Mrs. Laura Phillips Duff.

On recommendation of the President General, a custodian for the Arlington Fund was recently appointed, the choice falling upon Mrs. Nannie Duff Silva, Corresponding Secretary; the chapter has given $5.00 already to that fund, with a larger amount to be forthcoming.

The great event of the year was the 100th anniversary of our illustrious President Jefferson Davis. To this meeting the veterans had been invited and several of them gave addresses, which were eloquent though pathetic. We were prepared to enjoy and appreciate the evening as through the year we had closely studied the life of the distinguished dead.

On the occasion of Capt. Hobson's visit to Portland, the ladies of the chapter tendered him a reception, thus dividing the honors between the living and the dead sons of our loved Southland.

Following the example of other chapters, we have asked the honor that Mrs. Stonewall Jackson permit us to add her name to our list of membership as Honorary President, there is magic in the name. We voted to send her a letter each year reminding her of our profound respect for herself and her immortal husband, the greatest military genius either in ancient or modern history. This year on the occasion of the great leader's birthday, we celebrated same by inviting Captain Luther D. Mahone, of Tennessee, to deliver a lecture upon his life and work; this he did in a pleasing and instructive manner.

In conclusion, Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy, we pledge ourselves to greater things, deeming no task too great when done for Dixie or her defenders.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. EMMA JONES STOVALL, President.

MRS. NANNIE DUFF SILVA, Cor. Secretary.

OKLAHOMA.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

It is my great pleasure to present the loyal, loving greeting of the Daughters of the new division of the new State of Oklahoma, to the Daughters of the Confederacy in convention assembled.

Statehood came to the Territories in November 1907. This being after our annual convention, so in accord with a resolution passed by the United Daughters, the territorial divisions retained their individuality till their first convention thereafter. This convention met at Sulphur, August 7 to 10, 1908. Our youngest chapter of Indian Territory, Serena Carter Chapter No. 1142, being hostess for both Oklahoma and Indian Territory Divisions. This chapter is named for a Confederate woman and division officer, thus showing their devotion and esteem for her who gave a great part of her love and energy to the work of the Daughters of the Confederacy. While we enjoyed together the social features provided for the daughters, each division held separate business meetings, winding up their affairs and both divisions disbanding to reconvene in mass meeting at 8 o'clock, amalgamate under a single constitution and become a whole State institution. Mrs. W. T. Culbertson of Indian Territory was chosen chairman and Mrs. W. C. Clement of Oklahoma secretary.

A Constitution previously drawn up by a committee of five and President from each division was submitted to this meeting. After slight changes this constitution was adopted; thus solemnizing the union between Oklahoma and Indian Territory Daughters of the Confederacy. The election of officers was proceeded with; the President coming from the Indian Territory, the older division, the next officer from Oklahoma, thus alternating down the line of officers.

The greatest harmony and good will prevailed.

Our division is unique, two full divisions merged into one. No other one has thus been formed, and probably never will be again. May the loyal support of every daughter go into this union, and may the blessing of our Heavenly Father rest upon it.

A large number of delegates were present, showing an interest in the work. Many subjects of importance to this new division of ours were discussed, so many things must be changed. Each old division had a different Memorial Day, also State Cross of Honor Day. These dates were left to a committee for decision.

The chapter reports show energy and earnestness in Confederate work. While they respond to outside calls for help, no needy Confederate soldier within their gates ever presents an appeal to these daughters and is turned away empty handed.

Four of our chapters are building Monuments. Many are securing plots in our cemeteries and beautifying them; providing a resting place for our dear old Confederates who pass away with no one to care for them but our daughters. Some are collecting books on Southern history and Southern literature, while many are making scrap-books; each member of the chapter securing newspaper clippings and Magazine articles of the Confederate Soldier women and times, thus securing information that otherwise would be lost. Having no Soldiers' Home, many of the chapters are supporting one and two Confederate soldiers, sometimes a man and his wife. The greatest charity is helping the living, and can not be too highly recommended. It is by such deeds and their influence that the Daughters of the Confederacy wish to be remembered by the Confederate soldier and his children's children, thus perpetuating our principles down through the ages.

One chapter has been added, in January, to our number, and two are now under process of forming.

We hope for a great increase in the number of chapters this year, having divided the State into districts with a vice president working for the organization of chapters in her district.

We are sorry to report three chapters so silent as to despair of re-awakening, and if we are unable to arouse them before the year comes to a close will be compelled to report them dead.

Children chapters have not taken a very strong hold on our division, but on President Davis' birthday a children's chapter was organized by Choctaw Chapter and named "Winnie Davis." The division heartily endorsed this movement and urged all chapters to endeavor to make it universal, for we realize more and more that to perpetuate our loved order we must capture the children.

Some of our chapters placed Gen. Lee's picture in the schools, while a number are making efforts to place the pictures of both General Lee and President Davis in their public schools but it is not always an easy matter with a Northerner on the school board. Eufaula Chapter had the pleasure of naming their public schools for our southern heroes.

Memorial Day and the birth days of President Davis and Gen. Lee have been generally observed.

Oklahoma is a fairly prosperous division, and ready to do her part in every Confederate work.

With many good wishes for your future prosperity, this report is respectfully submitted.

MRS. W. T. CULBERTSON,
President Oklahoma Division, U. D. C.

PHILADELPHIA CHAPTER.

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Philadelphia Chapter sends hearty greetings and a very earnest "God speed you" in all your undertakings. Her representative stands before you now to render an account of stewardship,

At primarily her delegates are at this Convention rather to hear than to be heard, so as to take back to your daughters who have wandered far from home the inspiring and uplifting story of your works and accomplishments in the past, of your plans and aspirations for the future.

The Philadelphia Chapter during the past year has labored as it never labored before; and it trusts by its fruits you will know these efforts have not been altogether in vain. Our patriotic hunger has been nourished by papers on this and kindred subjects that have been read at the regular monthly meetings. We have contributed to monuments in course of erection or projected as follows: A monument in Bay City, Texas, $1.00, Confederate Memorial Hall, Virginia, $1.00, Wirz Monument, Georgia, $5.00, to a bazaar for the Morgan Memorial Fund, Kentucky, a box of saleable articles to Shiloh monument, through Mrs. Louis Lewis' efficient committee and a donation, $65.00, Arlington Monument $100.00. On Memorial Day the Chapter made its annual pilgrimage to Pittsville National Cemetery to decorate the graves of our unknown dead. The exercises, a paper by Major Pearson and appropriate hymns and recitations, were more beautiful and impressive than ever before, and were highly appreciated, as the fine attendance most amply testified. A striking tribute to the burying of the differences was given on this occasion when the G. A. R. veterans, after honoring their own dead, fired a salute over the graves of the Confederates, and then one volley between; thus uniting the honoring of the heroes on both sides. The anniversary of the birth of our beloved Gen. Robert E. Lee, was observed in both a patriotic and social way, as was also the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of our only President, Jefferson Davis. At this latter time, a cross of honor was presented to one of our veterans, Col. Ward.

The ways in which we have worked "to promote feelings of friendliness between the members," as our constitution states it, have been many; but our most ambitious effort in a social way was a subscription luncheon on the fourteenth of February in the Clover Room of the Bellevue-Stratford. Over two hundred guests were present, and, as a promoter of sociability, we feel that it was a brilliant success. We not only became firmer friends and more ardent admirers of each other, but made unto ourselves friends of our Northern sisters—a consummation, we can assure you, most devoutly to be wished.

Last, but very important, comes the report of our charities. In this connection we have the happy thought, that, even if we have strayed from our Southern homes and our warm-hearted Southern friends, even if we are where the Confederacy, and "our cause," are not sympathetic subjects, even if we are denied the privilege of erecting monuments at our own homes, "the poor we have with us always," in point of place as well as time, and to these we have tried to minister. That we have sometimes found the ministrations mutual, that the least of these, the poorest materially, has sometimes been the richest spirituality, has been one of our rewards. The plain unvarnished tale of what has been done sounds cold and colorless, particularly to those who have been behind the scenes and know the thought, love, untiring and steadfast efforts that have made these results possible. But who can weigh mind, who can fathom devotion, who tell what can only be felt? The Philadelphia Chapter in co-operation with the Society for Organized Charities, placed Mrs. Janvier, the widow of a Confederate veteran, in the Presbyterian Home for widows. The chapter contributed $100.00. Mr. Charles Redford, a disabled veteran, was placed in the Orthopaedic Hospital. The chapter succeeded in securing for Mrs. V. V. White, a Southern woman with no means of support, a place in the Episcopal Hospital. $60.00 was appropriated by the chapter to the widow of a Confederate soldier as a memorial for services rendered the Confederacy by her husband. $10 was sent through the Red Cross Association to the flood sufferers in the South. A number of small sums were given to needy Southerners. The Confederate Veterans Camp, of New York, the Dabney Maury Chapter and the Philadelphia Chapter defrayed the funeral expenses of one of our veterans who had lived in Philadelphia, but whose remains were interred in New York. To help the magnificent and to us most appealing work of your own state in the Rabun Gap Industrial School, we have pledged ourselves to be one of the second hundred to give $250.00.

Thus ends our record for the year; we submit it realizing that our deeds have fallen far short of our aims. And yet, as one of our Southern writers has said of ideals, because they are unattainable, the striving should not cease. God Himself says, "Be ye perfect," and then forgives us that we are not.

From these outward and visible signs, we are sure you will understand the inward and spiritual part.

"For a cup and bell our lives we pay,

Bubbles we buy with a whole soul's tasking:

'Tis heaven alone that is given away,

'Tis only God may be had for the asking."

And so we, without the asking, bring to the parent stem a part of the divine within us—loyalty and love.

MRS. EDGAR MARBURG,
President.

SOUTH CAROLINA DIVISION.

Madam President and Members of the Fifteenth Annual Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

It is indeed a pleasure to come before you with the report from a division where the chapters have worked with a unity of purpose, a noble enthusiasm and genuine Southern loyalty, the combination of these being a sure indication that much has been accomplished.

The beginning of the year was marked by the publication of the second volume of South Carolina Women in the Confederacy. Great praise is due the efficient and painstaking Book Committee, who in the face of many odds have put into our hands these two very valuable historical volumes.

Through the Educational Committee the division has arranged to give a four years course at Winthrop Normal and Industrial College, at a cost of one hundred and four ($104.00) dollars a year, to the girl of Confederate lineage who shall stand the best entrance examination. From the thirteen girls who stood this examination, Miss Nan Trantham, of Camden, was the successful contestant. So far reports indicate that the Daughters of South Carolina will have every reason to be proud of what they have done in this educational endeavor.

Since we were lucky enough to have the placing of the Columbia University Scholarship, all preliminaries for that were arranged by the chairman of the Division Educational Committee Miss Arnica Moses, of Sumter, was the winner of this magnificent opportunity.

As is our custom, the chairman of the Historical Committee issued a circular early in the year, assigning subjects for the literary session at the coming State Convention, and suggesting to chapter smany ways in which to pursue historical work. As an aid to chapters so desiring, a fine program appropriate to the month has been published in the successive issues of the Keystone. Reports from chapters show a decided increase in interest in the literary features of the meetings. The Historian acts as chairman of the Reciprocity Bureau, also. Since all manuscripts are catalogued and kept systematically arranged in a large safety box, it is little trouble for her to send out material to Chapters desiring it. Recently the Historical Department has received a very valuable donation—eleven volumes of an Encyclopedia belonging to President Davis, several of the books bearing the name of Varina Davis. These are to be given out to chapters having relic rooms.

The offering of prizes to the pupils of our public schools and colleges is coming to be more and more the work of the chapters—a sure incentive towards the storing of these young minds with much information concerning the cause for which their fathers and grandfathers fought. Eight chapters have reported prizes or gold medals in the public schools; two have given gold medals in denominational colleges; and one gives annually a gold medal in the State University. Many chapters have followed the suggestion of presenting a portrait of President Davis to the schools in their towns; and one chapter reports having received this picture as a gift from its president.

January 19th, May 10th, June 3rd, and December 20th, are occasions among nearly all the chapters for literary or memorial exercises, the bestowing of Crosses of Honor and the serving of a bountiful dinner to the veterans of the entire county. Words can not describe the pleasure in anticipation and realization that these annual dinners give these old men—each one a re-union on a small scale.

The division has pledged itself to see that a State re-union of Confederate veterans is held each year. So far, the loyalty of the cities and towns in South Carolina has not permitted us to redeem that pledge; Greenville being the host on this occasion in August.

On account of South Carolina's pension provision, the matter of a Soldiers' Home has never made an impression on the Legislature sufficiently deep to order the establishment of one. Last winter, however, a Committee of Daughters conferred with a Committee of Veterans with the result that the Legislature appropriated $12,000.00 for the erection of an infirmary for soldiers. It will be ready for occupancy on January 1st, and from that time on, the making comfortable the last days of these needy veterans will be a work of pleasure for the Daughters.

During the year three monuments have been erected by chapters in their localities; one has given its contract; eight are working for monuments and one for a Memorial Hall. Another has funds collecting for a mural tablet to be placed in the Library of the South Carolina University. The marking of the graves of Confederate Veterans comes in this connection. Forty chapters report laurel wreaths for the caskets of veterans and twenty-five are marking the graves with marble slabs or iron crosses. Several chapters have completed marking all graves in their vicinity. Another work undertaken this year by the division is the erection of a monument over the grave of General Abner Perrin, a South Carolinian than whom none braver ever wore the gray, a soldier conspicuous for gallantry in twenty-seven battles. General Per-his body has lain all these years in an unmarked grave in Fredericksburg, Virginia, but it shall not longer remain thus. The committee, to whom has been intrusted this work, has been very successful, almost sufficient funds having been collected already to erect a fitting monument over his grave.

At the last State Convention the matter of a South Carolina window in Blandford Church, Petersburg, was brought before the division, and the opportunity to do this work was most heartily accepted. The Committee for this window planned wisely and well, giving the chapters three years in which to pay the entire amount. One-third was raised this year and recently the hearts of the Committee have been made glad by the voluntary offer of some of the most influential members of the Legislature to see that an appropriation goes through that body this winter for the remainder of the amount.

On January 19th, elaborate and eminently fitting were the ceremonies in the State Capitol in Columbia, the occasion being the unveiling of the portrait of General Johnson Hagood. Another portrait to be unveiled soon is of General James Connor. Both of these men shed luster upon the history of their State and their are names whom South Carolina Daughters delight to honor. The presentation of these portraits has been the work of the South Carolina Division.

Now that some of the laborious work set before the Division has been accomplished, the attention of the chapters is being turned to the formation of Children's Chapters. Only one has been organized this year; but, under the enthusiastic direction of Mrs. Robert Beall, of Spartanburg, it may well serve as a model to every chapter in the State.

A chapter of which we are very proud is the one at Winthrop Normal and Industrial College. At the beginning of this scholastic year, there were fifty names on the roll and this number has been largely increased after a canvass of the dormitories. These girls do fine work in their chapter, always send a full representation to State Conventions; and, as graduates, go out over the State every year making valuable trained members to be added to other chapters or to organize new ones. The annual U. D. C. bazaar has come to be a feature of school life at Winthrop.

The South Carolina Division is peculiarly fortunate in having two of its loyal Daughters in charge of Keystone and in having this valuable organ published in our midst. Since a copy of this magazine goes into nearly every chapter in the State, the work of communication between chapter presidents and division officers is rendered comparatively easy.

The Recorder of Crosses has proven a most valuable addition to the official board of the Division. Books suitably ruled and printed have been provided and all back records have been carefully transcribed. During the year four hundred and four Crosses have been bestowed.

As time goes on we are convinced more and more of the importance of the office of Registrar. A turn to her books will reveal the record of every member of the Division. In the years to come when private papers may be lost or destroyed, how gladly will our granddaughters and great granddaughters avail themselves of the information contained in these books.

South Carolina's room in the Confederate Museum at Richmond has not been forgotten. Through the South Carolina Regent the Legislature again made its appropriation of $100.00 to this room. In addition, $6.50 have been contributed by chapters and the two volumes of "South Carolina Women in the Confederacy" have been added to the library there.

The Committees on Shiloh and Arlington have kept their respective causes constantly before the chapters, with the result that in the last report before the meeting of this Convention, South Carolina follows Tennessee in the list of contributors for Shiloh while the Arlington Committee has raised over two hundred dollars.

During the year the division has been called upon to mourn the death of two of our ex-presidents—Mrs. Harriet Shannon Burnet and Mrs. Ellison Capers. In both of these women was exemplified the highest type of Southern womanhood before the war and after. Both passed through that four year crucible, and both came out refined from the ordeal, to live lives of the highest usefulness, and to be worthy examples to all who knew them.

It is indeed a privilege to represent South Carolina on this occasion and to give assurance that the Daughters of our old commonwealth will endeavor in every way possible to contribute their share to the glory and achievements of the U. D. C.

Respectfully submitted,

ELOISE WELCH WRIGHT,

President South Carolina Division, U. D. C.

TENNESSEE DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters:—

The Tennessee Division is a big subject!—my consolation and my despair! I am consoled for the strain of absorbing work and some untoward happenings by the success of the last year's endeavor.

or. I am in despair over my utter inability to give you an adequate idea of it in the time allotted to tell it.

You may remember that last year Tennessee cast the largest vote in the Convention. I feel sure that it will be larger this year. We have four new chapters to report:

The old 19th Regiment Chapter at Bristol, Tenn.,
 The Capt. W. D. Hallum at Henry, Tenn.,
 The Col. John R. Neal Chapter, at Spring City, Tenn.
 John Watson Morton Chapter, at Camden, Tenn.

All of these were organized with quite an unusually large number.

Most of the older chapters report largely augmented membership. If we do not lead the vote this year, perhaps it is largely due to our good example last year that acted as a stimulant to our sister divisions. The Jefferson Davis Centenary work, has claimed and received much of our attention. We took it up promptly and with enthusiasm, led by the Central Committee, of which Mrs. John C. Sweeney, of Paris, is chairman.

The chapters all over the State were active in introducing the history of the life and character of President Davis, and also have placed busts and pictures and literature in many of the schools and colleges. School buildings have been named for him here and there, and in U. D. C. galleries he has been made the central thought.

We personally, offered a handsome gold medal for the best essay on Jefferson Davis, by any pupil, girl or boy, under 17 years, in the Public Schools of the State. The State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. R. L. Jones, kindly took the matter up, giving it State-wide publicity, sending out the necessary literature, appointing the judges, and arranging all details. This stimulated to a wonderful degree the study of the subject, and many very creditable essays were the result. Mr. Jones made the award at the Capitol in Nashville before a most representative audience, some of the State officials taking part in the ceremonies. The talented daughter of Congressman Fitzpatrick was the fortunate winner.

The Shiloh monument has been kept before the Division and the fund is growing steadily.

The Sam Davis monument is nearing completion, and will stand a thing of beauty on Capitol Hill at Nashville. The Zolnay model for the monument which typifies youth, patriotism, honor, courage, heroism, is fascinating. I can never look upon this conception of this immortal boy hero without tears.

Just here I must speak of another monument that will in the near future adorn a square in our beautiful Centennial Park,—erected to the memory of "the Private Confederate soldier. The veterans have struggled to build this for years, and have quite a considerable sum bearing interest. They have enlisted the interest of "the First Tennessee," Nashville youngest Chapter, and in less than eight months they have raised nearly $1200.00 of the $1500.00 necessary to finish the monument. This Chapter has made for U. D. C. nearly $2000 during its brief existence of eighteen months.

I appointed Mrs. J. W. Clapp, Chairman for Arlington, feeling sure that she would reach high water mark in this important work. I have made no mistake. Mrs. Baker, my successor in the Tennessee Room Regency at Richmond will doubtless make a fine report through our beloved Vice Regent, Mrs. N. V. Randolph.

It is gratifying to us to know that the movement we started in Tennessee to make our love for our dead poet, James R. Randall, blossom into a practical memorial has found favor—not only in Tennessee, but all over the South.

Mt. Pleasant and Trenton have completed their handsome monuments and Lynnville and Mulberry report monument funds growing.

The erection of the Tennessee window in old Blandford church, I placed in the hands of Mrs. William Hume, as chairman. I feel sure that our pledge for this will soon be redeemed.

The Mary Latham Chapter, Memphis, has organized a very fine Confederate Choir. At the U. D. C. Congress at Monteagle, last summer they added greatly to the interest of the occasion, and were very much in evidence at the great Reunion at Birmingham.

I had the pleasure and privilege of representing the Tennessee Division at the U. C. V. Reunion at Alabama's wonderful commercial center, and I have many charming memories stored away to keep always of that notable conclave at Birmingham.

As the President of the Tennessee Division we were the recipient of many courtesies and special attentions. Personally and in behalf of the Tennessee Division, I bring special greetings to the Alabama Daughters.

The State Convention of the U. D. C. of Tennessee that was held in Chattanooga last May was largely attended, and in some respects, perhaps the most successful in the history of the Division. It appeared to me that I had never seen such unmistakable evidence of earnestness of purpose and loyalty to the cause among the chapters, and the overwhelming vote for making the real vital interests of the Division, paramount, whenever it came to the issue. Many vexing questions were settled and much business transacted. I wish I had time to tell you of the royal way in which Chattanooga entertained us. We can never forget those delightful days, so replete with pleasure and profit, and the charming people of this interesting historic city. Our interstate U. D. C. Congress at Monteagle on the 2nd of August was a great occasion, as I knew it would be, when I secured the services of our President General, Mrs.

Stone, as Presiding officer. If she would leave the hall a few minutes I would just love to talk behind her back and tell you what Monteagle thinks of her. Her coming each year to Monteagle has come to be a demand. At my request, almost every chapter in the State held a memorial meeting to pay tribute to the memory of General A. P. Stuart on October 2nd, the eighty-eighth anniversary of his birth. He died you know, only a short time before, on August 31st.

Some of you have seen the beautiful new year book just gotten out by our State Historian, Mrs. Eleanor Gillespie. We are very proud of it, and several States have signified their intention of taking Mrs. Gillespie's course of study for their historical work, during 1909 and 1910. This artistic little book is a revelation in the way of a Year Book, and has attracted wide attention.

The educational feature of the Tennessee Division has been made a great deal of, and in the last twelve months much has been accomplished. We simply can not give you any adequate idea of it unless we could go into detail. Seven full scholarships were reported at Chattanooga by Miss Lauderdale, chairman of Education, and twice as many have come to us since them—two of the most important are, one from Buford College for Women, Nashville, that gives four years, board, tuition, extras—everything—to a worthy girl of Confederate ancestry, and another from The Institute, Columbia, with similar conditions. Mrs. Clift, of Chattanooga, the new Chairman of Education, will doubtless astonish the 1909 convention at Jackson with her account of the educational work.

The Girls' Confederate Home at Peabody School for Teachers, a roseate dream of many of our Daughters, is in the able hands of Mrs. Nathaniel Green Williams of Franklin, who is pushing the work with vigor and intelligence.

Mrs. W. B. Maney, chairman of the Soldiers' Home Committee, is the right woman in the right place. She has brought about many reforms in the Home since her appointment in May, and is now planning an annual Arbor Day in the park at the Soldiers' Home, with the official sanction of the President of the Board of Trustees, and the President of the Tennessee Division. She has selected the 30th of November, the anniversary of the Battle of Franklin, Tenn., as Confederate Arbor Day at the Soldiers' Home. Each chapter in the State is requested to bring and plant a tree—and the day will be observed with appropriate ceremonies, followed by a dinner at which the old soldiers are the guests of honor.

I am collecting Confederate literature of all kinds, books, pamphlets, year books, minutes of conventions, etc., to place in our stately and beautiful State Library at the Capitol. Miss Mary Skeffington, the Librarian, and herself a Daughter, has graciously set apart certain space for this, and invites all U. D. C.'s to help fill it.

I brought to Atlanta from Tennessee Division a miniature banner, with the State's Arms of Tennessee hand painted thereon. The Custodian General of Flags requested this, and it was my pleasure to comply; also to Mrs. Voorheis' request for a Tennessee tree. This year I brought a sugar maple, such as only Tennessee can produce, and this little tree is expected to do its duty, and outgrow and outshine every other tree in the Georgia Souvenir Confederate Grove, even the tree from North Carolina.

I must have a minute in which to say a word of appreciation about the Keystone, to which we are indebted for much pleasure and many courtesies. The Tennessee Division news always seems to find a welcome in its columns, and the President of the Tennessee Division wishes both personally and officially to thank this always charming little publication for entertainment, profit and courtesy.

Respectfully submitted,

JUDITH WINSTON PILCHER,
President Tennessee Division U. D. C.

TEXAS DIVISION.

The Texas Division extends a loyal greeting to the United Daughters of the Confederacy. This year has been one of happiness, progress and work well done by the Daughters of Texas, and it is with genuine pride that we have given our best efforts to this administration in full appreciation of the splendid service of our President-General, Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, a former President of our Texas Division, the author of our Constitution, and strong and true in the ranks of service as well as in the council of authority.

We appreciate very deeply the uniform courtesies of our Recording Secretary-General, Mrs. Dowdell, of our Corresponding Secretary General, Mrs. Cooley, and of our Treasurer, Mrs. Williams. They have been uniformly prompt and generous with their time and kindly assistance.

It is in the heart and remembrance of mankind, as well as in entablature of marble and bronze, that the lives and services of our great men should be commemorated.

This good year 1908 the centenary anniversary of President Jefferson Davis, of the Confederate States of America, with one voice in enthusiastic accord, our State organization has given praise and honor to our beloved chieftain, who loved our cause, its principles, and its constitutional rights better than life.

Gratitude for his sacrifice and service has been the keynote of our endeavor. There are many reasons why the women of the South should, at this time, honor the President of the Confederacy.

That matchless piece of literature, "The Rise and Fall of the Confederacy," is dedicated with beautiful encomium to the women of the South. Upon the passing of one hundred years, in all nations and all times, honor, praise and adoration are shown to heroes and martyrs.

Each of our chapters held appropriate meetings upon June the third. President Davis' picture has been placed in many of our public schools; effort is being made by our Division to have public schools named in his honor, and a prize has been offered to the student in the State University who will prepare the best biographical essay upon the life of President Davis. This has veritably been a "Davis year" with us, and it is with pardonable pride that we remember that because of the efforts of our Division, directed by our past President, Mrs. D. A. Nunn, the third day of June is a legal holiday in Texas.

The Texas State Teacher's Association in convention assembled in Houston last December, adopted resolutions pledging enthusiastic support to the Daughters of the Confederacy in their effort to give due praise to this just man.

The Texas Division, through the generosity of Major Littlefield, a Confederate soldier and esteemed citizen of Austin, has established a History scholarship in the State University.

The energies of our Division have been largely concentrated upon the maintaining of our Confederate Woman's Home, which enterprise represents the concerted action of our division for the past five years.

With the same courage and never flagging energy which made it possible for the division to erect the home, they have opened and supported, and it is a source of gratification that we have been enabled to accomplish this great work expressive of our love and veneration for the women of the Confederacy.

The Home, with appropriate ceremony, was opened the third day of June, in honor of President Davis' birthday, and the Confederate Veterans and citizens of Austin joined in this patriotic observance.

Our Home now cares for within its portals a number of worthy women of the Confederacy. The chapters of our division have responded loyally to the support of the Home, and this will continue until the State of Texas, by amendment of its Constitution, takes control.

The Vice Presidents of the Texas Division, each the respective chairman of a committee to create a fund for support of the Home, have done their work well.

Miss Decca Lamar West, Chairman of Chickamauga monument Committee, Mrs. Joseph B. Dibrell, Director for Texas of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association, with Mrs. J. B. Roberdeau, of Austin, chairman of the State Committee, have had response from our Division in their beautiful patriotic work.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. S. W. Sholars, a committee from our division is making diligent efforts to place a memorial tablet to Hood's Texas Brigade upon the Battlefield of Gettysburg.

The Committee to place a monument over the grave of General Tom Green, under the direction of Mrs. Z. T. Fulmore, have completed their labors and the monument will soon be unveiled.

The Wm. P. Rogers Monument Committee, Mrs. J. M. Brownson, Chairman, continue their efforts to erect a memorial to this gallant officer who fell at Corinth, and who was buried with the honors of war by the enemy.

On January 19th, in honor of General Lee's birthday, monuments were unveiled at Corsicana by the Navarro Chapter and at Houston by the Robt. E. Lee Chapter, and on June the third, President Davis' birthday, also by the Lou Dougherty Chapter, at Gainesville, Texas, and Veuve Jefferson Davis chapter, at Galveston, will on January 9th, 1909, unveil their monument to the soldiers and sailors of the Confederate States of America.

The John H. Reagan Chapter of Palestine will, in a short time, unveil the monument to Judge John H. Reagan, Postmaster General, and last surviving member of the Cabinet of President Davis, a loving tribute to this grand old man of Texas. Other chapters are busily engaged in this patriotic service, remembering that monuments are object lessons in history.

Our division has forwarded to Mrs. A. V. Winkler, Texas Regent for the Confederate Museum at Richmond, the amount of our obligations to her, and our Texas Confederate Museum in our State House under the wise care of Mrs. L. J. Story, the Regent, is growing rich in its accumulation of interesting souvenirs and relics.

The historical department of our division has grown steadily and our historian, Mrs. Watson, sends regularly to all chapters and auxiliaries programs for chapter use, including special programs for the observance of our honor days.

Texas was the pioneer State for a Literary Evening, and furnishes a program of subjects for a literary contest. The spirit of the successful contestants forming the program for literary evening at our Annual Convention.

Crosses of Honor have been conferred by many chapters, and though our State Recorder, Mrs. Hazlett, has been in deep sorrow, she has manifested interest in her work.

It has been my privilege to visit a number of chapters throughout the State, and to rejoice with the veterans upon the occasion of their State Re-unions, also at the General Re-union at Birmingham.

Last spring, with our corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hassell, I visited our Soldiers Home in Austin and spent several pleasant hours with those soldiers who are the guests of our State.

The intimate association with the several officers and elective members of our Board has been most agreeable, and each one has performed her duty nobly and promptly.

We have many blessings for which we are profoundly thankful. Mrs. Joseph B. Dibrell as President of the administration preceding this gave service of which every Daughter was deeply sensible.

We have spared to us in health our beloved "Patron Saint," Mrs. Mollie R. Macgill Rosenberg, whose generous heart and loyalty to our cause has endeared her to every Daughter of this Association. Mrs. D. A. Nunn, our Past President, whose gracious dignity commands our regard, and the honors conferred on our President General are greatly appreciated by the Texas Division.

With a hope that the United Daughters of the Confederacy may grow stronger from year to year, never relaxing their efforts to commemorate the deathless deeds of the men and women of the Confederacy, and that harmony and unity of action may mark their efforts in all patriotic work.

KATIE DAFFAN,
President Texas Division, U. D. C.

REPORT OF THE WEST VIRGINIA DIVISION OF U. D. C.

Welcome: I know we are welcome to Georgia, a State that showed such undisputed loyalty and faithfulness, in the War between the States. She sent her men, her boys, sacrificed her fields of their natural products, and was trodden down by the relentless foe, going through Georgia, making havoc of all that was dear to the Southern heart, but how she has rallied; how she threw the fertilizing purity of her people, over the contaminated ground, purifying it with the true principles of Georgia's men, women and children. We come to you, admiring you, loving you and placing you as a State on the pinnacle of greatness. For your women, too much can not be said. They suffered. They encouraged their husbands, fathers and sons to answer their Country's call, staying home to spin and weave the homespun, to protect the soldiers from the cold and care for the little ones, and suffer the dreadful suspense of the result of battles.

To you; Daughter of Atlanta, State of Georgia, and all Daughters of the Southland, I bring loving greetings from the Mountains and Valleys of West Virginia.

The division is doing good work. Chapters recently formed show great interest, led as they are, by bright and enthusiastic young women, whose parents suffered much from the misfortunes of war, and now live on the memories of the past. One chapter was formed six weeks ago, received its charter and sent a representative to the State convention. Several chapters have been dropped, for not complying with the rules of the organization. Most chapters have increased their membership very much, as will be seen by the roster of 1909.

We held our State Convention at Huntington, a beautiful town of 2000 inhabitants, on the Ohio River. The attendance was unusually large, showing an increased interest in the State. Our women have a very intelligent idea of what should be done in the State and of the work of the general order. Their eyes beamed with delight when I read the telegram, sent by the President General, wishing us great success in all our deliberations. It seemed to be an inspiration, and I take this opportunity to thank her for her thoughtfulness. I was very much pleased with the reports. Many Chapters are making an effort to take from the schools, the histories, misleading as to the war and our great men. Some have already succeeded. One has taken up the human calendar, another a mile of pennies, one issue of a dally paper, by the advertisements and interesting reminiscences, making something worth reading and putting away. This may seem an unique way of making money, but the women of our section are tired of the frying pan and the fire, an occupation forced upon many of them, since our friends, by emancipations, have taken from us our dear old Mammys.

We have erected three monuments, in the last 15 months, at Lewishurg, Parkersburg, and Beverly shafts that do credit to the women of the State, and the Daughters of Charleston expect to unveil, next year, a handsome monument to the immortal Stonewall Jackson, the most world-renowned soldier, born in confines of our State, and we would be very glad to receive some contributions from our sisters, now assembled in Atlanta. Our dear old veterans are tenderly cared for. Many who wore the gray have joined the ranks of those who rest in the quiet grave yards. Each year the stalwart forms, which fought so unflinchingly against overwhelming numbers, are growing bent, the silver cord will soon be loosed, the golden bowl be broken, and the last old veteran will have gone to appear before his God, and never, no never will there be another Confederate soldier.

Daughters; you it is, who are left to perpetuate their deeds, and young women, stop and think of your responsibility. They fought for principle, for homes, for everything we hold dear, and when our work is done and the sod has been laid on our graves, you must take it up.

The activity in our department of History, which the U. D. C. stands pledged by its constitution, to perform, has grown wonderfully, and I can boast of having one of the most faithful and competent historians, in the whole South. We have, in several towns, offered prizes in the schools, for the best essays upon our Generals and Statesmen. The Cross of Honor is still distributed to the veterans, and there will be a sprinkling of them until the time expires. The older we get, the less regard we have for the passing of time. The old men forget, they hear of the distribution, and come for their Crosses after the time has passed, and have to wait for another time, and perhaps their hopes are never realized.

Thanking you for your kind attention I respectfully submit this report.

VIRGINIA FAULKNER McSHERRY,
President West Virginia Division.

WASHINGTON DIVISION.

Seattle, Washington, October 27th, 1908.

Madame President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

Three local chapters have been duly organized in this State, delegates from the Spokane and Tacoma chapters, together with the Seattle Chapter, met in this city on first day of October, instant, and perfected an organization of a State Division to the extent of electing the following-named officers, viz.:

Mrs. Bushrod W. Bell, Seattle, President.

Mrs. J. F. Hedges, First Vice-President, Spokane.

Mrs. Alexander Smith, Second Vice-President, Tacoma.

Mrs. R. E. Jarvis, Recording Secretary, Seattle,

Mrs. Walter Beals, Corresponding Secretary, Seattle,

Mrs. G. W. Darby, Registrar, Spokane,

Miss, E. Florence Fletcher, Treasurer, Tacoma,
Mrs. G. A. C. Rochester, Historian, Seattle.

As such president I have issued a call to the different chapters of the division to send the required number of delegates to a Convention to assemble at Seattle on the 5th day of November, proximo, for the purpose of adopting a Constitution and By-Laws for the government of this division.

I enclose herewith an interesting and detailed report of the Mildred Lee Chapter of Spokane, also a brief report of the Robert E. Lee Chapter of Seattle.

The Dixie Chapter of Tacoma has not, up to the present time, furnished me with a report.

The president of the Mildred Lee Chapter of Spokane requests that I ask my proxy, Mrs. Chappell Cory, of Birmingham, Ala., to read her report to the Annual Convention at Atlanta, Ga., at the time she reads the report of the Robert E. Lee Chapter, of Seattle.

Deeply regretting it will be impossible for me to meet with you in person, rest assured that I am with you in spirit, and my best wishes go out for the success of the cause our noble Southern women are so heartily and enthusiastically espousing.

Very sincerely,

MRS. BUSHROD W. BELL,

President of Washington Division, U. D. C.

The Division in the State of Washington was formed just a few weeks prior to the meeting of the Convention in Atlanta, and therefore the reports of the three chapters are given.

I.

Madam President General and Members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

We extend cordial greetings from the Mildred Lee Chapter of Spokane, Washington. Few of our Western daughters may be present, but our loyalty gives assurance that we are with you heart and mind and will support all you do.

We trust our year's work is more fruitful than surface indications, living in a community where you can count Southern people on your fingers and without the inspiration of monuments, historic cities, and encouragement of members, 'tis uphill work to get them interested, but we are constantly striving to get every one into our chapter, for as a whole they number so few.

We hold two meetings a month, business and one work and social gathering. We have a paper on some Southern historical subject at the business meetings.

We have finished two quilts to be sent where most needed, and hope they will prove a comfort, as it was a labor of love.

We celebrated the birthday of President Davis, and the gallant Lee most appropriately and enthusiastically, and presented two Crosses of Honor. We also sent $10.00 to the Arlington Monument Fund and $5.00 to the Shiloh Fund. Through the efforts of Mrs. G. W. Darby, the Second Vice-President, we have organized a young ladies' auxiliary, and will try to reach all Southern sympathizers through this club of girls, and promise a report of work well done for the coming year in advance.

On decoration day, May 30th, by invitation Lieutenant Witten, of Virginia, now living in Spokane, rode by the side of Commander Clark in the G. A. R. parade. Lieut. Witten in his suit of gray, looking so proud and fine, was cheered to our hearts' content.

To say we were proud of him would but feebly tell you of our suppressed feelings. Their pictures were taken, afterwards enlarged, and exhibited at the Spokane Inland Fair, entitled The Blue and the Gray. The lamp of the Great Spirit seemed to burn in the sky to show this scene to His children.

Between them was a veil which truth was rending, to some it has disappeared, yet many looked, and understood not its meaning. but methinks that soldier in blue was proud to show homage to that soldier in gray, who stood for heroism, patriotism, and devotion to the Confederate soldier "who fought without reward, but not without honor," and today holds the unique position of the greatest soldier that the world has ever produced.

Goodbye and God speed you in this work.

Fraternally yours,

Mrs. N. F. Brooks,

President of Mildred Lee Chapter, of Spokane, Wash.

II.

As President of the Robt. E. Lee Chapter of Seattle, I send greetings to the Convention.

Our chapter, while holding its interest in the work, and giving liberally when called upon, has not increased materially in numbers during the past year—the better part of our time being spent in getting the eligibility papers straightened out, through some misunderstandings when the chapter was first organized, our chapter being far from the birthplaces of its members has required time to get them properly signed.

We are now in good condition for work, and hope to accomplish much during the year.

Have very recently formed a Division, and under its efficient President, Mrs. Bushrod W. Bell, the three chapters of the great State of Washington will no doubt accomplish much in the U. D. C. work.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. G. A. C. ROCHESTER,
President Robt. E. Lee Chapter, Seattle, Wash.

III.

Madam President and Members of Convention:

The Dixie Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, Tacoma, Washington, has just completed the first year of its existence. Membership consists of twelve, with four additional names on the applicant list.

The monthly meetings have been merely social in their nature. At one of the meetings in the spring we decided to send a small contribution, either in money or fancy work to the Gen. Morgan Bazaar in Kentucky. Recently it was voted to contribute two dollars annually to the Shiloh Memorial Fund, until the monument is completed.

In the cemetery in Tacoma there is a group of Confederate graves. We propose to erect a small shaft, with the names of each one in full, to the memory of these almost unknown heroes of the Southern army.

It is also our intention to bestow the Cross of Honor on such veterans in Tacoma to whom such a privilege is due.

Regretting that it will be impossible for any one in our chapter to be present at the Atlanta Convention, we have asked Mrs. Chappell Corey, of Birmingham, Ala., to act as our proxy, and to read this report at same time with other reports of the Washington State Division.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. J. S. THOMAS,
President Dixie Chapter, U. D. C., Tacoma, Wash.

VIRGINIA DIVISION.

Madam President and Daughters of the Confederacy, from Virginia, I bear you greetings.

The Wise King tells us: Ointment and perfume rejoice the heart; so doth the sweetness of a friend by hearty counsel.

And of all hearty counsels, I know none the sweetness of which is so grateful, as the counsels that we take together in these gatherings of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

The year just closed has been one of great activity and encouragement. We have one hundred and five active chapters, with a total membership of 5340. Of this number 591 were added in the past year. We have lost fifty members by death. Six chapters were chartered—one of the six, formerly the Thomas C. Kelley, has changed its name and is now the Jefferson Davis Chapter. The change was suggested by that battle-marked veteran, Thomas C. Kelley, whose unselfish preference prompted him to thus honor the memory of his great Chieftain.

Waning chapters have been invigorated, and it is with pride we tell that Virginia Division has entered upon an era of progress unparalleled in its past history. Not even North Carolina can make greater claims.

Our work during the past year has been systematized. We have insisted upon the enrollment with State Registrar of every member of every chapter in the Division, and a chapter whose members are not thus enrolled is not in good standing and can not have representation in our conventions.

Having outgrown our Constitution, it was my privilege to appoint the committee to draft a new one which was adopted at our recent convention at Manassas. We were honored upon the occasion to have as our guest, our much beloved President General, who was a wise counselor, and whose presence was an added inspiration.

Our new rules governing the bestowal of Crosses of Honor have been the source of much confusion and unwittingly of some violations of the law. We will incorporate these rules in our Minutes and with special instruction, hope to secure a strict compliance with the regulations. The Recorder will be furnished with a list showing the standing of each chapter.

A greater number of Crosses of Honor have been presented during the past year than ever before, the number being 1171.

In compliance with the request of the President Gen'l. I as Chairman of Committee on Promotion of the Study of the Life and Character of Jefferson Davis, wrote a personal letter to each member of the State Board of Education and issued a circular letter to Superintendents of Public Schools, throughout the State, asking co-operation in an effort to introduce into the schools, particularly the high schools, a more thorough study of the life and character of President Davis. I requested a definite reply as to their attitude toward this matter. Out of 54 replies, one was evasive, while 53 heartily endorsed the move and expressed not only a willingness, but a desire to assist in furthering the object.

I also wrote to many of the chapters urging co-operation, and had numerous responses not only from the chapters, but from teachers in their localities. Prizes were offered by many chapters for best papers on life of President Davis—$10.00 was offered by Richmond Chapter for such paper.

June 3rd was appropriately observed—Crosses of Honor were bestowed, eloquent addresses were delivered, veterans were feasted and vast crowds gathered—proudly attesting the fact that the hearts of Virginians beat true as ever to the leader of the Lost Cause.

Owing to a misunderstanding on the Part of the Chairman of our Legislative Committee, Virginia Division did not get the credit for the Bill passed by our last Legislature, making it a misdemeanor for persons to unlawfully use or wear our Southern Cross of Honor. However, we gratefully accept the benefits without a knowledge of the hand that offers them.

Junior Chapters are yet in their infancy in our Division—the majority of the chapters preferring to have the young people work with them in the mother chapter.

We have added to our standing committees, a Confederate Museum committee, whose duties shall be to collect relics and important papers bearing on the War between the States, and contributions for the maintenance of this priceless treasure-home.

Beauvoir has been sold, our debts paid and the small balance will be used to reimburse as far as possible, the officers of the Association as far as possible, for legitimate expenses.

Total amount contributed by our Division, $1950.97. This does not include donations to Home for Needy Confederate Women. The object of this institution should enlist our tenderest sympathy—lest in our eagerness to erect marble shafts to our heroes, we subject ourselves to that cutting criticism uttered by the mother, of Robert Burns, "Poor Bobbie! He asked for bread and ye gave him a stone."

Mrs. A. C. Wycoff, Virginia's faithful Director for the Shiloh Monument, reports $185 collected. There are now in Virginia 118 monuments not to mention tablets and markers—over 80 markers having been reported for this year. Culpepper and Anna Stonewall Jackson at Abingdon, have each unveiled during the year, a fine monument, Petersburg a tablet in old Blandford Church and Leesburg a handsome bronze.

As to Virginia's work in the Arlington Monument Association, Church, I have left for the Committee to report—but will say that when last heard from, Virginia was in the lead with $500.00.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. C. B. TATE,
President Virginia Division.

To the President and United Daughters of the Confederacy, now assembled at Atlanta, Ga.

We, the Industrial Educational League of the South, send you greetings and ask that you will permit our papers sent you by Mrs. Annie S. Green, delegate from this State to be read and acted upon, as it is a matter of great importance to the South, that the Anglo Saxon shall rule and not turn over their best opportunities to the black race while our white children are suffering for even equal advantages with them. Also that you will consider our proposition to give one-third of the collections of each chapter in the United States for the ensuing year, to go towards the purchase of the handsome building now offered at such a sacrifice or it will be sold for a negro school, much to the injury of both white and colored in that part of Virginia.

Let us join our forces and each one giving a little, it will fall lightly on all, and we will have the great privilege of preparing for the battle of life these children of our honored Confederate veterans, whose State was the great battlefield for four long years. Hoping for a favorable reply.

COMMUNICATIONS TO THE CONVENTION

Presented by Miss Mary B. Poppenheim, on behalf of the U. C. V., with recommendation of co-operation of the U. D. C., and heartily endorsed by the President-General.

THE JEFFERSON DAVIS HOME ASSOCIATION.

The United Confederate Veterans have undertaken to procure portions of the land that belonged to Samuel Davis at the time of the birth of his son, Jefferson Davis, at Davisborough, now Fairview, Ky.

The Jefferson Davis Home Association has prepared a beautiful certificate of membership, which will be supplied to all contributors of one dollar ($1.00) or more. All remittances should be made to Capt. John H. Leathers, Treasurer, Louisville, Ky.

The Jefferson Davis Monument Association has procured an option on the land desired for memorial purposes. There are about 25 acres of this land, including the church area upon which stood the residence.

It is desired to procure as much of this as practicable for a perpetual memorial. Upon nine acres is a good house that would make a most suitable home for Confederate women.

The special desire is to procure the realty and have it perpetually relieved from taxes.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy observe this movement with satisfaction and commend it to the chapters and divisions.

It seems fitting in this way for all Confederate organizations to co-operate in establishing this Southern Mecca, whereby generations to come after us may have the opportunity to erect such memorials as their patriotism and loyalty may suggest.

Madam President and Ladies of the Convention.

Will you permit me to bring before this august body, a question that is very dear to me: That is the organizing and sustaining chapters of Children of the Confederacy.

I think we all realize fully, that it is through these children that our future strength will come. That the vine we graft now will be the one that will yield the fruitage and I pray this body in convention assembled to devote some of its time to the vital question of how to win the richest harvest.

To begin with, I think we should recognize the individuality of the infant chapter. Florida alone has chartered them. We recognize that they have rights and privileges and are not alone auxiliaries of other chapters and right royally have they filled our trusts. They have their own Constitution and By-Laws, their own officers, and nobly they work for the cause. Children raised in this loyal kindergarten come into our chapters fully grounded in the vital questions we must consider. They are prepared for intelligent work for the success they prize and grounded in the historical knowledge of what it means to be a Daughter of the Confederacy. Raised thus the badge upon their breast will never degenerate into a mere ornament, but will stand out an emblem of truth and right, and royalty to our Southland. Will the convention discuss how best to increase the number of children's chapters? Will they urge upon every chapter represented in this hall, the great need of organizing their own children into chapters. Chapters that shall be auxiliary to their own, or shall be individual as their Division has made legal.

Now another question I would like to put to the suffrage of the convention—shall a girl who has been regularly elected a member of children's chapter—her credentials having been duly examined into and passed, again become an applicant when of suitable age to graduate into a chapter of adults? Will her application have again to pass the credential committee or may she be received on demit from the children's chapter? This question is one that has never been brought up and it is one that will soon have to be faced by every chapter receiving a graduate from the children's chapter. May I ask that it be discussed and decided by this convention? It seems to me that after the close examination her application received from the credential committee, that a simple demit is all that is necessary, but the question is open to debate and is respectfully submitted.

LULA HAYES LAWRENCE,
President Florida Division U. D. C.

Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, President-General, U. D. C.
Atlanta, Georgia.

My Dear President and Daughters of the Confederacy: .

I desire herein to express my gratitude for the encouragement you have given me by your cheerful responses to my request for pictures and accurate data of your respective Confederate monuments. Many of you as yet, have not responded, but I am sure all will want the picture and history of their monuments to have a place along with others in my book of monuments and memorials. Kind words of commendation from many of you have been helpful and given me courage to press on in the difficult undertaking.

Mrs. J. R. Atwood, of Appomattox, Va., has manifested an interest in aiding me far more than I could expect from any one. She sent me a picture and full data of the Confederate monument at Appomattox, then interested others in the work of securing pictures and data for me. I have written a letter with my pen, to every U. D. C., chapter throughout the Confederacy where there are monuments, asking the same favor, and at least half of them are yet to be heard from. What a history we will have if you will only furnish a picture and data of your Confederate monuments. I ask each chapter to send me:

1. A picture of your confederate monument.
2. An exact copy of the inscriptions just as they are on each side of the monument, capital letters, line for line, commas, periods, etc.
3. By what society (or person) erected.
4. When erected, and if possible the cost.
5. In honor of whom.

Describe cemetery, if there is one, also describe statues, ornaments, bas-reliefs, height, material, etc.

Wishing you a happy and prosperous meeting in convention in Atlanta this week, I am with cordial greetings and affection,

Your sister in Confederate bonds,

MRS. A. J. EMERSON.

3631 W. 30 Ave., Denver, Colorado.

Nov. 10th, 1908.

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 5th, 1908.

Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, President-General United Daughters of the Confederacy, Galveston, Texas.

My Dear Madam:—

Will you allow me, one deeply interested in all that perpetuates the nobility and grandeur of the Southern Confederacy, to extend my warmest sympathies and earnest commendation for the work done by that highly patriotic organization, the United Daughters of the Confederacy. It has been especially brought to my attention by the success achieved in the recent celebrations of the birthdays of Gen. Robert E. Lee and President Jefferson Davis, which so largely under their auspices, have been general throughout the South. Not content with these celebrations, I note with pleasure, that you urge the various chapters to continue the good work of keeping their memories green, by lessons, exercises and the installing of the portraits of these, our distinguished leaders, in the schools of the South.

So extended is the grand work that the Daughters have and are accomplishing, that it would be utterly impossible to refer to it all in detail. But I can sum up my appreciation and I think that of all the veterans, by saying that they have proved themselves worthy Daughters of our glorious Women of the Confederacy. We, old veterans, have ever felt that a good providence blessed us and our country, in raising up the splendid womanhood, which made bright that dark era of our history. Without taking a single jewel from their immortal crown, we must admit, that we and our sons are thrice blessed, in that present womanhood, now organized as the United Daughters of the Confederacy, who keep alive not only the memory of the magnificent heroism of their mothers, but the record of the unsurpassed bravery of their fathers.

May a good God ever keep and prosper for good, the United Daughters of the Confederacy!

May I congratulate the Association on the ideal women, whom they have ever had to preside over and to lead them, and I know that you, my dear friend, are most worthy to be among them.

With the highest personal regards,

I am yours most cordially and sincerely,

C. IRVINE WALKER.

(This communication was not read before the convention for lack of time, and therefore no action was taken thereon, but by request is printed with other communications.)

GIRLS CONFEDERATE HOME.

Mrs. Green Williams, of Franklin, Tenn., who is Chairman for the Girl's Confederate Home, has issued the following strong plea on the subject to the members of the U. D. C., and friends of the project, which deserves fine public support:

Madame President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

Your indulgent attention and thoughtful consideration are asked to hear, not a report, but a few brief words, not from the Committee of Girl's Confederate Home of Tennessee Division, but from its Chairman.

Our work is proceeding slowly but surely, and as this body is widely scattered over the United States, this is an admirable opportunity for presenting a few facts relative to this great undertaking.

"When we read in the report of the Educational Committee of the U. D. C., of the scholarships bestowed by different institutions of learning, we feel constrained to add a small quota of praise to those whose generous impulses, taking tangible form, have made it possible for so many young men to fit themselves for teachers:

"The Peabody College at Nashville offers free tuition to those who intend to become teachers, and when we will have erected a girl's dormitory, or Girl's Confederate Home in the vicinity, where board at a minimum rate can be obtained, with all the home comforts, restrictions and parental care, exercised in discretion, by a competent matron, we will make it possible for many bright ambitious young women to acquire an education who might otherwise never have the opportunity to attain the desire of their lives to become self-supporting and to aid in the uplift and betterment of all with whom they come in contact.

Personal experience gives knowledge of the advantage of this great institution of learning, for a diploma from Peabody College carries with it the open sesame to all the public schools of the country for those seeking a position in them.

"Then too, we know the disadvantage, under which many young women labor, even after obtaining a scholarship. For example, three young girls, from different sections of a neighboring state secured scholarships on a competitive examination, and it was only by the most economical living and closest management that they eked out a meagre existence and managed to pay the cheapest board in private families near the college. So much has been said and written that it is superfluous to go over the ground. Let every member of the U. D. C. strive to make it possible to educate one daughter or grand-daughter by building the Girls' Confederate Home and thus enable them to secure a comfortable home and board as the young men do at their universities, many of whom have far greater advantages than our girls.

"Do not disregard this call, Daughters of the Confederacy, but aid in erecting this living memorial to our honored dead, and thus perpetuate the memory of those noble sires who gave all for their homes and loved ones.

"If every State would raise $100.00, or every member give $1.00 per capita, we would soon see our hopes realized, and have a monument the grandest erected, except the Soldier's Home.

"Daughters, veterans, friends, again we repeat, take this matter up, and do not let Thanksgiving pass without making a thank offering for this worthy, benevolent and philanthropic cause.

Address all communications to the undersigned,

Respectfully,

ODIELIRES HAMEL WILLIAMS,

"Chairman Girls' Confederate Home."

SOCIAL

While every Daughter realizes the important objects for which this organization was formed, never allowing herself to forget its sacred and serious meaning, nevertheless the people of Atlanta, with their gracious courtesy, caused each one to feel that the social side of these great gatherings was not by any means to be ignored or lightly considered. The Georgia Daughters, and, indeed, the good people of this far-famed Southern city were lavish in their hospitality, every want and wish being so lovingly anticipated that nothing was left to be desired. Welcomes were spoken in beautiful words breathing a more beautiful spirit from the State and city officials; from the Daughters, and from the patriotic and philanthropic societies.

At noon of the opening day, by special invitation of the city council, six hundred Daughters took their places on the electric cars and rode out seven miles from the city to Cold Spring, the 'cue grounds, where they were substantially introduced to the delights of an old-time Georgia barbecue. The occasion was unique and greatly enjoyed. On each succeeding day at 12:30 p. m. an elegant hot luncheon was served at the Piedmont Hotel. At these luncheons every guest was presented with appropriate and highly prized souvenirs.

Mrs. Bolling Jones, President Atlanta Woman's Club, and Mrs. S. W. Foster, Regent of Atlanta Chapter, the Daughters of the American Revolution, gave beautiful afternoon receptions complimentary to the visiting Daughters.

On Friday evening at the Capital City Club a brilliant reception was given by the Atlanta chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy—our hostesses. Elegance and ease, beauty and grace, wit and pleasure, characterized these entertainments, and the visitors could not give too much praise to Atlanta and her charming people.

SOUTHERN CROSS OF HONOR

The idea of the Southern Cross of Honor to be given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy to the veterans and descendants of deceased Confederate soldiers and sailors originated with Mrs. Mary Ann Cobb Erwin, Athens, Ga.

The design offered by Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the committee appointed by Mrs. Katie Cabell Currie, President U. D. C., at Hot Springs, Ark., November, 1898, to procure designs, was accepted at Richmond, Va., November, 1899. The members of the committee were Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, chairman, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. C. Helen Plane, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Mary Ann Cobb Erwin, Athens, Ga. Upon the resignation of Mrs. Erwin, Miss Mildred Lewis Rutherford, Athens, Ga., was appointed in her place.

The rules formulated by this committee were found insufficient to meet the many questions that arose regarding the bestowal of the Cross, so at the request of Mrs. Gabbett, who had been appointed Custodian of the Cross at Richmond, 1899, Mrs. Edwin G. Weed, President of U. D. C., enlarged the committee at Montgomery, Ala., November, 1900.

The members of this committee are: Mrs. Virginia Faulkner McSherry, West Virginia, chairman; Mrs. J. W. Tench, Florida; Mrs. J. N. Thompson, Alabama; Mrs. Victor Montgomery, California; Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, Georgia.

RULES FOR BESTOWAL CROSS OF HONOR.

Rule I.

Section 1. Each State and Territorial division shall elect, or appoint a recorder of Cross of Honor, to whom chapters shall apply for blank certificates of eligibility to be filled out by the veterans, and blank forms for alphabetical lists, to be filled out with data from the certificates, by the President of the chapter ordering Crosses. When so filled out, these shall be sent to the recorder of said division for approval or correction, and forwarded by her to the Custodian of the Cross, who will forward the Crosses to the chapter, provided the rules have been complied with, and the decision of the Custodian shall be final.

The Recorders shall apply to the Custodian of Cross of Honor, U. D. C., for the blank forms of certificates, and blank forms of alphabetical lists, supplying these, on demand, to the chapters, ac-accompanied by an order to the Custodian, signed by the President-General and Recording Secretary-General, U. D. C.

Sec. 2. The oldest living lineal descendant of veterans, who has not received a Cross, may secure it in any county, provided that notices, for three consecutive months, be published in the city and county newspapers, calling upon veterans, to send in certificates for Crosses.

If, at the expiration of three months no veterans have applied, upon voucher from the State Recorder, that such publication has been made, the bestowal of Crosses upon descendants and widows may begin, the same to be governed by the rules for bestowal of the Cross upon veterans. The Crosses may be bestowed upon veterans and descendants on each day of bestowal.

If there is no lineal descendant of a veteran, or, in case, that the oldest lineal descendant does not desire the Cross, the widow of a veteran may receive the Cross, by presenting with her application, written avowal of such descendant, that he or she waives the right to the Cross, provided said widow be a Confederate woman, who has endured the hardships and privations of the period from "Sixty-one to Sixty-five."

No descendant, or widow, can receive a second Cross, such privilege being granted to veterans alone, nor can such descendant or widow wear the Cross.

The Custodian will supply to the recorder of Cross of Honor of such States and Territorial divisions special blank forms of certificates for descendants and widows, which must be filled with data of eligibility, such blank forms in use should conform with the headings used in the Record Book of the Custodian.

Sec. 3. After waiting one month, chapters shall send to the division recorder and Custodian, names of veterans for whom Crosses have been received and not claimed, and these Crosses, if not engraved, may be used at the next bestowal, provided, other certificates in due form have been sent to the Custodian.

Rule II.

Section 1. No Crosses will be furnished by the Custodian unless the order is accompanied by certificates of eligibility, properly filled out, by the veterans, and certified to, by two, or more, members of a camp of United Confederate Veterans, and alphabetical list from chapter president.

Sec. 2. Presidents of chapters shall fill out blank alphabetical lists from the certificates with all data contained therein to forward with certificates to their State Recorder of Cross of Honor, with money order, for the number of Crosses desired.

The Custodian of the Cross of Honor shall keep a book, or books, in which shall be kept, alphabetically arranged, the names and data of all veterans, descendants of veterans, and widows to whom Crosses have been issued.

Sec. 3. The certificates shall be returned by the Custodian to the presidents of chapters who have ordered Crosses, and the same be placed on file by the said chapter, that data may be furnished when needed for historical, or other purposes.

Sec. 4. Each chapter shall keep a book, alphabetically arranged, in which is recorded the name and service of every veteran, and ancestor of descendant, and widow, of a veteran, who receives a Cross. Each State or Territorial Recorder shall keep a similar record book of all Crosses issued.

Rule III.

Section 1. Crosses may be granted by the muster roll of the nearest camp, U. C. V., and to Confederate veterans who are not members of a camp, who can give the required proof of eligibility, attested by two veterans who are members of a camp.

Sec. 2. The oldest living lineal descendant may secure the Cross, by giving the same proof of eligibility as that required of his veteran ancestor—and Confederate widows of veterans, applying for a Cross, must fill blank form of certificate, giving service of veteran, whose widow she is—such widows must have endured the hardships of the war period from 1861 to 1865.

Sec. 3. Upon the certificate of a reputable physician that a veteran is dying, if desired, he may receive the Cross immediately.

Rule IV.

Section 1. The Crosses may be bestowed on the Memorial Day, selected by each State or Territorial Division, U. D. C.; the birthdays of President Jefferson Davis and General Robert E. Lee—June 3rd and January 19th; and one commemorative day, between July 1st and January 19th, to be selected by each State or Territorial Division, in convention assembled. The presentation shall be accompanied with such ceremonies as will give proper dignity to the occasion.

Rule V.

Section 1. A veteran, in good standing, having lost his Cross, may have it replaced once, only, by applying to the president of the chapter from which he received the Cross, and he must furnish copy of the certificate upon which the Cross was first bestowed. If a second Cross is lost, a certificate may be given, in testimony that such veteran has been awarded a Cross. No descendant, or widow of a veteran, can have a second Cross.

Sec. 2. Chapter presidents are urged to advise veterans to have their names engraved on the bar of Cross, for the purpose of identification, if lost.

Sec. 3. A veteran, having been awarded a Cross, and dying before it is received, the president of the chapter bestowing it may give it to the oldest lineal descendant, or widow, under provisions of Rule 1, Sec. 2. A veteran, having received a Cross, may bequeath it to any lineal descendant that he may select.

Sec. 4. On and after November 1st, 1910, no more Crosses shall be issued.

Rule VI.

The Cross cannot be worn, in any case, or on any occasion, except by the veteran upon whom it was bestowed—no descendant or widow can wear it.

Rule VII.

Section 1. Where counties have no local organization of U. D. C., a veteran may receive the Cross through the president of the nearest local chapter, or the president of chapter in the county from which he entered the Confederate service, if so desired.

Sec. 2. Where chapters are not able to bear the expense of purchasing Crosses for other counties than their own, these may be furnished at the expense of the General Association, upon the authority of the President-General, U. D. C.

Rule VIII.

All orders for Crosses shall be filed in the Custodian's office three weeks before the day intended for bestowal.

Rule IX.

Any chapter departing from these rules will not be entitled to Crosses for presentation.

Preceding the presentation of the Crosses, Rules V., VI., VII., VIII., and IX., shall be read upon every occasion of the bestowal.

The president of each chapter shall see that the camps of Confederate Veterans and Sons of Confederate Veterans in her county shall receive a copy of these rules for continual reference.

NOTE:—Cost of Crosses, 12 1-2 cents each, for an order of more than one. For an order of only one, the cost is 13 cents.)

CONSTITUTION

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS
OF THE
United Daughters of the Confederacy

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE I.

Name.

Section 1. The name or title of this Association shall be "The United Daughters of the Confederacy," and its business office shall be the place of residence of the Recording Secretary-General.

Sec. 2. Each State or Territorial organization shall be known as a Division, and shall be designated by the name of the State or Territory in which it is located. Each local organization in any State or Territory shall be known as a chapter of such division, said chapters to be numbered consecutively, and to be designated by such names as they may select.

ARTICLE II.

Objects.

The objects of this Association are memorial, historical, benevolent, educational, and social; namely, to honor the memory of those who served and those who fell in the service of the Confederate States; to record the part taken by the Southern women in patient endurance of hardship and patriotic devotion during the struggle, as well as in untiring effort after the war in the reconstruction of the South; to collect and preserve the material for a true history of the War Between the States; to protect and preserve historical places of the Confederacy; to fulfill the sacred duty of charity to the survivors of that war and those dependent upon them; to help educate the needy descendants of worthy Confederates; and to cherish the ties of friendship among the members of the Society.

ARTICLE III.

Organization of Chapters.

Section 1. Those women entitled to membership are the widows, wives, mothers, sisters, nieces, grand-nieces and their descendants, and lineal descendants of such men as served honorably in the Confederate Army, Navy, or Civil Service; or of those men, unfit for active duty, who loyally gave aid to the cause; also, those women, and their lineal descendants and nieces and their descendants, who can give proof of personal service and loyal aid to the Southern cause during the war.

Sec. 2. Seven or more eligible women in any State or Territory, in which no division exists, may organize a chapter, and be chartered, on application to the Recording Secretary-General. No chapter shall be chartered in any city or town in which a chapter already exists, except by and with the consent of a majority of the officers, or the Advisory Council of that division.

Sec. 3. A fee of $3.00 shall be paid to the General Association for each charter; such fee to accompany the application therefor. Any application for a charter of a chapter must be accompanied by the properly filled out and signed applications of each one applying, and shall be sent to the president of the division of which the chapter will become a part, for her approval and endorsement; and no application for a charter shall be signed by the president of the division, unless accompanied by these applications for membership.

Sec. 4. Any chapter desiring to change its name may apply to the Recording Secretary-General for a new charter, paying the regular charter fee of $3.00; such charter to be issued under the original number of the chapter. If other changes are made in the original charter that will necessitate its being cancelled, and the chapter must then reorganize and be chartered in the regular order of numbers as a new chapter, provided that all applications for such changes be accompanied by official record, showing that there were not seven votes against such a change.

Sec. 5. No chapter may be organized in a State or Territory unless at least seven of the persons applying for a charter are residents thereof. Members of a chapter may reside in other States or Territories, but its active officers must be residents of the same section as the chapter. No person shall be a voting member of more than one chapter at the same time.

Sec. 6. Auxiliary or junior chapters may be organized by any chapter, under such restrictions and limitations as may be prescribed by each division. The members of such junior chapters shall not be entitled to representation in, nor be required to pay any fees to the General Association. Each division shall embrace in its annual report a statement of the number of such junior chapters, with all necessary particulars concerning them. Chapters shall have the right, at discretion, to dissolve their auxiliary or junior chapters.

ARTICLE IV.

Organization of State Divisions.

Section 1. When three or more chapters shall be organized in any State or Territory, it shall be the duty of the first or charter chapter to call a convention for the purpose of organizing a State or Territorial Division. Such convention shall be held at a time and place to be designated by the charter chapter; and at such organizing convention each chapter shall be entitled to one vote for every fifteen members or fraction thereof, if such fraction be not less than seven. Each division may settle for itself what the ratio of representation shall be in its subsequent conventions. No State or Territory shall have more than one division.

Sec. 2. In case a charter chapter shall allow six months to elapse after the receipt of a request from two or more chapters of the same State or Territory to call a convention for the purpose of organizing a division, each succeeding chapter in order of organization shall be empowered to call such convention, until a division shall have been formed.

Sec. 3. A division shall be organized by the adoption of a Constitution and By-Laws, none of which shall be inconsistent with any of the provisions of the Constitution and By-Laws of the General Association, and by the election of a President and other proper officers. Any one or more representatives from any chapter in any convention may be authorized to cast the full vote to which such chapter is entitled.

Sec. 4. From and after the organization of a division, all chapters which may desire to be organized in that State or Territory must apply to the General Association through that division for their charters; and must pay to the division such additional fee as it may require. Each division must notify the President-General without delay of the withdrawal, suspension or extinction of any of its chapters. It shall be the duty of the President-General, upon receiving written notice from a division that any chapter has withdrawn therefrom, to have the charter of such chapter cancelled by the Recording Secretary-General. Notice of this cancellation shall be sent to the recording secretary of such chapter, to the Recording Secretary of each division, to the members of the Executive Committee, to the Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, to the Custodian of the Cross of Honor, and to the manufacturers of the insignia; and shall be included in the next annual report of the Recording Secretary-General.

Sec. 5. When a division shall have been formed by the required number of chapters, should a chapter thereafter withdraw, the division shall continue to exist, with the same rights and privileges as other divisions of our Association.
